HEROES HARD TO FIND

Uncle Sam Still Looking for Men Who Saved Lives at Sea

Secretary of Commerce Redfield is having considerable difficulty in locating several members of the former crew of the American steamer Kroonland, of the Red Star line, in order to present to them the medals authorized by Congress in its resolution approved March 19, 1914. There remain at the present time 16 medals to be presented to officers and crew who have not yet been found.

On the 9th and 10th of October, 1913, the Kroonland was the assistance of the burning steamer Volturno, in the North Atlantic Ocean, and succeeded in rescuing 89 persons. For their gallant work the Kroonland's officers and crew received the thanks of Congress, and $1,000 was appropriated by the above-mentioned resolution for the purchase of a solid gold watch and chain for Capt. Paul H. Kreibohm, and 5 gold, 5 silver, and 29 bronze medals for the other officers and the crew.

The difficulty experienced in locating the brave men to whom the medals were awarded is illustrated in that one medal was delivered in London, England, while the recipient of another was found in the Belgian army. The 16 to whom medals remain to be delivered are:

Frank Von Hymmen, Alexander Sandilands, Heike M. P. Janssen, Gerard Frans Borrenberg, Ingolf Lode, Franz Quednau, Heinrich Schaub, Henri Guelinckx, Emil Bohme, Desire August Copman, Ernst Benoecke, Leon Coppens, Petrus Stobbehaar, Gustav Ebling, Alphons Roll, August Friedrich Reckseugel.

The United States shipping commissioner at New York City and the manager of the International Mercantile Marine Co., New York City, are cooperating with the Department of Commerce in the effort to find these men.

HARMONY ONCE AGAIN

Highschool Tempest in Teapot Dies Down, According to Reports

The little ruction up at the county seat highschool, which last week led to threats on the part of some of the students to "strike," and which caused the school directors many uneasy meetings, has for the time being died down, according to reports. The tempest which had been raging changed into a calm, it is said, after one of the directors expressed a willingness to vote "to have somebody caned."

This change of front on the part of this director would have made a three to two vote for the expulsion of the leader of one of the warring factions—and the war quit right then. "I believe that there is harmony prevailing in the school affairs," said Chairman Hedges, of the board of directors, when asked about the matter this week.

In view of the return of harmony to highschool circles, the Courier does not feel that it would be wise to "dig up" the squabble, as was intimated last week might be done. The Courier has no desire to embarrass school affairs, and if the warring pedagogues will agree to bury the hatchet and do the best they can for the benefit of the school, it certainly is best for them to be given every assistance possible. However, the Courier feels that it may say, with perfect propriety, that if the "teapot tempest" breaks out again, this paper will be doing a public duty if it prints all the facts concerning the squabble. And the facts, if printed, won't please some people.

Modern history has at last outdone the days of ancient Rome. Janus had two "fronts," a face looking either way; but the war in Europe has a western front, an eastern front and a Balkan front.

Because Woodburn militiamen have seen fit to criticize the former Oregonian reporter who is now adjutant general, the national guard company there is to be disbanded, he says. It is a terrible thing to affront the Oregonians.

We used to think it was the fault of the electric lights that made people look that way; but now a fashion magazine tells us it wasn't. It says that it is no longer "the thing" for girls to use blue, purple or olive-green face powder.

A student at the University of California has been living on 15 cents a day for meals, with condensed milk, sugar, pepper and salt donated. We know some girls that live entirely on stuff that is donated to them, so the California record isn't so much.

The Honorable Christian Schuebel was a member of the legislature when the law was passed requiring all tax levies to be reported to county officers by December 1; but just the same Chris forgot about it and nearly tangled Oregon City's finances some more. Wonder if Chris voted on that law?

It will be interesting to hear the excuse for torpedoing the Ancona when she was taking women and children non-combatants from Europe. Maybe it was a "friendly act," and the submarine commander was trying to stop the flow of emigrants to the United States. That is the best excuse we can think up right now.

morning the youth disappeared and went on his way.

Roy Hill, formerly employed as a farm hand in the Redland district, committed suicide on a car of the Oregon Electric railways in Portland last week. Hill is believed to have become demented over his fancied love troubles.

Samuel Gerber, of Oregon City, has arrived at the Hot Lake Sanitarium to take a course of the baths and treatment.

CHEESE FACTORY PLEDGED

Canby to Add Another Industry to Those Already in County

At a meeting held at the city hall Saturday afternoon the movement that has been on foot for some time for the establishment of a cheese factory at this place took formal head and the cheese factory is an assured project. The name of the new organization is the "Canby Co-operative Cheese and Produce Co., of which Franz Kraxberger is president, with a board of directors consisting of John Robins, A. B. Johnson, John Samuelson, J. M. Erickson, and the president, Mr. Kraxberger.

