Decision in Wilhelm Case in Prize
Court Expected to Determine
Final Stand—Early Statement is Expected

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The foreign office is extremely reticent in discussing the American proposal made to London and Berlin outlining a plan for the feeding of the civil population of Germany under certain regulations.

Mr. Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, and other members of the cabinet still lay emphasis on the fact that Great Britain has not yet made food destined for Germany absolute contraband.

While Sir Edward Grey's reply to the United States government's note concerning the food steamer Wilhelmina intimated that such a step probably would be necessary, the absolute prohibition of food shipments to Germany has not actually been announced.

In fact, the decision of the Wilhelm case by the prize court is being looked forward to, as it is considered that this will amount to a definite statement of the British position.

For several days it has been intimated in official circles that the foreign office might issue a memorandum setting forth definitely the British policy concerning foodstuffs for Germany and outlining plans for the reprisals deemed necessary because of the operations of the German submarines.

It is known that part of the material for such a memorandum has been considered and that the issuance of the statement within two or three days is not improbable.

British officials are said to be firmly convinced that the neutral powers will offer little objection if food supplies are cut from Germany in retaliation for the German submarine activities, which they allege are in violation of all international history.

YOUNG SPERRY'S FEAT
INTERESTS THE NAVY
IN PRIZE STABILIZER

LAWRENCE SPERRY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The navy department is looking into the gyroscopic stabilizer for aeroplanes invented by Elmer A. Sperry of New York, who won a prize of $50,000 from the French government in a contest for the best stabilizer yet devised.

Lawrence Sperry, son of the inventor, who made the winning demonstration, made a successful flight from the Brooklyn navy yard up the Hudson river to Ossining, N. Y., where Sing Sing prison is located, using the stabilizer against the winter winds. It kept the hydroaeroplane perfectly steady. He had Alan R. Hawley, president of the Aero club of America, aboard as a passenger. The flier was in the air one hour and twenty-five minutes, going more than sixty miles.

MURDER TRIAL IS BEGUN

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 24.—The trial of Dominico Pacini, charged with murder in the second degree for killing Mrs. Olimbia Palmerini near Grays Crossing on November 7, was commenced today in Circuit Judge Davis' court.

When court adjourned Pacini was on the witness stand, at his own request, telling slowly and awkwardly, through an interpreter, how he killed Mrs. Palmerini with a knife and a razor.

ARREST FOLLOWS FIRE

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Feb. 24.—H. C. Skerrett was arrested today by Sheriff Alfred Johnson on an arson charge in connection with the burning of the Smith mill boarding house last week, when seven persons lost their lives and many were injured.

The arrest was made on order of the coroner's jury, which has been investigating the fire and holding an inquest over the bodies of the victims. Coroner, jurymen and other officials refuse to give any details of the evidence which caused the arrest.

19,000 ACRES IN EASTERN OREGON WILL GET WATER

$600,000 IRRIGATION PROJECT
NEAR ECHO IS ANNOUNCED IN PORTLAND

ACRE COST IS ESTIMATED AT
NOT OVER $40 BY PROMOTERS

Advantage of District Bonding Act
Will be Taken—Project Can be Completed Before Fall,
Believe Contractors

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 24.—Reclamation near Echo, Umatilla county, is planned by the directors of the Teel Irrigation district, who are about to let the contracts for the work, requiring an expenditure of approximately $600,000.

Asa H. Thompson, president of the Oregon Irrigation congress, and one of the directors of the district, was in Portland today and consulted local contracting firms regarding the work. The project adjoins the government irrigation district at Hermiston. The land is held largely in small blocks and will be developed by the owners themselves. One tract of about 2000 acres may be placed on the market after the work is done.

Directors of the district have arranged to bond the property under the district bonding law. The contractors presumably, will be paid partially in bonds. It is hoped to market the remaining securities in the east or in Europe.

According to present estimates the work can be done and the water turned onto the land at a cost not to exceed $40 an acre. The land itself is valued at $20 an acre. The owners will pay 6 per cent interest on the bonds but will not pay any part of the principal for the first 10 years. In the 11th year they will pay 6 per cent of the principal in addition to the interest.

Water for the proposed project will be taken from Camas creek and will be turned onto the land with a gravity flow. It is believed that if the contractors can begin work early in the spring, it can be completed before fall.

