

REV. BRUCE'S
WELCH RAREBITS.Revivalist Doesn't Want
Press Criticism.

"DEVILISH EDITORS" ANNOY.

Would Peel the Bark off Them if They Dare to Comment.

Last week the Courier printed a few Sam Jones counterfeits that Rev. J. Bruce Evans passed off at the revival meetings being held here, and the same night this week and lowly soul-saver came back with this:

"I fight fire with fire. When a devilish editor attacks me in the spirit of hateful opposition I never miss a chance to peel the bark off him."

Now this "devilish editor" simply reprinted some of the very silly things Rev. Bruce was passing off for wisdom, with the explanation that he was running a revival service and not opposing a Roosevelt headquarters.

Rev. Bruce called this "hateful persecution," and then he turned the other cheek by what he thought was peeling somebody's bark off.

If Rev. Bruce has been in the Sam Jones business any length of time he should know that editors have very tough hides and that he will have to come back with a few more chips on the fire before he blisters very deep.

I never could see why a minister isn't open to criticism the same as any public speaker, and especially when he uses the pulpit as a street orator would a soap box.

Now here is one of Rev. Bruce's declarations:

"I once was a standpat Republican, but thank God I am well now. I never was so low as to be a Cleveland Democrat. I am a Roosevelt-Bryan insurgent."

Do you suppose he DOES thank God? And if he does, don't you think he could find other matters of more importance to take to him? And do you think his political statement has any more effect on the saving of souls than do his photographs that he has taken of his back?

There is occasionally a Cleveland Democrat left in Oregon (they are scarce) but they don't consider themselves any lower than the man who denounced them from the pulpit.

Here's another bright one, and one that will no doubt have much influence in bringing the sinner to the fold of the church:

"I was reading one of Hearst's papers and I apologize for that."

He doesn't state which one he was reading, but no doubt he applies the censure to all. Hearst's New York Journal has the most brilliant and highest-paid editorial writer in the United States and his copyrighted editorials are re-printed in many of the leading papers of the country. If Rev. Bruce was ever in New York and noted the army of people who bought the Journal in preference to the other papers, he would think he was not a lone apologist.

And again comes another shining prospect:

"Some men over forty should never be out at night alone. A woman never should."

We don't in the least doubt the truth of this maxim, but what is its value? The Courier keeps a string of these aphorisms on hand to be used as "fillers" between patent medicine advertisements, and we will gladly replenish Mr. Bruce's stock when it runs low. We clip ours.

Here's one more:

"An old senator—a millionaire and president of a great corporation—admitted that with one foot in the grave he did not care to discuss politics. He regretted to have to say that he refused to be a Christian and a Methodist preacher and had no knowledge that with all his wealth he had ever helped to make a single man better. I cried when I read that."

Well, that WAS sad, and it is nice to learn the evangelist can weep over a millionaire one minute and "peel the bark off" an editor the next. If I had one foot in the grave I don't believe I would discuss politics either.

But does this line of talk search out the joints in a sinner's coat of mail? Does it do any good? Isn't the Gipsy Smith way better?

There are many roads to Zion, but I never went much on the evangelists who promote the short cuts. When you get to a man's heart you have him coming, but throwing Billy Sunday's last season's curves won't break in.

Let us now pass the plate.

Remember This Date, Feb. 22.

The Women's Club of Oregon City, learning that the date set for its annual banquet, Feb. 14, would conflict with that of the Derricks' annual open meeting, has decided to change the date of the club banquet to February 22. The character of the banquet will represent the Colonial period in decorations, costumes and program.

This banquet is given for the special pleasure of the husbands and sweethearts of the club women. Mrs. Mollie Straight has charge of the entire program.

E. L. Jones of Eldorado was visiting Oregon City friends, Tuesday.

W. F. Mueller and brother, Frank Mueller, who live near Mulino, were transacting business here Thursday.

A. B. Wilmut, who is ill with typhoid fever is slowly recovering.

What $2.00 will Get You.

The Courier and the Weekly Oregonian both one year, $2.00.

The Courier and twice-a-week Portland Journal, both one year, $2.00.

The Courier and three-times-a-week New York World, $2.00.

