

UNION MEETING IS ATTENDED BY 150

OTTO HARTWIG, PRESIDENT OF STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR, IS HERE

HOLD MASS MEETING SUNDAY

Hartwig Says Organization is Not for Purpose of Asking Increase But to Help Nation

About 150 men attended the meeting in Willamette hall here Tuesday night and listened to addresses by Otto M. Hartwig, president of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, and A. Lillie, a farmer of Parkville, who spoke in favor of organizing the workers of this section. Another mass meeting will be held Sunday afternoon.

An effort will be made to complete three branches of the American Federation of Labor and work has started to organize every craft or industry in the city not strong enough to form a local into a branch of the Federal Labor union.

According to Otto Hartwig, president of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, these unions are not being organized to immediately ask for increases in wages, but for educational and social purposes as well as the advantages which he claims are offered by the insurance features of the unions.

President Hartwig claims that nearly all the employees of the three mills, totalling nearly 2000 men and women, had joined or agreed to join the movement. The charters for the textile workers, paper makers and pulp and sulphite workers are expected soon.

A branch of the national painters' union was formed here last week when about 20 men attended the meeting. There has been a meeting of carpenters to organize and it is announced meetings will be held until every craft in the city has had a chance to organize.

No opposition has been expressed by the mill owners, but one firm here announced that they will not recognize nor treat with representatives of a union, it was said this week.

"We feel that the laboring men of this community and every other community can do more to assist the government in the conservation of our resources and the control of food through organization than individually," said President Hartwig, "and we contemplate working in conjunction with the federal government in advancing its propaganda for food conservation."

WOMEN WORK THREE HOURS MAKING SURGICAL DRESSINGS FOR SOLDIERS

Active interest in Red Cross work is being taken by the women of Oregon City, who have worked diligently making surgical dressing for injured soldiers. Mrs. J. N. Wisner, Mrs. Theodore Osmund, Mrs. L. E. Jones and Mrs. James Cary, who have taken special instructions in Portland, are directing the work. New members are being added almost daily and as they join the society they are assigned to classes which meet on different days of the week, working from two to five o'clock in the Masonic building.

The following named women have taken up the work and have been assigned to duty on the days designated: Monday—Mrs. Sophia Moody, Mrs. A. C. Warner, Mrs. T. P. Randall, Mrs. J. J. Tobin, Mrs. H. L. Greenman, Mrs. L. L. Picken, Mrs. J. P. Lovett, Mrs. H. S. Mount, Mrs. A. F. Jack, Miss Clara Deute, Mrs. L. A. Clark, Mrs. Charles Stevens, Mrs. E. P. Rands, Mrs. M. D. Latourette, Mrs. J. R. Humphrys, Mrs. A. L. Beatie, Mrs. Frank Forsberg, Mrs. O. W. Eastman.

Tuesday—Mrs. Harry Tschirgi, Mrs. F. W. Smith, Mrs. J. E. Bouter, Mrs. Charles Stevens, Mrs. Clyde Mount, Mrs. Grant B. Dimick, Mrs. W. E. Pratt, Mrs. W. Burris, Mrs. O. D. Eby, Mrs. Ada Pearl, Mrs. J. J. Cooke and Mrs. L. L. Porter.

Thursday—Mrs. A. C. Howland, Mrs. W. R. Reddick, Mrs. Kate Hughes, Mrs. L. A. White, Mrs. L. P. Horton, Mrs. J. L. Swafford, Mrs. Ada Pearl, Mrs. F. W. Gardiner, Mrs. G. F. Anderson, Mrs. A. D. McDonald, Mrs. J. W. Norris, Mrs. Raymond Caulfield, Mrs. John F. Clark, Mrs. J. W. Moffatt and Miss Thomas.

Friday—Mrs. Augusta Warner, Mrs. Clyde Mount, Mrs. Gilbert L. Hedges, Miss Clara Deute, Mrs. B. T. McBain, Mrs. Thomas Burke, Mrs. George A. Harding, Mrs. H. E. Straight, Mrs. R. C. Ganong, Mrs. C. H. Meissner, Mrs. J. E. Hedges, Mrs.

FRIENDS URGE PACE AND HOLMAN TO RUN

PROMINENT BUSINESSMEN ARE ASKED TO BECOME CANDIDATES FOR SCHOOL JOBS

Roswell L. Holman and O. A. Pace, prominent businessmen of Oregon City, are being urged by their friends and many parents of school children to become candidates for school directors at the election to be held Monday, June 18. The retiring officers are George A. Harding and Harold A. Rands. Mr. Harding has said that he will not become a candidate for reelection.

