BOYS OVER HERE—OVER THERE

A. Warren, who recently received his honorable discharge from the army, and whose home is near Redland, was in Oregon City Tuesday.

Ware Hammond, son of Rev. and Mrs. P. K. Hammond of Ashland, and former Oregon City boy, is still with his company in France, and is in the best of health.

Oliver Ferguson, who is spending his furlough with his father, Lawrence Ferguson, of New Era, and who had his furlough extended, was in Oregon City Monday, where he visited friends. He will report for duty soon at the Presidio, San Francisco, Cal. He is thoroughly enjoying his furlough, and does not know just when he will be mustered out of service, for he is in the regular army.

Ray Ware, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Ware, is stationed at Camp Merritt, N. J., and is anxiously awaiting orders to return home.

Roland Forsberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forsberg, who is still in the service, is stationed at San Diego, but is now enjoying a furlough, which he is spending in California.

Irl Horton, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Horton of Gladstone, is still in France, and when writing to his parents, said he had been transferred to the Military Police, after driving an automobile for the Motor Transportation. Horton is now at Brest, and is anxiously awaiting orders to return home, but it may be in the summer time before he receives his discharge. Irl said he feels better now than at any time since going overseas.

Webster Roberts of Eagle Creek, one of the well known Clackamas county boys to have entered the service, arrived in the United States on Easter Sunday, April 20. He came across on the Graf Waldersee, a large vessel formerly owned by Germany, and taken over after the armistice was signed. He is now enjoying life on the Roberts farm at Eagle Creek somewhat different to what he was doing last year. Roberts has been stationed at Marsalville, France, and has been connected with Base Hospital No. 14. He received his discharge from the service at Camp Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hodgson of this city, have just received the following letter from their son, Carl Hodgson, who is still in France:

375 Aero Squadron, Romorantin, France, A. P. O. 713-A, April 13, "Dear Father and Mother:

"Your letter of March 5, gladly received, the bunch of Oregon City Enterprises, also. It makes me wish to be on my way, when I see by the papers so many of the boys are back to Oregon City. I wish you would correct one statement though.

"In copying my letter you left out two very important words, instead of three thousand mechanics putting out twenty planes in two months, this is what I surely intended to say. During the last two months of the war we assembled, fully tested, and turned out twenty Liberty planes per day. I showed the article to Jno. Hewitson of Portland, and we had a good laugh. Don't think I'm peeved, Mother, but we don't want the folks at home to think we are such a slow bunch, for we thought we had done well and had been speedy. Since the armistice, we have been busy taking care of (crating and storing) the airplanes and material sent here from Germany. We have no idea when we will be sent home. I am using most of my spare time in getting pictures of all the different types of airplanes, camp life, etc., with the pocket kodak. I wish I had my Eastman here. When we were on seven days pass to the Pyrenees I took a lot of pictures. I hope you received the nine books of views of Cantre, Pau, Hautes-Pyrenees, Sacred Shrine of Lourdes, etc. No use to name all, for if you get one you will get all of them.

"In every letter I have mentioned something about this trip so long ago, February, so I'll give it a rest and tell you of week-end trips. Some of us took a trip to Orleans about two weeks ago. Saw many interesting things, among them the cathedral where Joan of Arc worshipped, also the museum.

"I still have the picture frame and jewel box I made from the broken propeller of a Liberty plane. I'm glad they were not in the package that was stolen.

"Love to you both.

"CARL."

Mrs. Vertie Todd is in receipt of the following letter from her son, Samuel E. Todd:

U. S. Base Hospital,

Ward 19, Ft. Bliss, Texas,

May 3, 1919.

"Dear Mother:

"Will answer your most welcome letter I received today. Was sure glad to hear from home, but was sorry to hear of you and Sherman being ill. I hope you are better by the time you receive this letter.

"I am getting along fine, and feel

O. K., but my incision doesn't stop draining.

"I haven't been paid for three months, and when I do I will have a little more than $100. That will be enough to come home on, but I do not believe I will come until I am discharged.

"I wish I could arrive home in time for berry picking, as I have never picked berries yet, and would like the experience. Suppose you will be among those who will go this year.

"A bunch of overseas soldiers paraded in El Paso day before yesterday.

"There isn't much to write about here, as there is practically no news where I am stationed. As soon as I am able will write a history of my life since entering the service, and will send you this.

