New York Milkman Facing Evidence of Strike as Protest Against High Prices

For once Mr. Pay-the-Bills has gotten up his spunk and gone on a strike. He and about 599,000 other residents of New York City left notices like these on the stoop or the dumbwaiter: "No Milk," "No Milk Wanted Here," "Saved 18 Cents Today." Cooperating in the strike, which was instituted by the City Parliament of

GOOD ROAD PROGRAM ENDORSED BY PEOPLE

Had the bonds failed to pass, W. P. Hawley, president of the Hawley Pulp & Paper Co. would have loaned the county money to finance the construction of a new bridge across the Willamette river at Oregon City. Mr. Hawley advised The Enterprise Sunday that he and Mrs. Hawley would advance up to $200,000 for the structure, as he recognized the need of another bridge. The announcement was withheld by The Enterprise until after election.

With only eight precincts to hear from, the road bond measure has a majority of 1062 votes. The favorable vote in 73 precincts was 3761, while 2699 votes were registered against it.

It is altogether probable that the majority will be close to 1000 when the count is complete.

The only precincts not having reported at midnight were Ardenwald, Barton, Cherryville, Clarks, Killin, Lad Hill, Park-place and Sunnyside.

In Oregon City, there was a majority of an even 400 votes, the favorable vote being 679, and the opposition registering 279. Oregon City No. 7 went against the measure by a majority of five votes. In the city of West Linn the vote was 289 to 32, or nearly unanimous. The agitation for a new bridge across the Willamette river lined up the voters of Oregon City and West Linn, and while the districts north of the Clackamas river between Gladstone and Milwaukie voted heavily against the proposition, the vote in the country generally was in favor of the bonds.

The vote in the precincts reported at midnight was:

DRUG STORE HAS VERY CLOSE CALL FROM FIRE

Had it happened in the dead of night, as did Oregon City's great fire of a week ago, what might have proved a second catastrophe, was narrowly averted at a few minutes past seven o'clock Monday evening, when George Dambach and Austin Locke discovered the roof of the Huntley Drug company's store on fire.

The two boys were on their way down to Main street, and as they were entering the municipal elevator on the bluff, their attention was drawn to the blaze that was coming from the roof.

The boys rushed to the drug store, turned in the alarm, and Gilbert Morris, using presence of mind, seized a fire extinguisher, and rushed to the seat of the fire in the rear of the store. With the arrival of the fire department under command of the fire chief, Edward Lavier, the blaze was quickly extinguished, that was gaining considerable headway. The firemen and the employees of the company, and the boys giving the alarm worked heroically to save the building.

Little damage was done to the goods that were near the fire.

Near where the fire was located there was a considerable amount of paints and oils, and had the fire gained much headway in the department during the night there is a possibility that the entire block would have gone up in flames.

The cause of the fire on Monday evening was from a defective fuse of the incinerator which was recently constructed. There had been a fire in the incinerator during the day, and a considerable amount of refuse had been destroyed before the fire broke out.

The Huntley Drug company's store was recently renovated and enlarged at a great expense, and is considered one of the handsomest drug and book stores in the state. New fixtures have been added and an unusually large stock of goods were on hand at the time of Monday night's fire.

Preparations were made to move the goods from the store, but by the quick action the store and goods were saved.

The fire drew an unusually large crowd of people, and the street was thronged with people, and it was necessary to lock the doors of the store in order to keep the curious from entering.

Fire Chief Lavier called at the Enterprise office after the fire and requested that in the future it would be of great assistance to the firemen if the people would keep out of the fire lines. The work of the firemen was greatly handicapped by the people making in first days the street a place rushing in from idle curiosity.

MRS. LYDIA WRIGHT DIES EARLY MONDAY AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Mrs. Lydia Wright, wife of Silas Wright, of Wright's Springs, near Liberal, Clackamas county, died at the family home this morning at 4 o'clock, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Wright, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, early pioneers of the west, was born March 21, 1855, at Cameron, Mo., where she was reared, later coming west with her parents by way of the Isthmus of Panama, and settled at Chico, Calif. Making her home there for some time, she came to Clackamas county, the family settling at Liberal, where her marriage to Mr. Wright took place.

Mrs. Wright has always taken an active interest in the county's affairs, and was a member of the Molalla grange No. 40.

Mrs. Wright is survived by her widower, Silas Wright, of Wright's Springs; a son, Pierce Wright, of Liberal; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Hieble, of Estacada; Mrs. Carrie Ridings, of Marquam; Mrs. Martha Wright, of Ontario, Ore., and a brother, Frank Jones of Ardenwald, Mont.

