FIFTY-THIRD YEAR—No. 43.

OREGON CITY, OREGON, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1919.

MINERS SAY STRIKE NOW IS CERTAIN FOR NOV. 1

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 29.—That "a strike of bituminous miners cannot be avoided" was the outstanding conclusion of a statement issued late today by the conference of the United Mine Workers' officials. Blame for the situation was laid at the feet of the operators because "they had refused to negotiate a wage agreement notwithstanding the fact that the mine workers' representatives had urged and beseeched them to do so."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 29.—Executive of the United Mine Workers of America met here today to take final action on President Wilson's appeal that the nation-wide strike of bituminous coal miners ordered for November 1, be called off.

With but 60 hours left before the time for stoppage of production of the nation's fuel supply, the meeting assumes the character of the most weighty one which has yet been held in connection with the miners' demands for a six-hour day, a five-day week and 60 per cent increase in wages. Out of it probably will come the final word of the miners.

Representatives of the coal miners in all parts of the country were here today, for while it originally was planned to hold only a meeting of the executive board of the organizations at this time, in view of the demand of President Wilson last Saturday that the strike order be rescinded. Acting President John L. Lewis broadened the scope of the conference.

As a consequence twenty-five district presidents of the mine workers, the full scale committee composed of 32 members, and the board of executives comprising a representative from each of the 29 districts, are in attendance. All of those present, it was said, will have a vote.

Bonded Indebtedness For Roads Objected To By Taxpayers

SALEM, Oct. 28.—That an effort of James Stewart, representative from Wheeler county, to increase the indebtedness liability for road construction and improvements in Oregon to 6 per cent will meet with opposition on the part of many citizens of the state is indicated in letters and personal messages received at the capital.

The present indebtedness limitation for road building as provided under the constitution of Oregon is 2 per cent, and in most instances the persons protesting against an increase to 6 per cent would not object to a 4 per cent liability.

State officials who have considered the proposed amendment now being sponsored by Mr. Stewart declare that the 2 per cent limitation has provided the state with approximately $20,000,000 for road building, and they are inclined to believe that twice this sum, as would be available under a 4 per cent liability, would furnish the highway department ample funds with which to continue the road construction program for several years.

GRANGE TO DISCUSS ROADS

At Warner Grange hall, New Era, on Wednesday, October 29, at 7:30 p. m., there will be a discussion on the two proposed road petitions that are to be placed on the ballot at the coming special election. C. Schuebel will defend the bonding bill and C. E. Spence the millage tax. Every voter is urged to come out and hear a fair discussion of this subject.

FORCES LINE UP TO PUT ACROSS BONDING SCHEME

M. D. Latourette, chairman of the road bond committee, issued a call today for a meeting to be held at the commercial club rooms next Monday night for the committee of 33 from the 11 road districts created at the October term of the county court. The purpose of the meeting is to plan in a definite way for the campaign that will be conducted for the bond plan to be submitted to the people at a special election November 24.

It appears to be reasonably certain that only one issue will confront the voters and that the 7-mill tax scheme advocated by Charles E. Spence, master of the state grange, will not be placed before the people. Mr. Spence is still talking about the advantages of a millage plan over the bonds, but has not placed in circulation petitions calling for a special election under the initiative. He leaves about November 6 for the east to attend the annual meeting of the national grange, and will be absent from the county from that date until after the election. There appears to be none to take up the burden of fathering his counter proposal, even if there should be time, under the statute, to secure signatures and place the matter before the people simultaneously with the bond plan.

Mr. Latourette said today that he had compiled figures to show that the principal and interest on the bonds would be retired under an average millage of 4.7 each year. This would be the maximum, but assuming that there would be no expenditure the first year, $300,000 the second year, $800,000 the third year and the balance of $1,200,000 the fourth year, the total millage under the bond plan for the first 10 years would amount to 28.32, while under the millage plan the total would be 77 mills, on the basis of an annual levy of 7 mills. Mr. Latourette points out further that under the bond proposal, all of the roads specified will be completed in about five years, while under the counter scheme not more than five miles could be completed on each road. Under the 7-mill tax, the county would receive $210,000 per annum, and if each of the 11 districts obtained an equal share, each district's allotment would amount to only $19,000 a year.

"Under the bond plan," explained Mr. Latourette, "the roads will be finished in four or five years and the people can enjoy them for the remaining five or six years required by the millage scheme, and with such a plan the whole road system of Clackamas county would be blocked and torn up for 10 years."

Face the Issue

There is only one issue before the voters of Clackamas county in connection with the special election called for November 24 and that is the question of whether we shall approve or reject the proposal to issue bonds to the amount of $1,700,000 for the construction of a system of permanent roads in every section of the county.

There are people who will attempt to camouflage by talking about the superior advantages of a millage plan.

But this is not the issue, so why take up useless time in discussing it?

There will be only one question before the voters, if we mistake not, and that will be the bonding plan, which must stand or fall on its own merits, and not upon comparison with some scheme upon which the people will not have an opportunity to pass.

Clackamas county is face to face with a real issue. The people, through a heavily signed petition, have plainly indicated their desire for the submission of a comprehensive road program, one that will make the country districts more comfortable to live in. After we strip the plan of all its superfluities, there remains only the question of whether it is worth while to borrow money to secure the improvement of our roads within four or five years, or whether we shall continue to proceed without adequate funds to lay about six miles of pavement each year, and in the latter event to continue to travel on poor highways.