The Macksburg correspondent of the Aurora Observer writes: "Until the present time we have been expecting a fall of snow to make the winter complete but now such unfailing signs of spring are everywhere to be seen that we begin to think that winter is going to take its flight without once giving the landscape its covering of white."

BIGGER GUNS SOUGHT BY WAR DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Guns of greater range and power than any that could be arrayed against them were asked for American coast defenses in a report of the army board submitted by Secretary Garrison and made public today by the house appropriations committee.

The board advised that the old type 12-inch guns and mortars "are not equal in range and power to major caliber guns afloat."

Mr. Garrison recommended the immediate improvement of some of the coast defenses so that the range of the old 12-inch guns could be increased to 20,000 yards, and the board suggested that wherever it was necessary to construct new works the larger guns should be 15-inch 45-caliber weapons.

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES N. LURIE

DISINDIVIDUALIZE YOURSELF.

The artist who is to produce a work which is to be admired, not by his friends or his townspeople or his contemporaries, but by all men, and which is to be more beautiful to the eye in proportion to its culture must disindividualize himself and be a man of no party and no manners and no age, but one through whom the soul of all men circulates as the common air through his lungs.—Emerson.

In other words—
To do good work you must get outside of yourself. You must forget your own interests and temporary advantages and strive with an eye to the future. It must content you to know in your own heart and soul that the thing you are engaged in is worthy and will meet with ultimate approval.

Such is the spirit that animates the good mechanic at his bench or lathe, the cobbler who puts on the patch true, the artist who expresses his inspiration with pen or brush or chisel, the statesman who labors for the advancement of his country and of the world.

Each partakes of the universal spirit. The worker is lost in the work. It possesses him and fills him. It grips him with the never slackening grip of the thing that must be done if his own individuality is to find expression. It is the recognition of this feeling which makes others than the workers admire the well turned furrow, the businesslike way in which the horse-shoer goes about his work or the manner in which the riveter catches the red hot pieces of iron in his bucket.

As each of us individually recognizes and admires good work, however done, so will the world set its approval on the result.

Only if the worker loses himself in his work. When self-consciousness steps in and he stops to admire what he is doing we turn away and say to ourselves, consciously or unconsciously:

"The attention he is giving to himself is false. It should be given to his task to make it better. If he has any time or energy to spare, besides those absolutely necessary to the accomplishment of his work, let him give it to the better finishing of the job."

That is what is meant by disindividualizing oneself.

And—
"Blessed is he who has found his work. Let him ask no other blessedness. He has a work, a life purpose. He has found it and will follow it," says Carlyle.

The Prodigal.
"Is he generous?"
"Generous? Why, he can't even refuse money to his wife."—Exchange.

IS THE FIRST STEP IN PLANS

Ratification of Lease of Sumner and Abert Salt Beds Prompts Order to Start On Plant in 90 Days

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 18.—Upon receipt of word that the Oregon legislature had ratified the lease of Lake Sumner and Lake Abert and that Governor Withycombe had signed the bill concluding the transaction, Jason C. Moore telegraphed today from New York, to his attorney, Chester A. Sheppard, of the Portland legal firm of Sheppard & Brock that he was ready to go ahead immediately with the expenditure of $7,000,000 on the project.

Soon after arranging the lease with the state land board last December Mr. Moore departed for his home in New York and since that time his interests have been represented in Oregon by Mr. Sheppard. Mr. Moore undoubtedly will come to Oregon soon to supervise the initiation of actual construction work. Within 90 days he will be required to deposit $15,000 with the state in addition to the $10,000 he advanced in December.

Lake Sumner and Abert are situated in the south central part of Lake county about 30 miles apart and approximately 270 miles south of the intersection of the Deschutes and Columbia rivers. The lakes contain rich salt deposits, which the syndicate led by Mr. Moore plans to transport by pipeline to the confluence of the two rivers where the great abundance of water power is available and where cheap transportation may be had both by water and rail. According to present estimates the pipeline will be built of Oregon fir, 14 inches in diameter, and cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000.

