PEACE CONDITION, REPARATIONSAYS ENGLISH PREMIER

LLOYD GEORGE OUTLINES POLICY OF GOVERNMENT TO HOUSE OF COMMONS.

ALLIES TO INSIST ON GUARANTEE AGAINST PRUSSIAN MILITARISM

Answer Will Be Given in Full Accord With Allied Powers—Britain to Recognize Agents of Ex-Premier Venizelos.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—Premier Lloyd George said in the house of commons today that it was felt that they should know before entering on negotiations that Germany was prepared to accede to the only terms which it was possible for peace to be obtained and maintained in Europe.

The premier said that without reparation peace would be impossible.

Mr. Lloyd George said there were no proposals for peace. To enter into proposals of which they had no knowledge was to put their heads into a noose with the rope end in the hand of Germany.

Much as they longed for it, the premier added, the central powers' note and the speech preceding it afforded some encouragement and hope for an honorable and lasting peace.

Mr. Lloyd George said: "Our answer will be given in full accord with our allies. Each of the allies has separately and independently arrived at the same conclusion. I am glad of the first answer given by France and Russia."

Mr. Lloyd George said the allies would insist that the only end of the war must be a complete guarantee against Prussian militarism disturbing the peace of Europe.

The formal reply of the allies, the premier announced, will be given in the course of a few days.

The premier said: "We will wait until we hear what terms and guarantees there are sure that those which Germany broke. Meanwhile we put out trust in our unbroken army."

During the war, the premier said, shipping would be nationalized in a true sense.

After declaring that peace without reparation was impossible, the premier asked whether "all the outrages on land and sea" had been liquidated by "a few phrases about humanity."

Premier Lloyd George announced it had been decided to give recognition to the agents of ex-Premier Venizelos of Greece.

CREW OF 27 MEN SAVED WHEN H-3 IS DRIVEN ASHORE

UNITED STATES SUBMARINE CAUGHT IN SURF ON COAST NEAR EUREKA, CAL.

SEVERAL THOUSAND SEE SAILORS SAVED WITH BREECHES BUOY

Only Two Men Seriously Injured Although Loss of Life of All Was Feared at One Time—Commander Last to Leave.

EUREKA, Cal., Dec. 14.—Twenty-seven sailormen, the crew of the United States submarine H-3, were saved tonight when the craft went ashore in the heavy breakers near here and after it had seemed for a time that they certainly would be lost.

The men spent six hours in their gas-filled vessel, in imminent peril of their lives. They were finally brought ashore by breeches buoy. The battered diver was left in the surf, where heavy seas were playing pitch and toss with it when darkness shut it from view.

Later all the men were taken on board the monitor Cheyenne, under care of the ship's surgeon.

Lieutenant Harry R. Bogusch, commander of the diver, was the last to leave the ship. The rescue was effected from the shore by means of a breeches buoy and furnished for several thousand spectators the thrilling finish of an exciting day.

Most of the submarine's crew suffered bruises as the result of the heavy laboring of their floating prison, but the injuries of only two were deemed of sufficient importance for official notice. One of the enlisted men, Anderson by name, lost three fingers of his right hand and another sailor, Blabon, suffered serious hurt to his hand.

The H-3, conveyed by the monitor Cheyenne and in company with the H-1 and H-2, left Bremerton Navy-Yard, Washington, December 1, bound for San Diego. At 10 o'clock this morning the H-3, as the result of machinery trouble, was carried into the breakers off Samoa, just outside this port.

The Cheyenne followed the disabled diver as close as was safe, but could not get near enough, to render any assistance.

DAVID W. CRAIG, WELL KNOWN HERE, IS DEAD

"FOUNDER OF REPUBLICAN PARTY IN OREGON" ONCE LIVED IN OREGON CITY.

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 18.—David Watson Craig, known as the "founder of the Republican party in Oregon," a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln and pioneer newspaperman of the state, died at 12:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon, in his 87th year, at the home of his son, F. S. Craig, 210 Bellevue street, city.

Death came unexpectedly but peacefully. For two weeks he had been bedridden, but today had planned to sit up during the afternoon and had expressed a desire to his son to sit up for a time, and was arranged in his chair. When his son returned to bring him a glass of water his father was dying, and expired a few minutes later.

Although Mr. Craig retired from active newspaper work in 1893, he wrote frequently for newspapers since. From that time until 1913 he lived on a farm south of the city, but in September, 1913, following the death of his wife, he moved to Salem to reside with his son.

Among the pioneers of Oregon City, Mr. Craig was well known. In the 50s he came here and for eight years ran the Oregon Argus, which was later moved to Salem and renamed the Statesman. For four years he was foreman and assistant editor of the Argus and four years proprietor.

Mr. Craig was married at Oregon City to Miss Wealthy L. Waterous, who came to Oregon in 1860. The marriage took place September 15, 1861.

Mr. Craig was the pioneer in the movement against slavery in Oregon. To him has been given the credit, with W. L. Adams, of being the founder of the Republican party in Oregon, and to him may largely be awarded the honor of having created and advanced the sentiment which listed Oregon among the free, instead of among the slave states.

Multnomah lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M. of this city, will have charge of the funeral.

Baldwin and Curtis are the two prisoners who became notorious recently as victims of "hosing," prior to the rupture between the state board of control and Warden Minto.

Baldwin and Curtis had plotted to cut their way into the library, pass through into the prison auditorium, saw through a window into the auditorium, drop out into the prison yard and there hide their time. At an opportune moment, it was their plan to set fire to the flax houses, and in the excitement ensuing from the flax fire to make their escape over the outer walls.

The plan of their plot was revealed by Baldwin following their capture. While he did not tell it to an attaché of the prison, he told it to a fellow convict while confined in the prison dungeon, and the conversation was overheard by a guard.

In addition, information has come to the penitentiary authorities that a possible plot is brewing to set fire to the flax houses some time this week, with the extra possibility that it may be a plan leading to an attempt at a general break. A strict guard is kept against carrying out this plan.
