

MILWAUKIE & NORTHERN CLACKAMAS

COMMENCEMENT IS SET FOR JUNE 11; EIGHTEEN GRADUATE

The fifth annual commencement of the Milwaukie high school will be held June 11, at 8 p. m. in the city hall.

Professor John Straub of the University of Oregon will deliver the address. The program will be published later.

The class this year is the largest in the history of the school, numbering eighteen, nine boys and nine girls, whose names are as follows:

Maxine Elliott Fowler, Priscilla Katherine Fisch, Florence Elizabeth Graale, Lavett Vivienne Kerr, Bina M. Krough, Alice Sophia Newkirk, Loveday Alice Trotter, Hans Albert Baumgartner, Ernest Edward Fischer, Martin Katske, Homer B. Klippel, Gilbert Davis Morgan, August E. F. Oetkin, Glen W. Ward, Eva Birke-meier, Rolfe Skulason.

The senior class this week presented their annual play in the city hall. They spent much hard work in preparing this and the people were pleased with it.

The high school annual picnic was held at Crystal Lake Park Friday evening, May 23. A feature of the occasion was a baseball game between the alumni association and the high school team, resulting in the victory for the alumni.

The grammar school picnic will be held at Crystal Lake Park, Monday P. M., June 9.

The report cards and promotion certificates will be given Tuesday, June 10. Pupils must report in person for these cards.

The fourth annual high school Ma-son is off the press and ready for sale. Only a limited number of copies remain unsold; patrons who have not secured a copy and wish to do so may apply at the Bank for same.

School closes June 10.

MILWAUKIE LOCALS

Mr. C. A. Lakin is having some improvements made to his house on Milwaukie Highway.

Mrs. A. M. Rinehart will build a small bungalow on her property on Oak Grove street shortly. Some of the lumber is on the ground.

Mrs. Chas. McCann, of Dallas, was a Milwaukie visitor the first of the week.

A number of the ladies have been interesting themselves in the drive for funds for the new home for working women in Portland.

The picnic of the Oregon Field Artillery auxiliary to Batteries A and B was a pleasant affair at Crystal Lake Park Saturday afternoon.

BAKER PICKED BY I. O. O. F.

SALEM, Ore., May 23.—Baker was yesterday chosen by Oregon Odd Fellows, in session here, as the place for the 1920 grand lodge session. Over 500 votes were cast. M. R. Riggs, of Prineville was elected grand warden.

MILWAUKIE SOLDIER BOYS RETURN HOME

Batteries A and B 147 Regt. arrived in Portland Tuesday at 9 a. m. and were given a very royal welcome. After the parade, the Milwaukie boys came home and enjoyed themselves with their parents and relatives until late at night. The men expect to be mustered out in a couple of days.

Captain Johnson will come home on a furlough of 15 days.

The following Milwaukie boys were with the unit: Sargeant Arthur Taylor, Chas. A. Lakin Jr., Earl Mathews, Louis Shindler.

Rolfe Skulason and Ross Swagert arrived home during the week.

All the men look well.

Lively balloting resulted in the election of Scout Clement Mitchell.

AIR SERVICE STARTS

GENEVA, May 28.—Airplane mail service has been established between Paris and Geneva. A Swiss aviator made the journey in five and one-half hours, crossing the Jura Alps.

ADVENTURES OF JIMMY COON

"There is no doubt about it," said Cousin Bruin, "my favorite sport is eating!"

"Well, so is mine," said Jimmy Coon, and everybody is just the same, only lots of people are ashamed to say anything about it. We do have lots of fun, Cousin Bruin, and I know a fine place to hunt this morning, so come along."

The forest trees came nearly down to the sea shore, but the grass along the shore was growing out of the sand, and stiffer than the meadow grass. Soon they came to the long beach.

"This is the very best place to fish," said Jimmy Coon. The white sea-gulls were wheeling about in the warm sunlight and they were fishing. Each one carried a mussel shell high up in the air and would drop it on the rocks to break the shell. They would then swoop down suddenly and eat the broken meats.

