The Drowned

Mrs. Clemmie Fairhurst, Willamette.
Mrs. Florence Smith, West Linn.
Miss Minnie Sandy, West Linn.

Brave but futile efforts of two women who could not swim to save the life of a third woman who could, resulted in a triple drowning in the Tualatin river Wednesday afternoon. The dead are:

Mrs. Clemmie Fairhurst, 21 years old, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Farmer of Willamette.

Mrs. Florence Smith, 22 years old, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sandy of West Linn.

Minnie Sandy, 15 years old, a sister of Mrs. Smith.

The tragedy occurred shortly after 1 o'clock near the skidway of the Hardstone Lumber company. The women, with some friends, had been crawling and, tiring of this, decided to go in bathing. Mrs. Fairhurst was the only member of the party who could swim. She was paddling along near the bank when she suddenly found herself out of her depth and, becoming panic stricken, called for help and threw up her arms. She immediately sank beneath the surface.

Minnie Sandy, in spite of her inability to swim, rushed into the stream to save Mrs. Fairhurst, and almost immediately fell into deep water. Her screams for air reached her sister, Mrs. Smith, and she, also unable to swim, made a heroic effort to reach Minnie before she sank for the last time. In her futile attempt she was swept out by the current.

Mrs. Ethel Coffman, a camper on the river bank a short distance below the place where the three women were struggling in the water, saw their peril and ran to the plant of the lumber company, where she found Charles Koski and Frank Witten, employees. While the men rushed to the river, Mrs. Coffman telephoned for more aid and parties left Oregon City, West Linn and Willamette by automobiles.

Koski and Witten secured a boat, but by the time they reached the spot where the women had been struggling there was no sign of the victims of the tragedy. They immediately began to drag the river and after 45 minutes' work recovered Mrs. Fairhurst's body. Shortly after the body of Minnie Sandy was dragged from the river.

In the meantime rescue parties had arrived and every effort was made to resuscitate the women, Dr. W. E. Hempstead of Oregon City, county coroner, taking charge. Not the slightest response to the efforts of the volunteers was observed, however. An hour and a half later the body of Mrs. Smith was taken from the water. All three bodies were taken to Oregon City.

Mrs. Fairhurst is survived by her husband, C. P. Fairhurst, her parents, three sisters, one of whom was with the party and witnessed the closing scenes of the tragedy, and by two brothers.

Mrs. Smith is survived by her parents, a 2 year old daughter, two sisters and a brother.

The Farmer and Sandy families were formerly residents of Weiser, Idaho, and both came to this section within the past year.

STOLEN CAR IS RECOVERED

Owner Discovers Machine at Clackamas and Brings It Home

J. M. Andresen, of Portland, proprietor of a bakery at 10 East Twenty-eighth street North, reported to the police Sunday night that he had found, at Clackamas, an automobile which had been stolen from him on August 2. The serial number on the engine had been mutilated. Mr. Andresen brought the machine to the city and took it home with the consent of the police.

Mr. Andresen had just left the police station when a young soldier, who said he was the son of Sheriff Wilson, of Oregon City, reported that the car had been stolen from him at Clackamas. The lad said that Sheriff Wilson had recovered the car from the thieves, but had been unable to find the owner.

Wants License Held Up
County Clerk Harrington is in receipt of a letter dated August 17, and signed by Mrs. J. M. Thompson, of 166 Idaho street, Portland, asking that she refuse a marriage license to Walter Clifford Thompson, of Portland, if such an application is made here. The letter states that Clifford Thompson is under 18 years of age.

WILLAMETTE OFFICE
SAFE ROBBED AGAINNO CLEW TO PERPETRATORS
OF SECOND ACT. LOOT

VALUABLE

For the second time within a month, the postoffice at Willamette was robbed on Sunday night by amateur yegmen who made away with considerable loot. Sheriff Wilson, who was notified Tuesday of the theft, spent the day in a futile attempt to clear the mystery, and was unable to ascertain the extent of the government's loss.

H. Liesman, postmaster, conducts a store in connection with the postal business. Through a window in the store the thieves gained entrance, using picks which they stole from a Southern Pacific storehouse near by. They used nitroglycerine to blow the safe, deadening the sound by piling sacked sugar upon the box. The sugar is the only loss suffered by the postmaster personally. He had placed ammonia in the strong box, thinking that should the safe be blown the fumes would discourage the robbers and save the government's possessions.

The Willamette postoffice was robbed on July 22 and between $150 and $200 worth of stamps were taken. Sheriff Wilson believes the two robberies were the work of the same persons.

