

LABOR TO REIGN ON ITS OWN DAY

ATHLETIC CARNIVAL FEATURE
OF PLANS WHICH UNIONS
HAVE OUTLINED

SPENCE WILL BE SPEAKER

Miss Esther Mrosik Elected as Queen of Labor. Many Prizes
Offered Winners

Labor and the things that are of labor are to come into their own in Oregon City on Monday, labor day. The day, in fact, has been generally given over to a celebration that will be fitting and for one long fine day those who have done so much to aid and abet these spirit and fact of prosperity will reign as the kings of old. Industry will pause in its mad rush to give those who make industry a play hour and all Oregon City will join in making labor day a success.

Plans prepared by the local labor forces call first for a great street demonstration in which the several labor organizations in the city, especially those affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, will take part. The parade is to start promptly at nine o'clock and will go from the place of its formation at Sixth and Water streets to Sixth and Main streets, thence to Fourteenth and Main streets, thence back down Main street to Canemah park, where the play will be started sharp at 11:30 o'clock.

A crowd of labor unionists from Portland will be here for the parade and for the program following. Portland is to have no special celebration this year and half of those who will enjoy the day will come to Oregon City. With the crowd will come two bands and much joy.

C. E. Spence, state grange master, has been selected by the unionists as the speaker of the day and the popular patron of husbandry is said to be already busy at his speech for the occasion. Mr. Spence has not announced his subject, but that it will be timely and interesting his hosts are assured.

As a feature of the celebration for the day, the local unions have selected a queen to reign in pomp and glory throughout the day. To Miss Esther Mrosik has fallen this distinct honor and she will do justice to the throne of labor. Miss Mrosik is a popular and fair employee of the Oregon City Manufacturing Co.

Following such preliminaries as the big street demonstration the unionists will gather at Canemah park to enjoy the extensive program their committees have arranged. Aside from the speaking and musical features a complete athletic carnival will be held, with prizes posted in each event by some one of the merchants of Oregon City.

As far as is known now the events of the athletic program will be as follows:

100-yard dash, union men only; 75-yard three-legged race, free for all; 50-yard fat man's race, 200-pounds or over; 50-yard old man's race, 50 years or over; 50-yard dash, 12 years or under; 75-yard dash, 16 to 20 years; running broad jump; 25-yard four-legged race; Ladies' races; 25-yard potato race; 75-yard dash, 115 pounds or under; 50-yard dash, 115 pounds or over; Girls' races; 60-yard dash, 14 to 20 years; 40-yard dash, 14 years or under; 25-yard potato race.

An especially interesting feature will be the tug-of-war between crews of workmen from the Crown-Willamette and the Hawley mills. A cash prize of $20 will go to the winning side. A greased pole contest will have as its goal a $5 cash prize.

From two in the afternoon until six in the evening those who do not watch the athletic events will have the privilege of dancing and dancing will be the order from seven o'clock until 11 in the evening. Prize waltzers will have a change to display their abilities for a cash prize of $5.

SEA SLUG STORIES

Thrilling Hunt of U Boats Told for Courier Readers

"Some bubbles, a greasy patch—that's all! Submarine off the star-board bow, sir. Shall I fire?" It's the story of a U boat that really was an E boat and if you are wise you will not neglect to read it.

The first of a series of stirring tales of submarine warfare, told to Courier readers by a plucky young American boy who joined the British patrol fleet and went out hunting U boats is told on another page of this issue of the Courier. This is the first of four "Sea Slug Stories," which the Courier will publish within the next few weeks. They are of that class of stories that lend a new thrill to the literature of the great war in which our own sons and brothers are now engaged.

CITY SCHOOLS OPEN AGAIN ON SEPT. 24

MR. TOOOZE SEEKS PLACES FOR PUPILS WHO MUST WORK
WAY WHILE STUDYING

That old bamboo pole will have to be laid aside and sonny boy must prepare to give his feet the final scrub of the summer. Sister will be looking for new dress materials, too, very soon, for school is to start in Oregon City on September 24. Superintendent F. J. Toozee announces the completion of plans for the school work for the year and predicts an attendance equal if not a little larger than that of last year.

The teaching staff has been rebuilt after the resignations and retirements of the summer and a competent corps will take charge of the work when it is started. The complete announcement of the courses of study for the year will be mailed out to school patrons early next week, according to Mr. Toozee.

From the number of inquiries coming from pupils who want to return to school or start their school work, Mr. Toozee has a basis for estimating the attendance. He firmly believes that the effect of the war will be almost negligible as far as total attendance in the city schools is concerned. There will be a number of the older boys missing, but their absence will be made up for in the increased attendance of the younger lads and lassies. Youthful labor is bringing top prices in the fields and factories these days, too, but that fact will call a very few from the classrooms it is believed.

