FIFTY-THIRD YEAR—No. 46.

OREGON CITY, OREGON, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1919.

ESTABLISHED 1866

CITIZENS WILL MAKE PROTEST ON BUILDING

Vigil of the Citizens of the Clackamas county, Oregon, will be held at the building of the city council on Tuesday, at 8 o'clock, to protest against the proposed building of a new city hall on the site of the old city hall, which was destroyed by fire last week.

The fire limits, and that the council overstepped its authority in granting a permit for a repair that amounts to practically a new construction. It is the purpose of the owners to erect a one story frame structure on the ground.

RECRUITS FOR ARMY OBJECT OF PARTY HERE THIS WEEK

Enlistments Are Being Taken for Fourteen Army Branches for One or Three Years

Lieutenant E. B. Jackson, of the 1st regular infantry, stationed at Camp Lewis, Washington, and in charge of a recruiting party of four men arrived here Tuesday morning to prosecute an enlistment campaign in Clackamas county this week.

The party have their headquarters at the Electric hotel and since arrival spent the morning in putting up their posters about the city. The lieutenant says that he is taking enlistments from one to three years and that an applicant can now practically choose his station.

This regulation is something new in the army and should prove attractive to young men who desire to see the world. There are fourteen branches of the army service and the recruiting party now here can take enlistments for any of these branches.

OREGON NOT ONLY STATE WORKING FOR MORE GOOD ROADS

Many States of Union Are Working to Necessity of Bettering Rural Transportation Conditions

Minnesota is among the states of the Union to plan a great system of highway improvement.

Figures given out by the Minnesota state highway commission show that nearly every large state is about to undertake a large expenditure in road construction.

Reason for this is found in the close of the war. In 1918 slightly less than $300,000,000 was spent in the United States on road building and improvement. This year's total will be larger, while that of next year will far surpass that of 1919.

Minnesota soon is to vote on granting the legislature the authority to issue bonds for building 7,000 miles of trunk roads. Other states already have authorized big bond issues. Between November 1, 1918, and July 4, 1919, highway bonds were voted as follows: Illinois, $60,000,000; Pennsylvania, $50,000,000; Michigan, $50,000,000; California, $40,000,000; Oregon, $12,500,000; South Dakota, $4,500,000; Utah, $4,000,000; Wyoming, $2,800,000; Nevada, $1,000,000, or a total of $224,800,000.

Other states that will submit bond issues to the voters before December 31, 1920, are Texas, $75,000,000; Missouri, $60,000,000; West Virginia, $40,000,000; Washington, $30,000,000; Montana, $15,000,000; Maine, $10,000,000; Colorado, $5,000,000; Idaho, $2,000,000, and New Mexico, $2,000,000, or a total of $239,000,000.

Farmers Demand Hard Surfaced Roads

Concrete highways may be constructed in many of the country districts under the bonding act adopted by the people of Clackamas county Monday. There is an actual demand among the farmers for a hard surfaced road with as rough a surface as possible, on account of horse drawn vehicles, and wherever practicable the wishes of the people of the several districts will be met.

Clackamas county has a large cement plant at Oswego and those who are recommending concrete roads argue that they are boosting a local product but are trying to meet a demand from the people as well.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Gaby Deslys, whose nimble heels have delighted theater goers on two continents, has quit the stage to be married, according to the Daily Mirror.

WHAT LOOKS LIKE APPLE PRODIGY COMES TO LIGHT A Supposed Gravenstein Produces Puzzle for Agricultural Professors

Several years ago J. W. McComb, of this city, purchased a number of apple trees for his place, and among these was one which was considered to be of Gravenstein variety. Soon after purchasing the trees, Mr. McComb sold his place to Anton Kriedel, the present owner.

Last year the tree bore its first fruit, the crop being three apples. This year there were three bushel, and of most peculiar shape, resembling that of a banana, having a Gravenstein color with the usual red stripes. There are but few of the apples having seeds, and those having them are but one or two at the most.

There is a core of peculiar shape, more of an oblong formation. The flavor of the apples is far from that of the Gravenstein, having a much sweeter flavor, and mellow.

A sample of the apples has been forwarded to the Oregon Agricultural College, and they have become a puzzle to the professors of that institution, and a request has been made by the professors to have a section from the tree to be used in experimental work.

MISS WEINHOLD IS MAKING GOOD IN COUNTY NURSE WORK

New County Health Nurse is Conducting Vigorous Health Campaign

Hundreds of school children in Clackamas county are becoming acquainted with the new county public health nurse, Miss Weinhold, and are learning about the health supervision she is planning to give the schools. Miss Weinhold plans to spend the next two weeks in the Oregon City, Molalla, Oswego and Canby schools inspecting for symptoms of physical defects those pupils selected by the teachers for such examination. This inspection is not compulsory and parents may have their children excused by sending notes to the teachers.

