

ROMANCE OF PIERCE SOUNDS LIKE TALE OF KNIGHTHOOD DAYS

Returned Soldier Wins Bride in Old
England, Married and Now
Has Home for Bride

The arrival of Mrs. J. C. Pierce and infant son, James Henry Pierce, in Oregon City Saturday evening is the result of a pretty romance of war times. Mr. Pierce, a soldier of Uncle Sam, was stationed in England and met his wife, and the marriage took place in England.

Mr. Pierce, who was a member of Company G, 162d Infantry, left here on March 25, 1917, for overseas service. He was first stationed in Montana, later being transferred to Tacoma and Seattle, then to New Orleans and then left for North Carolina, remaining there until receiving orders to go overseas. He arrived at Liverpool, England, on Christmas day of 1917.

He was in the cooking department of the regiment, and in sending his laundry to a little home at Liverpool was invited by a little woman, by the name of Mrs. Eler, who laundered his clothes, to visit the home of her sister.

The invitation was accepted by the soldier boy, and a family dinner was enjoyed, and at the dinner the young man met Miss Hatch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hatch. The friendship of the young couple grew closer with the young couple serving dinner, and having outings in merry England, with the family of the young woman desiring to show their hospitality to the young soldier and make his days bright while he was serving in the army.

The visits to the Hatch home became numerous, and finally the young man asked the little English woman to become his bride. The wedding day was set for July 11, 1918, and the wedding was solemnized at the Hatch home at Rumsey, Hants county, England.

Mr. Pierce immediately returned to duty with Company G, and was stationed in France, and returned here in April, 1919, and since May has been employed in the blacksmith department of the Crown Willamette Paper company's mill.

The home of Mr. Pierce is on Clackamas Heights, and during his spare time in the evening he has prepared ten dozen bottles of fruit for the winter's supply besides having the little home neat and tidy for the reception of his wife and babe.

Mr. Pierce, who was in this city this afternoon awaiting the time to go to Portland to meet his family from their long journey, said "This has been the longest day of my life in waiting for the arrival of my wife and baby."

Mr. Pierce is the first young man of Clackamas county to bring back a wife from overseas. The babe was born June 20, 1919, and Saturday evening was the first time he had set his eyes on his child.

Mr. Pierce is the son of the late Mrs. Nancy Pierce, a pioneer of Clackamas county, and before entering the army he sold his place to his sister, but upon his return purchased back the little home and has made many improvements thereon.

He has planted fruit trees, has a garden that has been the means of supplying the cupboard during the summer and some of the vegetables of which have been canned so as to give the wife an idea as to what the United States can produce in that line.

The Red Cross society, through the efforts of Miss C. Barclay Pratt, has taken an active interest in the wife and babe of Mr. Pierce, but the husband has been considerate and sent her a goodly allowance for her maintenance and also the baby while they were in England, and supplied sufficient funds to travel on.

Mary Steiman Sues Husband

Mary Steiman filed suit for divorce Thursday against her husband Samuel Steiman. They were married in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1881. There have been no children to the union. They have lived separately for more than seven years.

The complaint alleges that the husband has treated the plaintiff in a cruel manner and has consorted with women of low character. Franklin F. Krell of Portland is the attorney for the plaintiff.

MRS. W. P. HAWLEY, JR. FILES DIVORCE SUIT ASKS HEAVY ALIMONY

Willard P. Hawley, Jr., vice president and general manager of the Hawley Pulp & Paper Co., the sale of which to a syndicate of Pacific coast newspapers, was recently announced, is the defendant in a sensational divorce suit filed here Friday by Mrs. Marjorie Hawley, who, before her marriage was Marjorie Praker, a telephone girl. She asks for a settlement of $110,000 or 250 shares of stock in the Hawley Pulp & Paper Co., for an undivided one-third interest in the real estate and household goods of the defendant, or $12,000 in lieu of that interest, and for $250 per month as permanent alimony in support of their minor child, Eva Adele Hawley.

She also prays for $5,000 temporary alimony for the care of the child, $500 for suit money and $15,000 as attorney's fees for the prosecution of the suit. After the complaint was filed Friday, circuit Judge Campbell issued an order directing Mr. Hawley to pay within 16 days $500 as suit money, $1000 as temporary alimony and $7500 attorney fees. Mrs. Hawley is represented by Christian Schuebel.

The Hawleys were married in Portland March 11, 1916, and their little girl is about two years of age. Their marriage was a nine-days wonder in Oregon City circles because of Mr. Hawley's wealth and the bride was penniless.

Not long ago he purchased the former residence of the late State Senator Walter A. Dimick, and they furnished the house lavishly and only last month during the Halloween season, entertained a select company of friends on an elaborate scale. There have been no recent rumors of domestic infidelity and the suit for divorce occasioned considerable surprise.

Mrs. Hawley charges her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment, commencing in July, 1917, when he became angry because his wife had spoiled some kodak pictures, and she says she threatened to leave her.