"Your loving son,

"SAMUEL."

Bob Stone, a cousin of C. O. Dryden of this city, and whose home is at Harrington, Wash., has returned to his home after some exciting experiences in overseas duty. In an interview with him recently he tells the following:

"I landed at Brest, France, December 25, 1917. We were supposed to be in training but the training we got was in building railroads. On March 3, we went into the lines on the Alsace-Lorraine front, 14 miles north of Toul, and in sight of Metz.

"I was in the Chateau-Thierry drive. On the second day I was in the first wave, our bunch having relieved the marines. That is where I first went over the top. It makes a man feel shaky on the start, but after that he is all right. I was also in the St. Mihiel drive, and was also at Verdun for five days, during which time the town was under fire.

"Shortly after the St. Mihiel drive the American troops were hurried northward and in night marches appeared before the Argonne. This was the greatest battle America ever fought.

"For fourteen days we slept and fought in the mud with no blankets, drank water out of shell holes that was green with stagnation and no warm food whatever. It is marvelous what a man can stand. It was terrible. It was raining, and with dead bodies lying near, many of which should have been buried before as they had commenced to decay, and the artillery was banging away close at hand.

"During one day of fighting we started a barrage and the Germans started one too. I had my gun that was on the parapet blown to pieces; left one dugout just before it was blown up, while six men were killed nearby in another dugout when a direct hit was made by the German guns.

"Our company entered the Argonne with 197 men, and in 15 days we were reduced to 33 men when we were taken out. My company was filled with men five different times, and when I was sent to the hospital there were but a dozen original men in it.

"The drafted men fought just as well as the men who volunteered, and just as bravely as far as I could see. "In my eight months active service I was out from under fire but two weeks of that time. A dose of gas finally sent me to the hospital, where I contracted pneumonia. After the armistice had been signed, men all around me were dying, and I thought I would die after it was all over, and I tell you I am glad to get back to my home in America."

Ross Scott, only son of Mrs. Eva Scott, of this city, who has been in France for the past 15 months, is among the Oregon City boys glad to return to his home. Ross was with the 801 Aero Squadron, Third A. I. C., and was stationed at Issoudun, France. He was kept busy occupied most of the time, and not like many of the Clackamas county boys, able to visit various sections of France. Ross had very little time for pleasure trips, except in the air when he took many flights. He says the flying was fine, and even when first taking his first air trip was not a bit timid.

Scott arrived in the United States March 7, and received his discharge March 25 at Camp Lewis. He says Oregon looks good enough to him without going over to France.

Austin Helsby Is Home From War

Austin Helsby, who has been in France, leaving here with the 162d Infantry, and was a member of Company F at that time, took his mother by surprise by returning this week. Helsby has had much experience while in the army that he will not soon forget. He was in the hospital from December until April, unknown to his mother, Mrs. Helsby, of this city, until his return.

LICENSE TO WED

Amy Elnora Shaw, 18, and George V. Clester, 21, both of Molalla, were granted a marriage license Thursday.

DELLAS ARMSTRONG BACK FROM FRANCE AFTER LONG SERVICE

Dellas (Curly) Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Armstrong of Tenth and Water streets, arrived in Portland Wednesday morning from overseas duty. Dellas left here with the 162d Infantry, 17 months ago, and has been in England and France. He was transferred to the Motor Transport company after his arrival overseas, and later transferred to the Casual company, of which organization he accompanied home. Having but an hour's stay in Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong and family, including Mrs. Glen Hankins, Miss Naomi Armstrong and Miss Ursel Armstrong, accompanied by Miss Edith Alldredge, motored to Portland in the H. H. Hughes automobile Wednesday morning where they greeted the young soldier. Dellas was in the best of health, and has gained in flesh since entering the service. He will probably return to Oregon City the first of the week.

While in New York he saw Lawrence Mulligan and Claire Miller, two Oregon City young men who are on their way home from France, and are with the Hospital Corps No. 46.

While on their way home Curly says the boys were treated in a royal manner, and were given all kinds of "good eats" while en route. While at "La Grande" the train stopped over to let the soldiers enjoy a street dance, which had been arranged and carried out by the people of that city, for there were many soldiers on board the troop train that were from La Grande. Among these was Lieutenant Carl Moore, formerly of this city, and son of J. A. Moore and a grandson of Mrs. Emma McDonald of this city. At Portland they were given a reception and were here feasted.

