

BARGAINING WILL MEAN SOLUTION, SAYS LEWIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 4.—It would be a simple matter for the government and the coal operators to get machinery in motion for the joint system of bargaining to effect a wage agreement in the coal strike, declared John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mineworkers, today in the first formal statement he has made to the public since the walkout became effective.

"The machinery of the joint system of bargaining in the mining industry is intact. It would be a simple matter for the government and the coal operators to again set it in motion to negotiate a wage agreement," says Lewis' brief statement.

This is virtually the only comment the miners' executive has made on the critical coal situation since the strike went into effect last Friday at midnight.

FOURTH DAY OF STRIKE

About 400,000 soft coal miners reported out.

They demand regular work, a 30-hour week and 60 per cent increase over present pay.

Latest official estimates of the purchasing power of the dollar, as compared to July, 1914, is about 57 cents.

Latest official estimates of the purchasing power of the dollar, as compared to November, 1917, when the new wage scale went into effect, about 80 cents.

Operators are willing to arbitrate if strike is called off.

Federal government is willing to appoint arbitrators if men return to the mines, thus putting themselves again within the law.

Child Injured When Dynamite Explodes

Playing with a piece of dynamite which he found near the river bank, Alfred Chandler, the little son of Rev. C. H. L. Chandler, pastor of the Episcopal church here, Monday morning had his right hand badly hurt when the dynamite exploded. He was taken to the Oregon City hospital, where three of his fingers were amputated just above the first knuckle.

This is the second accident of this nature to occur, and an investigation will be started to find out who the careless workmen are that leaves the explosives around for innocent children to pick up.

Two other dynamite caps were found in the pockets of young Chandler.

TWO COMETS OBSERVED

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 4.—The Harvard observatory announced last night that it had received cable messages, one from Kyoto, Japan, and the other from Paris, reporting observations on two comets.

MISSION BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS AT CONFERENCE

With delegates present from the Woman's Board of Missions for the Pacific, the first session of the state conference of the Congregational church of Oregon opened Tuesday morning at First Congregational church, Eleventh and Main streets.

The following officers were elected by the board: Mr. Bell T. Hoge, president; first vice president, Mrs. Warren Morse; second vice president, Mrs. H. G. Crocker; third vice president, Mrs. N. B. Pegg; treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Phillips; home secretary, Mrs. Hale Bliss; foreign secretary, Mrs. Eleanor Palmer; secretary of literature, Mrs. J. R. Knodell; auditor, Mrs. W. D. Clark; secretary of Young People's work, Miss Jessie Hoge; assistant secretary of Young People's work, Mrs. Pratt; superintendent of cradle roll, Mrs. Lawrence Brocoby; box secretary, Miss Lillian Murdoch; thank offering secretary, Dr. Mary Parham.

Rev. E. T. Allen, who recently returned from Persia, spoke interestingly of the mission work being done in that country. The war, he said, had brought about appalling conditions in Persia, with the result that deaths from preventable diseases reached into the thousands. During the course of five months, he stated, the mission workers cared for 15,000 people.

Mrs. W. R. Phillips spoke of the campaign in which the woman's board has pledged itself to raise $125,000 by 1923. She gave an outline of how these funds are to be secured.

At the afternoon session of the conference Rev. Dr. William T. McElveen, the new minister of the First Congregational church of Portland, spoke on the need of missions. He said in part:

"The church which does not believe in missions does not believe in Christ. The only religion that will do anything toward erecting the life of a church is the religion that prompts a church to do something to help the lives of others. If you have no religion to give away, you have no religion that is worth while keeping."

At the opening service Dr. George W. Hinman of San Francisco, made an address on "The Centennial of Missions in Hawaii." Rev. Herbert G. Crocker, pastor of the local church, presided at the devotional services.

Rev. Arthur J. Sullens, state superintendent of home missions, will talk on "The Work of the Denomination as Reflected by the National Council," at the morning session today. There will also be an address by Rev. Ralph McAfee, of Portland, secretary of the Interchurch movement.

SHANTUNG PROVISIO FAILS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Hope for speedy action on the peace treaty brightened up again today, when the senate voted down one amendment, agreed to dispose of two more tomorrow and renewed formal discussion of methods to hasten consideration of reservations.

The amendment disposed of today was one by Republican Leader Lodge to strike from the treaty entirely the Shantung provision. The vote was 41 to 26, the proposal falling by the votes of virtually the same senators who several days ago defeated the committee amendment on that subject.