THE MERCHANTS' WEAK SPOT.

Little Illustrations where Theory and Practice Don't Jibe.

A merchant will say "advertising doesn't pay," but put him on a committee for a celebration or a booster day blow-out, and the first thing he will propose is advertising and lots of it.

The merchant who puts his name on a delivery wagon, on fencibles signs, on his wrapping paper, or in a window display DOES believe advertising pays, and he admits it.

And if the merchant would give just half the attention to his newspaper advertising that he does to his window advertising, what a lot more people would read it, and what a lot more results he would see.

This Courier is finding its way to the homes of a lot of Clackamas county people, and it is being read in these homes.

And when we produce the readers and the means to reach them, then the merchant who says advertising doesn't pay admits there is something weak in his business or ad writing.

If it doesn't pay him, it does the Portland merchants.

It is commonly said, a lot of Oregon City trade goes to Portland, why is that?

A Fourth of July celebration in this city, ignored by the newspapers, wouldn't have as many people as there is at the annual meeting of a county association.

The people read the papers all right, and they read the advertising.

Whether the merchants make it pay or not is a matter up to them and when they find a means TO make it pay, then will the card carry less people and money to Portland—people and money that should be making this city bigger, instead of Portland.

Think it over.

A STORY AND A MORAL.

How the Council Scrap Causes
Estacada to "See Things."

(Estacada Progress.)

A few years ago when Estacada officials were having trouble among themselves, we were informed by Oregon City citizens, that we were too "scrappy" and they would not take the best farm here as a gift and live with us.

From the recently reported council meeting held at Oregon City, we infer that not all officials of that staid old city, which claims distinction of early settlement and the county seat of our county have learned not to "scrap." We are sorry to know this as we all have learned by bitter experience that it is much more expensive to "scrap" together than it is to work together, pull, lift and struggle unanimously for the common good.

Mayor-elect Grant B. Dimick had the majority of the councilmen against him in his appointment of a chief of police. This has started a good-sized row in the county seat town. If such conduct continues we think Estacada and eastern Clackamas will have good reason for asking that a division of the county be made and that Estacada be a county seat. "Look well to the east" for our prediction is that in the not far distant future this will be a question for the two sections of Clackamas county to settle. That there should be no "scrap" between the two sections is our opinion for it has been conceded by many Oregon City citizens that they would be better off without us.

When the show was first planned it was thought that one floor of the Masonic building would accommodate all the fowls but it was soon determined that the largest building in the city was necessary. The entire armory building has been engaged and from all prospects every inch of room will be occupied by the fowls. This is a poultry country with a number one rating and when a show is held it is always a good one.

Cats and Belgian hares will also take an important part in the show and it is expected that a good delegation of both will appear. One of the special features will be the exhibition of the educated rooster "Dollar," who in charge of his young mistress, Mildred Smith, who is but eight years old, will show the visitors that chickens as well as other animals have sense. He will do all the tricks of any trained animal, such as counting, obeying commands, bowing, etc.

The Philharmonic Military Band of Oregon City, under the leadership of R. V. D. Johnson, will play concerts each evening and the moving pictures and lectures on the poultry industry will add greatly to the attractions of the show.

The following special premiums have been given for entries at the Oregon City Poultry Show, Feb. 23d, 1912. No entry fees.

For the best pen of Buff Leghorns—500 straw-colored plants, given by Chas. P. Roth of Canby.

For the best pen of Buff Orpingtons—one half dozen two year old rose bushes, given by Chas. J. Roth of Canby.

For the best pen of poultry at the show, any variety—40 pounds each of Korrer Poultry Food, given by Oregon Commission Co., of Oregon City.

For the best cock or cockerel at the show, any variety—one sack White Queen flour, given by Oregon Commission Co., of Oregon City.

And then comes the dig. The fiddler wants his pay. Here's a few of his bills:

University of Oregon, annual appropriation, $135,000.

Eastern Oregon insane asylum, $330,000.

University of Oregon, $528,000.

New capitol building, Salem, $150,000.

And so they go, and where they would have run to if Governor West hadn't used the ax on hundreds of the bills, you may guess.