Bates Funeral Largely Attended

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Sarah Millard Bates, of Estacada, were held from the family home on Friday. Many friends attended the services, which were in charge of the Rebekah lodge of Estacada, of which organization the deceased was a member for a number of years.

Mrs. Bates was also a member of the Eagle Creek grange, and that organization was also largely represented.

Holman & Pace undertaking establishment of this city had charge of the arrangements for the funeral. Mrs. Bates was born in New York, and at the time of her death was 73 years of age. She came to Oregon in 1871, locating in Multnomah. She later moved with her family to Lower Logan, settling on a farm, where she since resided and where she had made many friends.

ROUSERS, $500 GONE

ROSEBURG, Nov. 22.—Charles Ache, a resident of Glendale, was robbed of $500, the profit from a real estate deal, Thursday night, when a robber entered his home and appropriated the trousers containing the money. Mr. Ache had been in Roseburg concluding the sale and upon receiving the money had returned to his home. In the night some unknown person entered the room and departed with the trousers and the roll of bills.

HUGHES FUNERAL HELD

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Robert Hughes were held from the funeral parlors of Holman & Pace Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Edwards, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiated.

During the services a quartet composed of Rev. Edwards, Mrs. Frank Schoenborn, John Aldredge and Mrs. W. C. Green, sang "It Is Well With My Soul," "My Jesus, I Love Thee" and "Rock of Ages."

There were many handsome floral tributes, and among those sent was a large piece from the cutting department of the Crown Willamette Paper company.

Many friends of Mrs. Hughes attended the services to pay their last respects to tone of the pioneers of the city who was loved by all who knew her.

The interment was in the new plot Many friends followed the remains to their last resting place.

The pallbearers were Jack Maas, John Llewellyn, J. M. Warnock, J. W. Hiatt, Caulfield and R. H. Tabor.

County Commissioner William Harris, of Beaver Creek, was in the county seat on business Wednesday.

NORTH END OF COUNTY SORE OVER ELECTION

A. D. Paddock, a druggist of Gladstone, is authority for the statement that immediate steps will be taken to bring about the annexation to Multnomah county of that part of Clackamas county situated north of the Clackamas river, in retaliation for the passage of the measure authorizing the issuance of road bonds for $1,700,000.

None of the money is to be expended in the district between Oregon City and Portland on the east side of the Willamette river, where practically all of the paying land in the last five years has been placed.

It is reported that a movement will be initiated at the next session of the legislature to cut from Clackamas and annex to Multnomah a large slice of valuable and thickly populated territory north of the Clackamas river, and residents of this county who are desirous of holding the boundary lines say they will carefully scrutinize the position of candidates for the legislature on the proposal.

TOE WORK OF LODELL WINS GAME SATURDAY

Carl Lodell's educated right toe plucked two beautiful place kicks squarely between the posts on Multnomah field yesterday afternoon and Oregon Agricultural college whipped Washington State college 6 to 0.

While Lodell's mighty right hoof was piling up enough points for the surprise victory, his Aggie teammates were putting up one of the most stubborn defensive games ever seen in Portland.

With the loss Washington State college's chances for the Pacific coast intercollegiate championship vanished like a vision and their fond hopes for the Pasadena trip faded away like moonlight gently switching into darkness. It marked the Corvallis crowd's eighth victory in the 11 games played since the two schools established athletic relations, and was the first conference win for the battling Beavers in two years, or since the day that Kansas Hill Hargiss took hold of the Benton county institution's steering wheel.

Lodell's first goal from field came in the first period and was negotiated from the 35-yard line. The pigskin oval soared high above the center of the parallel bar and would have registered just as easily from a distance of 6 yards.

The former Jefferson High school lad's second place kick was registered from the 28-yard line late in the third quarter.

St. Clair Is Back From Sweden

C. L. St. Clair, who has been in Gotherburg, Sweden, and absent from this city for the past four months, returned to Oregon City Saturday morning. Mr. St. Clair has been in the foreign country on United States government business, and returned by way of Newfoundland, finding the weather extremely cold.

Mr. St. Clair had only been home from the navy for a few weeks when he left for Sweden, and is pleased to get back to his native country.

Mrs. St. Clair and child, who have been at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Watts, of Molalla during her husband's absence, where here to meet Mr. St. Clair when he arrived, and after visiting at the Watts home for a few days they will return to Oregon City.