Kent Wilson Is Given Welcome

A number of friends and relatives of Kent Wilson, who arrived home from France Tuesday, planned to meet him at the depot in Portland as the troop train pulled in at the Union depot. Those going from this city by automobile to meet the young soldier were as follows: Miss Claude Schuebel, Miss Edith Alldredge, Miss Jessie Paddock, Miss Ruth Miller, and Mrs. W. C. Green in the W. C. Green car; Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Chapman, Mrs. Frank Moore, Miss Alma Moore and Miss Florence Moore, in the car of Mr. and Mrs. Chapman; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Gordon Wilson and Rolla Wilson, in the W. J. Wilson car.

The young man was given an ovation upon the arrival of the train at the depot, and accompanied his parents to this city, as he has received his honorable discharge. He was with a Hospital corps in France, and has had much exciting experience since entering the service almost two years ago.

The party in the Green car proceeded to the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Landsborough later where they enjoyed the evening.

C. E. Wells Is Back From Naval Duties

Charles E. Wells, an Oregon City boy, has received his honorable discharge from the navy and returned to his home here.

Wells enlisted June 29, 1917, and has made several trips to France on the Leviathan. He also served for some time on the Mercury.

After visiting here a few days he will take up his residence in Portland, where he will be employed.

COURT REJECTS SCHOOL STATUTE FOR CLACKAMAS

Declining to permit the application of the legislative act taking the control of school funds from school districts, the county court Monday made an order declaring the act inoperative so far as Clackamas county is concerned.

The last legislature passed Senator Bell's bill, S. B. No. 79, taking from all school districts of the state the school funds, and placing them in the hands of the county treasurers for disbursement, to be paid out on warrants drawn by the school districts, and changing the present method to the extent that school districts would draw warrants as they do now, but the county treasurer would cash them. The law was amended, however, to provide that any county in the state could, before the law became operative, by resolution on the record of the court, reject the new statute.

The Clackamas court held a hearing on the matter last Friday, and it developed that an additional deputy would be necessary in the office of the county treasurer, who would be obliged to open up a set of books for each of the 144 school districts of the county. The court was unable to find that the new law would be especially beneficial to the administration of county affairs. The law relating to the bonds of school clerks was not amended, so that these officials would still have to furnish bonds as custodians of school funds.

SUIT ON NOTE

F. H. Cross filed suit against Henry, Herman and Carl Piepke to collect on a promissory note for $78.50 given by the defendants January 1, 1914, and to run three years. Plaintiff alleges only $40 has been paid and asks for a settlement of the balance and $40 attorney's fees.

Getting Back to Nature

The city council, as we view it, had no alternative but to decline to accept for park purposes the tract north of Gladstone offered by Mrs. Thompson. True, this is a beautiful property, but the proposal was linked with a stipulation that the city should furnish two men to keep it in apple-pie order, which suggestion the council was obliged to disregard for financial reasons.

So long as the city's boundaries end, on the North, at Greenpoint, it is probably impracticable to acquire property several miles distant for a park, and keep it up at a considerable expense. It is not likely that many of our own residents would avail themselves of its privileges, and it would seem that the city would be going far as a matter of policy, to maintain a park for the benefit of people who are not residents of the town that pays the bills. The town of Gladstone or the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co., or both, might be interested in the matter.

We have a beautiful park site at our own door, and within the corporate limits of the city. The title to the property is vested in the water board, which, after all, is only a unit of our city administration, though functioning as an independent entity under the charter. We would like to see this property placed under the control of a park board, and gradually developed, as the city could afford to spend the money. There are about 13 acres in this lovely spot, which has everything to commend it, and it is to be hoped that the time will come, and that speedily, when this site will be made a place for recreation that our own people may enjoy.

Oregon City has a few park blocks, attractive places, but limited in size. We have no park for the accommodation of the thousands of motorists who pass us by. We have no public playground for our children and for the hundreds of men and women in our factories. No public project could be undertaken that would bring greater returns.

LOAN DRIVE ENDS WITH CLACKAMAS OVER TOP

Saturday was the last day of the Victory Loan drive and although Oregon City banks did not dispose of all the bonds they were well satisfied as only about $75,000 will have to be absorbed by them. The quota for the city was $400,000, and as no canvass was made the returns were very good.