Some of the gulls were fishing for sand seels and baby mackerel, brought up by the last tide and scattered on the sands.

Now usually all this fishing would have interested Jimmy Coon very much and many a time had he played with those gulls, and snatched those meats from under their very nose and eyes, until they beat him off, and he had to run to cover.

But today Jimmy Coon just looked at them with a superior air, for he had his big cousin with him to do most of the fishing. Cousin Bruin didn't wait for an invitation. He scraped limpets off the rocks, and crammed them into his mouth. He tore loose the mussels, crushed the shells in his huge claws, and ate the inside.

Some of the meats stuck to the shells. These little bits Jimmy Coon washed industriously, and ate as fast as he could.

But it made Jimmy Coon very mad to see Cousin Bruin eating so much when he, Jimmy, had so little to eat. Jimmy got madder and madder, but Cousin Bruin was perfectly happy. Once in a while he gave a low growl of real joy.

"Well," said Teddy Possum, who was eating sand fleas, with might and main, "I know a good joke to play on Cousin Bruin and it will teach him a good lesson. The next time he won't be such a greedy pig and he will give you a half a chance, Jimmy Coon. Now you know Cousin Bruin just loves honey. Well, I know a brand new place for honey!"

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 28.—If Thomas Riley Marshall remains vice president until March 4, 1921, he will be the third man in history to complete two terms in that office.

DIDN'T MEAN IT LITERALLY

English Soldier's Expressed Wish That Death Might Come Was Followed by Hasty Revision.

Major Gen. John J. O'Rynn, who has just returned from France, has brought back a number of humorous stories of the battlefield. Here is one he tells about an English sentinel: "The Twenty-seventh division was in Flanders, where it rains almost continuously," began the general. "There were English troops billeted near by. One night, after a particularly hard rain, this English chap was on duty. When he thought no one was around he began to curse everything in general, the weather, the Germans and his own luck. 'Oh, I say, this is blasted weather, doncha know. I wish I was out of this beastly mud,' the English sentry muttered. A few minutes later he was cursing the rain which beat in his face. 'Gawd, but I wish I was out of this beastly water,' he mused again. Just then the Germans opened a heavy fire and made things uncomfortable for everyone. 'Oh, Gawd, but this is beastly,' said the sentry, raising his voice. 'Oh, I do hate those blasted Germans. I wish I were dead.' Simultaneously with his last words a big 'Minnie' dropped almost at the sentry's feet. When he recovered he was lying in a hole covered with mud but uninjured. The sentry sat up, rubbed the mud from his eyes, and then gazing heavenward, said, 'Oh, I say, Gawd, can't you take a blasted joke?'—New York Sun.

FAR BEYOND ALLOTTED SPAN

Instances of Remarkable Cases of Longevity Which Seem to Be Well Authenticated.

The death of Nenagh, County Tipperary, Ireland, of Mrs. Bourke, who was reported to have reached the age of 121 years, has led the London Daily Express to make a record of some of the other famous cases of longevity.

In 1904 the regimental chaplain of the 13th Bengal Infantry was still conducting services in Calcutta at the age of 130. In 1908 Andrei Nikolaevitch Schmidt, a Russian, produced papers which showed that he was 136 years old, and had enlisted in the Royal battalion in 1796. The same year Hadji Raouf was 133, and was still earning a living as a saddler in Constantinople, but he was a juvenile compared with Quo-Ka-Num, an Indian chief who roamed the shores of Puget sound at the age of 100. He was generally conceded by Europeans more likely to be 200, and he claimed to remember the time when iron was unknown to his tribe. He was 2 feet 5 inches in height and did not weigh 50 pounds. A few years ago a Chinese woman reached Montreal. She had left her native land when 70, and had lived in Demerara for 100 years. In 1912 Europe had 7,000 living centenarians, of whom 3,888 were Bulgarians.

New Canadian Coat of Arms.