OFFICER IS INJURED

Motorcycle Police Thrown from Machine by Speeders

Word was brought to Oregon City Monday that a motorcycle officer for Marion county was seriously injured Sunday when trying to arrest a speeding machine on the road between Hubbard and Aurora. After catching up with the speeders and traveling alongside them for a short distance the auto suddenly lurched to the side of the road, throwing him into the ditch and breaking his shoulder and completely demolishing the motorcycle. The auto did not stop after the accident, but kept on at high speed, and the accident occurred so suddenly that the officer was unable to get the machine's number, but the authorities are keeping a sharp lookout for it from the slight description given by the injured officer.

Harding to be Honored

Following the regular meeting of the order Multnomah lodge No. 1, A. F. and A. M., will serve a birthday dinner on Monday evening in honor of the 74th birthday anniversary of George A. Harding, one of the oldest members of the local lodge. Mr. Harding has long been prominent in the work of the Masonic order and his lodge brothers believe he is deserving of the honor of a special dinner.

Miss Dimick Weds

Word comes from Portland that on Friday, August 17, Miss Helen M. Dimick, only sister of Judge Grant B. Dimick, of this city, was united in marriage to Dr. Arthur McGinn, of Portland. They immediately left for Hubbard, where they will spend their honeymoon on the farm of Mrs. McGinn. They will make their home in Portland.

Charges Cruelty

Mrs. Mary Nye, 1538 East 8th street, Portland, filed suit for divorce against Clarence Nye, charging cruelty and non-support. They were married May 28, 1904, in Portland, Ore.

Mrs. Gracie E. Massey has filed suit against Elbert Massey for divorce. She claims desertion, and asks for the custody of a three-year-old child. They were married in February, 1913, at Portland, Ore.

New Officer Visits at Home

Cecil Koffman, who has been in training at the Presidio at San Francisco, and who received a commission as second lieutenant, is in the city for a few days visiting friends. Mr. Koffman leaves this week for American Lake, where he will be assigned to his company. He was formerly employed by the Oregon City Enterprise as bookkeeper before leaving for the officers' training camp.

Board Complimented

Miss Iva Harrington, county clerk and clerk of the local draft exemption board, has received a letter from Adjutant General George A. White in which that official has much to say in praise of the efficiency of the local board.

"Clackamas county has reason to be proud of the prompt and effective work that has been done by its board," the general says, "and the clerk is to be complimented highly."

Attempts Suicide

After attempting to do himself mortal harm by gashing himself with a dull knife and by striking himself over the head with a bottle, William Robertson, aged 56 years, was committed to the state insane asylum Monday by County Judge H. S. Anderson. Robertson had been employed here at a hotel. It was learned that similar attempts to take his own life had caused the confinement of the man in the Washington state asylum at one time.

URGENT PLEA TO CONSERVE FOODSNEW STATE COMMISSIONER
ASKS PATRIOTIC SPIRIT

FROM CITIZENS

DETAILS AVAILABLE SOON

High Prices Will Have to Come
Down and World Famine
Averted

W. B. Ayer, Oregon's newly appointed Federal Food commissioner, chosen by National Administrator Herbert C. Hoover to take charge of the conservation work in Oregon, has opened his campaign with a strong appeal for the patriotic individual help of every Oregon man, woman and child in the inauguration and support of the Hoover plan. Mr. Ayer has given out the following statement, with the urgent plea that the people of the state give it serious consideration:

"The first and most important function of the federal food administration in Oregon is to bring the people to a keen and serious realization that each individual owes a patriotic duty and is charged with a personal responsibility in assisting Herbert C. Hoover to do the great and most essential work that has been entrusted to him.

"I cannot too earnestly impress upon the minds of Oregon men and women that each must help in this crisis. What to do and how to do it will be sufficiently explained. It is the support of loyal men and women in every walk of life, every day and all the time, that we must be able to count upon. Now that our government has entered upon this necessary conservation of the Nation's food resources, it is plainly and emphatically the duty of the American people to stand solidly behind it. With the machinery already in motion, let every loyal man and woman put a shoulder to the wheel. Without the support of a united American people the food conservation plan will fall short of its purpose.

"Mr. Hoover is a splendidly able man, peculiarly fitted by natural genius, marvelous energies and unusual experience and achievement for just the work that President Wilson has assigned to him. He is being loyally assisted by an organization of capable, public-spirited and highly efficient experts, serving voluntarily and without pay. Together they have worked out in minutest detail a wonderful and far-reaching plan, designed to keep national waste at a minimum, to conserve the maximum of all food products and to feed the hungry of two continents for the duration of the war. The one essential now needed is the loyal, faithful and patient support of the American people.

