

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING PROBLEM BIG ISSUE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Despite repeated declarations by employers delegates that they never would approve intervention in the steel strike, and insistent demand from the same group that the labor arbitration proposal be disposed of definitely, the national industrial conference, voting as an assembly, today deferred action on the labor plan pending an effort by the central committee of 15 to agree on the question of collective bargaining.

The motion to defer, made by Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the public delegation, was defeated under the group voting plan, the employers' group voting against it and the public and labor group supporting postponement.

Labor delegates said today they would be willing to drop the steel strike resolution in case they can obtain a clean-cut acceptance of the principle of "collective bargaining," with the right of employees to select representatives, "just as the companies hire counsel." Failure of the conference to arbitrate the strike or to accept their view of collective bargaining would mean disruption of the conference, some labor representatives went so far as to say.

STATE FAIR PROFIT IS $34,598; PAYS OFF OLD STADIUM DEBT

Oregon's State Fair paid for the new stadium at Salem and left a $10,000 surplus.
Report made Wednesday at a special meeting of the state fair board held in Portland showed: Total receipts, $84,319.55; total expenses, $49,720.55; net balance, $34,598.
Money to build the stadium was advanced last year by A. C. Marsters, former president of the board, and by other board members. The $34,000 balance will pay this debt and leave $10,000 over. This showing was made in spite of an increased expense of $6,000 given in premiums in excess of last year.

NEM ROUTE ORDERED FROM GOODS BRIDGE TO MARQUAM SECTION

Establishment of a new route from Marquam to the Goods bridge across the Molalla river was effected Saturday when Judge Anderson and the county commissioners signed the final order.
The new road will traverse the same territory as the one now in use, north and south, through the southern part of Clackamas county. It will deviate from the old road in many places, however, to straighten out the route and eliminate some bad grades.
This road is one of the highways the proposed bond issue will pave providing it passes. Judge Anderson said work on the road would begin in the spring.

SALEM TRAFFIC LAW NEWLY ENFORCED IS BRINGING RESULTS

SALEM, Oct. 16.—Eight automobile drivers, caught violating traffic regulations, were told by Salem's new traffic cop Thursday night to report to police headquarters today, marking the opening of the crusade against speed fiends, glaring headlights and other infractions of the state and city laws.

VARSITY BEATS MULTNOMAH

EUGENE, Or., Oct. 11.—The University of Oregon this afternoon defeated the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club team of Portland in the first football game of the season by a score of 22 to 0. Multnomah had a much heavier team than the collegians, but lacked intensive training and many substitutes were sent in throughout the game of account of injuries, while Oregon used few extra men.

Let There Be Light

Whatever we may think of the League of Nations, it is an indisputable fact that the attacks made on the covenant by members of the United States senate have brought enlightenment to millions of people. It is not to be expected that everybody would read the document, neither is it to be considered reasonable that its provisions would be fully understood without a close study, which the average American does not give. It sounded good at the outset and most of us thought it would keep us out of war and we had had enough war for a spell. When Poindexter, Reed, Johnson, Borah, et al., criticized the covenant we paid little attention, but when others joined them and the fight became persistent and the attacks upon certain provisions were not met by Mr. Wilson, people awoke to the realization that the covenant was not the liberty-loving gift it was said to be.

Hiram Johnson is a man of force and courage and the people of his own state have crowned him with high honors. We doubt if he is the type of man we would like to see in the executive mansion, but we admire his back-bone and his refusal to be quieted by a lot of people who think Woodrow Wilson cannot be mistaken. Johnson's point that the American people are entitled to a free and full discussion of the provisions of the treaty is well taken. Mr. Wilson spent seven months in Paris, in secret negotiations even after he had proclaimed himself for "open covenants, openly arrived at." It is not too much to ask that the people of the United States shall have a reasonable time to inform themselves as to just what this covenant will mean to us. Mr. Wilson has taken the position that we should ratify the treaty, including the league covenant, without hesitation or delay, and that we must take the covenant as drafted or nothing. The President has not taken the people of his country into his confidence and has assumed the role of a schoolmaster. It is fortunate that there are enough Republicans and enough Democrats in the senate of the United States to prevent one-man domination of this republic.