Mr. Toozee is interesting himself especially at this time in securing employment in the city for boys and girls of school age who will be unable to pursue their studies unless they have some work to do in order to pay for their board and room. Children coming to the high school from a distance will be unable to pay their keep in addition to the slight expenses incident to their courses unless they can find homes.

The superintendent has a number of inquiries from girls and boys who would be glad to work for their board and room before and after school hours, and asks that those interested in seeing such children get through school communicate with him direct.

ENDEAVOR WORKERS GATHER AT WICHITA

CAMP LIFE AND INTERESTING
PROGRAM ATTRACT MANY TO STATE CONVENTION

The third annual Oregon Christian Endeavor institute will start tomorrow at Wichita in this county and will last through four days. The institute this year has attracted much attention from Endeavor workers throughout the state and those interested preface the most important convention in recent history, not only because of the importance of the program for the convention itself, but because of the importance of the work that is to be outlined for the year.

The committee in charge of the convention at Wichita comprises Miss Shirlee Swallow of Oregon City, chairman; Miss Hazel Neil, Portland, registration, and Dr. Roy A. Prudden, Oregon City, chairman of the Clackamas division. The main purpose of this year's institute, according to the committee, will be to adopt the new program and then to explain its operation.

Accommodations for the visitors who are expected at the little Wichita settlement have presented quite a problem to those in charge. But this has been satisfactorily solved by securing every available room in the community and by advising the members who will attend to prepare themselves to enjoy a few days of camp life. This means only that they may bring bedding and tents, if possible, and sleep outdoors, for food will be supplied in plentiful portions on the grounds.

Besides the meetings of the six state union committees, both Multnomah and Clackamas counties are planning to hold additional committee meetings of their own workers. Thus there may be eight or ten committee meetings at the same time during some periods—just as a college has Greek, Latin, English, history, etc., classes going on at the same time. In fact, the institute this year is a regular college with a schedule of classes that demand real work and attention. The Multnomah and Clackamas unions will make special announcements concerning their meetings.

Objects to Marriage License

County Clerk Harrington Monday morning received a letter from Mrs. S. E. McCollough, asking that she not issue a marriage license to Forrest McCollough, because the young man is a minor and is in the military service of the nation. The mother says she disapproves of the marriage and that her son is about to be called to the front.

CLUB OBJECTS TO DELAY ON LOCKS

SEND STRONG RESOLUTION TO GOVERNMENT TELLING OF INTERFERENCE

RIVER CARRIERS ACCUSED

Says Competition Will be Hampered if Work on Lower Lock is Not Completed

In an attempt to offset the efforts of certain agencies to cause a delay in the work on the lower chamber of the government locks at this city, the board of governors of the Commercial club have forwarded strong resolutions to congress asking that the work go forward without delay.

The government has equipment and crew here for the work, and an $80,000 emergency appropriation has been made. The work was supposed to start on September 9, but it appears to the club that the Oregon City Transportation company is making an attempt to stop the work for the winter at least. In its resolution the board says:

Whereas, water transportation on the Willamette river has been hindered for many years by reason of the depth of the water in Lock No. 1, Oregon City locks; and

Whereas, strong water competition to points south of Oregon City is for this reason prevented; and

Whereas, the Congress of the United States has this year, through the efforts of Congressman W. C. Hawley appropriated the sum of $80,000, to correct the fault; and

Whereas, the government has a crew and equipment now ready to prosecute this work; and

Whereas, efforts are being made to prevent the United States engineers from doing the work provided for by said appropriation for reasons which do not appear to be for the greatest good to the greater number; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, that the Commercial club of Oregon City at a meeting of the board of governors, duly convened, strongly recommends that the United States engineers this season do the work as scheduled and for which appropriation has been made by the Congress of the United States; and be it further

Resolved, that a certified copy of these resolutions and resolutions be forwarded to the said United States engineers, at Portland; to our Congressmen at Washington; and to the various Commercial clubs between Oregon City and Salem, Oregon, requesting that like action be taken by them.

FANATIC TAKEN

With Curly Hair Down Back Man
Tells Odd Tale

Bending under the weight of heavy camp pack, with long, curly hair streaming down his back, Jacob Sutter, a derelict and alleged religious fanatic, was picked up in an exhausted condition by Sheriff W. J. Wilson Tuesday. Sutter suffered from exposure and from lack of nourishment to such an extent that for some time he could not gather energy and wits to tell his story.