"Here is the opportunity for those at home to help our soldiers in the trenches; to aid the stricken people in war-devastated Europe, to prevent hunger and misery among the less fortunate at home; to 'serve by saving.'"

"Let every patriotic citizen be zealous in this service. Let every loyal American family heed the suggestions and follow the course advised by the Federal Food commission. It will result in no privation to anyone, and in many cases actual benefit will be gained in health and well-being. Yet in the aggregate vast stores of foodstuffs will have been conserved, high prices will have been cut down and a world famine averted.

"There is no doubt that we can count upon the loyal and enthusiastic support of the women of America when they understand that in the European countries now at war the death rate of children under 2 years of age from lack of proper nutrition ranges from 68 per cent upward. No American woman will needlessly destroy food when she knows that her wastage may mean the life of one of these little ones.

"Within a very short time full details of the Federal Food commission's plans will be available to every Oregon citizen, and we hope to find staunch support in every Oregon home."

GUERNSEY BREEDERS
ORGANIZE HERE

At the Guernsey breeders' picnic, held at Redlands on the Red Wing Farm Saturday, over 200 stock men of the county effected a permanent organization to further the breeding of Guernsey cattle in Oregon. John A. Richey, of Boring, was chosen president of the new organization, and Mrs. A. I. Hughes as secretary and treasurer. On the board of directors are John L. Whalley, of Portland; H. F. Bachman, of Wilsonville, and S. S. Hutchins, Oregon City, route No. 2. Seventeen were enrolled as members of the new organization. Roy Smith received first place, and Kenneth Hughes, second, in the young people's stock judging contest held at the meeting.

BOARD ALLOWS MANY
DRAFT EXEMPTIONSDEPENDENCY IS GROUND UPON WHICH MOST CLAIMS

ARE RECOGNIZED

On Saturday afternoon, the local exemption board here considered the claims of 22 conscripted Clackamas county citizens, and six were held for further investigation, while 10 were allowed and four denied. Wendell Crowley, another petitioner, was allowed a conditional exemption with instructions to report in one year. He claimed that he had a dependent wife. Those claims allowed were William Odell, dependent wife and child; George A. Odell, dependent wife and two children; William C. Cooper, dependent wife and three children; Anton Ulsky, Russian, alien; Gottfried Stucki, Swiss, alien; Louis Napoleon Vallen, dependent, wife and child; James Lee McKenzie, dependent mother; Clarence O. Dallas, dependent wife and child; James John Parberry, dependent wife and two children.

Claims denied were those of Vincent Vidolin, dependent wife and one child; Russell C. Scramlin, dependent wife and child; Ernest J. Baurer, dependent parents; Clarence Chandler, dependent wife and religious scruples, both claims being denied.

The claims held for further investigation were those of Leslie Clark Tibbets, dependent wife and child; William Freeman, dependent wife and child, insufficient affidavit; Harry Massey, dependent wife and two children; Isaac F. Davidson, dependent wife and child; Palmer J. Lathrop, son of aged or infirm parents.

The local exemption board yesterday was recalled to consider the claims of 21 men drafted for service in the national army. Of the claims 14 were allowed and the remainder denied.

The 14 men who were granted exemption were: 1300, Harry Massey, Milwaukee; 1020, Chauncey L. Kopf, Hubbard; 2322, C. A. Kasewater, Clackamas, route 1; 1887, Louis Rudolph Nobel, Oregon City; 2124, T. G. Haines, Oswego; 2066, Peter Waznis, Oregon City; 972, George W. Card, Jennings Lodge; 1771, Stanford Cox, Estacada; 2441, Fred Schaber, Oregon City, route 5; 2238, Fred A. Wentzel, Sandy; 1264, W. R. Taylor, Milwaukee; 1922, E. L. McAllister, Oregon City; 194, Palmer Judoth, Barlow; 46, Jesse J. Burtis, Portland. Taylor is a first lieutenant in the medical corps and Burtis was found physically unfit.

Those whose claims were denied are: 2195, Hector Morrison, Oswego; 429, Raffaele Tunzi, Canby; 107, Charles W. Elmer, Bull Run; 129, Ennis Townsend, Bull Run; 1679, B. L. Francisco, Oregon City; 2438, Edward Pamperin, Sherwood.