Man Injured in Auto Smash May Recover

The body of L. C. Smith, traveling salesman for the Simmons Glove company, who died from injuries received on Monday morning when an automobile in which he was riding was struck by an electric car, was removed to Portland this afternoon, where the funeral services are to be held.

Mr. Smith, in company with Morris Fox, of Portland, were to make their usual business trip to Portland, and while nearing the crossing at Glen Echo an electric car approached. The men believing they would be stalled on the track gave their machine more speed in order to cross in safety. It was then that the car struck the automobile, which was thrown up against the Glen Echo depot.

D. T. Meldrum, of Meldrum station, county surveyor of Clackamas county, who was standing at the station waiting for the car for Oregon City, was struck by some of the timbers of the building and thrown to the ground. He was engaged in conversation with Charles Moran, of Glen Echo, and he, too, was bruised by the timbers. The two gave assistance to the injured men.

Dr. Mount, who is attending Mr. Fox at the Oregon City hospital, reported this evening that the man's condition is favorable, and is much improved since Monday afternoon, although several ribs are broken and his skull and back are badly injured.

Interest is High in Game on Saturday

With between four and five hundred University of Oregon rooters and the Lemon-Yellow band and a bunch of Washington State college supporters and likewise the Pullman band coming to attend the annual gridiron clash between the two institutions, Portland will take on the aspects of a college football town.

The Lemon-Yellow rooters will arrive on a special train and will parade the streets prior to the contest. A number of the alumni of both institutions will be on hand to witness the struggle for coast gridiron supremacy.

E. M. Howell Sells Valuable Property

One of the important land sales closed during the week was a ten acre tract of land owned by E. M. Howell on the scenic Clackamas river. This was one of the most valuable pieces of land in that section, and it brought about $500 per acre. H. H. Jones, of the Jones Lumber company of Portland, purchased the land. He will build a handsome summer home there.

Mr. Howell has retained the old home site, and will probably dispose of that in the future. This consists of 15 acres of land.

MANY INJURIES LISTED

Something is wrong with the average 1919 football player. Eastern coaches have been led to this belief after star upon star has joined the disabled list. None has been injured critically, but from the number of pulled muscles, strained tendons and slight bone fractures it seems that the athletes don't have the power of resistance they used to have.

The cause is a puzzle. Either the boys returning from France have brought back too much Yankee "punch" or the hardships of army experience have undermined them physically.

TIME LOCK INSTALLED

SALEM, Nov. 3.—An automatic time lock of the latest design yesterday was installed on the vault that holds the valuable records of the state insurance department.

STRIKE PLANNED OVER NATION BY RAILROAD MEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—An open challenge to the government to prevent a railroad strike by the exercise of the Lever act, injunction proceedings of any kind or the passage of anti-strike legislation, is made by the railroad unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, representing 1,600,000 members, in official circles about to be issued, calling for a strike ballot in a movement for a nation-wide strike in event of anti-strike legislation is passed by congress.

The circular calls on "ever local lodge" this time to unite its forces with one common purpose in view and it is of "accepting the challenge laid down to us to prevent the establishment of a condition that would mean involuntary servitude."

All organized labor will be asked to join in a nationwide strike now being planned. The circulars calling for strike ballots will be issued by all organizations represented on the executive board of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

That a general railroad strike to enforce wage demands involving nearly 2,000,000 workers in the railroad crafts and brotherhoods is imminent while the coal strike is on is indicated by statements of officials of the railroad crafts.

Boost Home Town, Speaker Advises

"Next to the fellow who takes a gun is the man who takes a grouch," said A. G. Clark, manager of the Associated Industries of Oregon, at the noon-day luncheon of the Commercial club Live Wires Tuesday.

Mr. Clark's talk conveyed a wealth of statistical information of an industrial character, and he laid particular stress upon the value of the payroll dollar. The speaker urged his hearers to have unbounded faith in their home town and paid his compliments to the obstructionist.

"If we could harness the energy of the knocker," declared Mr. Clark, "the problem of cheap light and power would be solved."

Man Injured When Machine Overturns

Thrown from his automobile when the car skidded and overturned, C. I. Stafford, a local merchant, was taken to the Oregon City hospital, where he was found to be suffering with a broken rib.

