EAGLE CREEK MAN
ARRESTED FOR FIRECHARGED WITH BURNING OF SLASHING WITHOUT PER-MIT; FOUND GUILTY

REFUSED TO HEED OFFICERS

Was Found Guilty Before a Jury
Tuesday. Case is First One
Under Statute

B. Maffei, a rancher of the Eagle Creek country near Estacada, was found guilty of burning slashing without a permit, before a jury in Justice DeVore's court Tuesday morning.

The arrest was made by Fire Marshal Ray Wilcox, following a visit to Maffei's home, when the official asked him to put out the fire on his place which was assuming dangerous proportions. Maffei not only refused to assist the officers, according to the testimony, but in no uncertain language told Marshal Wilcox, Dave Hoffmeister and Ray Douglas, who accompanied the official, to visit a warmer climate.

Maffei's defense was that he had not started the fire, and his wife and son testified that the blaze originated from a camp fire down the canyon and from there had worked up into his yard. The officials testified that Maffei had admitted starting the blaze to burn his slashings. Deputy District Attorney T. A. Burke handled the case.

The jury consisted of J. F. Lovelace, J. R. Townsend, John Page, T. J. Jubb, Jerry Jones and R. M. Standish. After 20 minutes' deliberation the verdict was returned finding Maffei guilty.

According to Division Superintendent Ferguson the case is one of the first ever brought in his district under the statute. The law provides that all slashing burners must obtain a permit which is issued only under rigid restrictions as to guarding the fire. Prompt action of the fire service men in Maffei's case prevented serious damage.

UNION'S PERCENTAGE BIG

Fifteen Out of 22 Eligible Are Passed Into Army

Union County boasts of a record production of soldiers. In the outfit there were 11 men available to the draft; 22 men were called for examination; four were physically unfit, two enlisted in the meantime and out of the rest, the quota of 11 and two alternates were picked to go to the front. Six of the number refused to present exemptions, although they had logical grounds to do so.

This percentage is said to be a record in the state as virtually 15 out of 22 were passed into the Army. The board consisted of Sheriff Warnick, Dr. M. K. Hall and J. Garfield King.

Suit on Contract

A suit has been started in the circuit court by W. L. Miller, F. L. Tobey and W. L. Tobey, doing business as the Miller Wood company of Portland, against Philip Bellamy to either compel the defendant to complete his contract to supply the plaintiffs with a certain amount of fir and oak wood, or else to reimburse them for money advanced him upon wood measures on the ground at Kayler station on the Willamette Valley Southern railway, and only a small portion of which he delivered aboard the cars at the station. The plaintiffs also seek a restraining order to prevent Bellamy from selling the wood to other parties.

NEW BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY ON DRAFT TROUBLE

Jeff New, charged with altering the records in the family bible, when he was called on the draft, has been bound over to the grand jury under $1500 bail.

The effort of the prosecution has been to show that the records of the bible were changed to read "March 22, 1886," instead of "March 22, 1887." If the prosecution proves this alteration with the figures, it will make New but 30 years of age and eligible for conscription.

At the hearing before United States Commissioner Drake in Portland Tuesday, it developed that the only place Jefferson New had attended school, was in Tillamook county, the school records of which were destroyed in a fire in the courthouse there 14 years ago.

Mrs. Mollie Abbey, New's mother, explains the change in the records by claiming that last Christmas at a family reunion the dates of all the children's births were entered in the bible. After the reunion she decided that Jeff had been born a year earlier than the date entered in the book. Accordingly, she says that she changed the entry.

Special Deputy United States District Attorney Earle Latourette represented the prosecution and members of the local draft board and Deputy District Attorney Thomas Burke were witnesses against New.

GOOD TIMES FOR
OREGON IN SIGHTGOVERNMENT GIVES OREGON
AND WASHINGTON AIR-
PLANE CONTRACT

PROSPERITY FOR THE STATE

Government and Allied Powers Will Require 117,000,000 Feet
of Spruce

After investigation by the government officials in Portland this week, as to the spruce lumber to be had in Oregon for the building of airplanes, and after a conference of all the prominent lumbermen of the state, it looks at present that Oregon will have one of the greatest periods of prosperity in the lumber business every experienced.

Representatives of more than 90 percent of the spruce resources of Oregon and Washington met with the officials Monday, and agreed to supply all the airplane spruce required by the United States and the allied governments at $105 per 1000. This is the figure suggested by the government itself, and at the end of thirty days the arrangement is satisfactory to both sides, it will be continued indefinitely.

At the lowest estimate, the government and the allied powers will need 117,000,000 feet of airplane stock in the next year or 18 months. Only from 16 to 20 per cent of the logs are available for this purpose and fully 6,000,000 feet of the timber will have to be cut.

Meanwhile Howard Jayne, of Raymond, who, with F. A. Douby, of Portland, had gone to Washington, D. C., to confer with the War Department, told of the technical requirements of the contracts.

Not less than 50 percent of all shipments shall be 18 feet and longer, the remaining 50 percent to be four feet and longer.

All lumber three inches and thicker shall not be less than 70 percent vertical grain.

That 50 percent which is 18 feet and longer shall be clear on four sides, straight-grained, not less than six annual rings an inch, "sound and well manufactured, free from shakes, spiral and curly grain."

