OREGON CITY, OREGON, FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1919.

FUNDS FOR PERMANENT HIGHWAYS CONSIDERED

The first real step toward increasing Clackamas county's revenue for permanent highway construction was taken Wednesday night at Monitor, when a resolution was unanimously adopted providing for a conference of representatives from every road district in Clackamas county to be held in Oregon City as early as practicable.

It is proposed, broadly, to make definite plans at such a conference to place in the hands of the county court as much money as that body can wisely expend within the next five years, the purpose being to improve in a permanent way, main roads in every section of the county.

Representatives from the Oregon City commercial club and from Estacada met with people living along the road between Barlow and Monitor and discussed the road situation from every angle. The county court accompanied the party and Judge Anderson talked, as did Circuit Judge Campbell, Dr. Clyde Mount, Dr. L. A. Morris, E. W. Bartlett, Mayor Gillis, of Monitor, and E. E. Brodie.

PUBLICITY SURE TO FOLLOW TRIP OF PUBLISHERS

More extensive publicity for the Pacific Northwest climate, scenery and resources will result from the tour of the National Editorial convention delegates through Oregon, Washington and British Columbia in August, than has ever been given in this section, according to Herbert Cuthbert, executive secretary of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association.

The association so much interested in the coming tour as the expense of securing the convention for the Pacific Northwest, including visits to the principal cities and points of interest, was met from the Association funds because of the extensive publicity which the editors will give to this section in their news papers on their return from the tour. During a recent eastern trip, Mr. Cuthbert investigated the interest being taken in the convention and the probable attendance, and reports as follows:

"Securing the convention has already brought much publicity for this section. Eastern and Canadian papers giving advance notices of the tour which is to cover the principal cities of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, and give the editors a glimpse of this great region. I am sure that a great deal of valuable publicity will follow the trip, resulting in an increased volume of tourist business for next year.

"From what I learned in the East, the attendance will be large. While I was there, J. Bruce Walker, director of publicity for the Department of Immigration of the Canadian government, announced in the Canadian press that a party of 300 editors from nearly every state in the Union, accompanied by some congressmen and senators, would pass over some Canadian railways on a special train bound for the convention. How many more will come I cannot tell, but in every newspaper office I visited in the East I found the working newspaper men interested in the coming tour and directing their attention toward the Pacific Northwest.

"Every visiting newspaper man will be a missionary for the Pacific Northwest, when he goes back home, and I am satisfied that the money the association expended in securing the convention will bring us the widest publicity we ever enjoyed."

The National Editorial Association convention party will visit Oregon City on Saturday, August 9, arriving here on interurban cars, furnished through the courtesy of the Oregon City Commercial Club. The association officers will dedicate a monument erected by W. P. Hawley, to mark the establishment of the first newspaper on the Pacific Coast, in February, 1846, and the event is scheduled for 5:30 P. M.

SOLDIER VISITS.

Frank Pimm, who has been with the 91st Division in France, and in some of the big battles, was in Oregon City Tuesday, where he visited his sister Mrs. W. M. Parker, of Canemah. Pimm was a stretcher bearer and was in some of the largest battles in France. He left Tuesday evening for his home in Corvallis.

New Suspension Bridge

Clackamas county will save $30,000 in engineering fees through the cooperation of the state highway commission, which has undertaken, with the sanction of the county court, to prepare and submit plans and specifications for a modern and adequate bridge to span the Willamette River and connect Oregon City with West Linn, forming a unit of the Pacific Highway.

The old bridge, constructed more than a quarter of a century ago, has for some years been altogether out of date, and the traffic that passes over it daily is greatly in excess of that for which the structure was intended. When this bridge was built, travel was comparatively light, the heavy motor truck had not been thought of, and the thousands of motor driven vehicles were not even dreamed of. While the present structure may not be actually unsafe, it is certain that it cannot endure under the unusual strain placed upon it.

The county court, backed up by a working committee, is anxious to secure early construction of a new bridge. Last year a sinking fund was established with a levy of one-quarter mill, and this year the levy was doubled, creating a total fund of $22,500. Basing the cost of a steel-concrete arch bridge upon the highway commission's estimate of $268,000, it will be seen that what has already been done towards financing the new structure will not go very far, and it is important that steps be taken now to raise funds to cover the cost of construction.

It has been suggested that as the bridge will be an important link in our principal state road, that the highway commission be asked to advance the necessary funds, and with an annual levy of one mill or possibly more, not many years would be required to pay out. We must face the fact that a new bridge is necessary and indispensable, and it is none too early to make definite arrangements for starting and completing the work.