And here is telling you that with a great state so little developed, the people should not allow great appropriations and high taxation to run away with the people and scare settlers on.

There's a remedy—know who you send to Salem, and find out how much he's going to cost you.

The committee favors a business manager idea, rather than the commission form, and their idea is to select five commissioners, one for each ward, and two from the city at large. The councilmen are to elect the mayor, the business manager, the city engineer, the street commissioner and the chief of police. The council will

TO DREDGE THE CHANNEL.

Secretary of War Approves of Project on Willamette.

There is before congress today a recommendation by Secretary of War Stimson that $24,000 be appropriated for dredging a six-foot channel in the Willamette river, from Portland to Oregon City.

This recommendation is based on the surveys of Maj. McIntosh, who says that vessels plying above Portland have a draft of from four to five feet and that a six-foot channel 200 feet wide between Portland and Clackamas rapids and 100 feet wide above that point would be adequate.

This recommendation is also based on the matter of government fees looks at the falls, for which an appropriation has already been made. After the channel has been dredged it will require $2500 annually to maintain the channel. The plan recommended also calls for the removal of Corvick's rock, which lies in the channel between Oregon City and Portland.

Whether congress will make this appropriation or not depends. If the proposed pens-a-bill, with its $60,000,000 appropriation goes through, there is little likelihood of river improvements or federal buildings, for the country will not be able to carry the load.

Congressman Hawley's also taking an active hand in the game and is working for an annual expenditure of $40,000 for confining the river between its banks at points above Oregon City.

Mr. Hawley will also ask for estimates of the cost of installing a system of locks in the river above Oregon City, with a view to increasing the channel depth to six feet.

Will BE A HUMMER.

Interest in the Poultry Show is Making Promoters Smile.

All arrangements will soon be completed for the big poultry show which is to be held in this city on the second and third of February. The Oregon City Commercial Club has taken the initiative in bringing about the exhibition and have furnished a competent manager to see that the affair goes through with success.

When the show was first planned it was thought that one floor of the Masonic building would accommodate all the fowls but it was soon determined that the largest building in the city was necessary. The entire armory building has been engaged and from all prospects every inch of room will be occupied by the fowls. This is a poultry country with a number one rating and when a show is held it is always a good one.

Cats and Belgian hares will also take an important part in the show and it is expected that a good delegation of both will appear. One of the special features will be the exhibition of the educated rooster "Dollar," who in charge of his young mistress, Mildred Smith, who is but eight years old, will show the visitors that chickens as well as other animals have sense. He will do all the tricks of any trained animal, such as counting, obeying commands, bowing, etc.

The Philharmonic Military Band of Oregon City, under the leadership of R. V. D. Johnson, will play concerts each evening and the moving pictures and lectures on the poultry industry will add greatly to the attractions of the show.

The following special premiums have been given for entries at the Oregon City Poultry Show, Feb. 23d, 1912. No entry fees.

For the best pen of Buff Leghorns—500 straw-colored plants, given by Chas. P. Roth of Canby.

For the best pen of Buff Orpingtons—one half dozen two year old rose bushes, given by Chas. J. Roth of Canby.

For the best pen of poultry at the show, any variety—40 pounds each of Korrer Poultry Food, given by Oregon Commission Co., of Oregon City.

For the best cock or cockerel at the show, any variety—one sack White Queen flour, given by Oregon Commission Co., of Oregon City.

And then comes the dig. The fiddler wants his pay. Here's a few of his bills:

University of Oregon, annual appropriation, $135,000.

Eastern Oregon insane asylum, $330,000.

University of Oregon, $528,000.

New capitol building, Salem, $150,000.

And so they go, and where they would have run to if Governor West hadn't used the ax on hundreds of the bills, you may guess.

And here is telling you that with a great state so little developed, the people should not allow great appropriations and high taxation to run away with the people and scare settlers on.

There's a remedy—know who you send to Salem, and find out how much he's going to cost you.