Every true American will rejoice over the fullest opportunity for self-information, no matter what his personal belief may be. We should not, like the Live Wires and the Woman's Club, endorse the covenant without knowing just what effect it will have upon this nation.

OSWEGO GRANGE HAS BEST FAIR IN ITS HISTORY

The Oswego Grange Fair held at the grange hall Saturday was the largest and most successful ever held by the organization, and was attended by 200 people. About 150 people sat down to a most delicious chicken dinner. There were 18 chicken pies alone besides large kettles of stewed chicken. The cafeteria dinner was a big success, and $50 was realized from it. The tables were prettily decorated with rare dahlias and other fall flowers.
There were many fine displays of fruit, vegetables, canned fruit and canned vegetables besides other articles of the culinary line that were sold at auction following the exercises in the afternoon. A number of Portland people took advantage of the sale, and left by automobiles which were heavily laden with all kinds of produce from the sale. The sale amounted to $50.

Among the displays attracting unusual attention was a farm exhibit of Mr. Hogan, owner of the Iron Mine farm at Oswego. Besides being a horticulturist Mr. Hogan is engaged in dairying, and had a number of specimens of plants that are a result of grafting and interested many. Mr. Hogan was on hand to explain to the visitors the importance of care and attention to plants, and his talk was of much benefit to those visiting the booth, where his exhibit was shown.

C. E. Spence, state master of the grange, gave an address, and "Farmer" Smith, of Portland, who is connected with the O. W. R. & N. Company also gave an interesting talk.
The exhibits of dahlias and other fall flowers, together with the fine exhibit of needlework, grains, grasses, fruits and vegetables was the means of making this fair one of the best held in the county. A large number of the articles on display in the booth at the Clackamas county fair held last week, were shown. This organization was awarded the silver cup, a cash prize of $100 besides the prize of $10 for the most artistic arrangement, at the county fair. Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered, who had charge of the arrangement of the exhibits at the fair at Canby, also assisted in arranging these at the fair Saturday, and gave a most interesting talk on Saturday.
Oswego Grange has a membership of 86 and there has been at each meeting held during the past year an average of 40 members. There were 66 in attendance assisting at the fair on Saturday.

JEFFERSON HIGH IN LEAD

PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—Jefferson jumped into the lead of the inter-school league yesterday by scoring a 21 to 9 victory over James John, it being the Democrats' third straight win of the season. For practically the entire game the James John team was kept on the defensive and had little chance to display their usual style of football. Jefferson resorted mostly to open play for their gains.

VALIDITY OF STATE MORATORIUM ACT IS SUSTAINED BY COURT

Salem, Oct. 14.—Declaring that it is difficult to conceive of a federal act possessing superiority to state legislation upon the subject of remedies and procedure in state courts, the Oregon supreme court this morning in an opinion written by Justice Benson, upholds the validity of the state moratorium act of 1917.
The opinion is based upon the case of Eugene Pierrard and Pauline Pierrard, his wife, vs. Eugene Hoch, appellant, and J. C. Guyer, and the decision of Judge G. W. Stapleton of the Multnomah county circuit court, who had found for the plaintiff in the case, is reversed and the case remanded for new trial.

ANARCHISTS PLANNED TO BOMB ARMY PROPERTIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Military authorities and federal investigators assigned to follow the trails of radicals who have been spreading their propaganda in connection with the strike of the steel workers announced today their discovery of an anarchistic plot to destroy abandoned army cantonments and other government property.
The plot is said to have been unearthed in connection with the discovery in Gary, Ind., of Anton Gorski, alleged radical leader, who is said to be under surveillance in connection with the explosion of a bomb in the Chicago postoffice in September, 1918, in which four persons were killed and 30 injured.
Information gained by the military authorities at Gary indicated that the radicals have plotted against government property in middle western states from West Virginia to Colorado. During the day 500 of the federal troops on duty at Gary entrained and it was said they were being dispatched to protect endangered property.