Sutter claims to have clashed with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sutter of Portland, on religious questions, and that the treatment he received in consequence forced him to leave home. He claims no name for his peculiar religious beliefs, but they have such a hold on him that his mind is affected, officials believe. Sutter says he is 31 years old and has not cut his hair for six years.

MILL TO GIVE SPRUCE

Hawley Permits Government to Select Logs for Airplane Stock

The Hawley Pulp & Paper Co., will turn over to the government all spruce timber in its possession which will be of value for airplane construction, it was learned yesterday after a conference between mill officials and P. A. Dooty of Portland, appointed to appraise the holdings of the company. W. P. Hawley, Sr., authorized a representative to accompany government agents on a tour of inspection. The group will go to those places along the Columbia where the company has some 7,000,000 feet of spruce in the water and will select any that is of value to the government.

Charges Him with Laziness

Nellie Calif Monday brought suit in Judge Campbell's court for divorce from Erwin S. Calif, to whom she was married in this city on January 11, 1907. Mrs. Calif charges that she has been forced to work almost continually to support her husband, who is too lazy to work. She also charges him with cruelty. She asks $75 as costs of the action.

County Clerk Iva Harrington Monday issued a marriage license to Elsie Russell and Albert N. Hulet of Willamina, Ore.

HAWLEY'S SPRUCE IS WANTED BY U.S. ARMY

MILL PRESIDENT TO HOLD SUP-PLY FOR TWO MONTHS.
AGENT COMING.

In response to a telegraph request from the headquarters of the signal corps of the army, W. P. Hawley, Sr., president and general manager of the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, has announced that the company will use no more spruce timber in its operations here during the next two months. The object of Mr. Hawley is to assist the government in any way possible and his action in naming such a length of time was to give the signal corps every advantage in securing the spruce timber of Oregon. The telegram from Washington, signed by Charles R. Slig, of the signal corps, said:

"The urgent requirements of the United States and allies demand every foot of airplane spruce available. We would like to assist in arranging with you whereby your operation would use the low grade of spruce and would request that you do not utilize any spruce logs in your stock that will produce airplane stock until a representative of this division can inspect the same. Kindly wire immediately if we can arrange for our representative to personally take this matter up with you."

Mr. Hawley immediately wired Washington as follows:

"We will be pleased to take this matter up with you and co-operate with your representative. Will not use any of our stock of spruce for the next two months."

F. A. Dooty, of Portland, has been designated by the signal corps of the U. S. army to handle the matter of spruce timber conservation with the company, according to the following telegram received by W. P. Hawley, Sr., Friday:

"Accept thanks for willingness to co-operate. F. A. Dooty, Portland, will take the matter up with you as our representative."

Many Go to Intake

Although the picnic party to the South Fork intake of the Oregon City water supply did not call out the expected number of citizens on Tuesday, the 60 who did go thoroughly enjoyed the trip. Automobiles left the Commercial club here in the early morning and returned late in the afternoon. Those who undertook the trip walked a considerable distance after arriving at the end of the road in order to get right in to the intake.

INTIMATE TALES FROM A ROMANTIC NORTHLAND

(M. J. Brown)

From Seattle to where they charge 25 cents for a package of Durham, a shine, a shave, or a smile, is some change (two-bit change) within a week.

"Every time you take a drink things look different," said a fellow in the hotel, who was counting his change and studying his schedule. "If some one will figure out for me how I am going to last until I board the boat in Nome, I'll give him a steady assignment on my ways and means committee."

A pair of globe pacers on the way down the Yukon were protesting to me that they hadn't spent a dollar since they left White Horse. "There is nothing to buy; the only way you can get rid of money is to throw it overboard."

After a day's stay in Dawson he told me he was hunting for the mounted police to protect him from the stalkers. "A man insisted on my buying him a drink for pointing out the direction of the Regina hotel."

And such are hang-over conditions of the once-famous Klondike town. But Dawson is 500 miles ahead of the story.

When you leave Seattle for the north land you will see a different line of ship passengers than you ever mixed with before.

When you get up through the sound cities into Alaska, the character keeps changing.

Out of Seattle a bunch of tourists is aboard, "going to Alaska," and the very limit of 95 per cent of their tickets is White Horse.

They drop off in the Alaska towns, see the grave of "Soapy" Smith, have some one point out the ruin of the famous Treadwell mine (which recently caved in), visit a cannery, see a totem pole and get soaked proper at the curio stores, then take the first boat back.