The committee favors a business manager idea, rather than the commission form, and their idea is to select five commissioners, one for each ward, and two from the city at large. The councilmen are to elect the mayor, the business manager, the city engineer, the street commissioner and the chief of police. The council will

will have good reason for asking that a division of the county be made and that Estacada be a county seat. "Look well to the east" for our prediction is that in the not far distant future this will be a question for the two sections of Clackamas county to settle. That there should be no "scrap" between the two sections is our opinion for it has been conceded by many Oregon City citizens that they would be better off without us.

When the show was first planned it was thought that one floor of the Masonic building would accommodate all the fowls but it was soon determined that the largest building in the city was necessary. The entire armory building has been engaged and from all prospects every inch of room will be occupied by the fowls. This is a poultry country with a number one rating and when a show is held it is always a good one.

Cats and Belgian hares will also take an important part in the show and it is expected that a good delegation of both will appear. One of the special features will be the exhibition of the educated rooster "Dollar," who in charge of his young mistress, Mildred Smith, who is but eight years old, will show the visitors that chickens as well as other animals have sense. He will do all the tricks of any trained animal, such as counting, obeying commands, bowing, etc.

The Philharmonic Military Band of Oregon City, under the leadership of R. V. D. Johnson, will play concerts each evening and the moving pictures and lectures on the poultry industry will add greatly to the attractions of the show.

The following special premiums have been given for entries at the Oregon City Poultry Show, Feb. 23d, 1912. No entry fees.

For the best pen of Buff Leghorns—500 straw-colored plants, given by Chas. P. Roth of Canby.

For the best pen of Buff Orpingtons—one half dozen two year old rose bushes, given by Chas. J. Roth of Canby.

For the best pen of poultry at the show, any variety—40 pounds each of Korrer Poultry Food, given by Oregon Commission Co., of Oregon City.

For the best cock or cockerel at the show, any variety—one sack White Queen flour, given by Oregon Commission Co., of Oregon City.

And then comes the dig. The fiddler wants his pay. Here's a few of his bills:

GETTING CLOSER TOGETHER.

Readers Appreciate new Stand by Hearty Responses.

The more than hearty response from our talk to subscribers last week has convinced us that if a newspaper will have a thorough understanding with its readers, get up close to them and be on the square with them, that the vastness, overdue subscription matter can be easily adjusted.

Once more we want to impress it on subscribers that the day they will notify this office to stop their paper, it will be stopped. It's a plain business deal. We want to send you the Courier if we can give you your money's worth. If we can't, you don't want it, and we don't want you to have it.

Every month we will send notice to subscribers whose time will or has expired, and we ask you to do your part then.

When we send such notice month after month and no attention is paid to it, well, then we feel just about as you do when you have repeatedly sent a bill to which no attention has been paid. And then we shall probably do just about what you would do—see if we can't collect it.

In a few weeks we are going to give you a lot more quality in this Courier—going to cover more territory and make the present miscellaneous columns live ones. It's going to take a lot of money and hard work to do what we have framed up, and we ask you readers to look at this matter on business lines and be businesslike with us.

People in the news.

Colonel William J. Bryan will tour the south, giving a series of lectures. Robert Bacon, ambassador of the United States at Paris, has resigned. Dr. John Grier Hibben Stuart has been elected president of Princeton University. He succeeds Dr. Woodrow Wilson, who resigned.

W. Morgan Shuster, an American recently removed as treasurer-general of Persia, accompanied by his family, is on his way to this country.

Kansas will lose Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, the author of "In His Steps." He has accepted a call from New Zealand to work in a movement against saloons.

Leap year has already brought to master-General Hitchcock, a proposal the only bachelor of the cabinet, Post of marriage. "The one who is 'with it,'" writes from Houston, Tex.

Judge Hook of Kansas has addressed a letter to President Taft denying the charges recently made against him with the idea of preventing his nomination to the supreme bench.

In the federal court at Indianapolis, Judge Anderson, declaring that Detective W. J. Latta had rendered a great service to his country, released him from all charges of having kidnapped the McNamars.

Political New Bits.

Friends of both say that a fair and well understood working agreement has been arranged between President Taft and Roosevelt.

Ollie M. James, Democrat, has been elected to the United States senate by the Kentucky legislature to succeed Thomas H. Paynter.

