Attorneys Clark and Eby appear for the plaintiff.

In the complaint, the entire burden for the death of the girl is placed on the shoulders of E. L. Kenney, engineer on the train. Edward Summerfield alleges that the trainman was 60 years old at the time of the accident; had poor eyesight and was not a fit person to have charge of the running of the train.

Alma Summerfield was crossing the bridge early in the evening of January 7, 1914, with her sister and Melvin Hagan when the Shasta Limited, south-bound, struck them, killing Alma Summerfield and young Hagan.

WAR TALKS WILL BE BARRED SATURDAY

No discussion of the situation in Europe will be allowed on the courthouse steps, according to the decision of County Judge Anderson Monday night, when he learned that Rev. Mau was to talk Saturday afternoon and would probably take for his topic the situation in the Fatherland.

"The courthouse steps may be used by speakers who will talk on the matter of the completion of the Williamette Valley Southern or on kindred topics of local interest, but no discussion of the European situation or kindred topics will be permitted," said Judge Anderson.

The decision is not in any way aimed at German speakers, according to Judge Anderson, who declared that talks favoring the cause of the English would be barred as well.

Judge Campbell has given him the decision.

GERMANY CANNOT LOSE SAYS MAU, BACK FROM KIEL

CLACKAMAS COUNTY PASTOR BELIEVES KAISER WILL BE SUCCESSFUL

COUNTRY UNITED IN ONE GREAT PARTY BEHIND THE EMPEROR

Minister Spends Eight Months in the Fatherland—Split Between the Allies Coming, He Maintains

"Germany cannot lose. The entire nation is united in one great party for one great cause." Such is the declaration of Rev. A. Mau, who has returned to his home near Oregon City after spending the last eight months in Germany, his native country.

Rev. Mau has the highest praise for the conduct of his country and the troops under the kaiser. He denied the reports issued from English and French sources that there was interior trouble in Germany and friction between Austria and the kaiser.

"We are all one people, all working for one cause," he said Thursday. "There are no more Socialists or partisans. Every man, woman, boy and girl is taking a part in the great war. The women are studying nursing, so that when called they can go to the front and the men who are not in the field are doing every thing possible to aid the government."

Germany Expects Hard Fight. "I have talked with hundreds of men who have been at the front. They are all anxious to go back. We must fight to the last man for our country must win," they say.

"The government with its preparedness, its system, and its efficiency was ready for the conflict. I remember when the war first began. No one had heard of the new army uniforms but on the first day of mobilization, the authorities had enough of these uniforms to supply the great army. I believe the war will end with a compromise from all sides."

"The great conflict is with the Russians. They seek to crush the Germans by mere force of numbers but they have no system. Their movements are wasteful. With half of the number of men, our soldiers are able to hold back and inflict great defeats on the men under the czar. The world will be surprised when it learns all the details of the battle at Lodz."

Mau Eight Months in Germany.

Rev. Mau left Oregon City the first of last May for Kiel, the home of his parents and arrived there several weeks before the war began. When the first declarations of war were issued, he prepared to join the army and was ordered to report for mobilization August 21. He was not taken into the army and at once began work in Kiel with the poor and later superintended guarding a camp of Russians. After three months of such work he was appointed pastor of a church of 200 members. He occupied this post for three months until the government furnished him a passport to return to the United States.

Rev. Mau seen in the future trouble between France and England. "The French see that they were drawn into the war by the English in order to satisfy the personal wishes of the British. In a great concentration camp near Berlin, the Germans placed large bodies of English and French prisoners together but it has been found necessary to separate them. The allies could not even live together. I have heard of cases along the French frontier where French soldiers pleaded with the Germans to defeat the English."

"It is when the Germans and the English meet that there is real fighting. The Germans will resort to every device of civilized warfare to defeat the British. There is a feeling in Germany that troops of the kaiser will invade the British islands."

Rev. Mau returned to America through Denmark and Norway, arriving in New York January 27. While in New York he was taken through the "Fatherland," the world's largest ship by the commander, a distant relative. He is pastor of the German Lutheran church here and at Mink's settlement, near this city.

