

FARMERS, ASLEEP, LOST SALE OF 100-ACRE FARM

A man with a million dollars—judging from his appearance—came into The Courier office last Thursday just about press time.

"I have heard so much about Oregon City and the Willamette valley that I've come from Oklahoma to locate here. I'm glad I came, but tell me where I'm to buy the sort of a farm I want," this gentleman of the prosperous appearance asked us.

"Well now," we averred, "there is plenty of good land in Clackamas county—best land in the world in fact; and that's why most of it can't be bought for Oklahoma money or any other. Still, there are plenty of places in the county for sale. Folks are moving over the face of the old globe all the time, and some of 'em leave this great county occasionally. But, come right down to it, stranger, we can't seem to recall anyone especially desiring to sell a farm—100 acres you say you want?—just at present. Sure a place isn't advertised this week."

This man was shocked and chagrined to learn that the farming people of Clackamas county did not have enterprise and business judgment enough to advertise in their home paper.

"I came out here," he told us, "because I was sure I could escape the sharpers of the big city and deal direct with the owners. I find the owners asleep. Say, ed., don't know whether I calculate on remaining in these parts. Think I'll hitch up the Pierce and drive on to California—tell me down there people have some git-up-and-go about 'em. Got a mighty nice plant here. So long!"

The Courier was grieved. The whole force blushed for shame. Clackamas county asleep, lost a man that looked to us like a cracker-jack citizen, just because the people in and around Oregon City who have farm land for sale haven't faith enough in their goods to advertise them.

We are using a lot of words to drill the details of this little visit into your heads, landowners, and it will probably fall on many unattentive ears. But just mark it down in your little book that on October 25, 1917, The Courier—your paper—told you in plain words that you were not doing your duty by yourself, your county nor its possible citizens.

The Courier is not trying to preach a moral lesson for the sake of the business that may come into the office as a result. But we have an inclination to point out to you the fact that had this stranger from Oklahoma—and he looked like a cash buyer—found a classified advertisement in these columns some one would have made a land sale and profited thereby.

The cost of classified advertising is nothing compared with the results it brings. Wake up, that's all we ask of you! There are several strangers each week in this very office seeking something in Clackamas county and most of them—sorry to say—do not buy. They want everything from a second-hand automobile to 100 acres of land.

STARKWEATHER IS FIRST CANDIDATE

same office as Mr. Starkweather, Governor Withycombe undoubtedly will ask for a second term, and Gus Moser, made confident of his republican support at the last primary election, will seek to divest the Hon. James W. from the robes of state. Secretary of State Olcott, although he has not definitely announced his candidacy, will certainly be a republican candidate for the governor's place. At least one other democratic candidate will enter the arena and perhaps the republican ranks will be swelled by at least two more names.

Regarding his candidacy, Mr. Starkweather said:

"For several days there has been considerable political activity through out the state, centered mostly about the contest for governor; and so far as I have observed, his activity has been confined entirely to the numerous republican aspirants for gubernatorial honors.

"It seems to me to be proper at this time for the democratic party to have an aspirant, too, and I have concluded to announce myself a candidate for governor. I have been identified with the democratic party for many years. During the last presidential campaign I helped wage an aggressive fight for democracy under the leadership of Woodrow Wilson.

"In 1913 I was appointed by Governor West as one of the Oregon delegates to the federal commission that investigated rural credits in Europe, and in the fall of that year we made a report, published as senate document No. 214, which has since been the foundation of our national rural credits legislation.

"I was also a member of the commission which drafted the original workmen's compensation act for this state."

Clackamas county is furnishing another aspirant to state honors in the person of E. E. Brodie of Oregon City, who will ask voters at the primary election for nomination to succeed Mr. Olcott as secretary of state.

COMMISSIONER'S YARN NOT CORRECT

"Now what are the facts about this Bluff road and the 'No chains needed route to Mount Hood.' The grades on the Bluff road were established by the county but were not considered very satisfactory to the roadmaster; however, as a road from Sandy toward Portland was badly needed, the rock surface was put on.

"The county court has appropriated more money for this road in the past two years than the entire amount raised in the road district by both special and regular county taxes for the same time amounts to; that is to say that every dollar of road tax paid by residents of that road district has been matched by a dollar paid from Oregon City or some other part of the county. The county court has also given out of the general road fund a large percentage of the funds needed to improve and plank the road east of Sandy. This we have felt justified in doing for the reason that no matter how generous and progressive the people of that section are, they cannot with their comparatively sparse population and low valuation, maintain a road that is so heavily traveled as this road is which automobiles use in going to Mount Hood."

Be Rid of That Ache

If you are a sufferer with lame back, headache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend?

James Wilkinson, retired farmer, 201 Fourteenth street, Oregon City, says: "I had to get up often at night as I couldn't sleep on account of the pains and aches all over me. My limbs were stiff, too. I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and today, although I am in my 70th year, I am hale and hearty." (Statement given March 29, 1910.)