JUDGE HOLLIS NAMED ON GENERAL COMMITTEE IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Judge W. H. Hollis of Forest Grove has been named on the general committee in the third annual Red Cross membership drive, in an announcement just issued by H. E. Witham of Portland, chapter roll call chairman. The committeemen in the campaign are: W. B. Dennis, Carlton; Dr. Hugh Mount, Oregon City; Sam Weil, Hillsboro; Fred Ross, Rainier; Dr. H. C. Fixott and J. O. Honey, Gresham; Mrs. E. C. Baird, Newberg, and Mrs. James Ellison, St. Helens.

Plans are progressing for a short and snappy campaign for members. Headquarters for the drive in the counties of Multnomah, Washington, Clackamas, Columbia and Yamhill are in Portland, as the campaign in these localities is under the supervision of Portland chapter.

This Red Cross drive will differ from campaigns during the war, as it will be for memberships only. It is not an endeavor to raise money by large donations, as all that is asked is $1 per member. This will be used to carry on the home service work of the Red Cross for the ensuing year.

The American Legion, both nationally and locally, is cooperating heartily with the Red Cross in this drive. The slogan of previous drives "All you need is a heart and a dollar" is being used by the workers.

"Look, There's Papa," Said Mrs. Maynard as Flying Parson Was Winning Air Derby

Mrs. Belvin W. Maynard has all the faith in the world in the flying ability of her husband, Lieutenant Maynard, who won the army's coast to coast race, but she was worried about him until she saw a speck in the sky over Roosevelt Field, Mineola, L. I. When she saw that speck she turned to her two little daughters and said, "Look, there's papa." A few minutes later the "flying parson" was kissing them, after covering 5,400 miles in fifty hours of flying time.

EX-SERVICE MEN WILL HAVE BIG BALL SATURDAY

The Welcome Home ball to be given the young men of Clackamas county who were in the service, takes place at Moose hall on Saturday evening. This is to be one of the big events of the season, and the young women, who had charge of the ball given in May, are planning an elaborate affair. This will be in the form of a Halloween ball, and all decorations will be in keeping with the spirit of the occasion.

The Lil' Jazz Trio, consisting of Dallas Armstrong, drums; Frank Champion, saxophone; W. Went, xylophone, R. Peters, piano, will play for the dance. There will be a number of good waltzes besides the latest selections.

During the evening an intermission will be given to allow the ex-service men and their lady partners to partake of refreshments in the banquet hall on the third floor. The Peerless Bakery of this city has an order for 500 doughnuts, and there will be other "eats" suitable for a Halloween party. Arrangements have been made with the Moose lodge to use the pool room and the card room, so those desiring to enjoy pool or cards may also have the privilege without charge.

From indications Clackamas county ex-service men are to be largely represented. They will not wear their uniforms unless they so desire. They will be admitted by the doorkeeper, who is to be Edward Stovall, of the American Legion. The check room will also be in charge of one of the members of the American Legion.

As this will be the last ball given in honor of the returned men, it promises to be an event long remembered.

A large portion of the land is planted to peach trees, there being 2000 trees on the place, with five varieties. Mr. Urter will receive $1500 a year for the land, and the Japanese expect to engage in the fruit industry on a large scale.

ROW IN FAMILY AIRED IN COURT

Harry Mcadden, under an order from County Judge Anderson, was on Saturday made a ward of the court and turned over to Mrs. Minda Church, juvenile officer. On his own testimony that he refused to live with his mother, because of an antipathy to his stepfather, the lad was adjudged a delinquent, and Mrs. Church will find a home for him, meanwhile leaving him in the care of Mrs. Charles Catta, his mother's aunt.

The boy's mother, Mrs. James McFadden, lives at Walla Walla, where her husband is a barber, and she sought to obtain possession of the child, who has lived with the Cattas for several years, and there has ensued a general family row over the lad, who is 15 years of age. During the hearing, McFadden passed in front of the bench where Mrs. Catta was seated, and she exclaimed: "That dirty black pup called me a vile name."

"You're a blank liar," yelled McFadden, when Judge Anderson interposed with the statement that if they did not remain quiet he would fine them both for contempt of court.

LEADERS OF UNIONS MAY SEEK HELP OF FARMERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—"Fundamental principles" upon which organized labor may combat "grave dangers affecting the very foundation of its structure" are to be formulated at a conference of union chiefs in Washington, December 13.

However, it was stated that the national farmers' organizations now in session, or soon to meet, would be invited to send delegates with full power to act for those organizations. It is the purpose of the union leaders to form an alliance with the farmers' organizations for the carrying out of the campaign which will be mapped out.

Magazines Published Without Typesetting

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—For the second time in the history of the modern publishing industry, a magazine was published yesterday without the aid of compositors. The experiment was first made a week ago by the Literary Digest, one of the scores of periodicals forced to suspend typesetting by the lockout and strike in the local printing trade.

Nugent's Weekly, a national magazine devoted to the interests of manufacturers of women's garments, followed the example of the Literary Digest with the announcement that publication would be maintained by the same process every week until the strike is ended.

The trade magazine claimed to have made considerable advances over its literary contemporary in methods. The same process of typesetting was used, but by use of a special typewriter the lines were "justified" or equalized in length. A special process also was used in the electroengraving, said to be a method recently patented.