The following names were attached to petitions filed with the school clerk Friday furthering the candidacy of Mr. Holman and Mr. Pace: E. H. Cooper, L. Stipp, Della Green, Emery C. French, M. E. Bunn, Conrad Priest, C. W. Friedrich, F. J. Cross, J. M. Volkmar, W. L. Little, Ernest Cross, Harry Porter, C. H. Porter, Duane C. Ely, J. E. Jack, Mrs. Alldredge, Mrs. Charles Priest, A. F. Hack, Charles McCormack, A. Keil, L. Nathe, George V. Ely, Nellie M. Cooper, Roy B. Cox, F. W. Greenman, William Weismann, C. J. Hood, John C. Busch, Edward J. Busch, A. B. Buckles, L. P. Horton, C. B. Pratt, Anna Howell, Lucinda Freese, P. N. Hart, F. C. Gadke, George F. Johnson, John R. Humphrys, Joseph E. Hedges, E. C. Dye, C. A. Pratt, Chas. F. Bollinger, Gilbert Morris, Geo. E. Swafford, L. A. Nobel, William Andersen, Geo. M. Hankins, Linn E. Jones, W. A. Dimick, W. J. Mulvey, O. A. Welsh.

INMATE PLEADS FOR A NEW PENITENTIARY

Painting graphic word pictures as illustrated slides of conditions at the Oregon state penitentiary were shown on the screen in the high school auditorium here Tuesday night. L. G. McDonald, a former inmate, who spent four years in the institution, made an impassioned appeal to his audience to vote for the referendum measure which will make a new $400,000 institution possible.

Mr. McDonald was introduced by E. E. Brodie, member of the survey board appointed last November to investigate conditions at the penitentiary. Mr. McDonald declared that nothing could save the men from death if a fire started in the institution at night, when over 400 men are locked in their cells with single padlocks on the doors of each cell. His illustrations of the shops, kitchen, dining room, chapel and meat room sent a shudder through his audience. Especially was this true when he told of the condition in which meat is served to the men and women prisoners. He emphatically declared his story is true and invited his audience to go to Salem and see for themselves.

WEE LITTLE TOT IS ONLY SUPPORT OF SICK FAMILY

Luck is said to get bad and then change by getting worse. That seems to be the fortune of J. J. Meaney, semi-invalid of Sellwood, and his family. Mr. Meaney was injured in the mills here a few years ago and is now suffering from a light attack of pneumonia. Mrs. Meaney recently gave birth to her twelfth child, seven of whom are living, and she is in bed with la grippe. One of the smaller children is just recovering from the measles and another has contracted the disease. Alvis, the oldest boy and principal support of the family, was taken to the Sellwood hospital Monday suffering from pneumonia, and is in a precarious condition. His physicians saying that he may not live. A wee little tot of a girl, six or seven years old, is now delivering papers for the only source of income the family has with the exception of that donated by kindly neighbors.

The state health and accident commission recently deprived Mr. Meaney of any financial aid, although in the opinion of Dr. Taylor, local physician, he is entitled to a partial disability compensation. The doctor thinks the state or county should give assistance at once. Meanwhile contributions have been asked for by the Sellwood Press.

SPENCE AND ADAMS WILL DEBATE ROAD BONDS HERE

C. E. Spence, head of the state grange association, and E. H. Adams, of Oregon City, will debate the issue of the $6,000,000 road bonds in this city Friday night. Mr. Adams, who is a member of the state highway commission favors the bonds and Mr. Spence is opposed to them. The debate will be held in the Commercial club rooms.

Attend the road bond debate in the Commercial club parlors tomorrow night.

MILL MEN OPPOSE UNION ORGANIZER

CROWN WILLAMETTE WILL NOT DEAL WITH ANY UNION ORGANIZATIONS

SAYS MEN ARE SATISFIED

Refutes Statement Given Out by Otto Hartwig, President of State Federation of Labor

That there is not one mill in Oregon City which welcomes the organization of unions among the workers, was the statement made here Saturday night by a local official of the Crown-Willamette Paper company, who refuted the statement given out last week by Otto Hartwig, president of the Oregon Federation of Labor, who has been active in the organization of locals here and who was quoted as saying there was no opposition among the mill owners to the union organizations.