PAPER UNIONS VOTE ARMISTICE TERMINATED WORKING AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Paper mill workers, who argue that the armistice terminated wages and working agreements made for the period of the war, have been informed by the national war labor board that such reasoning would have produced industrial chaos if adopted generally by organized labor. The board informed John P. Burke, president of the pulp, sulphite and paper-mill workers, that the war would not be over until the treaty of peace was ratified and that his union should abide by the agreement under which it is now working until that time.

Mr. Burke, in a telegram to the board said: "It is my understanding of the award of the war labor board that it should remain in effect for the period of the war and for six months thereafter. Our membership believe the war came to an end with the signing of the armistice. We call the attention of the war labor board to the fact that President Wilson himself addressing both houses of congress, said, 'Thus the great world war comes to an end.' Federal Judge Walter E. Vans recently decided a case that the war was brought to a close when the armistice was signed. When we agreed to the war labor board we had no knowledge that we were to be held to this award until six months after peace is ratified by the senate. Our members had a conference in Albany February 18 and went on record as believing that the war came to an end November 11. We do not consider that we are under the award of the war labor board at the present time."

The man was working in the furnace room and was standing near the door to one of the furnaces when this blew open and struck Nolan on the head. He was knocked to the floor and his skull badly fractured besides being injured from the heat.

Drs. Mount are the attending physicians and report that the man has a fair chance for recovery.

COUNCIL DROPS CITY EMPLOYEES OUT ON STRIKE

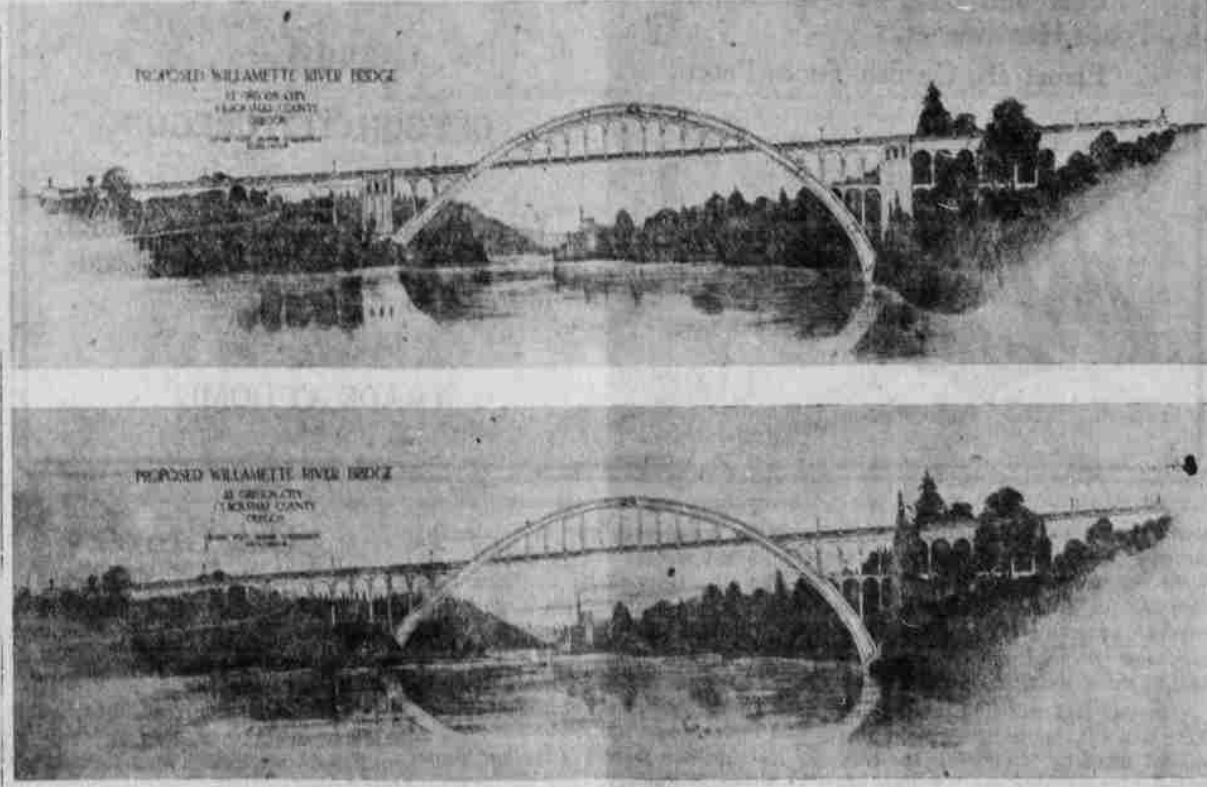

WINNIPEG, May 27.—The Winnipeg city council today formally notified all unionized city employees participating in the general strike that they were no longer connected with the municipal government service and that those who desire to apply for reinstatement will be classed as new employees.