A few go over the pass to White Horse, and then they are seen no more on the trip, and from there on, for 2,000 miles down the Yukon the passengers are concentrated "sour dough" boys who "outside" for the winter, "tiresome tourists" and the men who have some reason or get back to the "inside." I left the boat at Skagway, a. m., and wandered down Man's Town—up and down main street, where tradition says have 1500 people. In a couple of hours

ROAD PAVING IS FINISHED EARLY

ATTENTION WILL BE GIVEN TO WORK ON PACIFIC HIGH-WAY FOR PRESENT

COST HAS INCREASED SOME

Four Miles of Hard Surface Were Applied by County Road Gangs
During Summer

County officials have announced the completion of the road program for the year with the exception of a stretch between Island and the Milwaukie city limits on the River road. With the completion of this road the county will have paved four miles this year, an amount far less than was contemplated and less than would be done were it not for the fact that grading on the Pacific highway will demand all the time and attention of the road department.

The paving of the River road to the city limits of Milwaukie has started and the county is making an effort to direct all traffic over the East 82nd street road during the progress of the work. The money left in the county road paving fund is sufficient for considerable more work, it is pointed out, but the fact that the subgrading of roads to be paved by the state will be paid for by the county this extra money must be diverted to that use. Work done by the county this year cost considerably less than $1.00 a yard, according to figures in the county court's records. A piece of nearly one mile from the Multnomah county line to a connection with the pavement laid to meet East 82nd street last year, cost the county 92 cents a yard. A half mile between McCormick's corner and the S. P. crossing on East 82nd street cost 82 cents a yard. The highest price paid was for that paying between Clackamas corners and the E. P. Dedman farm, south of Clackamas station, a distance of 14 miles, which cost $1.05 a yard. Long hauls and extra work brought up the cost on this piece of work. The cost is somewhat higher than any paid last year, but those in charge of the work claim the increasing cost of materials and the necessity for hauling materials a greater distance are responsible for the added costs.

FIVE TEACHERS ARE SELECTED BY BOARD

HARDING'S PLACE NOT FILLED.
GRADE SCHOOL POSITIONS
TAKEN BY GIRLS

The city school board Tuesday night elected five teachers to fill vacancies on the staffs of the several city schools for the present year. The vacancies were caused by resignations in each case. P. D. Forbes, organizer of the industrial arts course in the local high school, and who resigned to accept a position with the Crown-Willamette Paper Co., is to be succeeded by Walter W. Kimmel of Lebanon. Kimmel graduated from the University of Oregon in 1913 and took a special course at the O. A. C.

Miss Lorene Parker resigned to accept appointment as an agent in the conservation work of the state, will turn over her work in domestic science and art to Miss Lydia Doolittle, an O. A. C. graduate and last year instructor in the Wallowa high school. Miss Eleanor M. Clinton of Pasadena, Cal., will take the place of A. A. Wagner at the head of the courses in science. Mr. Wagner has joined the army. Miss Clinton is a graduate of Bryn Mawr and recently has been teaching at the St. Nicholas school in Seattle.

Another Pasadena young woman, Miss Elizabeth Ellison, graduate of Pratt institute, will be instructor in drawing in place of Miss Cecelia Spotts. Miss Florence Walker, daughter of a prominent family at Independence, and a graduate with the last class from the state normal school, was selected by the board to fill the vacancy in the staff of the grade schools. Miss Elsie Yoder and Miss Margaret Neilson resigned from the grade school staff.

A successor to Lloyd O. Harding, instructor in history at the high school, has not been selected as yet. Mr. Harding has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the officers' reserve corps and has been assigned to duty at American Lake.

STUDENT GETS $12.90
CHECK FOR RATIONS

A check for $12.90 has been mailed from the office of President W. J. Kerr, of the Oregon Agricultural college, to Hurley Fellows, of Oregon City. The check was drawn by the quartermaster of the U. S. department at San Francisco to cover commutation of rations for the time spent by Mr. Fellows in the reserve officers' training corps during the second semester at the college.

The corps was not established at O. A. C. until February, 1917, so that the sum represents the ration allowance for but a part of one semester. The corps will be maintained throughout the coming college year, and the sum allowed for rations will be correspondingly larger for each student taking the advanced course, which is open to all students who have had two years of military training. These students will also be allowed free by the government complete uniform of coat, breeches, leggings, cap, pair cotton breeches, service hat with cord, coat and collar ornaments, pair russet shoes, and two flannel shirts. The commutation allowance is about $9 a month. Students taking the course but lacking two years' training will receive the clothing and equipment, but not the ration allowance.