"There is not one factory here," said the Crown-Willamette official, "which welcomes the union. None of them will recognize that organization, and, as far as the Crown-Willamette company is concerned, union affiliation is not desired. In fact, there is no call whatever for a union in this section."

"Under our present system all men are advanced as rapidly as local conditions will permit and home boys are always given the preference. The men themselves are authority for the statement that there is no grievance among them; that they are paid better wages than in any union mills; that there is no need for a union here."

CLASS DAY EXERCISES TO BE HELD AT HI THURSDAY

Class day exercises of the Oregon City schools will be held in the high school auditorium at two o'clock next Thursday afternoon, when a splendid program will be given by the pupils. A member of the school board will make an address on the campus at a tree planting ceremony, which will take place following the exercises in the auditorium.

APPLAUSE MARKS SERMON AT RELIGIOUS CEREMONY

REV. J. W. MACCALLUM SAYS PRUSSIANISM CANNOT BE CRUSHED TOO SOON

Religious services for the Grand Army and Women's Relief corps were held in the First Congregational church by Rev. J. W. MacCallum Sunday evening. The church was crowded to the doors and outbursts of applause marked the minister's address. Rev. MacCallum took for his text, "The Tragedy of Freedom," from Acts 14:22, "We must through much tribulation enter into the Kingdom of God." The choir sang as a special musical number "They'll Never March Again."

Calling attention to the word "kingdom," Rev. MacCallum said that it was not an abstract word but meant an organic commonwealth whose principles were founded on the will of God.

"Malignant eternal war with all its contrived internalism is the age-long answer to man's cry for the invaluable rights of freedom. Prussianism flung the challenge of absolutism into the pale, wondering face of the world's free peoples, declaring 'great nature never intended to live together; you plant with your institutions, I follow with the sword; you plant the carth with corn, I strew with ashes; you sacrifice and I will ally until one of us ceases from the earth.'"

"Civilization, Christianity has not broken down, it is only asserting itself. Great, broad, liberty-loving civilization has, Messiah-like, knelt in the Gethsemane of ages and from prayer and bloody sweat gone up to Calvary and closed in death grapple with a huge pitiless tyranny that men may be free," said Rev. MacCallum.

Sham "kultur," savage absolutism and the murder lust of Prussia cannot die too soon, said the speaker. He declared war is the inevitable collision of moral and immoral forces. Democracy must defend itself or die; and when this nation gathers to honor her heroes and scatter flowers over hillside, dell and sea, dishonor would increase its stain if the living do not dedicate all to the unfinished task for which these brave men gave the last measure of devotion, and he said it was rank folly to talk sacrifice for the flag and allow six billion pounds of food stuffs to be made into drink.

Pave Milwaukie Streets Bids will be opened tomorrow by D. P. Mathews, city recorder of Milwaukie, for the improvement of 31st street of that place.

TO RECOMMEND NEW GRADE FOR HIGHWAY

NEW ROADWAY WILL PROBABLY FOLLOW MAIN STREET THROUGH OSWEGO

With the purpose of making recommendations to the state highway commission, Judge H. S. Anderson accompanied by H. S. Thomas, engineer in charge of the preliminary survey of the west side road between Oregon City and Oswego, went over the road Saturday and, while they reached no definite conclusions, Judge Anderson said in all probability the new grade will follow Main street of Oswego straight south across Sucker Creek instead of turning west and following the present roadway.

The bridge on the Stafford road would be eliminated because that road joins into the Oregon City road at a point south of Sucker Creek. This route would get away from a bad grade near the Stafford bridge.

Repairs extending three and a half miles from the top of the hill south of New Era have just been completed by the county. The road has been resurfaced with a dressing of rock and fine gravel, which greatly improves one of the worst pieces of highway in the county south of Oregon City.

ADDED INTEREST IS SHOWN AT MEMORIAL CEREMONY

ABSENCE OF ROSES NOTED BUT OTHER FLOWERS USED IN DECORATIONS

Memorial day was observed here yesterday with just a touch of added pride and interest because of the part the United States is soon to take in the present war. Speeches by Civil war veterans and prominent citizens were a bit more eloquent, it seemed, and carried more inspiring patriotism for those who gathered at the Mountain View cemetery and in the high school auditorium.