HIGHWAY ENGINEER ASKED TO RESIGN

MAJOR BOWLBY SAYS HE IS READY TO TURN OFFICE OVER TO SUCCESSOR

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 17.—The State Highway commission this morning requested the resignation of H. L. Bowlby, state highway engineer. The reasons assigned for asking the resignation are given in the following letter from the governor to Major Bowlby:

"Concurrent with the action of the State Highway commission at a meeting held this morning, as its chairman I am requesting your resignation as highway engineer of the state of Oregon."

"While I and other members of the commission appreciate your faithfulness to the interests of the state and the constructive work of your office, yet the majority of the board deems this action necessary at this time to insure a more generous treatment of road legislation by the legislature than seems possible to procure if you continue in office."

The action of the commission, however, was not unanimous. Secretary of State Olcott favored the retention of Major Bowlby, but when interviewed he said that he had no statement to make other than that he voted for his retention.

Major Bowlby was in Portland today attending the opening of bids for some concrete bridges in Multnomah county. His clerk acknowledged receipt of the governor's letter requesting his resignation, and announced that Major Bowlby instructed her by telephone to say to the governor that he would be ready to turn the office over to his successor at the convenience of the State Highway commission.

COMMUNITY PROPERTY BILL IS DEFEATED

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 12.—The house went on record once for all this morning in opposition to the community property idea as advocated by Representative Huston of Multnomah. He explained that the principle is in force in Washington, and that the Washington law of that state had been virtually transplanted in his bill.

This proposes to make all property acquired by husband and wife after marriage an inviolable asset of the conjugal partnership. He said it does not interfere with the principle of estates by entirety, and that the wife's dower rights are not interfered with.

Mr. Schuebel took issue with Mr. Huston on the latter point, declaring that of the five states which have the community property law, every one is in constant turmoil because of diverse supreme court decisions. He feared that the entire property system of Oregon would be overturned, and that it would take years of confusion and countless court decisions to straighten it all out. He said the law gives no rights to women who had no share in the husband's property before marriage, and prevents proper recognition for the wife in property acquired by bequest after marriage.

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache."

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until I made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It will pay you to do so. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

SCHUEBEL ATTACKS KERR

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 12.—Rising to question of personal privilege, Representative Schuebel of Clackamas county resumed the fight he had made previously in the session against the separate appropriation of funds for the agricultural extension work and the various experiment stations operated under the direction of the Oregon Agricultural college. COL. McCRAKEN DIES

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 15.—More than half a century's participation in the social, political and business life of Oregon was ended by the death this morning at the Multnomah hotel of Colonel John McCracken, aged 85 years.

SHOWER SPRAY

It is now the beginning of the end. You had better be getting ready now if you expect to be a winner at the end.

It will soon be all over but the shouting. These are the hustling days, all right. On, on to victory is the battle cry heard all along the line.

"Miss Brown Suit" made a profound impression on the gentlemen in the gray overcoat in front of the postoffice yesterday and we have an idea that his subscription will be forthcoming if she will but make the request.

In fact he is intimated as much to us. Better look into it, little girl. You cannot afford to pass up a vote these days you know.

Miss "Polka Dot" made a lightning change yesterday when it looked like a shower during the afternoon. Evidently taking no chances of getting a cold and so be handicapped in the race for votes on the final lap of the race.

Good judgment. Oh, you "Bright Eyes." You sure have the right system. Look out for those candidates who may at this time be considerably down in the list.

Liable to be something doing there one of these fine days. Miss "White Tique" wishes her friends to know that she is getting along famously but at the same time needs all the votes she can get.

In other words, a polite invitation to these friends to "come across." And they are sure doing it, if the

OREGON CITY BRANCH OF AGENCY IS OPEN

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT WILL NOW SEEK FOR JOBS OR FOR MEN

The first federal employment bureau has been established in Oregon City upon the arrival of forms and blanks from Portland. It marks the Oregon City end of the largest employment scheme ever undertaken in the United States.

