MAN HURT AT WATER PLANT IMPROVING AT OREGON CITY HOSPITAL

CANBY, Nov. 5.—Fred Graham, who met with injuries on Friday morning of last week when his clothing became caught in the machinery at the city water plant, is improving at the Oregon City hospital.

Graham was installing the machinery to supply the city with water when in some manner the clothing caught. He was swung in the air, his body being battered as the wheels revolved at a terrific speed. After a number of revolutions, the body became lodged in such a manner that the wheels were prevented from further action.

Had it not been for M. J. Lee, who was sleeping on his screen porch, Graham would have died. Lee heard the groanings of the man, and hastened to the spot in company with C. H. Sheldon. The two men extricated Graham from his perilous position. He was suffering from internal injuries and a broken rib.

There was some trouble in securing a physician. Dr. Dedman was out of the city on another case, and Dr. Giesy was unable to reach the city, owing to the illness of his wife. Dr. Frank Mount, of Oregon City, was finally secured. He hastened to Canby and attended the injured man, who was later removed to the hospital.

Graham recently arrived here with his mother and brother, and has engaged in the business for several months.

New Bus Installed for Canby Traffic

CANBY, Nov. 5.—A large and handsome upholstered bus installed on the Canby-Oregon City run on Tuesday is being well patronized. The bus will accommodate about 30 people. The seats are arranged like a car, each seat to hold two passengers, while one extends across the rear. M. J. Lee finds this a much better vehicle to carry his passengers during the winter season than that one used early in the season.

A new frame has been installed on the bus, and the wheels, which are valued at $200 apiece, makes this a desirable conveyance for the run.

He will now make his permanent home here.

Mr. Sandness has also sold the Armstrong farm consisting of 113 acres to Lee Wah, a Chinese, who will engage in the hop industry. Lee Wah formerly operated a hop ranch near Aurora, having leased the place, but this having expired, decided to purchase a farm of his own. The price was $13,600, cash.

Molalla River Rises and Causes Damage

CANBY, Nov. 4.—The Molalla river has commenced to go on one of its rampages. For during the last twenty-four hours the water has risen considerably, and has already done considerable damage, especially along the water front near Canby, where construction work was under way on the new bridge structure for the Pacific highway. The crew had worked diligently endeavoring to complete the necessary work along the water front before the fall rain set in, and much of the work accomplished was washed away by the high water on Monday afternoon and evening. The engine used in the construction work has been anchored in order to save this. The water has been steadily advancing toward the banks, and fear is felt that much more damage will result before the rain ceases.

The crew of men employed on the construction work were laid off on Monday evening, until favorable weather when the work will be resumed. The engineer and foreman are still at Canby looking after the interests of the highway commission.

Trees and logs were floating down the Molalla river Monday and today. One of the trees measuring about 200 feet was carried down the stream.

Much damage has been done to the railroad bridge near Molalla, and railroad service has been held up temporarily.

To Enforce Dry Law Under Spy Act Terms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—By unanimous vote the senate judiciary committee today declined to recommend repeal of the espionage act. Repeal bills of Senator France of Maryland and Poindester of Washington, Republicans, were ordered reported adversely.

The committee decided it was impracticable to repeal the law because it included search warrant and other provisions necessary for the enforcement of prohibition.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. At Saloniki.

The veritable mountains of relief supplies turned out by the millions of chapter workers during the war made the American Red Cross one of the biggest "manufacturing concerns" in the world, with great warehouse space at scores of strategic points all around the globe.

One of the biggest distribution centers was at Saloniki, Greece, and in this picture Bulgarian prisoners of war are seen there unloading a Red Cross cargo of 2,300 boxes from a French transport. At the right is seen one of the American Red Cross canons, fleets of which were used in rushing relief to points where the suffering was greatest.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS. Home Service.

One of the finest constructive activities of the American Red Cross in the war was Home Service in the United States, the friendly connecting link between the soldier far from home and his loved ones. This branch of the work which under the peace program of the Red Cross will be expanded to benefit all who need the assistance it can provide, is directed by scientifically trained social workers. Since instituted Home Service has assisted 300,000 soldiers' and sailors' families. This photograph shows one of the innumerable Home Service information bureaus where service men and their families could bring their problems for solution.

RECORD VOTE IS GIVEN COOLIDGE BY BAY STATE

More complete returns on the off-year elections Tuesday in several states did not change the outcome in any important respect.

The smashing victory of Calvin Coolidge, republican, in Massachusetts, reelected to succeed himself as governor by the largest vote ever polled by a gubernatorial candidate in the state, shared honors with an almost equally decisive "dry" victory in Ohio as the most striking result of the voting.

As a possible indication of the drift of popular sentiment preparatory to the national elections next year, Tuesday's results were being closely scrutinized by party leaders.

Kentucky was swept into the republican fold in the governorship fight, but today's return made it certain that New Jersey had reverted to the democratic column. Maryland, the only other state in which there was a serious contest for the governorship, was still in doubt with the democratic candidate leading.

Local issues complicated the fight in at least two states. In Massachusetts the police strike issue in Boston was said to underlie the purely party division at the polls.

Richard H. Long, defeated democratic candidate, had appealed to the labor vote, while Governor Coolidge stood squarely on his record in dealing with the Boston police strike and rolled up a plurality of almost 125,000 votes.

In New Jersey, Edward I. Edwards, democrat, running on a "wet" platform, had an apparently safe lead of almost 12,000 over Newton A. K. Bugbee, republican, but the legislature will be republican by a narrow margin.

PERSHING OPPOSED TO BIG ARMY IN COUNTRY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—In many important respects dissenting from the program recommended by the war department and the general staff, General Pershing told the military committee of congress today that 300,000 men, raised entirely by voluntary enlistment, should be the outside figure considered for a standing army.

He favored universal military training to provide an emergency reserve, but thought general educational work should be combined with it and military discipline "somewhat relaxed," so that the system would be in complete harmony with democratic institutions. He fixed six months as the training period.

The department had recommended an army of more than 500,000, with a system of universal training not embracing the educational feature. Its recommendation for a training period was three months.

Departing again from the expressed views of the department, the general declared army purchasing should be reorganized in a new bureau apart from the quartermaster corps and that a separate department should be organized to coordinate and supervise military, naval and commercial aeronautics. He considered the department's request for 231 general staff officers excessive, and made clear his opposition to any effort by the staff to extend its authority into the details of the department bureaus and of the line.
