HEADRICK BOYS ARE HOME AFTER SEEING FIGHTING IN FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Grant White went to Portland Monday morning where they met the nephews of Mrs. White, Harry and John Headrick, well known Oswego boys and sons of Mrs. William Headrick. The boys just returned from over-seas, having served in the 318th Engineer Corps. They entered the service on the same day, left for France the same day and have been continuously with each other during their entire stay in France, taking part in some of the heaviest fighting, and both have returned without a scratch. They were in France 15 months, and before returning to the United States were stationed in Germany, and were with the Sixth Division, Army of Occupation.

These young men were on their way to Camp Lewis, Washington, where they will receive their discharge, and will return to their home in Oswego within a few days.

The boys say they have no kick coming when it comes to the treatment of the United States government, but they certainly have a kick coming they say when it comes to the treatment of the Y. M. C. A. where they were stationed. The days say the Red Cross and Salvation Army have certainly done their part for the boys over there.

The boys were at Camp Lewis ten days from the time of their arrival in New York. They were stationed a few days at Camp Mills.

John Headrick, when entering the service was 18 years of age, and Harry was 20 years. They have gained in weight and were among the huskiest fellows who left the train at the Union depot when the boys marched up the streets of Portland. Many relatives and friends were there to greet them, and they will be accorded a royal reception when they return to their home in Oswego, for they were among the most popular boys enlisting from that place.

GRAIN AROUND CANBY LOOKS FINE; FARMERS EXPECT BIG HARVEST

Never before in the history of Canby and vicinity has the grain looked more encouraging than at the present time, and the farmers are jubilant over the prospects for the coming harvest. Oats and wheat have already attained a height of from six to seven feet and still growing. The rain of Thursday morning was just what the farmers wanted, and will be of great benefit to filling the kernels of the grain.

The Logberry crop is encouraging, and the vines are covered with berries that are commencing to ripen.

The cherry crop is not as large as in former years, except those of the Kent variety, of which there seems to be a plentiful supply, for the trees in this section are heavily laden with cherries.

WOOL GROWERS ARE DEFRAUDED BY BIG DEALERS

Washington, June 20.—Wool growers and the government have been defrauded of millions of dollars through methods employed in handling the 1918 wool clip, according to charges made here by Milo D. Campbell, Coldwater, Mich., a member of the national agricultural advisory committee.

Specific allegations showing how the cards were stacked against the farmers by the big wool dealers are made in a letter from Mr. Campbell addressed to the secretary of the national board of farm organizations, an organization embracing over 2,000,000 farmers, with headquarters in Washington.

WEST LINN BASEBALL TEAM BEATS SCHUBEL IN EXCITING GAME

One of the most exciting baseball games ever pulled off on the Schubel diamond was that of Sunday afternoon, when the West Linn boys played the Schubel nine. This was among the largest attended games of the season, and those who made the trip to the field were well repaid.

West Linn boys appeared for the first time in their nobby new uniforms, purchased from the proceeds of a dance recently given at West Linn, which netted $65.55.

West Linn won the game, and the score was 9 to 16. This is the fifth game won so far this season by the West Linn team, and the boys were jubilant when returning home.

Carl Koellmeier is manager of the West Linn team and Lester Melvin captain. Next Sunday West Linn plays Molalla at the latter place.

E. R. REEVES ASKS COURT TO PREVENT PARTNER SELLING TIES

Edith R. Reeves and L. Flury entered into a partnership in February, 1919, to manufacture railroad ties, she supplying the money and he to do the work. She filed suit Monday to dissolve the partnership and keep him from selling the ties as she alleges he is doing this unlawfully.

She says she paid for the equipment of the mill and still owes $1075.90, having paid part of it with ties and that he is unlawfully selling the ties and padding the payroll so that she is compelled to pay unnecessary large amounts to the workmen. In order to furnish the money she says she gave a note for $4,000 and asks the court to appoint a receiver for the company and that Flury be stopped from the delivery of ties he has contracted to sell.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN BOYS AND GIRLS ON JUDGING LIVESTOCK

The Boys' and Girls' Club workers of Clackamas county met at the stock farm of Judge Grant B. Dimick at Hubbard Sunday, where they were instructed in judging cattle by a number of experts of the Oregon Agricultural college. Many of these children were given their first lesson in this work and thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity.

Some of the best stock of the west was displayed and judged. Among these were the Poland Chinas. Other breeds of swine exhibited in the pens were the O. I. C. and the Duro-Jersey, also thoroughbreds. They also judged Oxford Down sheep and Jersey cows.

There were about 60 in attendance, and the young people enjoyed their lunches in the nearby grove.

Judge Dimick has taken much interest in the young people's club workers of the county, extending them an invitation to hold their public gatherings at his stock farm.