The Canadian government is considering adopting a new coat of arms for the dominion—one which shall represent all the provinces in the confederation. The present coat of arms is representative of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick only, for those were the original provinces, and since it was adopted in 1859 Prince Edward Island and British Columbia have entered the federation, and finally Saskatchewan and Alberta have been carved out of what were the Northwest territories. When a design emblematic of these nine provinces has been chosen by the committee and approved by the government it will be submitted to the royal college of heralds in England to be registered. A royal warrant declaring it the official arms of Canada will then be issued.

Double Bottoms Put to Work.

For many years a few steamships from the far east have brought fuel oil back to Britain in the ballast space between their inner and outer hulls. The practice never became general, however, and "tankers" continued to handle the bulk of the trade. But in 1917, increased submarine activity and the expansion of the allied fleets made immediate additions to tank tonnage so imperative that not a few, but hundreds, of British and American "double bottoms" were fitted for this auxiliary cargo. Apart from its war-time results this new practice has taught marine engineers many lessons that will guide them in designing the oil-burning ships of tomorrow.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

His First Visit.

Mr. Lloyd George would seem, says Liverpool Post, to have had a premonition of his future eminence when he paid a first visit to London as a lad of nineteen. "Went to the house of commons," he wrote home to his uncle. "Very disappointed. I will not say but that I eyed the assembly in a spirit similar to that in which William the Conqueror eyed England on his visit to Edward the Confessor as the region of his future domain. Oh, vanity!"

Injections of Cane Sugar.

Doctor Rosenthal reports to the Presse Medicale (Paris) that he has administered intravenous injections of a strong solution of saccharose in numerous cases of tuberculosis. The procedure exerts a manifest tonic action. It raises the blood pressure, augments the body weight, and indirectly produces a favorable effect on the tuberculous lesions. These results are ascribed by the author to an enhancement of the functions of the liver.

Our Book of Doom.

A doomsday book of a new sort has been produced by the alien property custodian. It approximates 500 pages and sets out the names of the enemy concerns that have been found in the United States. The custodian thinks his efforts have been without real cost to the country, since he brought to light for the treasury to collect more than $600,000 in income taxes which were being evaded. Besides the custodian turned some of the German concerns to war work and had them produce $30,000,000 worth of supplies.

The custodian's new book, says Nation's Business, contains a deal of comfort for Americans who have claims against Germany and who have been wondering if they will have to wait for payment until Germany makes up her mind about the variety of government she likes best. The state department has hinted that American claimants may get immediate reimbursement from the funds the custodian has collected.

Hubby's Blunder.

He resided in the suburbs, and when he accidentally met an old friend in the city who persuaded him to remain in town for the evening he went to the telegraph office and wired his wife as follows:

"Missed the 5:30 train. Don't keep dinner waiting. Shall be home late."

It was very, very late when he did arrive home, and his wife met him at the door.

"Did you get my message?" he said, beaming down at her.

"Yes," she said, very quietly, "but I would like you to explain why you sent a message at 4:28 telling me you had missed the 5:30 train."—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

BOY SCOUT DOINGS.

A group of scouts in Marquette, Mich., helped an aged woman get straightened out after a fire in her house, cut new firewood and hunted up her lost cat.

Education of the public in the subject of kindness to dumb animals has been begun by scouts of Marion, Ind. Speeches by scouts have attracted much attention. As a result of a scout campaign to remove stray dogs from the streets, the city council is to put through an ordinance.

POMONA GRANGE TO HAVE NEW WAY OF ELECTING OFFICERS

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, who were delegates from the Clackamas Pomona Grange to the state Grange at Hillsboro last week, report a splendid meeting with a larger attendance. An important change was made in the method of electing the state grange officers, as this will be a vote by the subordinate granges.

T. R. A. Sellwood was also in attendance at the session.

PORTLAND, May 23.—J. Henry Albers, convicted February 5 of a charge of violating the espionage act, today perfected his appeal from the district federal court by filing a supersedeas bond of $10,000.