OPEN SHOP IN SPOKANE

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 11.—Open shop exists today in 30 local job printing establishments, all owned and operated by members of the Spokane Typothetae, the employing printers' association, as the result of action taken early this morning by the organizations and declared in an ultimatum issued to Charles Neudorf, chairman of the pressman strike committee.

LOANS FOR SCHOOL BOYS

PORTLAND, Oct. 11.—To aid deserving students of the Benson Polytechnic school, S. Benson yesterday set aside $10,000 as a loan fund.

$1,700,000 ROAD BOND PLAN WELL UNDER WAY

Petitions from the voters of Clackamas county requesting the county court to call a special election to vote on the question of issuing road bonds to the amount of $1,700,000, the constitutional limitation of 6 per cent of the assessed valuation of the county, will be in the hands of the court next week, and quick action is anticipated. The petitions will be in circulation this week, and the committee in charge proposes to obtain as many signatures as possible.

Under the plan 145 miles of road are to be hard surfaced, the grading and base for the pavement to be laid at the expense of the several road districts directly interested. Upon cost figures of the court for laying pavement with the municipal plant, the basis cost of $11,000 per mile is used, but it will be necessary for the road districts to levy special taxes to cover the expense of grading and foundation before the county can proceed to lay the pavement, either with its own plants or by contract. In the latter event however, it is provided that the material is to be furnished by the county and contracts let for labor only, including the furnishing of the equipment by the contractor.

Several minor adjustments have been made in the mileage since the original map was drafted, and 2 1/2 miles have been allotted to the road from Damascus to the Multnomah county line, leaving 2 miles for the road from Horing to the boundary of Multnomah county. One mile has been placed on the west side of the Willamette from the Wilsonville ferry, 2 miles from the Lake Grove district to the Multnomah line on the Boone's ferry road and one mile in the Mackay district. Road B—From Multnomah county line on Boone's Ferry road to Lake View Villas, Lake Grove, 2 miles, $22,000.

So Why Worry

Brother C. C. Chapman, of the Oregon Voter, has an awful grouch against Clackamas County. Last week he printed a tale, with a moral attached, about the folly of county paving plants and the construction of bridges with incompetent labor, and this week he comes back with a ring-tailed story of how Clackamas is a nest of freak-bill birds, citing the cigarette measure of Jack Frost and the 4-per cent interest amendment of Jack Albright as a basis.

We hasten to apologize for these birds. The two Jacks have little to do but stir up trouble, and this is not the first time one of them has fathered a measure that never appeared on the ballot.

But Brother Chapman goes too far in referring to this community as a school of political fanatics of whom W. S. U'Ren is chief prophet. U'Ren did live here, but for the last six years he has been a resident of that city where roses grow profusely and has long been a neighbor of Brother Chapman himself. The editor of the Voter has only to consult the Portland city directory to find that Prophet U'Ren has shaken the dust of Clackamas from his flying feet and moved to Portland, where there are more and greater freaks to the square inch than Clackamas ever knew.

We therefore refuse to apologize for U'Ren. He is not of us, with us nor for us. It is rather a pity that Prophet U'Ren, with all his shortcomings, should be blamed for having hatched a pair of Jacks in Clackamas county and then abandoned them for greener and larger fields of endeavor. Mr. U'Ren might vote for the cigarette measure, for he does not use the filthy weed, but we doubt if he would sanction the 4-per cent amendment. He may be a banker himself one of these days. But if he should become a newspaper publisher like Brother Chapman, then we could understand that he might be wildly enthusiastic for any proposition that would make it cheaper for the borrower.