She says that in December of the same year, soon after their child was born, he occupied a separate bedroom and would lock the door so that his rest would not be disturbed and that he would complain and nag if the baby cried. In July, 1918, while Mrs. Hawley was in Bar View on a vacation, he called her over the long distance telephone and accused her of improper conduct, without foundation, avers the plaintiff, who further complains that in October, 1918, he made unpleasant remarks about her and her relatives in the presence of her niece, and when she tried to restrain him, he struck her in the face.

In June, 1919, he is accused of striking her, while they were staying at the Hotel Van Nuys in Los Angeles and that in August of this year he insulted her had not been chaste before their marriage and threatened to take the baby away and leave her, demanding that she get out of the house, and then took hold of her arms and twisted and pinched her flesh. He is alleged to have struck her and thrown her across the floor very recently. Other specific instances of cruelty are alleged in the complaint.

A recital of the defendant's means is presented in the complaint, it being set out that in five months of this year he deposited in a Portland bank from his salary and other sources of income, $23,396.87, and Mrs. Hawley says her husband's income is upwards of $50,000 per annum.

He is said to have allowed her $50 per month for her maintenance and allowance. The plaintiff asks for the care and custody of the child.

RUSSIANS ARE DEPORTED
TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 20.—Russian colonists were reported from Casa Grande, Ariz., Saturday by members of the American Legion, according to word brought here yesterday. Real estate men refused to sell them land because they had refused to do military service.

A colonizing agent was loaded on the cars with them, Under-Sheriff Sulinger of Tucson, said on his return here today.

Sisters Who Had 867 Proposals While They Were Entertaining Boys of A. E. F.

The Misses Nellie and Sara Kouns

Eight hundred and sixty-seven proposals of marriage—that is the record attained by the Misses Nellie and Sara Kouns, daughters of the late C. W. Kouns, who was general manager of the Santa Fe railroad. The tally was: Nellie, 435, Sara 432. They accomplished this while they were overseas with the Theater league entertaining the boys of the A. E. F. They have just returned, and to catch their ship these two adventuresome girls hired an aeroplane to fly from Paris to Liverpool. They made it with only ten minutes to spare.

Oregon City High Meets Defeat At Hands of Estacada High School

The Oregon City high school football team played its last scheduled game of the season Saturday afternoon at Estacada and met defeat by the score of 7 to 0. Estacada made the sole touchdown of the game during the third quarter on a forward pass. The game was a fine exhibition of clean sportsmanship, throughout.

PEACE PACT MAY GO TO VOTE OF PEOPLE ROAD HOUSE MURDER IS CONFESSED BY ONE MAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Compromise efforts to ratify the peace treaty were thrown into the background today by developments strengthening the possibility that the whole controversy might be transferred to the political arena for a decision by the people in 1920.

Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and republican leader of the senate, declared in a statement that there was "no room for further compromise," and urged that the reservations of the senate majority be carried into the campaign.

There was no formal expression to determine whether a like stand would be taken ultimately by President Wilson and the administration senators, but it developed that the president's senate supporters had no definite assurances as yet that he would reopen the subject for compromise by resubmitting the treaty when the new session of congress begins December 1.

The declaration of Senator Lodge reversed the position he and most other republican senators had taken toward injection of the treaty into politics and was accepted in congressional and official circles as clothed with an added significance by Senator Lodge's conference with Will H. Hays, the republican national chairman, just before the unsuccessful fight Wednesday for ratification with the majority reservations included.

Former Ring Champion and Healer Who Has Eased His Pains

James M. Hickson (at left) and Harry Forbes. Among the hundreds of ailing and crippled persons who have gone daily to St. Peter's Episcopal church, Chicago, in the hope of being cured of their infirmities by James Mome Hickson, the famous English lay healer, is Harry Forbes, bantamweight champion, from 1901 to 1903. Forbes, who is now about 41 years old, says the healer's touch already has relieved a very painful rheumatism affection from which he has suffered for a year.

BROWN ACCUSES WIFE OF BAD CONDUCT IN DIVORCE SUIT

Complaint Says Wife Was Embraced
By Man Not Her Husband
Last Year

Joseph Daniel Brown filed suit for divorce Friday afternoon against his wife, Armetta Brown. The couple were married in Seward, Oklahoma, February 14, 1904. They have two children, Martha, born in 1906 and Granville born in 1909. The complaint alleges that while living in Wichita, Kansas, in 1916 she called him names too obscene to repeat in the complaint; that in April 1918, he having been warned, discovered her in company with another man named "Brazil" and that she was in his arms. In November of this year she left his home. There are no property rights involved. George W. Wilson is attorney for the plaintiff.

GOVERNMENT IS IN CONTROL OF FOOD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—President Wilson today placed the government again in control of the nation's food supply by transferring the authority of food administration to Attorney General Palmer.

Removal of wartime functions of Administrator Hoover resulted directly from government efforts to avert a famine in sugar, but the powers delegated to the head of the department of justice will be used also to help put down the ever mounting cost of living.