On motion it was decided that the Board of Directors should be elected with the aim in view of getting one representative from each district, which comprises the territory of the stockholders. The following were then named, voted upon, and duly elected directors: John Robins, Mill Creek district; A. B. Johnson, Molalla district; John Samuelson, Canby and Riverside district; J. M. Erickson, Barlow district; and Franz Kraxberger, Maeksburg district.—(Canby Herald.)

"GYMN" IS PROMISED

County Seat Highschool Students Told Desire Will Be Granted

Members of the Oregon City school board have a tentative plan for the establishment of a highschool gymnasium, and so the appeal of a large body of students, made directly to the school directors last week, appears to not have been in vain. The students will have to wait until the highschool is finished, however, before the gymnasium dream will be come a reality. According to J. E. Hedges, chairman of the board, the directors think they see their way clear to fitting up a gymnasium before the end of the school year.

With the completion of the addition now being built to the highschool building, it is proposed to move the present manual training quarters into the portable building in the rear of the highschool proper, and then to utilize the present manual training quarters for a gymnasium. The building now given over to shop work will be lengthened and strengthened, and a good line of apparatus installed.

ELEVATOR AIDS SLEUTH

Chief Shaw Surprises Boys with Speed in Getting Up Bluff

Special Agent Lillis, of the Southern Pacific, was standing on the depot platform Wednesday afternoon when a pebble from the bluff above hit him on the head. Lillis looked aloft and saw a small boy getting ready to leave another one.

Special Agent Lillis went and told Chief Shaw about it, and Chief Shaw started for the top of the bluff. The boys saw him coming up Seventh street, and figuring that it would take the Chief a long time to negotiate the steps, went right on with their fun.

But the Chief put one over. Stepping into the elevator, he was whisked to the top of the bluff in 42 seconds, and eight seconds later he was in the midst of the boys who were having so much fun. Warning them that there was a city ordinance against throwing things over the face of the bluff, the Chief let the youngsters go with a reprimand.

HARVEY TRIES AGAIN

Hill Murder Fuss Once Again Before the Circuit Court

Nathan B. Harvey, of Ardenwald, at one time arrested as a suspect in the shocking Hill murder case, and who recently filed a suit for libel and damages against the Portland Daily News; has again brought suit in the circuit court of Multnomah county against the Portland Scripps paper.

This time Mr. Harvey asks for $115,000 damages, and bases his claim upon an editorial in the News following the sudden termination of his first suit, which was thrown out of court.

In his latest complaint Mr. Harvey says that because of articles regarding him and the Hill murders patrons of his nursery have refused to continue business with him, and for that he wants $5,000 damages. In addition he asks $10,000 for exemplary damages, and $100,000 general damages.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL

Rudolph Benson, of Logan, Dies from Effects of Old Hurts

Injured in a logging camp in 1914, and an invalid since that time, Rudolph Benson, of Logan, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Benson, Monday morning. His three brothers were hastening to his bedside from Bend when the end came.

Mr. Benson was a native of Sweden, having been born 26 years ago. In the summer of 1914, while working in a logging camp near Bend, he sustained the injuries which caused his death. In the Logan country he was extremely popular, and a large number of friends will mourn his loss.

Besides the parents, the young man is survived by his three sisters, Mrs. E. B. Anderson of this city, Misses Eva and Emma Benson, residing at home, and three brothers, Oscar, Adolph and Carl Benson.

Old Miner Dies

Albert Joseph Rosenthal, for some time a resident of the county seat, but widely known as a miner during early California days, died at his home on Division street Sunday. He was born in California in 1849, and grew up amid the stirring scenes of the gold rush in the south. He was a member of a prominent California family, and the body will be sent south for interment.

PIONEER WOMAN DIES

Mary Elizabeth Potter Laid to Rest After Noteworthy Career

Known at one time as the most beautiful woman in Oregon, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Potter, of Oregon City, died shortly after noon last Friday. The funeral was held Monday, and many friends and admirers of the well-known woman attended the services to pay their last tribute to her memory.

Mrs. Potter was the daughter of Mansfield and Temperance Patterson, and was born in 1838 at Peoria, Illinois. In 1853 her family crossed the plains in an ox-cart, coming over the famous Oregon Trail, and settling in Oregon City, where later her father, Mansfield Patterson, was elected county assessor. Miss Patterson was married in 1855 to Robert Potter, who died in 1901. There were four children as the result of their marriage, three daughters and a son. Of these but two are now living; Mrs. Emma Potter Davis, of Oregon City, and Gilbert C. Potter, of Camas.

Mrs. Potter was a cousin of the late Bishop Henry "Potter, of New York, and was a woman of striking personality and great charm. In early Oregon days she was widely known as the most beautiful woman in the state, and even the four years of illness that preceded her death did not remove the charm of her personality. During her life she was actively interested in the progress of the state, and had much to do with influencing early political history.

