ADVENTURES OF JIMMY COON

Cousin Bruin just ate and ate grasshoppers. He didn't mind being laughed at, and it didn't spoil his appetite for a minute.

On the other side of the meadow they saw a woman walking along and reading a book. Now and then she would bend down, and seem to pick something, look in the book, and then put it in her basket. Cousin Bruin said it must be grasshoppers she was catching. But Jimmy Coon laughed and said "Now Cousin Bruin, how could she keep grasshoppers in a basket? They would hop right out!"

"Yes," said Teddy Possum, "they are wonderful hoppers, and they wouldn't keep still long enough to tie them."

"Well," said Chatterbox, "I will run over and see what they are, and soon he came running back and said they were round and white and pink on the under side."

"That's easy," said Chatterbox, "they're mushrooms." People eat them and sometimes they eat the wrong kind and then just curl up and die." And you can see that woman doesn't know which to select, for she is looking in a book with pictures to see what kind to eat. The books has colored pictures; she looks at the pictures, and then she takes a little bite of every kind she picks to see if it will kill her."

"How silly people are," growled Cousin Bruin, "what are their noses for if they can't smell and tell what is good to eat. Now I love mushrooms and they never kill me and I eat every kind. Come let's go and eat those mushrooms. It is easy to eat the ones the woman has and not have the trouble to find them myself."

Now dear Cousin Bruin was as

SANDY BOY MEETS DEATH IN RIVER

Coming as a shock to the people of Sandy and vicinity, was the news of the death of Robert Rutherford and Walter Wm. Krebs, who were drowned in the Willamette river Saturday night, when a canoe in which they were paddling was upset. The young men who were eighteen and nineteen years of age, have lived near Sandy the greater part of their lives, but had been working in the ship yards in Portland for several months. Young Rutherford's body was recovered Sunday, but the body of the Krebs boy has not been found. Rutherford's body will be held at the morgue until Sunday.

WAY OVER.

Sandy banking district went over the top with a vim in the recent Victory Loan Campaign. The quota was $12,000 and we put it over with $6,000 added for good measure.

SANDY UNION HIGH ENJOYS OUTING.

Monday the high school with a number of invited guests made the trip up the Columbia Highway as far as the Locks. Leaving Sandy at 9:30 A. M. the party made a leisurely drive, stopping at the various points of interest along the way. At Eagle Creek a picnic lunch was enjoyed. Those making the drive were Gertrude Meenig, Gladys Mitchell Granger, Raymond Murray, Alfred Meinig, Dorothy De Shazer, Hazel Beers, Frances Meinig, Virginia Mackenize, Oren Granger, Josephine and Bernice Dixon, Bob Murray, R. S. Smith, Wm. Martin, Lillian Thomas, Doris Martin, Bertha Hoffman, Carrie De Shazer, Henry Junker, Edward Schmitz, Kate Junker, Fred Junker, Frank Schmitz, Aloisius Gray, R. B. Arrant, Carl Sharuko, Mary Sharuko and Glenn Landree. They arrived home at 9:30 P. M. tired but happy.

BRISCO BUSINESS BOOMS

CANTATA PLEASES.

One of the most useful evenings enjoyed in a long time was that given us by the Pleasant Home bunch assisted by Miss Kate Junker and Mr. P. B. Arrant, of Sandy, last Friday in the I. O. O. F. Hall. The entertainment, which was a benefit for the French orphans, consisted of vocal and instrumental solos, duets, readings and a cantata "Ruth." The parts were well taken and the music was good. Miss Junker appeared to advantage in a vocal solo and Mr. Arrant pleased with his piano selections. Twenty-two dollars were taken in.

SITE BEING CLEARED FOR CRUSHER

Work was started Tuesday on clearing the site on the Meinig Hill for the rock crusher. This rock is of an excellent quality. The drill will be brought here some time this week and there will soon get plenty of rock available for crushing.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT A HUGE SUCCESS.

The I. O. O. F. hall was crowded last Saturday evening when the Sandy high school put on its annual program. The first part of the evening was devoted to patriotic tableaux and opened with "The Star Spangled Banner" with Gladys Mitchell Granger as the Goddess of Liberty. Symbolizing the red, white and blue came a sailor, Alfred Meinig, a soldier, Fred Junker, and a Red Cross nurse, Dorothy De Shazer, to lay their colors at the feet of the Goddess. The following songs were sung by a chorus and posed by the following: "The Rose of No Man's Land," Dorothy De Shazer; "On the Road to Home Sweet Home," Hazel Beers; "Belgian Rose," Mary Sharuko; "Let Love Light Be Always Shining," Alfred Meinig, Fred Junker; Patriotic Drill 10 girls.

Then followed a comedy "Father Changes His Mind," and after seeing it no body blamed father for changing his mind. It was well put and thoroughly enjoyed. Dancing followed until midnight. The receipts of the evening were $32.00 which will be turned into the student body fund.

WITH OUR BOYS

Glen Cony, of Firwood, returned home last week from overseas duty. Webster Roberts, of Dover, who was likewise across, arrived home Wednesday.

R. E. Esson writes April 17 from Nevada saying, "I am working four hours a day in the chief surgeon's office and while I am resting, I am adjutant and mess officer at camp hospital No. 23. This won't last long as there is a lieutenant coming to relieve me in about five days. I am still well. I might be able to send myself home from this office."

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

The commencement exercises of the Sandy Union High school No. 2 will be held in the I. O. O. F. hall on the evening of May 23, when the following pupils will receive diplomas: Carrie De Shazer, Alfred Meinig, Gladys Mitchell Granger and Ralph Ganger, who is in the service. The high school Glee Club will sing and Mr. Arrant will play. Dr. J. K. Hart, Prof. of Education, at Reed College, will deliver the addresses.

SOME BEAR.

When Otto Aschoff visited his traps Monday he found in one a big black bear, which the lady accompanying him shot. In another trap was found the leg of a small brown bear. Tracks around it lead to the conclusion that a very large bear, wandering that way and seeing the small bear caught fast decided "it would just about make a meal, so proceeded to chew him loose. He then carried his helpless victim a short distance away and devoured him, leaving but a few fragments.
