A Time For Sober Thought

In the midst of strife and turmoil while the world is trying to sober up, after a four years' debauch, drunken on the horrors of modern warfare; while capital and labor find it hard to meet on a common ground, taking turns in pyramiding prices and wages until those who are occupying neutral ground find themselves so burdened that they have rights, on the grounds of self preservation, to demand an armistice be granted, and by some means an agreement be reached whereby industry may be stabilized, work assured every willing worker at wage that will return the good things of life which is every worker's right and return to capital that to which it is entitled. Pyramiding prices will not get us very far in production. Neither will paralyzing industry by indiscriminate strikes solve the problem.

For the sake of civilization let us stop, reflect and arrive at sane conclusions, adjust ourselves to the new conditions, and then turn the man power of the nation into productive channels, taking up gladly the work of world reconstruction.

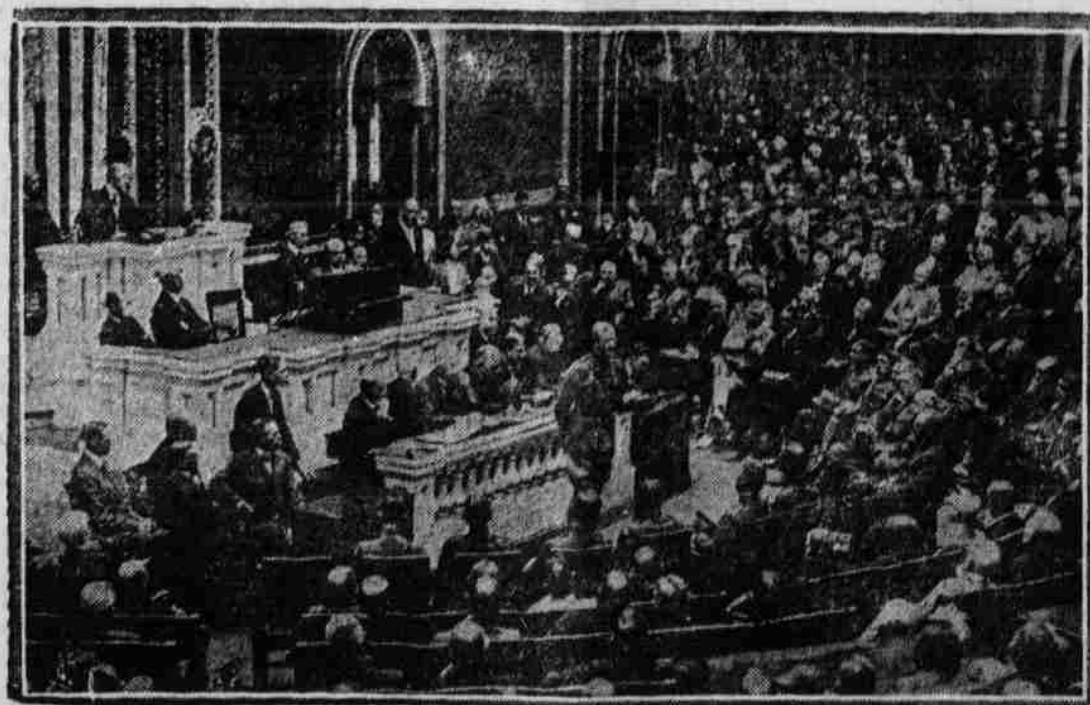

It is the time for every man and woman to spend a few hours in sober thought, that the history of Rome be not repeated in free America.

General Pershing Addressing Joint Session of Congress

Honor after: honor has been showed upon General Pershing, but perhaps one of the scenes which will remain longest in his memory was when he addressed a joint session of Congress in the House chamber. He was welcomed with a roar of cheers. The commander of the A. E. F. is shown here speaking in answer to an address of welcome and the congressional vote of thanks for his services.

The President's Illness

The president's break-down comes near the end of a trip over much of the United States in support of the ratification of the peace treaty as drafted, without reservation, and the moulding of public opinion to that end. During the last few weeks Mr. Wilson has not only made a lot of speeches, but he has been fated and has jumped from city to city and from state to state, slept on trains, and withal has had the worries of his office upon his shoulders.

All America is concerned when its chief executive is ill. The people may not agree with him, they may criticize his public utterances, but none will rejoice over his sudden sickness that necessitated an abandonment of his tour.

If the Portland address of Mr. Wilson is a fair sample of his other speeches in support of the league of nations, and we believe it is, we cannot believe that he has been successful in forming opinions of the people. He left too much unsaid, he neglected to reply to the arguments advanced by many senators for changes in the league covenant and he did not refer to the important sections of the peace treaty at all.

If ratification of the peace treaty should come, it will be because the people of the United States by a large majority believe that the experiment should be attempted and that we should swallow many provisions not to our liking and not be forced to make a separate peace with Germany, and not because Mr. Wilson has converted the people during his recent tour.

OMAHA RIOTERS KILL NEGRO AND BURN COURTHOUSE; MILITIA

OMAHA, Sept. 29.—Will Brown, a negro, identified by Miss Agnes Loeback, 19, as the man who had assaulted her on Thursday night, was lynched and his body burned. Mayor Ed F. Smith was nearly hanged, the Douglas county court house was burned, one man, Francis Clancy, 19, was shot and killed, and 39 other persons were wounded in a riot here Sunday night. One more death, that of an unidentified man, was reported this morning. While thousands of men, women and children looked on and cheered Brown was taken from the fourth floor of the court house after the smoke had all but overcome Sheriff Clark and his deputies, and taken to Eighteenth and Douglas streets, a rope put around his neck and he was hanged from a telephone pole. The mob then riddled his body with bullets, cut it down and burned it.

Omaha, Sept. 29.—According to a report reaching headquarters of Col. Wuest, in command here, negroes last night raided a hardware and gun store and took 200 high-powered rifles and a large quantity of ammunition. That a riot spirit still prevails here is shown from numerous street fights between the whites and blacks. Troops in the heart of the Negro district were fired on by negroes just before daybreak this morning. They returned the fire. No one was injured.

The mayor was seized by a mob on Seventeenth street, near the courthouse after he had refused to give the negro over to the mob for explanation of his crime. He was taken to Harney street and stopped at the foot of a trolley pole on the cross arm of which a coil of rope was slung.

A loose end of the rope was lowered and it was placed around the neck of the mayor. Appalled at the possibility of slaying the city's chief executive, cooler heads began shouting: "We won't stand for hanging the mayor. That won't get us the nigger! Let him go! Tell him to get out of here!"

Their advice was heeded and the crowd began to move down Harney street, dragging the mayor with it. A few minutes later the police arrived and rescued the mayor, rushing him to the Ford hospital.

At the hospital this morning it was said the mayor was still in a critical condition, but it was believed he would recover.

The mob last night broke into pawnshops and hardware stores to obtain firearms and ammunition. They overpowered every policeman on the streets. The police did not resort to weapons and were easily overpowered in most instances surrendering their clubs and guns without resistance.

The mob set fire to the courthouse when it was unable to break past the sheriff and his deputies.

Thirty-one men were arrested by police in connection with the rioting. All were found to be carrying guns and ammunition and are being held without bond.

An immediate grand jury investigation of the riot last night is to take place. Judges of the court planned to meet today to discuss plans for calling a special grand jury.

Damage to the courthouse and the jail is estimated today at $250,000. This does not include loss of county records, which were burned and cannot be replaced.

The first notable strike in the American iron and steel industry occurred in Pittsburgh in 1856, when workers employed in the mills in that city and its vicinity went on strike because of a reduction of wages.