George A. Neely, Democrat, was elected to congress Tuesday from the Seventh Kansas district, the district made famous by Jerry Simpson.

Governor Judson Harmon has speaking engagements for the week in several western cities, while Governor Woodrow Wilson, his rival for the presidential nomination, has accepted an engagement to address a convention of Michigan editors in Detroit.

It is thought Representative Humphrey will be appointed United States district judge for western Washington to succeed Judge Donworth, who resigned. He is strongly endorsed by Senator Jones, while Senator Poindeexter is said to be opposed to the appointment.

Nothing very sensational has occurred here during the past week save a couple of basketball games.

On Friday, Jan. 5, the eighth and ninth grades had the audacity to challenge the rest of the high school to a basketball game, providing that their teacher, a former college star, be allowed to play on their team. Needless to say, the challenge was accepted, and on Tuesday, Jan. 8, those obstreperous underclassmen were taught not to monkey with the bandwagon.

In other words, when the game ended they found that they had only gathered in nine points while the opponents had obtained eleven. So they are now a sadder and a wiser bunch.

On Friday, Jan. 12, the Clackamas Athletic Club's team journeyed to Parkplace, and after a clean, fast game witnessed by a good crowd of spectators, they were forced to return to Clackamas with the small end of a 22 to 17 score.

Now what we want to know is this: Are there any other teams in this vicinity who would like to try their luck against the Parkplace high school quintet? Any such may write to Kenneth Hendricks, Box 77, Parkplace, Ore., manager, and express such desire.

Contrary to expectations it has developed that the only team entered in the county debating league this year is Parkplace. What's the reason? Was it not only last year that the Oregon City high school was remonstrating because they did not get a chance to debate? Surely, this year, with a much larger school and better equipment, they have no reason for getting cold feet. Is the Oregon City high school merely a place where they turn out football teams and the rest, or is debating work so insignificant and uneducational that it has no place in the curriculum of a modern high school? There's something to sleep on.

Constipation causes headache, nausea, dizziness, languor, heart palpitation. Drastic physics gripe, sicken, weaken the bowels and don't cure. Doan's Regulator acts gently and cures constipation. 25 cents. Ask your druggist.

Charter Committee's Work.

The charter committee is busy with the commission amendment to the city charter, taking each provision of the charter up separately and working out a new one, to be submitted to the voters later.

The committee favors a business manager idea, rather than the commission form, and their idea is to select five commissioners, one for each ward, and two from the city at large. The councilmen are to elect the mayor, the business manager, the city engineer, the street commissioner and the chief of police. The council will

will have good reason for asking that a division of the county be made and that Estacada be a county seat. "Look well to the east" for our prediction is that in the not far distant future this will be a question for the two sections of Clackamas county to settle. That there should be no "scrap" between the two sections is our opinion for it has been conceded by many Oregon City citizens that they would be better off without us.

When the show was first planned it was thought that one floor of the Masonic building would accommodate all the fowls but it was soon determined that the largest building in the city was necessary. The entire armory building has been engaged and from all prospects every inch of room will be occupied by the fowls. This is a poultry country with a number one rating and when a show is held it is always a good one.

Cats and Belgian hares will also take an important part in the show and it is expected that a good delegation of both will appear. One of the special features will be the exhibition of the educated rooster "Dollar," who in charge of his young mistress, Mildred Smith, who is but eight years old, will show the visitors that chickens as well as other animals have sense. He will do all the tricks of any trained animal, such as counting, obeying commands, bowing, etc.

The Philharmonic Military Band of Oregon City, under the leadership of R. V. D. Johnson, will play concerts each evening and the moving pictures and lectures on the poultry industry will add greatly to the attractions of the show.

The following special premiums have been given for entries at the Oregon City Poultry Show, Feb. 23d, 1912. No entry fees.

For the best pen of Buff Leghorns—500 straw-colored plants, given by Chas. P. Roth of Canby.

For the best pen of Buff Orpingtons—one half dozen two year old rose bushes, given by Chas. J. Roth of Canby.

For the best pen of poultry at the show, any variety—40 pounds each of Korrer Poultry Food, given by Oregon Commission Co., of Oregon City.