PRISONER PRETENDS TO BE VIOLENTLY INSANE

Upon receipt of a telegram from the sheriff of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Sheriff Wilson sent Deputy Jack Frost to bring in A. Contesse, alias A. Duperette, who was reported to be at Boring. Constable Frost found the man, who was acting in a suspicious manner in that neighborhood, and brought him to Oregon City, where he is held, pending further word from the Idaho sheriff. The man is wanted on a felony charge, according to the telegram.

Contesse (or Duperette), when lodged in the county jail here, made all kinds of confessions to the sheriff, among them being the murder of two women and one man in Idaho, two women in Chicago and several other murders along the line between this city and Idaho. He spent his time, when not talking to the deputies or the sheriff, in parading up and down his cell with a paper hat and a broomstick, drilling for the army. He claims to be a German-Swiss, but the authorities here say he is Swiss. Sheriff Wilson says that the man is sane, and that he is pretending insanity here for some reason not yet known to the sheriff.

When under cross-examination by the sheriff and Deputy District Attorney Burke, after being jailed, the man claimed to be a hater of all women but his wife, and said he murdered several on that account. When searched before being locked up, a bill of lading was found upon his person for household goods, billed to Portland from Idaho, and the man claims that his family is now in Portland, but refuses to give their address.

SOLDIER TAKES BRIDE

Sergeant Todd and Miss Clinton Wed by Rev. Gilbert Here
With military features, Sergeant Jean S. Todd, of battery A, stationed at Camp Withcombe, Monday married Miss Margaret S. Clinton, of 1358 East Harrison street, Portland. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. E. Gilbert, at the Methodist church, and the couple was attended by close friends. Private W. E. Adams, in uniform, was best man, and Mrs. H. T. Whitney attended the bride.

A marriage license was issued Monday by County Clerk Harrington to Mary Block, of this county, and Henry Krieger, of 834 East Taylor street, Portland.

COLONEL HAS 15,000 MEN

Harvest of Crops Will Be First
Consideration in Dealing With Outfit

The much-advertised strike of agricultural and construction workers called for Monday by the I. W. W. in the northwest, is a fizzle, so far as Oregon is concerned. If any man struck in the state his identity has not yet been disclosed. In truth, state officials of the I. W. W. did not expect much of a showing in this state, where their efforts to get control have not been successful.

Moreover, early reports from Washington indicate that the promised strike of 55,000 workers is not materializing. The prompt action of the federal government in arresting James Rowan, district secretary for the I. W. W. at Spokane and 26 alleged members of the organization, apparently nipped the disturbance in the bud.

"The men were taken into custody because the government cannot tolerate anything that would hamper our preparation for war," said Colonel C. E. Dentler, commandant of department 1, United States army, who issued the arresting order from his headquarters in Portland. The strike call was directed to agricultural and construction workers.

"It is highly important that our crops should be harvested," continued Colonel Dentler. "They are the sources of food supplies for our army. In our work we are transporting all our equipment and food for our army in Europe. We must forward all our own food because the allies are stripped of their surplus and it is impossible for us to purchase subsistence overseas. Every regiment has at least three months' food supplies in Europe. American fields and orchards must produce more for them."

Beyond this brief statement Colonel Dentler declined to talk. Every indication points to action by him which will result in a systematic "cleaning out" of professional disturbers.

Under the war measures recently enacted by congress, the government has wide powers in situations such as the present one. There are three courses open in case the authorities decide to prosecute. The first prohibits a conspiracy to hamper the government's war program. Under the law two or more persons can enter into such a conspiracy, and a strike call such as was issued might be designated as an effort to interfere.

Back of the conspiracy statute is the law against treason. The third possible charge could be based upon the law prohibiting interference with the constitutional rights of citizens. In this the well known "strong arm" tactics of the I. W. W. slingers to compel men to strike under threats of violence would form the basis of charges.

There is little chance of the I. W. W. getting control of the situation under any circumstances. Under Colonel Dentler's command in the northwest there are approximately 15,000 men and officers who could be impressed in service. The I. W. W. prior to calling the strike claimed that about 54,000 I. W. W. would strike.

When trouble was started in the Yakima valley recently, the same boast was made, and Colonel Dentler controlled the situation with a single company of Oregon troops. At that time approximately 600 I. W. W. were arrested, and within a few days the strike was broken and industry was restored to normal.

PLAN PROPOSED TO MAKE
SCHOOLS MORE EFFICIENT

In an address before the Teachers' Training school, now being held in this city, M. S. Pittman, head of the department of rural education at Monmouth Normal school, advocated the elimination of all district school boards in the county and centralizing them into one county board, which will have charge, employing all the teachers for these districts, and fixing their salaries. Mr. Pittman said that if this was done, it would solve the question of efficiency of the rural school, and do away with wasted effort.