Laborers or employers in Oregon City may make application to the post office in Oregon City for jobs or for men as the case may be and the application will be circulated through all the postoffices in the United States, classified and "cleared."

The blanks received here are for use in making application for farm help, and for employment. The blanks for the laborer ask general personal questions and nationality, also the trade desired and wages expected. The service is entirely free, not even the cost of postage of sending in the applications being charged.

Postmaster Randall stated that several applications had been received for position and that in Portland more than 100 applications have been made.

The plan to solve the problem of unemployment, he says, is one of great magnitude. It contemplates a nationwide enrollment of persons seeking work in whatever trade or employment and also the collection of applications for help from employers throughout the United States. These applications are known as "opportunities."

The United States is divided into 18 zones for the purposes of the work. Oregon being zone 15. Lists of opportunities will be sent to officials in charge of each zone and applicants for work will have a chance to pick out any opportunity in the whole country. The immigration inspector in charge of the various offices will be the sole judge as to the fitness of applicants to fill the opportunities presented. They will be added greatly, however, by blanks that will be filled out by both the employers and the ones seeking work, so that a wealth of detail is at hand in regard to both phases of the situation.

COURIER IS BOUGHT BY EDWIN R. BROWN

M. J. BROWN WILL MAKE TRIP THROUGH CALIFORNIA, VISITING EXPOSITIONS

The Oregon City Courier has been sold to E. R. Brown, for three years business and advertising manager of the Enterprise, who will take control of the end of this week. M. J. Brown and A. E. Frost are the former owners.

The paper will continue its Democratic policy. The Courier recently moved into its own building on Eighth street and this property is included in the deal. The consideration has not been made public.

Mr. M. J. Brown will leave in about two weeks for California and will visit the expositions at San Francisco and San Diego. His future plans beyond that, are not definitely known though he will probably engage in newspaper business in California or Texas. Mr. Frost will still be connected with the plant and will act as foreman under the new management.

VEREIN DISCUSSES WAR IN EUROPE

GERMANS PLAN MEETINGS DURING MONTHS TO PROMOTE THEIR CAUSE

REV. A. MAU MAKES SHORT TALK

Gustav Schnoerr Commands Irish Stand in Conflict—Dinner is Served at Close of Long Program

The Deutsche Verein met in regular monthly session at Knapp's hall Sunday afternoon, with a large attendance.

The opening address was delivered by Gustav Schnoerr, and "Die Wacht am Rhein" was sung, all present standing after which ten new members were initiated.

President Schnoerr announced that at an early date at Busch's hall, there would be lectures on the present European war from a German standpoint, to be delivered in German and English, and illustrated with moving pictures of battle field and camp scenes on the German side. He also announced that on Sunday, March 7, there will be a monster rally at Portland, under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Daughters of Erin, Irish-American league and Emancipation association and all the German societies of Portland and the neighboring cities, to protest against the alleged pro-British policy of President Wilson and his cabinet and in which the Oregon City Verein will participate in a body.

Mr. Schnoerr warmly commended the Irish people at home for the stand they have taken in refusing to join the English army. At the close of his address he was asked: "Why don't the Loyal Orange Legion go to the front?" He answered, "Oh, they are staying home to save Ulster from a German invasion."

Rev. A. Mau, of Schuebel, just returned from Germany, related incidents of battle, camp and hospital life. The following program was then rendered: Song, "Deutschland Neber Alles in der Welt," Verein; vocal duet, Miss Augusta Hopp and Carl Schandl; recitation, Miss Augusta Hopp; address, Joseph Brunner; reading, Mr. Volger; closing address, Vice President D. M. Klemens; song, "Heil der in Sieges Kranz," Verein.

Mr. Volger's reading was vividly descriptive of great German victories, accounts of which he said have been suppressed by the English and he warmly eulogized Field Marshall Hindenburg for his brilliant achievements.

At the close of the exercises, all present partook of a German dinner, after which a pleasant hour was passed in songs and games.