Health Suggestions

For Toothache—The most severe case of toothache or neuralgia, coming from the teeth may be speedily ended by the application of a bit of clean cotton saturated in a solution of ammonia to the defective tooth.

Another remedy is to reduce some alum to a powder and an equal quantity of fine salt applied to the gums by dipping your moistened finger in the mixed powder. Put some in the tooth.

Pimples (Acne)—Wash the affected parts with warm soda, rub well and frequently in so doing express the contents of the pimples and apply the following mixture: Flowers of sulphur, 25 grains; tincture camphor 1-2 drachms; lime water 2-3 ounces. Mix.

Corns and Warts—Salicylic acid, 1 drachm; lactic acid, 1 drachm; colloid, 10 drachms. Mix. This is recommended as an excellent application to corns and warts, effecting their removal in a short time.

Fainting—Immediately place the person fainting in a lying position with the head lower than the body. In this way consciousness returns immediately, while in the erect position it often ends in death.

Cough Syrup—Half pound of dry hoarhound herbs, one red pepper pod, three quarts water, then strain, and add one teaspoonful good, fresh fat and one pound of sugar. Boil slowly and stir often, until it is reduced to one quart of syrup. When cool bottle for use. Take one or two teaspoonfuls four or six times a day.

Sick Headache—A little soda water will relieve sick headache when caused by indigestion. Well ventilated bedrooms will prevent morning headaches. Dandruff—Warm borax water will remove dandruff.

YOUNG TREE BEARING

J. W. Sander, of 707 Tenth street, reports a very unusual incident, even for the fertile soil of Clackamas county. This is that a walnut tree only one year old is bearing this season.

There are a number of walnuts on the tree and many people who have grown these nuts are much interested and surprised at this unusual occurrence.

Farm Bureau Notes of Interest

Edited by R. G. Scott, County Agent.

BULL ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED.

Nine progressive farmers residing near Monitor, in the southern part of the county, have united to form the Southern Clackamas Jersey Bull association. About 100 cows have been subscribed, and one bull has already been purchased. This bull was bred by N. R. Smith of Logan, and is out of his well known cow Minotia of Ashwood, which made 566 pounds of fat as a two-year-old, and 719 pounds of fat as a junior three-year-old, thus being the champion Jersey cow of Oregon for her class. Another bull of as good breeding will be purchased as soon as possible, although bulls of this class are difficult to find. The officers of the association are: President, John Lienhart of Woodburn; vice-president, Emil Anderson, Mt. Angel; secretary-treasurer, Martin Rostvold, Mt. Angel. Articles of association were drawn up with the assistance of the county agent, and provide that each member shall pay his proportion of the cost of the bulls according to the number of his cows. In this case, the cost will be approximately $7.50 per cow for two bulls. The cows are divided into blocks, with one bull at the head of each block. At the end of two years the bulls are moved from one block to another, thus giving four years service with the original investment. A breeding fee of $2.00 is charged to cover the cost of the keep of the bull. It is expected that other farmers living within a reasonable distance will want to join the association and form several more blocks, thus extending the time to six or eight years that the bulls can be used without inbreeding. The by-laws are very strict in the regulations for controlling disease, no member being allowed to breed his cows to outside bulls without a permit from the directors.

The section in which this Bull association has been formed is one of the most prosperous in Clackamas county. There are two herds of registered cows here, one belonging to P. J. Anderson, who has a Carey bull at the head of his herd, and one belonging to J. W. Exon. In a territory comprising a little over one square mile there are 19 sires. The land is productive, and crops are of the best. Furthermore, the people are intelligent and progressive. In organizing this Bull association they are making this district a Jersey center, where, after a few years, high class Jersey cattle may be purchased in car lots. There is already a demand for such stock. Community breeding will soon make Clackamas county famous.

COMMUNITY PICNIC.

The community picnic at Logan at Harding Grange park was a great success. At the beginning some doubt was expressed as to the outcome; but the results justified the judgment of the committee. There is still room for the old fashioned picnic where all the families of the community get together with the lunch spread out on a common table, and where games, races, and a good program make fun and a good neighborly feeling. It is good times like this that make the young folks willing to stay in the country.

BOOZE IS DESTROYED ON BANKS OF RIVER BY SHERIFF WILSON

Sheriff Wilson, aided by Deputy Meads, Bill Cook and Kent Wilson, destroyed over 600 quarts of liquor here Wednesday. This was all confiscated from bootleggers during the past four months.

In the lot of booze was a 50-gallon barrel of Dago Red, a 10-gallon keg of white wine and a 10-gallon keg of whiskey. Bottles and jugs were broken on the rocks of the banks of the Willamette and the liquor allowed to trickle into the river.

Few people but employees of the court house witnessed the destruction of the liquor but anyone going near the place during the day were treated to a good whiff of booze.