The price of $105 per 1000 feet is based on the present price of logs and the labor schedules prevailing today. The committees from each district went into executive conference late in the afternoon and reported back to the general meeting early Tuesday night. All manufacturers present agreed to the terms. However, each mill will make a separate contract with the government.

These contracts will require the mills to furnish spruce for the allied governments on the same terms as to the United States. Shipments shall be made to destinations designated by the War Department, either in this country or abroad.

While the logging operators are not bound by any existing or proposed contract to maintain the present price level of logs, Alex Polson of Hoquiam, one of the biggest loggers in that district, declared that the price will not be advanced.

But it will be necessary, probably, to fix a standard price for logs to prevent mill managers themselves from bidding against one another and demoralizing the market.

As soon as the individual contracts are signed with the government the trade will be advised that all spruce stock available for airplane purposes will be withdrawn from the market.

JENNINGS LODGE MAN IS HELD AS SHIRKER

Jefferson New, aged 30, a resident of Jennings Lodge, was taken into custody by Sheriff Wilson, of Special United States Attorney E. C. Latourette and Deputy District Attorney T. A. Burke Saturday and turned over to the United States authorities as a shirker suspect.

The arrest followed a visit to the home of the mother, Mrs. Mollie Abbey, at Jennings Lodge Saturday evening, when the old family Bible was brought out by the mother as conclusive evidence that her son was over 30 years of age. The officials were not quite satisfied with the appearance of the page and the Bible was brought to Oregon City and examined under a high power glass. The results showed that the date "March 22, 1887" had apparently been changed to read "March 22, 1886." Conflicting stories were told by the mother and son and a denial was made by the former that any change had ever been made in the book. Saturday, following his arrest and a hard cross-examination, New admitted that change had been made and that he was aware of the fact. He was taken to Portland to await his hearing, which will be held tomorrow in the United States court.

TO GO HARD WITH DRAFT EVADERSFAILURE OF MEN WHO TRY TO EVADE DUTY WILL BE SERIOUS

TO BE AUTOMATICALLY DRAFTED

In the Eyes of Federal Authorities
Failure to Appear for Duty
Is Desertion

From now on the fate of the man who tries to evade his duty under the draft law will be anything but enviable.

Failure to appear for physical examination when called up by his local exemption board will not help the slacker. In fact, it will be about the shortest cut he could take to get himself drafted automatically into the army without further consideration.

If a man does not appear before his local board when called—unless he applies by reason of absence from his district to have his examination transferred to another board, or can give a very good reason why he was unable to appear—his name will be certified to the Adjutant General of the state as having been called for military service and not exempted or discharged.

The Adjutant General, who acts under instructions from Washington, will give him one more chance, and only one, to clear his record.

A notice will be sent to the address on his registration card directing him to report within five days, either in person or by mail or telegram, to the Adjutant General. If he doesn't report as directed, at the end of five days he becomes automatically drafted into the army of the United States.

Failure to appear for draft will then become equivalent to deserting from the army. Men who desert from Uncle Sam's army in time of war are not treated very kindly. They are classed in the same category as traitors.

Such men will be rigidly hunted down by the military authorities. They either will be compelled to serve or court martial as deserters. In time of war a court martial can inflict the death penalty for desertion.

FORD WITH PHONY LICENSE
ABANDONED BY SOLDIERS

When three soldiers drove a Ford automobile to a lone spot on the 82nd street road Tuesday night and left the machine to get into another and drive to Portland, they aroused the suspicions of Motorcycle Officer H. E. Meades, who found that the car had only one license plate and that it was issued to Roy R. Under, 690 Kerney street, Portland, for a Fiat machine. The number was 11782.

Meades could not start the car as it was locked with a patented lock and he drove to Portland for a key. When he returned the car was gone. Friday evening he found the car near the same spot and notified Sheriff W. J. Wilson, who waited until early Saturday morning for the soldiers to return. When they did not make their appearance, Sheriff Wilson had the car towed to Oregon City, where it is being held.

Sheriff Wilson found a machine belonging to C. A. Staats, of Topenish, Wash., on the Milwaukie road late Thursday night. Mr. Staats was notified and took the machine Friday.

Nearly 700 visiting merchants crowded around the decks of the steamers Grahama and Pomona as the good ships swung from their berths in Portland Thursday for the trip up the Willamette and the inspection of the mills of this city. As the boats swiftly passed up the stream two mermaids' canoe was up and the shrieks of the girls furnished a moment's excitement for the buyers. The girls easily righted their craft and struck out for shore before any of the aquatic experts could show their gallantry and the guests are still wondering if the upset was not a part of the entertainment provided for them.

Arriving at Oregon City, the party was shown through the paper mills and the woolen mills and later lunch was provided at the John McLoughlin home, where Judge Grant B. Dimick made an address of welcome and Mrs. Eva Emery Dye and O. D. Ely also spoke. Mrs. Dye was in charge of the luncheon feature of the entertainment.

"The military masters of Germany denied us the right to be neutral. They filled our communities with vicious spies and conspirators. They sought to corrupt our citizens. They sought by violence to destroy our industries and arrest our commerce. They tried to incite Mexico to take up arms against us and to draw Japan into hostile alliance with her. They impudently denied us the use of the high seas and repeatedly executed their threat that they would send to their death any of our people who ventured to approach the coasts of Europe. * * *