The predominance of roses which marked the decorations of other years was absent yesterday because of the late spring, but many varieties of other flowers helped beautify the graves of departed heroes or loved ones. Exercises were held in the morning at the cemetery and on the suspension bridge, where tribute was paid to the warriors who have gone. The afternoon program was held in the high school auditorium, where Mayor E. C. Hackett and James Cary made appropriate addresses.

Judge Grant B. Dimick, whose father was a lieutenant in the regular army, was the speaker at the cemetery. A. J. Hobbie, member of Meade Post, decorated the monument in honor of the dead, and was followed by a prayer by Rev. W. T. Milliken. Fred J. Toose, Jr., recited Lincoln's Address at Gettysburg, and the ritualistic services of Meade Relief corps No. 18 were read by ladies of the corps, who filed by the monument and deposited floral tributes as they passed.

Headed by the Veterans' life and drum corps, the members of Meade Post No. 2, G. A. R., and the Women's Relief corps marched to the suspension bridge, where flowers were strewn on the waters of the Willamette to signify a tribute to those who had died at sea. The Veterans' life and drum corps played several patriotic and inspiring war tunes in front of Willamette hall while they waited for the annual banquet, which was prepared by the ladies.

The services in the high school auditorium were opened by prayer by Rev. E. E. Gilbert, pastor of the M. E. church and Mrs. Mayme Bennett, eulogist of this city, gave a reading. J. C. Sawyer, commander of Meade Post, read the orders of the day and students of the high school took part in the program.

OFFERS CASH PRIZES FOR BEST VEGETABLE GARDENS

The Crown-Willamette Paper company has announced the prizes which it will give to employees who take part in a garden contest on the company's tracts near Sunset school in West Linn. Twelve acres have been set aside for the gardens and sections of 50 by 100 feet will be allotted to the contestants. The prizes follow:

Class A—Best garden of winter vegetables, first, $25; second, $20; third, $15; fourth $10.

Class B—Largest crop of potatoes, first, $25; second, $15.

Class C—Largest average quantity of potatoes raised on the patch per square yard of ground, first, $25; second, $15.

Road Debate at Parkplace Mr. E. J. Bowerman, of Portland, will have the affirmative of a debate to be held Saturday evening in the grange hall, Parkplace, when other speakers will appear to urge or oppose the adoption of the $6,000,000 road bond issue at the election next Tuesday.

SURVEY SHOWS SPUD INCREASE

SOWN SPRING WHEAT AND BEANS HOLD HIGHEST PLACES WITH BARLEY

REPORT BASED ON 300 FARMS

Professor E. B. Fitts, County Agent, Points Out Some Difficulties To Be Met

The farm survey made by the county agent for the National Council of Defense shows an increase of 9,217 acres of land under cultivation in Clackamas county this year over 1916. The survey report is based on returns from nearly 300 farms in the county. There has been an increase of 179,731 bushels of wheat and 1,004,653 bushels of potatoes.

An increase of 59 per cent is shown in spring wheat; 18 per cent in corn; 36 per cent in potatoes; five per cent in hay; 248 per cent in beans; nine per cent in oats; 113 per cent in barley, and the acreage in fall sown wheat shows a decrease of 24 per cent.

The report indicates that there has been little change in the number of livestock on the farms but there has been a shift in the kind of animals. Horses show an increase of nine per cent. Brood sows have increased nine per cent; sheep 31 per cent; dairy calves 145 per cent. There has been a decrease of two per cent in dairy cattle and a decrease of eight per cent in feeding hogs.

"Many farmers are engaged in raising beans for the first time," says Professor E. B. Fitts, who is in charge of the survey. "These men should inform themselves on the proper methods of harvesting and handling this important crop. A bulletin has been prepared on this subject and may be had for the asking. A good profit should come to those engaged in bean growing this year, and this may be the beginning of commercial bean culture in Clackamas county."

"In case these crops mature with average yields the increased production will bring added profits to the farmers and will be a material factor in relieving the food shortage. Harvesting, marketing and distributing problems must be met, and careful plans should be made that there be no loss or waste. The government, working through the district agent, will render what assistance it can, and every person raising a surplus is urged to keep in touch with this office."

"It is hoped the numbers of sheep and hogs will be increased, as present prices make possible a profit, even though grain is very high. The growth can be secured mainly on pasture and roots, and a very little grain will finish them for market."