Miss Weinhold spent three days, the middle of the month in Oswego and did splendid work in controlling the incipient epidemic of mild smallpox which had been threatening to develop to the point where the school might have to be closed.

Miss Weinhold will do her work in the county on the basis of a regular schedule of visits to the different sections of the county each month. One week she will be in Oregon City and vicinity, one week in Canby and that end of the county, one week in Estacada-Milwaukie end and one week for the other rural sections.

Miss Weinhold hopes soon to open an office in Oregon City and will keep office hours every Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5. At this time any one wishing to talk with her on any matter pertaining to her work may do so. In the meanwhile she may be reached by phoning 451. Her services for advice and instruction are free to all in the county.

NEW ARENA OPENED

The new boxing arena at Milwaukie was opened last evening, with a large crowd in attendance. Three ten-round bouts were carded and the program met with the approval of those present. The main bout between McDonald and Farmer was a hammer and tongs affair, and was a draw.

GERMANY DEFIES ALLIES

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—A new crisis with the allies is threatened over the German troops in the Baltic states. The German cabinet has decided "in the name of humanity" to send troops to Russia.

A Sane Program

The endorsement by the people of Clackamas county, by a majority of 900, of the road bonds is only the first step of a program of immense possibilities. The construction of 145 miles of permanent road is no piker's job and calls for the best thought and consideration at our command. The county court, with an advisory committee from each road district to benefit by the improvement, will have a tremendous task during the next few years, and must plan carefully to obtain a dollar's worth of road for every dollar expended.

It is not too early to arrange for the acquisition of paving plants and to plan for their operation. The court should lose no time in securing supplies in anticipation of a busy year in 1920, and should act swiftly after the action of the various road districts at their special budget meetings this week.

There are many miles of road in this county that are practically ready for pavement. Where the grades are easy and where macadam has been laid and traveled over for several years, it is comparatively simple to bring the road into condition for laying pavement.

There is going to be a wide spread demand for quick construction of these hard roads. The farmers asked for a bond election and then voted for the bonds, with the expectation and desire of securing the roads early and they are not going to be satisfied with delays, unless a very sufficient excuse is manifest.

COUNTY CLUB LEADER IS COMPLETING YEAR WITH ANNUAL REPORT

Miss Snedeker, in Annual Report is Showing Activities Among Youth of County

Miss Romney P. Snedeker, County club leader for this county is busy at work making out her annual report covering the activities of her efforts among the boys and girls of the county during the past year. The work that Miss Snedeker is conducting is supported by the United States department of agriculture, the agricultural college of the state and the various counties of the state where the services of club leaders is had. There are only six counties in the state at the present time where this work is being done. They are Multnomah, Douglas, Coos, Jackson and Wasco, beside Clackamas. Arrangements are now being perfected whereby Klamath county will be added to the list of counties for the ensuing year.

Miss Snedeker's work takes her into all sections of the county where she organizes and conducts sewing and cooking clubs among the school girls and pig, calf and rabbit clubs among the boys. The recent success of a number of her boys who went to the live stock show in Portland and brought home valuable prizes and medals is the strongest testimonial possible of the practical character and value of her work. The principal support of this work is from congressional appropriation to the department of agriculture. Last year the amount allotted to Oregon for this work from the general fund amounted to about $105,000.

APPLES, CHERRIES AND RASPBERRIES BLOSSOM HERE FOR THANKSGIVING

Some People Here Will Have Second Crop Raspberries for Their Turkey Day Feast

With Thanksgiving day but one day off, raspberries are still ripening on the bushes in Clackamas county, and cherries trees blossoming.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Warner a goodly number of berries are on the bushes, and a week ago Sunday they enjoyed fresh raspberries from their garden with many more to ripen and will probably be able to have enough for the Thanksgiving dinner.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Roake on Eleventh and Washington streets a number of twigs of the black republican cherry tree are ornamented with snowy white blossoms.

With apple blossoms, cherry blossoms now appearing and berries still ripening on the vines and bushes, Oregon isn't a very bad country after all to live in, while other states are "enjoying" snow storms.

OLCOTT TO HEAR WOMEN

SALEM, Nov. 26.—Governor Olcott today advised Mrs. Elliott Corbett of Portland that a delegation of suffragists representing various women's organizations, would be given a hearing Friday morning on the proposed special session of the legislature for the ratification of the suffrage amendment to the federal constitution.

ROAD BOND WORKERS WILL HAVE BANQUET APPRECIATION SATURDAY

Commercial Club Will Father Dinner to Oregon City Workers in Road Bond Election

For the ratification of the victory of good road boosters in Monday's election for $1,700,000 road bonds, a banquet will be held in Oregon City on Saturday evening of next week under the auspices of the Commercial club, and a committee will be named to take charge of the affair.

The members of the club who had a hand in directing the campaign are feeling jubilant over the outcome, and propose to solidify the good feeling between the town and the country by having a get-together banquet, at which addresses will be made by prominent local speakers who campaigned for the good roads measure.