For the best cock or cockerel at the show, any variety—one sack White Queen flour, given by Oregon Commission Co., of Oregon City.

name the night policemen upon recommendation of the chief.

Messrs. Stipp and Schueler are preparing a draft of the proposed new charter, which will be given full publicity when finished, and later on submitted to a vote of the city.

Entertained at the Mount Home.

The Tuesday Evening Bridge Club was entertained this week by Dr. and Mrs. Hugh S. Mount at their home on Eleventh street. The evening was very pleasantly spent at the popular game, Mrs. W. A. Shewman and Mr. E. A. Chapman being the successful contestants for the prizes. The home was decorated with green foliage and carnations and a very delicious luncheon was served the guests. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Linwood E. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram E. Straight, Mr. and Mrs. L. Beatie, Mr. and Mrs. Eber A. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shewman, Mrs. John Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rands, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. McBain, Miss Maude Lewthwaite, Miss Ole Barclay Pratt, Dr. Guy Mount, Dr. Clyde Mount.

People in the news.

Colonel William J. Bryan will tour the south, giving a series of lectures. Robert Bacon, ambassador of the United States at Paris, has resigned. Dr. John Grier Hibben Stuart has been elected president of Princeton University. He succeeds Dr. Woodrow Wilson, who resigned.

W. Morgan Shuster, an American recently removed as treasurer-general of Persia, accompanied by his family, is on his way to this country.

Kansas will lose Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, the author of "In His Steps." He has accepted a call from New Zealand to work in a movement against saloons.

Leap year has already brought to master-General Hitchcock, a proposal the only bachelor of the cabinet, Post of marriage. "The one who is 'with it,'" writes from Houston, Tex.

Judge Hook of Kansas has addressed a letter to President Taft denying the charges recently made against him with the idea of preventing his nomination to the supreme bench.

In the federal court at Indianapolis, Judge Anderson, declaring that Detective W. J. Latta had rendered a great service to his country, released him from all charges of having kidnapped the McNamars.

Political New Bits.

Friends of both say that a fair and well understood working agreement has been arranged between President Taft and Roosevelt.

Ollie M. James, Democrat, has been elected to the United States senate by the Kentucky legislature to succeed Thomas H. Paynter.

George A. Neely, Democrat, was elected to congress Tuesday from the Seventh Kansas district, the district made famous by Jerry Simpson.

Governor Judson Harmon has speaking engagements for the week in several western cities, while Governor Woodrow Wilson, his rival for the presidential nomination, has accepted an engagement to address a convention of Michigan editors in Detroit.

It is thought Representative Humphrey will be appointed United States district judge for western Washington to succeed Judge Donworth, who resigned. He is strongly endorsed by Senator Jones, while Senator Poindeexter is said to be opposed to the appointment.

Nothing very sensational has occurred here during the past week save a couple of basketball games.

On Friday, Jan. 5, the eighth and ninth grades had the audacity to challenge the rest of the high school to a basketball game, providing that their teacher, a former college star, be allowed to play on their team. Needless to say, the challenge was accepted, and on Tuesday, Jan. 8, those obstreperous underclassmen were taught not to monkey with the bandwagon.

In other words, when the game ended they found that they had only gathered in nine points while the opponents had obtained eleven. So they are now a sadder and a wiser bunch.

On Friday, Jan. 12, the Clackamas Athletic Club's team journeyed to Parkplace, and after a clean, fast game witnessed by a good crowd of spectators, they were forced to return to Clackamas with the small end of a 22 to 17 score.

Now what we want to know is this: Are there any other teams in this vicinity who would like to try their luck against the Parkplace high school quintet? Any such may write to Kenneth Hendricks, Box 77, Parkplace, Ore., manager, and express such desire.

Contrary to expectations it has developed that the only team entered in the county debating league this year is Parkplace. What's the reason? Was it not only last year that the Oregon City high school was remonstrating because they did not get a chance to debate? Surely, this year, with a much larger school and better equipment, they have no reason for getting cold feet. Is the Oregon City high school merely a place where they turn out football teams and the rest, or is debating work so insignificant and uneducational that it has no place in the curriculum of a modern high school? There's something to sleep on.