All seniority rights and privileges have been forfeited, the council declared. Organization of new city forces will begin Thursday.

Every leading development in the Winnipeg general strike situation today was related to the governmental movement to deal directly with the great body of union workers.

CALGARY, Alberta, May 27.—The open charge was made today by the Hon. Gideon Robertson, Canadian minister of labor, in a telegram to Mayor Marshall of Calgary, that the present strike situation in Canada is a movement by radicals to assume control of government affairs.

Two Designs for Proposed New Bridge at Oregon City

Tentative sketches for a steel concrete arch span and viaduct approaches across the Willamette river at Oregon City, have been prepared by the State Highway Department. These sketches contemplate a main crossing consisting of a steel concrete arch of about 385 feet clear span, and 120 feet rise, flanked by reinforced concrete approach spans; the entire structure being about 1000 feet in length. The main span contemplates the use of fabricated structural steel rib work, encased in a protective coating of concrete. The structure thus possesses all the positive rigidity of structural steel, together with the permanency of concrete construction. This is a type of construction which is coming more and more into favor among engineers and builders because of its conservative features and inherent economy.

The upper picture shows a more ornamental type of finishing, and embraces comfort stations under each end of the bridge, while the lower picture does not provide for comfort stations, and is a plainer design.

The clearances and grade lines are approximately identical with that of the old span.

SUSPENSION BRIDGE COMMITTEE IS NAMED BY CLUB PRESIDENT

Appointment of five members of the Commercial Club to represent the business interests of Oregon City and West Linn on the new suspension bridge committee was announced Thursday by M. D. Latourrette, president of the club. The committee consists of C. Schuebel, chairman; William Andersen, B. T. McBain, W. A. Huntley and E. E. Brodie and has been asked to cooperate with the county court in devising ways and means for the financing of the new structure, designs for which were submitted at a conference held Wednesday night at the club.

The committee has also been requested to negotiate for the acquisition of a site for a public park at the West Linn terminus of the bridge, and to assist in smoothing over local problems incident to the construction. The plans and engineering work and supervision of the actual construction will be undertaken by the state highway commission.

The Farmers' Opportunity

Aside from special taxes, Clackamas county makes an annual levy of nine mills for its roads, and of this sum two mills is for paving, while seven mills is diverted to general road and bridge work, the law providing that 70 per cent of the money paid in must be expended in the district from which it is derived.

On the ballot at the special election next Tuesday is a measure known as the Market Roads Tax Bill, which has the backing of the farmer organizations, and which was inspired by the Grange, providing for an annual state tax of one mill, to be matched by a similar tax by the various counties of the state.

This means that Oregon will have about two million dollars more for its roads, but not for its tourist highways, for the bill provides that the money shall be apportioned to the counties that make a county levy equal to the amount to be apportioned by the state.

The bill therefore contemplates that each of the counties of Oregon, in order to obtain their share of the state one mill levy, must make a levy of an equal amount, for the specific purpose of market road construction.

This is the first opportunity that the farmers themselves have had to secure state aid for their own roads. If the measure becomes a law, we shall have in Clackamas county $60,000 more each year for market roads, or roads leaving a way from the market centers to the farms. The adoption of such a bill will ultimately mean first class highways into such districts as Highland, Clarkes, Logan, Stafford, Wilsonville, Springwater, Mulino, and scores of other settlements inhabited by people who need good roads to bring their products to the consumer.

COUNCIL PLANS TO LEASE PART OF CITY HALL

Action of the city council at a special meeting Monday indicates that the proposition of Frank Busch to lease the lower floor of the city hall building on "Main street between Seventh and Eighth will probably be accepted. The city has been offered $60 a month for the lower floor, it being the intention of Busch to install a store front and use the building as a sample room, and to place a stairway on the side of the building, to provide entrance to the council chamber. The city will provide a small building in the rear of the city hall for the fire apparatus, with an entrance on the alley.

The proposal of J. W. Moffatt to pave Washington and Fourteenth street from Main to the Abernethy bridge was taken under advisement, and the award will be made next week. Moffatt submitted a bid of $150 a square yard for concrete pavement and 20 cents a yard for preparing the foundation, conditioned upon the city providing the water, roller and scarifier.

SENATOR SHERMAN SUBMITS RESOLUTION ON NATIONS LEAGUE

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A resolution declaring it the sense of the senate that the covenant of the League of Nations be separated from the treaty when it is submitted for ratification was introduced in the senate today by Senator Sherman, Republican, of Illinois.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Extensive hearings on the league of nations covenant in which nine members of the president's peace commission, who resigned because of dissatisfaction with the treaty, will be held before the senate foreign relations committee if opponents of the league have their way.

