LIVE WIRE COMMITTEE DEBATES COUNTY DIVISION

ANNEXATION OF OSWEGO TO MULTNOMAH COUNTY DISCUSSED WITH COURT.

A Live Wire committee consulted with the county court Wednesday morning concerning the proposed annexation of Oswego and the surrounding territory to Multnomah county, and plans were discussed to retain the district, with an assessed valuation of about $3,000,000 in Clackamas county.

The committee, which was appointed by Willard P. Hawley Jr., sub-trunk of the Live Wires, is composed of W. P. Hawley Jr., Judge Grant B. Dimick, M. D. Latourette, L. Stipp, W. A. Huntley, H. E. Cross and B. T. McElain.

A plan was formulated to promise Oswego certain road improvements during the next summer, including the surfacing of the road between Oswego and the Multnomah county line.

BAD STRETCH OF ROAD SURFACED WITH ROCK

The completion of the improvement of the road south from Shipley bridge toward Wilsonville, a distance of half a mile, was announced Wednesday by Roadmaster Root. The stretch was surfaced with crushed rock.

The road was in such a condition that those working on it had difficulty in making the improvement. Wagons loaded with rock for the road became stuck in the mire, and a steam roller and a rope were used to pull them out of the mud. Scores of automobiles here stuck in the mud before the improvement was made.

AUTHORITIES BELIEVE STRACK WAS SUICIDE

After a deluge of several days, Strack was found dead Monday morning, a bullet hole through his heart. His body was found in his bunk, which is several feet from the floor of the cabin, and from the position of the bullet hole the gun was in a vertical position when fired. These facts are believed to bring out the suicide theory.

Relatives sent word to the local authorities that they were not satisfied with the verdict that Strack was a suicide. They said that they heard William F. Strack, the dead man's brother, gave him $80 with which to pay bills, and that the money was not found, thereby furnishing a motive of robbery for murder. Sheriff Wilson and Deputy District Attorney Burke will probably go to Sandy tomorrow to look up this feature of the case.

Convinced that the coroner's jury was not mistaken in its verdict that Joseph V. Strack came to his death in his cabin near the Sandy bridge at his own hands, Sheriff Wilson, Coroner Hempstead and Deputy District Attorney Burke returned to Oregon City late Tuesday night after making further investigations into the death of the man.

E. D. OLDS, SUED BY SON APPEALS DAMAGE CASE

OAK GROVE CONTRACTOR CARRIES CASE TO STATE SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 16.—An appeal from the verdict rendered in the Clackamas county court giving his son a verdict for $3500 for personal injuries claimed to have been sustained while in his father's employ, has been filed in the supreme court by E. D. Olds.

The son, D. W. Olds, 24 years old, who lives with his parents, according to the transcript of the testimony, was hauling lumber for his father when the team ran away, throwing him off the load of lumber and injuring one of his legs. He claimed that proper harness was not used and the wagon was not equipped with a brake which would have enabled him to stop the horses.

E. D. Olds, who lives at Oak Grove and is a road and bridge contractor, is protected from judgments of the nature secured by his son by liability insurance, and the case is being fought by the insurance company. D. W. Olds was injured while working for his father when the latter had a bridge contract on the Sandy river. He recently underwent a serious operation in a Portland hospital.

STONE CRUSHES MAN'S FOOT

A stone used in a pulp grinder and weighing about a ton rolled onto the foot of Joseph Smith, of Ninth and Taylor streets, while he was working with a gang unloading the stone from a scow and crushed his foot as far back as the lower part of the instep. He was carried to the office of Dr. M. C. Strickland in the Andersen building, and his wound dressed.

JUDGMENT FOR COSTS SIGNED

The Unique Brick & Tile company Friday secured a judgment for costs in the suit brought against the company by B. F. Hoover. Hoover filed a suit for wages he claimed due to his son in the justice court at Sandy and won. The company appealed to the circuit court and a jury decided against Hoover, reversing the verdict of the lower court. The amount sued for was small, and the costs amount to several times the amount of wages sought by Hoover.

COMMISSION WANTS TO CLOSE THE WILLAMETTE

LEGISLATURE WILL BE ASKED TO BAN NETS FROM RIVER TO PROTECT SALMON.

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 19.—That the price of fishing and hunting licenses be increased from $1 to $1.50, that the Willamette river be closed to commercial fishing so salmon may have a chance to go up the river to spawn and that the deer hunting limit be reduced from three to two per season are among the bills which the state game commission will recommend to the next legislature for enactment into law. The commission also favors changing the open deer season to the period between August 15 and October 15 thus reducing it.

These recommendations, together with many others not so important, were formulated at a meeting of the commission yesterday, attended by I. N. Fieschner and P. M. Warren of Portland, and C. F. Stone of Klamath Falls. Others present were Game Warden R. S. Clanton and State Biologist Finley, who advised the board on changes in the fish and game laws. Many of the recommendations adopted had been urged by the Oregon Sportsmen's league.

The commission also is to ask the legislature for legislation giving it more latitude in the handling of problems which arise from time to time, such as closing of streams, changing of open seasons and limiting of "bags."

PORTLANDERS TO ATTEND LOCAL PRINTERS' BALL

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN AFFAIR SET FOR SATURDAY, DECEMBER 30TH.

So many inquiries have been coming in of late from various parts of the country concerning the printers' ball, such as the plans of the committee and the musical program, that the committee cannot answer them all at once. Especially are they coming from Portland hot and heavy. Much interest is being shown by dancers from the Cottillon, Murlarks and Christenson's ball room and they look forward with eagerness to every move made by the allied printing crafts of Oregon City. This crowd has been to Oregon City many times in the last summer to dances given by local clubs. Well do they remember the last one given by the Canemah Stepping club at the park.