For the present the attorney general will not put into operation all of the machinery permitted under the executive order, but should conditions arise to make it necessary the full pressure of all the broad powers vested in him will be exerted.

Mr. Palmer's staff will begin immediately to build up a sugar distribution system which will allocate all sugar stocks in the country.

U. S. SENDS TO MEXICO A NOTE OF WARNING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Mexico was warned today by the American government that any further molestation of William O. Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, who recently was kidnapped by bandits, would "seriously affect the relations between the United States and Mexico, for which the government of Mexico must assume sole responsibility."

Coupled with the warning was a demand for the immediate release of the consular agent, who was rearrested Tuesday on charges in connection with his abduction and ransom in the sum of $150,000 gold. Official reports that Jenkins had again been imprisoned at Puebla, reached the state department today from the American embassy at Mexico City, which was instructed to transmit a note demanding his release.

ROSEBURG EDITOR WEDS
ROSEBURG, Nov. 24.—Bert G. Bates, associate editor of the Evening News, and Miss Mabel McCulloch, a popular Roseburg girl, were married here last evening at the home of the bride's parents on Mill street.

COUNCIL IS TO PERMIT REBUILDING EDDY STORE

At the regular annual open meeting of the city council held in the council chambers Friday night to consider the budget for the city's expenses for the forthcoming year by unanimous consent the council referred an application of Messrs. Howell & Stevens, owners of the building which housed the Eddy department store and which was seriously damaged by fire last week, to the fire and water committee of the council and city attorney with power to act.

After the adjournment of the council, the fire and water committee and city attorney met and after a short session with Mr. Howell granted the application to rebuild the structure.

Mr. Howell, in making a statement to the council, said that it was the purpose of himself and Mr. Stevens to cut the building down to one story and to put a new roof upon it in which to house Mr. Eddy's store for the reason that Mr. Eddy had a three year lease on the property yet to run.

Mr. Howell said that they desired to begin work on the building on Monday morning and for that reason it was desirable to have the matter settled at the meeting then in session. For that reason the fire and water committee met after the council adjourned and granted the permit with the understanding that the building when built would comply with the fire limit ordinance of the city.

The council in its session considered the budget for 1920 and made no changes in it as forecasted and published. The council further considered an ordinance suggested by an officer of the American legion, providing that the city do not grant to any alien a license to do business within the limits of Oregon City.

The ordinance was simply read for the information of the members of the council and will be presented for action at the next regular meeting which will be held on December 3.

In considering the recommendation from the fire and water committee asking that the city provide better fire fighting apparatus, representatives from the state fire marshal's office were heard in which they gave it as their opinion that the city need a high pressure fire steamer.

Mr. Howell, of the water board stated that the present equipment of the city was in a position to produce a fire pressure of 180 pounds in any part of the city's water main system. He thought that the city should have a combination chemical engine and hose truck instead of the steamer. The matter was carried over to the next meeting of the council.

GRANDDAUGHTER ARRIVES

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Carothers are receiving the congratulations over the arrival of a daughter, born Thursday morning at the Oregon City hospital. Mrs. Carothers was formerly Miss Katherine Vonderah. This is the first granddaughter in the Carothers family.

ITALIAN CAUSES GREAT EXCITEMENT AND IS TAKEN FOR A ROBBER

Foreigner, Unable to Speak English,
Gives Mrs. Hackett Bad Scare
at Her Home on Washington

Great excitement prevailed on Seventeenth and Washington streets in this city Thursday morning when Mrs. E. A. Hackett rushed from her home, calling out "Robbers! Robbers!"

Men rushed to her assistance, and upon arriving at the Hackett home were informed there was a man in the house. One man rushed to the basement where he grabbed a shot gun while others "stood guard" outside to wait the arrival of the "robber."

No sooner had they stood guard than the would be robber appeared, coming out of the Hackett home leisurely, and was somewhat surprised to find the men in waiting, among these being a number of workmen from the residence of William Krueger, who were engaged in constructing a basement.

He proved to be an Italian, who had just arrived in Oregon City from Dakota to make his home here, and had gone to the Hackett home, he said, to purchase some wood. Mr. Hackett is in the wood business.

The man was unable to speak the English language fluently and was trying to make Mrs. Hackett understand, when Mrs. Hackett believed him to be a "holdup man."

SENATE TO CONTINUE FIGHT ON PEACE PACT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Avenues of speculation leading many ways were opened today when officials and diplomats turned over in their minds the possible results at home and abroad that are to follow termination of the special session of congress last night without senate ratification of the peace treaty.

The thoughts of the treaty's friends in the senate centered on accomplishing some compromise for a ratification in the session beginning December 1 and to that end steps are understood to have been taken to ask that President Wilson ascertain from the other powers what reservations they would accept.

At the White House silence was maintained and callers got the impression that for the present the administration was willing to await the outcome of the compromise efforts whether the president would permit that policy to stand in the way of undertaking the diplomatic exchanges suggested.

A. Flannum, of Redland, was an Oregon City visitor Wednesday.