County Chairman M. D. Latourette estimates that it will be at least three weeks before the final returns are given as many subscriptions were made by large concerns out of the city, of which credit will be given here. These are the Southern Pacific company, the Standard Oil company, Weyerhaeuser Lumber company, and several others.

Although Oregon City failed to go over the top by volunteer subscription, the county is over and several of the outside districts made their quotas without the aid of their banks.

H. C. Stevens subscribed Saturday for $5,500, making his total $10,500.

G. C. Fields, superintendent Portland Railway, Light & Power company, made his subscription Saturday through the First National Bank of Oregon City for $12,500.00 worth of Fifth Victory Bonds. Mr. Fields has the distinction of being the largest individual subscriber in Clackamas county reported to County Headquarters, and no doubt will be entitled to receive one of the German helmets which has been awarded to Clackamas county.

SPECIAL ELECTION IS CALLED TO VOTE ON NEW WATER DISTRICT

Special election has been ordered by the county court for the purpose of voting on incorporation of the Stanley Water District.

This district is located in the Stanley and Wichita and surrounding country districts and is for the purpose of supplying water to the residents for domestic purposes.

A petition signed by two-thirds of the voters was presented to the county court and after examination they called for the election. Five commissioners will be elected at this time to carry out the incorporation and the county clerk will name the place of the election and the judges and clerks.

BOY SCOUT WEEK SET

NEW YORK, May 12.—In a proclamation issued today President Wilson calls upon the nation to observe the period of June 8-14 as "Boy Scout Week" for the purpose of "strengthening the work of the Boy Scouts of America."

April Fire Losses $126,750

SALEM, Or., May 13.—April fire losses exclusive of Portland, amounted to $126,750, according to the monthly report of State Fire Marshal Wells, which was issued today. The report shows that at least two of the 32 were of incendiary origin. One-half or 16 of the total number of fires were in dwelling houses.

GARY MOTOR TRUCKS WIN IN ROAD WORK COMPETITION

GARY 3½ TON TRUCKS

Three Gary 3½-ton Trucks, purchased by Kay County, Oklahoma, for public road work—after a competitive test with five other leading makes of trucks.

We now have twenty trucks on the way like those shown above, all equipped with 3½ yard steel lined bodies, with Hydraulic Hoist, that we are bringing in for road construction work. These will be sold under the factory's absolute guarantee for the full period of one year.

GARY steel products lead the world. GARY Trucks are in the same class. Don't chance an unknown quality.

REPORT OF W. C. NORRIS CO.

Here is the report of the W. C. Norris Motor Sales Company, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, on the three trucks shown above, and covering their experience with motor trucks in general and GARY Trucks in particular.

"We have just closed the deal with the County Commissioners of Kay County for three GARY 3½-ton trucks. We competed with five other makes, and outpulled them all. The performance of the trucks we frankly state is marvelous. The "H" and "HU," 2 and 2½-ton models with four speed transmission outpull, overpower and outclass everything in their rated capacity; while the 3½-ton is even greater in pulling power and load carrying capacity. We consider your worm drive, semi-floating Sheldon Axle as the only safe and sure form of construction for hard usage and to withstand the strain and abuse to which a truck is subjected in the oil fields and kindred lines of work. Our observation, experience and knowledge of actual results in meeting oil field requirements, with heavy loads and no roads, convinces us that GARY TRUCKS can be relied upon in every instance and will deliver a long life of service at a nominal upkeep and low cost of operation. We are for the GARY TRUCKS strong and shall concentrate our future efforts exclusively on the GARY line.

R. C. NORRIS MOTOR SALES CO.,
 (Signed) N. D. Southerland, Gen. Mgr.

Note: The W. C. Norris Motor Sales Company are a million dollar concern, and one of the largest in Oklahoma. After several years' experience with other lines of trucks, they have dropped them all and rely exclusively on GARY Trucks for heavy duty oil field work and for all purpose usage.

There is a Gary Truck for every purpose, one to five-ton sizes. All of the highest quality of design and construction. Certainty of Service is our slogan, and as WEST COAST FACTORY AGENCY we shall always be prepared to supply any duplicate part that may be required, and do any repair or service work necessary.
