

Newsy Briefs From All Over the County

LIBERAL.

LIBERAL, Ore., Dec. 21.—(Special)—Massachusetts is expecting relatives from Japan about Christmas. One of the Japanese who has been farming and cutting wood in this neighborhood for several months past has moved his family to Boring.

H. N. Witzke made a trip to Canby one day last week.

The spelling bees at the Oak Grove school, have been postponed until after the holidays. The young people have become very much interested in them.

Bruno Kraxberger of Mackburg, is plowing on his father's ranch at Liberal.

Mr. Rainy, of Canby, has bought a new drag saw and has contracted to cut 600 cords of wood on the Kraxberger ranch at six hundred dollars, it is said.

H. N. Witzke has moved his drag saw onto the patch of timber known as the Baldwin timber. It belongs to Mr. Baldwin who teaches the Ely school.

D. W. Badger has moved his drag saw onto the E. Doeple property.

It is reported that Mr. Welch has just bought a new drag saw and contracted to cut a thousand cords of wood on the Latourette property.

Each drag saw bought seems to create at least two new sales. Up to within the past four years one could have his choice of cutting wood with a cross-cut saw or what was known as a "sled machine" which weighed all the way up to two tons, according to make. It was left to an Oregonian to strike the happy medium of making a machine weighing from a hundred and fifty pounds to two hundred. Two factories sprang into existence in Portland, which are crowded to the utmost. Orders coming not only from all parts of the world, where they can boast of a fringe of woods.

The pupils of Liberal school are preparing for Christmas program under Miss Bradford's guidance.

A tractor auto has been recently demonstrating its power to pass over roads where both man and beast are sure to mire down in the ooze.

Some have given up the use of wagons in hauling their wood and are using sleds. Others contemplate doing so soon.

Martin Heerd, a Portland wood dealer, was a business visitor in Liberal Sunday.

W. H. Wagoner and wife who have lived at Mulino, Molalla and Liberal the past summer, expect to return to Portland in a few days. Mr. Wagoner expects to take up woodwork at which he is an expert.

Richard Wright returned after a few days visit with relatives.

Mr. Wright says that he has by no means given up the fight for good roads in this neighborhood. A number have promised donation work to handle the gravel if it can be obtained.

Mr. Slagle and son, George, were in Molalla one day last week on business.

Mrs. Dimick of Woodburn, is visiting with her brother, Richard Wright, for a few days.

GEORGE.

The building formerly known as "The Corner Drug Store," is now occupied by people who are serving quick lunches.

Ed. Metzler is plowing the lots across from the S. P. depot, which belong to The Molalla & Clackamas Land Development Co.

A flock of sixteen quail was seen to walk quietly a few yards ahead of a team by the city limits recently.

As two young men were leaving Molalla recently, their horses became fractious. One had jumped clear of the vehicle, as it neared the Behnke home. The horse ran into a fence, breaking the buggy somewhat, but no one was hurt.

Mrs. Allan recently received a medal which her son, Lloyd, won while on the border on duty and of which he was justly proud. He also wrote that they expect to return to Boise City, Idaho, soon. Lloyd worked near Molalla for some time. Last spring he started east, joined the Idaho boys and went south.

K. S. Herman and wife were in Molalla recently.
