"This splendid herd balances up the College herd among the four major dairy breeds," said L. W. Wing speaking for the dairy department.

"Up to this time the Jerseys, Holsteins and Ayrshires have greatly outnumbered the Guernseys. The addition will give wide opportunity for training students in judging, and also strengthen the experimental work."

The money value of the gift to the people of Oregon through their state college is close to $10,000, says Mr. Wing.

The herd bull is Katonah's Sequel's Masher, grandson of imported Masher's Sequel, who has the longest lineage of noted registered Guernseys in America. He also won first prize at the Pacific International and many Oregon state fairs. Another is Governor of the Gree, rich in the blood of Governor of Chene, one of the noted bulls of the breed. Osseo's Masterpiece, related to imported Golden Secret and Masher's Sequel, is the third member of the trio.

Four of the cows wear on their horns the lock and chain which are invariably attached to registered animals before they are allowed to leave the Isle of Guernsey.

Several members of the herd have enviable show records in America and Ireland.