Local Boy Joins Navy

Word comes from Muskegon, Mich., that Harold W. Nash, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Nash, formerly of this city, has joined the navy. He took his final examination in Detroit. Mr. Nash, while residing here, was the proprietor of the Clover Leaf dairy and Mrs. Nash was for many years assistant postmaster under the present postmaster, John F. Cooke.

SHERIFF NABS BOYS
FROM REFORM SCHOOL

Because they were hatless and looked suspicious, Sheriff W. J. Wilson Tuesday evening arrested Lester Hooper and George Bevels, youths who were found to have escaped from the state reform school on Sunday night. The sheriff notified Superintendent Hale of the training school, who identified the boys as two of the three who had disappeared and sent an attendant to take the young fellows back to Salem.

Hooper, who was sent to the training school from Portland, is 16 years old and told the sheriff that he could get into any lock made, and threatened to escape again from the school if he was returned. Bevels is a strapping boy of 18 years who was committed from Lake county. The two arrested say they lost the third member of the party when they were forced to swim the Santiam in getting away from the school.

COUNCIL FACING
FUND SHORTAGESEXECUTIVE SESSION BRINGS
OUT FACT THAT MONEY

RUNS LOW

FIRE TRUCK FUND MAY GO

Aldermen Advise Library Board
To Go Easy in Spending
Appropriation

With a possible deficit in city funds of more than $1000 staring them in the face, the members of the city council gathered Monday evening in executive session to hear the report of Chairman H. M. Templeton, of the finance committee. Mr. Templeton pointed out to the aldermen that the city would be forced to draw upon a money set aside for the purchase of a fire truck to tide over the remaining months in the year unless expenditures are reduced immediately to a minimum.

The report submitted shows the possible deficit in the elevator operation fund to be $228.04, larger than any other deficit. The city will be short $100 in paying the expenses of the city attorney if the present rate of expenditure maintains. Other accounts which will suffer unless the council devises means are: Fire and water, $78.29; incandescent lights, $26.20; library account, $126.86, and taxes for which no budget was made, $498.80. The grand total is put at $1063.19. The council has figured that it will be short approximately $2980 in collections for the year and that fact only serves to complicate things for the finance committee. If this possible deficit is made up by transfer from the fire truck fund it will leave a balance of $847.72 to be applied to the deficit shortages in the several funds. This would still leave a deficit of $215.47. Because of the fact that there will be no city election this year money appropriated for that purpose, $174, may be applied to the deficit, leaving the city $141.47 in the hole after the most careful figuring and maneuvering of funds.

With the payment of improvements on Molalla avenue the city's street improvement fund carries a balance of only $1155 and a debate as to how this balance should be spent within the next five months was a feature of the meeting last night. The council seemed to agree that crosswalks in many parts of the city were more in need of improvement than streets, and that their cost should be taken from the $1155, leaving insufficient money to carry on much further improvement.

The council has shed the burden of responsibility for the expenditure of the library fund to the committee in charge of that institution through a notification sent to the committee. The library board has been advised that it has spent $978.16 and that $126.86 is the amount of the possible deficit which the council will not be responsible for.

The council voted approval of the sale of lots 1, 2, 7 and 8, in block 151, to H. E. Cross, who offers $600. The cost of keeping the lots and paying the liens upon them would cause the city to lose and the Cross transaction was popular. The property proposed for sale is on Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets between J. Q. Adams and Jackson streets.

L. ADAMS TO CLOSE
HIS FAMOUS STORE

L. Adams, known throughout Oregon as one of this county's leading merchants, surprised many friends this week when he announced his retirement from the mercantile business. For 17 years of the 30 he has spent as a merchant. Mr. Adams has been in Oregon City and has built up a splendid business and the largest store in the county. He has devoted himself to community work with as great an ardor as he has displayed in his personal business and many civic accomplishments are the practical results of his work. Mr. Adams will attend to other business interests when he completes the sale of his large stock, although he undoubtedly will remain in Oregon City.

Rather than dispose of his stock as a whole, Mr. Adams has inaugurated a plan for a closing out sale in which all goods in the large store will be reduced to as low a price as possible, thus permitting the public to take advantage of the owner's retirement.

David Jones Is Buried

The funeral of the late David Jones of Beaver Creek, who died at his home last Tuesday, was held Thursday afternoon from the family residence. Rev