Large pumping plants at the lakes, costing about $500,000, will be used to pump the fluids up an elevation of about 800 feet for the first 25 or 30 miles of the pipeline and from that point to the junction of the two rivers a gravity flow system will be installed. Two sites, of 40 and 30 acres, respectively, near the junction, already are offered as the location of the $5,000,000 manufacturing plant that is to be erected.

Machinery will be installed in the proposed plant for the manufacture of nitrates, potassium, sodium chloride, carbonate, bi-carbonate, caustic soda, baking and bleaching powders, and other materials to be obtained from the lake deposits.

In addition to the manufacture of materials it is probable that a separate plant will be built for the generation of electric power. Mr. Sheppard said today that this plant might be operated by an independent company. About 150,000 horsepower will be required on the project.

Without question the project made possible by the ratification of the lakes, lease for 40 years is one of the largest private development programs ever commenced in Oregon. Mr. Moore and Mr. Sheppard declare that the plant will be the largest of its kind in America and the only one of its particular character in the entire world. Mr. Moore estimates that his syndicate will employ between 3500 and 5000 men continually.

MILLIONAIRES ARE CHARGED WITH PLOT

SEIZURE OF LOWER CALIFORNIA
ALLEGED AIM—HARRISON
OTIS INVOLVED

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Harry Chandler, millionaire land owner and son-in-law of General Harrison Gray Otis, owner of the Los Angeles Times, was indicted today by the federal grand jury on a charge of having conspired to violate the neutrality of the United States.

He and five other men indicted are declared in the indictment to have recruited soldiers in the United States to serve in an invasion of the Mexican territory of Lower California.

Agents of the department of justice said that, in return for the work of this armed expedition, which they declared was planned to overrun Lower California, certain cattle companies were to be allowed to bring cattle in and out of the Mexican territory without payment of export or import duties.

LASSEN ACTIVE AGAIN

REDDING, Cal., Feb. 21.—That an earthquake and manifestation of Mount Lassen, the California active volcano, on Sunday night, did considerable minor damage in the vicinity of Twin Valley, was the report brought here today by persons living in the vicinity.

The disturbance evidently centered on William Moran's farm, which has been considered in the danger area since the eruptions of Mount Lassen began last year.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 17.—Dr. Henry L. Nichols, 81 years of age, the oldest practicing physician in California, and secretary of state from 1867 to 1871, died here Tuesday night. Dr. Nichols cast his first vote for President James K. Polk, in 1844.

MAX KLEIST TALKED
HIMSELF OUT OF COURT
IN BREITUNG SUIT

MAX F. KLEIST

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Judge Learned Hand declared a mistrial in the suit of Max Kleist against his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Breitung, for $250,000 for alienation of Juliet Breitung Kleist's affections. The judge's reason for his act was an interview which Kleist had given to certain afternoon newspapers saying his life had been threatened. Kleist was poor and out of a job when he claimed Miss Juliet Breitung, whose father owns the steamer Dacia, over which there has been so much publicity. He testified she had pursued him, had taught him how to love and to smoke and drink. They eloped and were married here. The Breitungs then lived in Cleveland, O.

Explosive Coughs Fairly Rack You to Pieces

Foley's Honey and Tar is Just Like Oil on Troubled Waters for those Violent Racking Coughs.

They rasp and strain your throat, tear at your chest and lungs, congest the blood in your neck and head, almost strangle you, leave you weak and fairly exhausted. Often they are a symptom of such grave diseases as bronchitis, pleurisy, pneumonia—even tuberculosis.

"Oh, for a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR to stop this awful coughing."

FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR COMPOUND spreads a healing, soothing coating as it glides down the raw inflamed throat. It loosens the cough, brings the phlegm up easily. Takes away that tight feeling across the chest, and, especially, wheezy breathing and hoarseness.

A dealer of Toledo, Ohio, (name furnished) who has sold FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR for years, writes: "One of my customers came into store to see long distance telephone. He was coughing so violently that he could not talk. I sat him down and gave him a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR, and in 10 minutes he had recovered. He had been unable to work for three months, due to this cough. He says FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR relieved him entirely of this trouble."

R. MARTIN, Boston, Mass., writes: "I had a severe cough and cold and was almost past going. I got a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR and used it frequently, when having violent coughing spells, and am glad to say it cured my cough entirely and my cold soon disappeared."

Contains no opiates. Absolutely a pure medicine. Heuser substitutes.