Perhaps the greatest of Mrs. Potter's attributes was her great and noble patriotism. She was intensely American, and always regarded her country as the greatest in the world, and put its needs above everything else. With the outbreak of the present European war she took an intense interest in international affairs, and though an invalid followed the movements of the conflict from day to day. As crisis after crisis came up, and made it appear as if the United States might be involved, she repeatedly expressed regret that she was not a man, so that she could volunteer for her country if the need arose.

At one time, when she was discussing the possibility of the United States entering the war, Gordon E. Hayes playfully remarked to her that if war did come he would not enlist.

Mrs. Potter looked at him with seriousness in every feature. "Judge Hayes," she said, "if war does come, and you do not enlist and serve your country, I will get up myself and go. I will find a way to enlist, and I will gladly lay down my life for my country, for I am an American; and whenever my country needs Americans, I shall be in the front ranks of those who volunteer."

Went to the Hospital

C. E. Blanchard, postmaster at Blanchard, Cal., writes: "I had kidney trouble so bad I had to go to the hospital. Foley Kidney Pills were recommended to me and they completely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of them." Sufferers in every state have had similar benefit from this standard remedy for kidney and bladder ailments. It banishes backache, stiff joints, swollen muscles and all the various symptoms of weakened or diseased kidneys.—Jones Drug Co.

WILLAMETTE WOMAN DIES

Funeral Held at Salem, and Interment at Brooks, Oregon

Mrs. George Zelinski, for 37 years a resident of Oregon, died at her home in Willamette last Sunday. The body was sent to Salem for the funeral, and interment followed at Brooks, Oregon.

Mrs. Zelinski was born in Germany 59 years ago and came to the United States with her parents when two years old. She married George Zelinski at Prairie Du Chien, Wis., and they moved to Salem in 1879. Six years ago they retired from their Marion county farm and moved to Willamette. Eleven children were born, of whom John, Mary, Martha, Elizabeth, Henry, Frank and Veronea survive.

CURED BOY OF CROUP

Nothing frightens a mother than the loud, hoarse cough of croup. The labored breathing, strangling, choking and gasping for breath call for instant action. Mrs. T. Neureuer, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured my boy of a serious attack of croup after other remedies had failed. I recommend it to every one as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough." It clears air passages, soothes and heals.—Jones Drug Co.

MRS. HERMAN PASSES

Mother of Large Family Dies after a Brief Illness at Her Home

Monday morning friends of Mrs. Clara Herman, of Second and Washington streets, Oregon City, were shocked to hear of her death, following an illness that has confined her to her bed for some weeks. Mrs. Hermann was a native of Germany, and was born in January, 1852.

She is survived by eight children all of whom are now living: Charles, Adam, Jacob Jr., and William Hermann and Mrs. Elizabeth Michaels, Mrs. Barbara Sporlack, Mrs. John McGowan and Mrs. Edith Wilson.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from St. John's Catholic church Wednesday morning.

Play to be Staged

For the joint benefit of the Epworth League and the Willamette Fire Department, eight members of the Epworth League will stage "Out in the Streets," a comedy-drama, at Willamette next Saturday evening. The play is said to be filled with mirthful and pathetic situations, and the cast is well drilled.

Woodmen Elect Officers

Willamette Falls Camp, Woodmen of the World, have elected the following officers: C. A. Andrus, consul commander; A. R. Griffin, adviser lieutenant; M. E. Dunn, banker; E. H. Cooper, clerk; M. R. Cooper, escort; W. W. Munger, watchman; William Gold, sentry; I. D. Taylor and A. W. Myers, managers.

Twenty-five foremen of the local paper mills met in the dining room of Mass's hotel Thursday of last week and discussed technical subjects over an excellent banquet. B. T. McBain acted a toastmaster, and many short talks were made.

AS CANBY SEES IT

"Buy It at Home" Idea Raises New Question in South County City

Oregon City merchants are feeling the loss of the business that goes from their town and through their town to Portland. The board of trade and the commercial club have taken up the matter and a committee has been appointed "to show Oregon City and Clackamas county people the advantages they will enjoy if they do all the shopping possible at the stores of their own districts." This is a splendid sentiment. We suppose the real purpose of the committee, however, is to show the people of Oregon City and Clackamas county the advantages they will enjoy if they do all the shopping possible at the stores in Oregon City.

Ease to what end would be the several junketing trips made by the merchants and business men of the county seat over the new railroad to the interior points of the county? But with respect to her location and the resulting competition for local and country trade, Oregon City is just a little in the same fix that a prominent S. P. official recently told a Portland lumberman his mill was in—the wrong place. However, if our county seat merchants seek their patronage on the basis of equal prices and service with the Portland stores they are entitled to all their home trade and to all other county trade that ordinarily passes through there to Portland.

The duty of all purchasers of commodities is to seek first their needs of their home merchant, but if they are not satisfied here then try of other merchants within the county before going outside the county or state. The closer to home we spend our money the greater chance we stand to "see" it again.—(Canby Herald.)