"Productive, accumulative agriculture is dependent largely upon the keeping of live stock on the farm. Numbers should be increased rather than decreased. The future is full of promise for the breeder of all kinds of pure bred live stock," said Prof. Fitts.

WOULD TRADE CITY LAND FOR NEW PARK

PETITIONS CIRCULATED TO USE SITE ON SOUTH END ROAD FOR PARK

Petitions are being circulated here asking the council to exchange certain city property for 134 acres of land owned by the city water board at the south end of the city, to be used as a park site both for motorists and citizens of Oregon City. The site is near the South End road and easily accessible to motorists. It lies on the Pacific highway and is attractive from a scenic point of view. Secretary Latourette, of the city water board, has said that water will be piped to the tract, and the Commercial club will lend assistance in obtaining additional improvements. The tract was acquired by the water board several years ago when it was proposed to build a sub-reservoir there.

VIOLENTLY INSANE MAN IS TAKEN BY OFFICERS TODAY

A man, whose name is said to be Walters was brought to the county court house this morning bound hand and foot, after he had terrorized the citizens in Parkplace for several hours before frantic appeals from that place brought Officers French, Frost and Hughes, who had difficulty in restraining the man. Walters is violently insane and is being held in the county jail awaiting examination by physicians and he will, no doubt, be committed to the state asylum.

WILL DEEPEN RIVER PETITIONERS THINK

REQUEST TO HAVE WILLAMETTE DREDGED IS MEETING WITH SUCCESS

The circulators of petitions asking the Port of Portland commission to deepen the channel of the Willamette river to Milwaukie are meeting with success and they believe the commission will grant the request. Prominent navigation men, mill owners and manufacturers and other classes of business men of Milwaukie, Oregon City, Sellwood and Portland have signed the petition. W. E. Kelso, who holds a captain's certificate and has navigated the Willamette river for a good many years, interviewed many prominent Portlanders Monday and met with gratifying responses.

Mr. Kelso thinks the channel can be deepened and the obstructions taken out with two or three weeks' work. The talk that the river is too shallow is unfounded, according to Mr. Kelso. He declares the water is 10 feet even on the bars at low water. It is desired to provide a channel 15 feet deep so that ships may be built at Milwaukie. Deepening the channel for deep water craft would also benefit the Oswego Cement plant, as cement could be loaded at the dock in Milwaukie instead of being shipped by rail to Portland and reloaded.

PROPOSE PLANS FOR A MILLMEN'S JUBILEE

COMMITTEES APPOINTED TO MAKE ARRANGEMENTS FOR BIG PICNIC

Tentative plans for a "Millmen's Jubilee" were proposed at a meeting of representatives of the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, the Crown-Willamette company and the Oregon City Manufacturing company, in the Commercial club rooms here Friday night. The celebration will take place in Gladstone park, July 4, and will be in the form of a picnic to last from seven in the morning to nine in the evening. Music will be furnished by the Oregon City Boys' band, who, besides rendering a concert, will also play for the dances.

The following named were appointed to serve on the various committees: dancing, Milton Price, Ernest Mass, Jr., Mr. Hammerle; ball games, Joe Bollio, Fred Metzner, H. Henningsen; speakers, H. T. Tschirgi, H. Henningsen and Joe Bollio; vaudeville, J. Reames, E. Chapman and B. L. Harvey.

"MOVIE" HERO LIKE OTHER MORTALS WHEN HE FISHES

A ripple of excitement ran through the ranks of fair movie fans yesterday when it was learned that the much photographed "movie" hero and beau brummel, J. Warren Kerrigan, in company with W. A. Long, manager of the Star theatre, Nick Pierong and F. A. Meredith, was on the Willamette river in pursuit of the elusive Chinook salmon. But of what avail to be a movie star and still like other mortals when the fishing ought to be good but isn't? Kerrigan departed with pleasant memories of the trip, but nary a fish he caught. He said it was worth it. "I caught just the number I expected to catch," were his departing words.

CALLS MASS MEETING TO DISCUSS FOOD PROBLEMS

Phillip Streib, president of the newly organized branch of the Clackamas Farm Defense league, of Milwaukie, has called for a public mass meeting to take place in the city hall, Milwaukie, next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, when H. G. Starkweather and a representative from the county headquarters will speak in the interests of closer cooperation between cities and towns in the campaign for greater food production. Secretary Simonson has asked every local organization, civic, public or fraternal, to spread notice of the meeting and representatives of the Social Service club, Parent-Teachers' association, grange and Commercial club and kindred organizations from Milwaukie, Oak Grove and Clackamas districts are especially asked to be present.