He was on his way to Portland Monday in his Overland touring car. Going down the steep grade just beyond Jennings Lodge, Stafford put on the brakes. It was then that the machine skidded and turned over. Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Mighelies, were also in the car, but both escaped injury.

NEEDLES DESTROY SIGHT

PASCO, Wash., Nov. 3.—Ruth, the little year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hank McClelland, lost her sight when, while playing with some knitting needles, she fell and one of the needles struck her in the eye.

ROAD BOND PLAN FOR COUNTY IS CONTESTED

There is no prospect of the campaign for the road bonds in Clackamas county being dull, as Harvey G. Starkweather, of Milwaukie, candidate on the democratic ticket at the last election for the nomination for governor and manager of the Broadway building at Portland, has thrown down the gauntlet in opposition to the bonding plan.

All of the paving laid in Clackamas county since the paving program was initiated five years ago is in Mr. Starkweather's district. As the main roads in that district have been practically completed, the territory was created as a separate district, it being proposed to complete the hard surfaced roads in the Milwaukie section next year with the general road paving fund, using all of the $1,700,000 of the bond money in the other 10 road districts, where no hard surface has been laid. Mr. Starkweather has issued the following statement:

"My attention has been called to a rumor that has been circulating in parts of Clackamas county that I am supporting the $1,700,000 road bond issue now pending before the voters. In this connection I desire to say that I believe there are some objectionable features which make the proposed measure the most obnoxious, unfair and dishonest of any that have appeared on the ballot in recent years.

"Believing this to be true, I shall oppose the measure whenever and wherever there is an opportunity, and in order that both sides may be presented, I would like to debate the issue with the gentlemen who are promoting the bill, and I would suggest that meetings be arranged in Milwaukie, Oswego, Oak Grove, Jennings Lodge, Gladstone, Clackamas, Oregon City and elsewhere in the county."

While Mr. Starkweather's bill of particulars has not been presented, it is presumed his opposition is based, to some extent, upon the fact that none of the roads under the bonding act are to be placed in his district, already well paved at the expense of the county as a whole.

Man Is Injured as Result of Machine Accident at Plant

Fred Graham, of the firm of Graham Brothers, of Canby, is suffering from injuries received Thursday while engaged in oiling an engine that was being installed to operate the water system. Mr. Graham's clothing became caught in the revolving machinery, and he was injured internally. He was brought to Oregon City by Dr. Frank Mount, and is now in the Oregon city hospital.

The power house supplying the city of Canby with water was destroyed by fire Monday evening of this week, and he was installing a temporary engine, when the accident occurred.

Booze and Labor

Labor unrest is due to prohibition, declares Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an authorized newspaper interview.

Mr. Gompers has directed the activities of the national organization of which he is chief for many years. We had always supposed he was a man of unusual intelligence, but we were mistaken. The unrest of labor cannot be attributed to a single cause but it is foolish for any man to assert that the removal of booze would be followed by strikes and consequent disorders. Gompers does not stop there, but follows up his statement with the charge that the prevalence of Bolshevism is the result of a dry country.

Once active and vigorous, Gompers is becoming a doddering old man. The prohibition question has become a running sore in his mind, and he is unwilling to accept the judgment of congress and of most of the legislatures of our states. It is rumored that it was Mr. Gompers who influenced President Wilson in his recent veto of the prohibition law, which a Republican congress passed over the executive head.

The laboring people of the country are not benefited by Mr. Gompers' attitude. His statements are silly and untrue. It was only a few years ago that Oregon City had 16 saloons and 75 per cent of the mill checks were cashed in them, instead of going to the butcher and the grocer and the wife and children at home. The saloon is a social evil and will never appear again in this country.

Walker Is Urged as Chairman for League

Dow V. Walker is Oregon's candidate for national chairman of the American Legion. Assurances have been given that other coast states will support the Beaver candidate and many eastern delegates have promised Portland men that they will support the candidate of the far west. The national convention will be held at Minneapolis, November 10, 11 and 12.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Orders have been issued local unions of the railway organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor to take a strike vote in the event that anti-strike clauses of the Cummins bill for the return of the railroads is adopted by congress. E. C. Davidson, secretary of the International Machinists' Union, announced today.

LANE BACKS PLAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The two young sons by the second marriage of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who lost his life in the sinking of the Lusitania, were made the richer today by $721,317 each through the filing in the deputy state controller's office of a supplemental report by the appraiser of the estate.