Of the hundred couples at that affair fully 50 per cent of them came from Portland, the delegation being led by Carl Heimway Schumacher of Portland. Mr. Schumacher is of the late Canemah Stepping club.

The printers have secured his services for this occasion of occasions and there is not the least doubt that he will show the lovers of the light fantastic toe just what he can do in the way of bringing down "some crowd" of dance fans.

His crowd will put the punch to the already well laid plans and things in general will sure hum. Among others who will come with him is the Roberts Bros. delegation who have recently given the glee club concert and dance at the Hotel Multnomah.

RELATIVES HUNT MAN WHO WONDERED AWAY

AGED MOTHER MOURNS LOSS OF JOHN FOSTER—ILLNESS IS THOUGHT RESPONSIBLE.

Efforts to locate John Foster, who disappeared from his home at 608 Fourth street December 8 have proven unavailing, and relatives have appealed to Sheriff Wilson for aid. The man has been ill, and it is thought probable that he wandered away from home.

When Foster disappeared he wore a dark brown cap and a long overcoat. He is about 28 years old, and stood five feet two inches high. He has a dark complexion, dark eyes and dark hair. His aged mother is ill with worry.

Relatives ask that any person finding a trace of the missing man notify Rose Foster, whose telephone is 246-R.

JACK ALBRIGHT FINED

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 14.—John Albright, councilman of Oregon City, arrested in this city two weeks ago on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, was found guilty before Municipal Judge Languth this morning. A fine of $25 was imposed. Patrolmen Bales and Long testified as to evidence found in the car and Mr. Albright's condition when he arrived at the police station. S. B. Rose, another witness, testified that the defendant had the appearance of being intoxicated at the time of the accident.

Four men, Mr. Nauman, Harry Sellers, Tom Trembath and Mike Long, were nominated for the place. The first three ballots showed a tie between Mr. Nauman and Mr. Sellers and the fourth elected the former. Fourteen members of the board attended the meeting.

JOHN S. DUNCAN DIES IN PORTLAND HOSPITAL

MAN EMPLOYED IN MOLALLA STORE 14 YEARS SUCCUMBS TO BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

John S. Duncan, well known young man of Clackamas county, who has resided at Molalla all of his life, died Thursday morning at the St. Vincent hospital, Portland, after an illness of six weeks from Bright's disease. The remains have been shipped to Molalla, and the funeral service will be held at that place Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, with interment in the Adams cemetery. His remains will be laid beside those of his parents.

Mr. Duncan was employed in the Robbins store at Molalla for the last 14 years, and had made a large circle of friends by his cordial treatment to the patrons. He was 30 years old.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mart Beaty, of Bend, Oregon. He was also a cousin of D. C. Boyles, of Oregon City, county recorder-elect.

Mr. Duncan had many friends in this city, a large number of whom will attend the funeral services Saturday afternoon.

ANGLERS LAY PLANS TO GET IMPROVEMENTS TO THE FISH LADDER OVER THE FALLS HERE

The need for a new fish ladder at the falls of the Willamette, the closing of the river here to net fishing, changes in the dates of the fishing season—these and other topics were discussed at a meeting of the Clackamas County Anglers' association in the Commercial club parlors Tuesday night. The association elected Charles Parker president, taking the place of George Hannon, who resigned.

H. Leighton Kelly, C. Schuebel and Judge Grant B. Dimick were appointed on a committee to make up a list of the varieties of trout needed for the various streams of the county and to secure application blanks for fry from Washington. This same committee will also investigate the plan of building another fish ladder over the falls of the Willamette and of improving the present ladder.

Mr. Kelly said that many fish are injured each year on the rocks at the falls and that others which are able to get into the upper river are so injured that they are unable to reach the spawning grounds.

Mr. Kelly, Mr. Schuebel and Judge Dimick will also investigate a proposal that the net season end April 1 instead of March 15, and that net fishermen be allowed to go above the bridge after May 15.

M. A. Magone presented a petition signed by property owners along the Willamette, asking for improvements in the fish ladder. The objection to the present ladder voiced by these men is a practical one. They say that many fish which are unable to go over it, die and that the dead salmon and eels are cast up on the river bank, making such a stench that sales of property have been prevented, and that the value of lands along the river below the falls is seriously affected.

Representatives of the Multnomah Anglers' club came to Oregon City, but did not attend the meeting to argue for closing the Willamette to net fishing. The local association took no action either favoring or opposing the step.

A number of new members were taken into the association. Henry O'Malley, assistant in charge of fish culture, of Washington, D. C., Dennis Wins, field superintendent, and Hugh C. Mitchell, superintendent of the Clackamas station, were made honorary members of the association. Both Mr. Wins and Mr. O'Malley have been stationed in this county and are well informed as to this county's needs.

MARRIED THIRTY YEARS, MAN WANTS DIVORCE

Alleging desertion, George W. DeWitt Friday filed a suit for divorce against Luella M. DeWitt. They were married July 4, 1886, at Harbor Springs, Mich., and have two grown daughters.

One other suit was filed in the circuit court Friday. The A. H. Averill Machinery company, of Portland, instituted an action against H. H. Deetz to collect $389.50, alleged to be due as a result of a violated contract to buy a traction engine, and $110.48, rent on a traction engine and freight. The company alleges that Deetz failed to buy the engine after signing a contract to purchase it.

Eugene-Booth-Kelly company lets contract for 7,000,000 feet logs.