WOMAN FEARS HUSBAND

Restraining Order asked Against Oscar Singer by His Wife A restraining order has been issued prohibiting Oscar Singer from going onto the premises occupied by his wife or in any way doing any harm to her. Mrs. Rachel Singer, who is suing Oscar for a divorce, asked for the order, saying she fears he will do her bodily harm.

Mrs. Harless Divorced Alice Harless was granted a divorce from Benjamin F. Harless here Friday and given the custody of a girl and boy, minor children of the couple.

LIVE WIRES WILL HELP BOND ISSUE

A. R. JACOBS URGES MEMBERS TO HELP GOVERNMENT TO RAISE FUNDS

BANKS WILL ALL CO-OPERATE

E. E. Brodie Calls Attention to Measure on Ballot for New $400,000 Penitentiary

At the Live Wire luncheon yesterday noon in the Commercial club parlors, A. R. Jacobs, president of the Oregon City Manufacturing company, made a talk before the members and urged them to get behind the Liberty Loan Bond issue in this community and do everything possible in securing subscriptions for the bonds. He said that the Oregon City Manufacturing company was loaning money to all of its employees who cared to take one of the bonds, and that it was the duty of the Live Wire organization to get behind the movement. Mr. Jacobs recommended that a committee be appointed from the Wires to cooperate with the banks and other industries of the city in soliciting funds. John R. Humphrys, cashier of the Bank of Commerce, in endorsing the plan, said that the banks of the city were doing all in their power to further the sale of the bonds, and that they would be pleased to cooperate with a committee from the Live Wires. The following committee was named: A. R. Jacobs, Grant B. Dimick, L. Adams, C. Schuebel and C. W. Risley. E. E. Brodie called the Wires attention to a measure on the ballot at the coming election asking money for a new penitentiary at Salem, and informed them that it was badly needed. He asked for the support of the members on this matter, and urged them as individuals to work for the measure.

The committee on the bean project reported that the ground would be in shape by Thursday and that the planting would be completed by the last of the week.

Geo. A. Harding presided at the meeting as "main trunk" in the absence of the regular official.

C. E. Spence, state grange master, and E. J. Adams, state highway commissioner, will have opposing sides in a debate on the $6,000,000 road bond issue to be held under the auspices of the Commercial club here Friday night. Mr. Spence is opposed to the bond issue and Mr. Adams favors it.

THEY'RE A HUNGRY BUNCH AT OFFICERS' RESERVE CAMP

"WHADAYA MEAN LUCKY DOG," ASKS BROWNLEE, WHO RECEIVED TOKEN

(By E. C. Brownlee)

A good Oregon City friend gave me a little ivory dog, evidently modeled after a watch charm, when I left home, and on the tiny box wrote "lucky dawg." I would like to rise to a point of information: Whadaya mean, lucky dawg? Is getting "shot in the arm" three times a lucky thing? Is the fact that one has to get out of a comfortable, though very hard bed at 5:20 a. m. a matter of luck? Is it lucky that, having arisen in the fog, washed one's face in a perpetual sandstorm, eaten three big meals and worked 10 or 12 hours, one is forced to go to bed before 10 o'clock in the evening?

But, if good friends will forget that stuff about lucky dogs I will admit, on behalf of the men at the officers' reserve corps training camp at San Francisco, that life isn't so bad in spite of all the objections we find to it. As a matter of fact, the boys have worked most of the kinks out of the muscles they had when they left Oregon City and at the same time have added a coat of tan to uncolored faces that makes them look like Indians. Those who have been used to fine linens on the dinner table are finding themselves very well satisfied to plant heavy shoes and tired feet under plain pine boards and to eat their three meals per without a musical accompaniment. There isn't a man here who dared to beg his neighbor's pardon on Sunday for taking a chicken wing in his fingers, nor for grabbing the last piece of bread. We haven't time for politeness and there is too much hunger at meal times to bother with courtesy.

Camp officials have called a halt on evening visits to the gay white way. San Francisco's night life is a thrilling thing, for in the human sea there is represented every conceivable style and variety of people. The wonder of it is that in most cases it is exceedingly difficult to distinguish between the upper five and the lower ten. Old Oregon in her palmy days in the "real" regime never dared dream of the things that are done in