We hope Chapman will not worry. He is a keen investigator and perhaps some day he'll investigate the fate of another measure initiated in Clackamas that fell by the wayside on its journey to the office of the Secretary of State.

AGITATORS WOULD CALL MILL HANDS ON STRIKE

That agitators are busy among the laborers in the industrial plants of Oregon City, trying to precipitate another strike was told the Live Wires organization at its weekly luncheon Tuesday by J. C. Williamson.

"Circulars of a radical nature have been quietly distributed among the working men and a meeting was called at 1:30 last Sunday at the Labor Temple," said Mr. Williamson. "Some 40 men were present and of this number only four were real laboring men. However, the same element at the meeting prevailed and the strike was not called. I believe the situation is serious and one of the business men of Oregon City should be interested in it. I do not think the working men are in sympathy with a strike and the agitation is being carried on by those who do not work but live by what they can get from the man who works hard for his daily bread."

The matter was referred to the Oregon City post of the American Legion for that organization to take such steps as it saw fit should the agitators become a menace to the interests of the working people and business men of this city.

Last year agitators organized a union among the mill workers in Oregon City and called a strike. The mills were not greatly hampered for want of labor to take the place of the striking workers and the strike simmered down to nothing within a few weeks. However, feeling ran rather high between some of the strikers and those at work in the mills and the feud culminated in a free-for-all fight on the streets of Oregon City on Saturday afternoon.

O. D. Eby reported to the Live Wires that over $616 had been raised on the Baby home drive and that the canvass would continue until the quota of $1,000 was raised.

It was pointed out by M. D. Latourette that a number of requests for canvasses of Oregon City for funds for various purposes were being made from time to time and the Live Wires needed an investigating committee to pass upon these requests before giving them their support. Such a committee was named by Main-trunk Shepherd with Percy Canfield, K. E. Bauersfield, George Swafford, W. W. Woodbeck and Hal E. Hoss as members.

TY COBS TOPS LIST

The final records for the 1919 major league baseball season show Ty Cobb of Detroit again enthroned at the top of the list of American league batters, with an average of .381, while Roger Hornsby, the star of the St. Louis Cardinals, won the championship in the National league with an average of .322, having a slight advantage over Eddie Roush of Cincinnati.

Eddie Cloutte led the pitchers in the American league with 29 victories and seven defeats for an average of .396, while Walter Reuther had the honors in the older organization with 13 victories and six defeats, for an average of .760.

GRAPE WINE IS FOUND ON FARM AT SUNNYSIDE

Sheriff Wilson and Deputy Meads followed a tip Monday afternoon leading to the capture of 650 gallons of grape wine in the process of manufacture by Frank Bocci on the farm of Angelo Botti on the Sunnyside road, one mile east of Eight-second street. Bocci leased the place three weeks ago for $250 for a year, paying his rental in advance, and proceeded to business at once, remodeling a 500-gallon water tank into a wine vat, which he installed in the barn.

Bocci had no defense and pleaded guilty in Justice Stipp's court, paying a fine of $150. The officers destroyed 450 gallons on the place and brought four large casks to Oregon City on an automobile.

MOLALLA BAND HALL MORTGAGE SUIT IS FILED

Suit for the foreclosure of a mortgage for $1700 on what is known as the Molalla Band Hall was filed here Tuesday against the Molalla Band Association and Fred Schafer, who claims some interest in the property, by Isham and Mary J. Bradley, who bought a note for the amount of the mortgage from E. M. Henriksen, who obtained it from William Helmg, to whom it was originally executed. It is alleged that prior to September 29, 1919, the Band Association abandoned the hall, which is located on Lot 10, block 1, Gregory's First Addition to Molalla. The complaint indicates that the appointment of a receiver will be asked, so that the hall may be rented.