The vote shows that while Oregon City gave the bonds a majority of 400, that the country districts rolled up a majority of more than 500 for the road and bridge bonds.

DEVOTED SERVICE WINS PROMOTION FOR LOCAL SAILOR

Local Soldier Wins Promotion in U. S. Navy Through Devotion to Service

Roy Finnegan, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Finnegan, of Canemah, who has been in the naval service for over two years, has returned to the United States safe and well, according to a telegram received by the parents last week. He is at present at Brooklyn, N. Y., and will advise his parents as to his future plans.

As he entered the service for four years it is not known yet as to whether he will be able to have his release granted from the service, but he is looking forward to the time when he is back into his home at Canemah, where he was born and reared.

At the time of enlisting Finnegan was a machinist in the paper mills of the Crown Willamette Paper company, and soon after entering the service he was rapidly promoted, and is at the present time chief machinist on the U. S. S. Quail, a mine sweeper operating in the North sea. He has been on that vessel during most of the time he has been in active service. He is a graduate of the Oregon City high school, and his many friends here are awaiting his return to give him a most cordial reception.

Albright Funeral Well Attended

The funeral services over the remains of the late Charles O. Albright, a former business man of Oregon City, were held from the chapel of the Portland crematorium Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The services were in charge of the Scientists church of Portland, and were largely attended.

The floral tributes were beautiful and were in great profusion. Among the floral tributes sent from this city were from the meat markets of Farr Brothers, P. R. Petzold and H. Strabig, who sent a handsome wreath, a similar wreath was sent by the Woodmen of the World, of this city of which Mr. Albright was a member.

CARVER CAR HELD UP ON WEDNESDAY BY ROBBERS

Three men, two of whom were masked, held up the passenger car operated over the Carver line this morning at about 9:30 o'clock near McLaren station, a short distance beyond Milwaukie. There were but two passengers on the car at the time, which was on its way to Carver, and in charge of Motorman O. M. Cable.

As the car was nearing McLaren station, the motorman was somewhat surprised to find two large rails laid across the track. The car was immediately brought to a standstill, and no sooner had this been done when the three men appeared, and climbed on the rear of the car, and passed through, held up the passengers and motorman, securing $15 in cash.

After they had secured the amount they made their escape.

Sheriff W. J. Wilson, of this city, was immediately informed, and hurried to the scene of the holdup, accompanied by several deputies. Search was made for the men, but they had eluded the officers and believed to have made their escape by way of Portland.

The men are believed to have been amateurs at the holdup business, and appeared to be young. The neighbors of that section assisted Sheriff Wilson and his deputies in scouring the country for the robbers, and it was first thought the men were cornered near the Southern Pacific railroad track near Clackamas.

When word was received of the robbery and holdup by Sheriff Wilson, the sheriff quickly gathered a posse and started to the scene of the holdup. A certain young newspaper man quickly secured a sawed off shot gun and accompanied the posse.

On their return to the court house he stopped in the entry way of the sheriff's office and proceeded to draw the load from the gun.

In some way the gun went off and the charge went through the lower rail of the door leading into a closet in the entryway and penetrated the inch and a quarter floor of the court house. The young man was deeply chagrined over the accident but counted himself lucky that he himself received no injury.

LARGE PRIZES ARE WON BY COUNTY BOYS

The boys who composed the boys' live stock judging team and the individual boy exhibitors of stock in the live stock show in Portland last week have returned home bringing with them not only the gold medals awarded to the three boys of the judging team which won first place over fifteen other competing teams from this state and Washington, but also nearly $200 in cash received as premiums for their exhibition of their live stock.

Melville Richey of Boring, exhibited a chester white sow and litter of nine pigs. On these he took $70 in prizes. This amount on the final tabulation may be increased to $96.

Harold Kitchin of Estacada won second prize in the sow over six months and under one year class and received therefor $12.

In the light weight, fat hog class, Wilbur Looney of Estacada won first prize, amounting to $10 and Arthur Boyer won second prize of $10.

The Boys Calf club of Twilight won $12 as second place in the competition for best Jersey bull calf. The members of this club also competed for the best Jersey heifer calf and Norman Parris won second place in this. Arnie Brade took third, Raymond Montgomery fourth, Lowell Montgomery fifth, and Gaylord Montgomery sixth. The prize money going to the club on these entries amounted to $49.

Theodore Resch of Aurora won second place in the one year or over sow class and the five male pigs under one year class. His winnings in these events amounted to $30.

The boys have received many congratulations upon their good work from many friends since their return. The two brothers, Raymond and Gaylord Montgomery, together with Norman Parris, composed the winning team of judges in the live stock judging contest, which secured a total of 1252 points out of a possible 1500 points.

GROWERS WANT PENALTY

SALEM, Nov. 26.—The immediate restoration of capital punishment in Oregon is urged by the National Wool Growers' association, in a telegram received by Governor Olcott this morning.