Fifty students received checks from the department for first payment, in amounts running from $1.50 to $45, aggregating $1381.20. The department also recommends military scholarships in the way of "small monetary allowance" to be available for advanced students showing special aptitude for military service as officers. Relations with the college will be much closer than ever before, and instead of one inspection annually a number will be arranged. The college is cooperating by offering courses in technical subjects with a view to their military importance.

PROTESTS DELAY

Representative Hawley on Monday protested to the chief of engineers against granting any delay in construction of the Oregon City locks, for which $80,000 was recently appropriated. Delay, he learned, was being urged by a local transportation company. Mr. Hawley insisted that the present low stage of the river afforded an ideal time to push this work and was given to understand that the work will proceed without interruption.

Hawley Builds Plant

A temporary plant for wood preparing work is said to be planned by the Hawley Pulp & Paper Co., for immediate construction on its property on Fourth street between Main street and the Southern Pacific tracks. W. P. Hawley, Sr., estimates the cost of the proposed temporary structure at $20,000. The reason for a temporary structure, Mr. Hawley says, is the company's desire to avoid any expensive or unnecessary work during the period of the war.

SOLDIER DROWNS IN RAPID WATER

SERGEANT MEYER, GOOD SWIM-
MER, BRAVES RAPID CLACK-AMAS; GOES UNDER

BODY FOUND BY COMRADES

Roseburg Youth, Member of Hospital
Corps, Was Close Friend to Wilson

Caught in a whirlpool where his ability as a swimmer was of no avail, Sergeant Max W. Meyer, of the 3d Oregon hospital corps, was drowned in the Clackamas river near the old Erickson tavern late Friday afternoon. Meyer attempted to swim the rapid stream while scores of guardsmen looked on. He was making his way successfully until the current drew him into a whirlpool and he disappeared almost immediately.

Meyer, who was 24 years old, was a resident of Roseburg, where Dr. R. E. Hunt, his father-in-law and nearest relative, resides. He had gone to the banks of the Clackamas river to bathe with a group of companions, and is said to have violated strict orders against swimming the river. When Lieutenants W. B. Jackson and R. D. Daniels arrived at the bathing place with members of battery A, they found a group of soldiers in the water, and Meyer was already in the act of swimming across the stream. The officers restrained volunteers who would have gone to the rescue of the unfortunate soldier, owing to the great danger they faced.

After securing boats and thoroughly dragging the river, the man's comrades late Friday evening gave up the search for the body, because of darkness. The search was taken up again early Saturday morning, and within a short time the body was taken from the river near the place where the man disappeared. Sheriff Wilson and Coroner W. E. Hempstead were called immediately and spent the morning on the case.

The body was found floating in the river near the spot where it disappeared. A searching party including Sergeants White and Powers took Sheriff W. J. Wilson of this county, and Sergeant White and Powers, took it from the river. The remains were brought to the Holman parlors in this city and on Sunday afternoon were sent to Roseburg for burial. Meyer had been a close friend to Kent Wilson of the medical corps and only two evenings before his tragic death had been a dinner guest at the Wilson home here.

MOOSE INITIATE BIG CLASS OF APPLICANTS

With members of the Portland lodge occupying prominent stations and a uniformed drill team assisting, while a good-sized delegation was in attendance from that city, the local Moose lodge held the biggest meeting in years in its new home at the corner of Main and Eleventh streets Monday night, when a class of 40 candidates was taken into membership.

The local members and candidates, headed by the Moose band, formed in line at the Electric hotel and greeted the Portland contingent upon its arrival at 8:30 o'clock, when they marched to the lodge hall, where the work was exemplified with one candidate, Dr. Roy Prudden being the one honored. Following the ritualistic work, a social session was employed, with refreshments, and short talks were made by visiting members, among them being George Orton and George Funk, past dictators of Portland lodge, Allen R. Joy and T. R. Radcliffe, district deputy director. Each speaker congratulated the local lodge on its new home, saying that the Oregon City lodge occupied a prominent position in the history of the order, and predicted that it would even achieve greater things.

Otto Shindler, a past dictator of the local lodge, filled the dictator's station during the opening and closing exercises of the session, and announced that the new lodge hall would be dedicated during the early part of October, when prominent Moose would be present from all over the state. Mr. Shindler, who is stationed at Vancouver, Wash., with the army hospital corps, met with his brother Moose for the first time in a number of weeks.

The class was secured through the efforts of H. H. Bower, district organizer.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Charles W. Fensler, corporal in the coast artillery, of Myrtle Point, and Barbara E. Burr of Clackamas, and to Wilbur R. Wilmot of Oswego and Lucile Stone of the same place. Corporal Fensler and Miss Burr were married late yesterday afternoon by County Judge H. S. Anderson.