SEVERAL STORES ARE ROBBED SATURDAY NIGHT

Robberies at Gladstone, Stanley, Oswego and Oregon City were reported to Sheriff Wilson Sunday and Monday. Stolen cars were used for two of the robberies and the offenders of the Stanley robbery were captured Monday.

The Gladstone postoffice was broken into sometime Saturday night and a few pennies was all the cash secured by the robbers. They also took some candy and gum and a few other small articles.

The store at Stanley was entered by the robbers breaking a window and unlocking the door. A car stolen in Portland was used by the offenders, who later were captured in Portland. They were young boys, one of them being Richard Moore, who lives near Stanley, and the others were from Portland. Moore was given a lecture and released on probation. The other boys are charged with stealing the car.

The store at Oswego was entered and the robbers secured shoes and other clothing. A car stolen from McMinnville was used here and was later wrecked and deserted. Before leaving the car the robbers changed clothes, using those stolen from the store.

About one o'clock Sunday afternoon the dental office of Dr. L. L. Picken was entered and gold valued at $25 or $30 was taken by the robber.

HEROES OF 147TH ARE WELCOMED ON ARRIVAL

PORTLAND, May 27.—One hundred and forty-five members of Batteries A and B, 147th field artillery, accompanied by 120 casuals of Hoboken Casual Company 523, arrived at the Union station shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. Met by a large crowd of relatives and friends gathered particularly to meet the artillerymen, the boys received a warm welcome.

After an hour of welcome inside the station the batteries were formed and marched to Sixth street, forming there in column of squads. Marching behind the colors carried by their own men, the Portland and Oregon boys, as well as those in the batteries as a casual company from Washington and Idaho, were applauded and cheered profusely.

SHIPYARDS ON COAST TO RECEIVE CONTRACTS

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Reinstatement of contracts with Pacific Coast shipyards which may have been unjustly treated in the cancellation of orders for steel ships since the signing of the armistice was promised by Chairman Hurley of the shipping board, at a conference today with West Coast shipbuilders and senators and representatives from Oregon, Washington and California.

The builders told the shipping board that they had not been fairly treated and Mr. Hurley conceded that probably some individual injustices had resulted from the suspension of contracts.

COMMISSION AGREES TO HAVE ENGINEERS INSPECT LOOP ROUTE

The state highway commission has agreed to send its engineers to look over the proposed route for the Mount Hood loop through Clackamas county. At a meeting of the commission in Portland Wednesday morning a delegation of Estacada and Oregon City citizens appeared and asked that the highway be routed from the vicinity of Firwood or Cherryville down through the Garfield and Dodge districts and running through Estacada, Eagle Creek and Barton to Baker's bridge and thence to Clackamas station, joining the Oregon City-Portland road there. The distance would be no greater than the proposed bluff road and would be a wonderfully scenic route. The proposal was evidently a new one to the commission, and no indication was given as to the ultimate, but it is expected that an early determination will be reached.

CARPENTER INSTANTLY KILLED AT PAPER MILL

Eveette Pickle, a carpenter's helper, working on the elevator at the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, was instantly killed Monday morning when he was struck by the counter weights of the elevators.

The deceased was working at the top floor of the shaft, the elevator was at the bottom when George Crosey, a mill employee, who was higher up, started the elevator as he wished to descend. As the elevator started Crosey looked down and saw Pickle's head through an opening in the shaft. Crosey called to the boy but it was too late as the weight had only about three feet to travel before striking his head.

The weights struck Pickle on the head and broke his neck and right jaw.

Dr. Strickland was called at once and when the body was released he held an examination, finding that death was instantaneous.

The young man was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pickle, of West Linn. He was born in Minnesota July 12, 1900, and came to West Linn with his parents seven years ago. He attended the schools at Sunset and at the time of his death was studying a correspondence course at night. He was employed in the ship yards at Aberdeen for some time and came home for Christmas vacation. Finding his mother in ill health the young man decided to remain here and accepted a position in the Hawley mills.

Besides his parents the deceased is survived by five brothers, Melvin, Robert, Frank and Roy, of West Linn, and Elmer of Dee, Oregon; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Poole, of Lamont, Wash., and Miss Mildred Pickle, of West Linn.

A jury was called by Coroner Johnson and four witnesses were examined. None of these witnesses could give any reason for the young man's act in looking down the shaft and the jury's verdict was that the deceased came to his death by his own negligence.

JUSTICE CHADWICK QUITS

OLYMPIA, Wash., May 26.—Stephen J. Chadwick, chief justice of the Washington supreme court, today sent his formal resignation to Acting Governor Hart, to become effective June 1.

Having been previously apprised of Judge Chadwick's determination to retire, Governor Hart had selected Jesse B. Brodges of Aberdeen to fill the vacancy, and immediately announced his appointment.