LONGSHORE STRIKE IS MENACE TO THOUSANDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Thousands of longshoremen, massed tonight in Cooper Union to vote on the question of calling off the strike which has virtually tied up New York harbor, made it so evident that they intended to stay out that their international officers abandoned their intention of putting a vote.

New York, its food supply menaced by the strike of 40,000 longshoremen and 11,000 teamsters, chauffeurs and helpers, had eagerly and hopefully awaited the result of the meeting.

The chief speaker of the meeting was T. V. O'Connor, president of the International longshoremen's association, who, having denounced the unauthorized walkout as inspired by the I. W. W., urged the men to return. He read a message from Samuel Gompers condemning the strike as a violation of the fundamental principles of the federation.

Between four and five million dollars is the amount estimated to have been earned by the late Adelina Patti during her career as a singer.

DRIVE FOR ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL UNDER WAY

The campaign for the Roosevelt Memorial in Clackamas county has been outlined by M. D. Latourette, county chairman, and Mrs. Gertrude Lewthwaite, woman's chairman, who have completed preliminaries for the drive that opens next Monday, lasting one week.

Mr. Latourette said Wednesday that he hoped the quota for the county of $570 would be raised before the opening day of the campaign, and that a large number of people subscribe small amounts, rather than a few persons should give large sums. Working committees have been named in every school district in Clackamas county, and the organization committee for the county follows:

Schools—J. E. Calavan, Brenton Vedder, R. W. Kirk.
Churches—Rev. C. H. L. Chandler, Rev. Herbert G. Crocker, Rev. Hillebrand.
Lodges—Philip Hamond, L. A. Nobel, Sr., J. K. Morris.
Mills—Mrs. Gertrude Lewthwaite, H. Henningsen, H. F. Tschirgl.
Publicity—Lloyd Riches, Hal E. Hoss.

CONFERENCE PROPOSALS ARE VITAL TO COUNTRY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—An immediate industrial truce to continue three months, creation of an arbitration board by the president and congress and immediate arbitration of the nation-wide steel strike were among the proposals made today to the industrial conference here. The first two were presented by representatives of the public and the last by the labor group.

Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the public group, made the proposal for the industrial truce, while Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor and chairman of the labor group, proposed arbitration of the steel strike. Mr. Gompers' plan contemplated immediate return of the steel strikers to work pending the outcome of efforts to arbitrate the dispute.

Mr. Gompers also presented a resolution embodying 11 fundamental principles which, he emphasized, had the unanimous approval of the labor group, including the representatives of the four railroad brotherhoods.

They were:
Right of wage-earners to organize.
Right of collective bargaining.
Right of wage earners to be represented by representatives of their own choosing in negotiations with employers.

Freedom of speech, of the press and of assembly.
Right of employers to organize and bargain collectively.

Minimum eight-hour day with one day of rest in each week, and with a half holiday on Saturday encouraged, and overtime discouraged.

Payment of a living wage.
Women to receive the same pay as men for equal work.

Prohibition of labor for children under 16 years of age.
A national conference board was proposed to provide for the systematic review of industrial relations and conditions, the board to consist of an equal number of representatives of employers and workers.

Prohibition of all immigration for at least two years after the declaration of peace and at such times thereafter as there may be an abnormal condition of employment. At no time would immigration be permitted to exceed the nation's ability to Americanize the incoming foreigners.

A plan for adjustment of labor disputes said to have the approval of President Wilson was included in the proposals of the public group.

LAWSUIT COSTS ARE MORE THAN AMOUNT OF DAMAGES AWARDED

In the Circuit Court Friday afternoon a verdict of $3.00 and interest was awarded James S. Hart in his action against Henry and Eliza Krebs filed some time ago, as a result of litigation growing out of a sale of land by the defendants and declared by the plaintiff to have been illegal. Mr. Hart sued for $500 damages.

Scientists have demonstrated that nearly fifty per cent of our bodily ills result from mental worries.