STILL PRAISES DOAN'S. On April 17, 1916, Mr. Wilkinson said: "I am ready to back up every word of my former statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever my kidneys get out of order a few doses of Doan's fix me up all right."

BOY SENT TO SALEM

Home Environment Not Good and Training School is Only Refuge. County Judge H. S. Anderson Friday ordered Joe Hrovat returned to the state training school at Salem, because there appeared to be no other place to send the youngster. The lad was at the school until this spring, when he was released and sent to his home here. Local officers found home conditions so unsuitable, however, that Chief of Police French took the boy into his own home. Recently the little fellow attempted to earn money enough to permit him to attend school this term, but could not do that and stay at home. The last beating he is said to have received at the hands of his parents was the last straw for the boy, and he asked to be returned to Salem.

Railroad Spends $250,000 for Liberty Loan in Oregon

Of a total of $5,000,000 subscribed to the second Liberty loan bond issue, the Southern Pacific company will spend $250,000 in Oregon, according to information received by Mr. Sachwell, the company's local agent, last week. A similar sum is allotted to Nevada and Arizona. Utah and New Mexico get $50,000 in subscriptions and purchases by the company in California amount to double the subscription in five other states combined. Aside from the company's subscription it is expected that employees will buy well over $1,000,000 worth of bonds.

WAR BREAD AND BEANS

Menu for Next Luncheon Will be Example of Conservation

The Live Wires of the Commercial club will take an active part in the food conservation campaign of the county at their next luncheon, when the features of the menu will be war bread and beans raised on the club's demonstration farm at Mount Pleasant. White bread will be discarded for the one meal at least. The club's interest in food conservation has caused the listing of a number of speakers from the membership who will attend and address district meetings throughout the county within the next week. The Wires have also had a practical demonstration of the increased cost of living, since the members have been asked to pay an additional 15 cents for the luncheon that is served to them each week at the Commercial club.

Worth Their Weight in Gold

No man can do his best when he suffers from backache, rheumatic pains, swollen joints, sore muscles or other symptoms of kidney trouble. B. H. Stone, 840 N. 2d St., Reading, Pa., writes: "I contracted a most severe case of kidney trouble. I gradually grew worse and for months was unable to attend to business. I began to use Foley's Kidney Pills and soon found the pains were gone and I have been worth their weight in gold to me."—Jones Drug Co.

LIBERTY LOAN FACTS

Banks Have More of Farmers' Money Than Ever Before

The reports of our national banks of March 5, 1917, showed a total of 15,737,969 deposit accounts. This is an increase of 1,449,910 since May 1, 1916. It is significant that 1,258,691 of seven-eighths of this increase was reported by the country banks indicating a wider diffusion of the wealth of the country.

A comparison of the enormous rise in price of wheat, wool, hides, barley, hogs, livestock, sugar, copper and petroleum, during the present war, shows the extent to which the Pacific coast district has benefited directly from the war. Business prosperity in the past two years in the United States has by no means been confined to the manufacturing districts. It has spread to nearly every kind of business we have.

The farming season is practically over on the Pacific coast. The farmer has more money than ever before.

MANY SALMON TRAPPED IN POOLS BELOW FALLS

There is an unusually small amount of water in the river here just now and those who have been near the base of the falls, where not a drop of water comes over, have noticed the trouble salmon are having in working out an existence. The little water that is in the river forms into small pools in the rocks below the falls, and will remain there until water comes over the falls. In these pools scores of salmon, some of them wonderful specimens, are imprisoned. One small pool of this sort contains more than 50 fish.

The salmon thus imprisoned have spawned and it is said that the effects of the fresh water upon their flesh is rapidly causing their death. These salmon are not fit for food, fishermen say, because of their condition. They die within a short time after spawning from the effects of fresh water and the bacteria therefrom that preys upon the flesh of the fish.

Exhibitors Are Patriotic

The United States civil service commission has received an expression of the patriotism of practically all the exhibitors of motion pictures in the United States. The government is in need of thousands of typewriter operators and stenographers of both sexes for war work in Washington, and through its 3,000 local boards of examiners in that many cities, the commission requested the owners and managers of motion picture theatres to allow free of charge an announcement on their screens of this need of the government. The refusals were so few as to be negligible.

For several weeks The Courier has done its part in the search for government stenographers and typewriters. The need is urgent and the pay is good. Young men and women of Clackamas county should consider it a patriotic duty to respond to this call in cases where they are trained to meet the requirements.

Hammond has been warranted a corporal and has been offered a sergeant's rank, which he probably will accept upon returning to American Lake.

J. R. Kelso

J. R. Kelso, for a number of years justice of the peace at Milwaukie, died at a Portland hospital late Sunday night from the effects of an operation for appendicitis. His recovery was anticipated when he suddenly failed. The operation was performed on Thursday. Mr. Kelso was also well known in the county, not only for his work in court, but as a business man. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Kelso, of Milwaukie, and other relatives.
