

$25,000 FUND TO BE RAISED FOR A LIVELY CAMPAIGN

OMNIPARTISAN ORGANIZATION IS PERFECTED AT RALLY HELD IN OREGON CITY.

DRYS ALSO ADVOCATE LIMITATION OF TAXES AND RURAL CREDIT PLAN

State Chairman of Prohibition Party Criticizes Organization Which Represents All Political Faiths and Religions.

(By Dr. W. T. Milliken.)

In a big county-wide meeting held at the Methodist church, Oregon City, Tuesday, the dry forces, representing all political parties and religious creeds, got together and perfected a big county campaign organization. The plan is that of a "committee of one hundred" for the county, with representatives in local organizations in every precinct. These will endeavor to put every voter in the county in touch with the organization, to get every qualified voter in the county to register, to interest them in the "absolute prohibition" amendment, and in rural credits and tax restriction, and to rally them to defeat the so-called "brewers' amendment." Rallies led by the best speakers in the county will be held in every district, and good singers will go along to make things interesting. It is the purpose of the committee of one hundred to make things hum from now, until election.

At the morning session C. H. Dye was elected county chairman; Dr. Roy L. Dunn, of Gladstone, secretary, and Rev. A. J. Ware, treasurer. A nominating committee, consisting of H. E. Cross, L. Adams, M. J. Lee, Mrs. Eberly, of Clarksville, and Mrs. M. V. Brown, was elected, and instructed to report immediately after dinner. It was enthusiastically voted to attempt to raise $25,000 campaign fund in order to give publicity to the liquor problem in Clackamas county. Mr. Chris Schuebel suggested the advocacy of rural credits and tax limitation also, and the idea was favorably received.

Committees Are Named.

At 2 o'clock the meeting was again called to order and the following report of the nominating committee was unanimously adopted.

Finance committee—J. W. Loder, Edward Maple, Rev. A. J. Ware, Rev. W. B. Moore, Rev. C. E. Curtis.

Publicity committee—Dr. W. T. Milliken, F. W. McKechnie, E. C. Brownlee, W. E. Hassler, Mr. Taylor and Mr. W. E. Brainerd.

Committee on arrangements and meetings—Rev. J. K. Hawkins, Rev. J. R. Landsborough, C. Schuebel.

Registration committee—Mrs. E. B. Andrews, J. O. Staats, Mrs. T. E. Gault, Mrs. F. J. Toole.

Organization is Criticized.

The first speaker for the afternoon was J. Sanger Fox, state chairman of the Prohibition party. Mr. Fox did not like the idea of the omnipartisan organization, declaring it was a little unfair to the organizations in Portland which had so kindly planned the work for the state for a county to in-sure and think itself capable of running its own show. When he got his grouse worked off he gave a really fine non-partisan address.

Philip Deschner, an Anti-Saloon representative, followed. Mr. Deschner was born in Germany, and lived over half his life there. He described the work of a committee of 25 leading scientists, appointed by the Kaiser to investigate the real value of alcohol. This body reports that five dollars' worth of beer contains about as much nourishment as a jinx loaf of bread, and that mixed with so much alcohol poison that its value is really much less than nothing.

Belgium, North Germany and Bavaria, the three great beer-drinking regions, are afflicted with the "black intestinal trouble," something found only in beer drinkers. This makes digestion just 25 times as difficult to the one who has it as to normal man.

Comma Makes Big Difference.

Mr. Deschner showed that the insertion of a comma between the clauses "for medical purposes," and "upon prescription of a licensed physician" has divorced these clauses, making each independent and coordinate, one no longer qualifying the other. Hence any old fellow with a stomach-ache may get liquor upon his own declaration that he wanted it for medical purposes, and if he could not scare up any sickness of any sort he could go to a physician and get a prescription anyhow. There is no limit to a physician's power to prescribe under the brewers' amendment.

Under the brewers' amendment will be given permission to "sell and deliver in this state." Common law allows a man to do by an agent what it permits him to do by himself. Every ex-ecution keeper can be made a brewer's agent, and can open up a "delivery house," and can sell by the original package (bottle) to all comers, as under the old open saloon, the only limitation being that the buyer must open the "package" (bottle) himself. It will be worse than the old saloon.

AMERICAN BULLETS IN MEXICO KILLED AMERICANS—HUGHES

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE SEVERELY RAPS ADMINISTRATION FOR MEXICAN POLICY.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 9.—Charles E. Hughes, speaking tonight in the auditorium here, assailed the administration for its preparedness policy, which he declared inadequate, asserted that he regarded "reasonable preparedness as a primary duty" and proposed, if elected, "to see that it is discharged to the credit of the American people."

Much of the nominee's address was devoted to the Mexican situation and the calling of the national guard to service on the border. There had been warnings for two years that America should be prepared, Mr. Hughes said, yet, when the time came to put an army on the border, "to do police service," there was presented "a spectacle showing inefficiency of the first magnitude."

"I don't think it a rash statement," the nominee said, "I think it is warranted by the facts to say that any American soldier killed in Mexico is killed by American bullets that we have let go over the border."

The punitive expedition to Mexico, Mr. Hughes said, was only called punitive.

"The only punishment inflicted was punishment inflicted on ourselves," he said. "We punished nobody else."

EDITORS' SESSION AT MEDFORD IS BROUGHT TO END

E. E. BRODIE, OF OREGON CITY, IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF STATE ASSOCIATION AGAIN.

MEETING IN SOUTHERN OREGON CITY VOTED RED LETTER AFFAIR

Ashland People Hosts at Open-Air Reception and Luncheon Following Motor Trip—Last Day Is Busy One.

MEDFORD, Ore., Aug. 5.—Declaring by resolution that the Medford session is the "red letter" session in the history of the association; commending the work of the University of Oregon school of journalism; recommending that University of Oregon and Oregon Agricultural college combine and furnish to the newspapers of the state a "ready print" service without address at a price over cost, and recommending the formation of a Tri-State Newspaper association to meet in 1916, the 125 delegates to the Oregon State Editorial association brought their session to a close tonight with the election of the following officers:

President, E. E. Brodie, Morning Enterprise, Oregon City; vice-president, A. E. Voorhies, Rogue River Courier, Grants Pass; secretary and treasurer, Phil S. Bates, Pacific Northwest, Portland; member of executive committee for three years, E. V. Aldrich, East Oregonian, Pendleton.

Requests for the convention in 1917 were received from Pendleton and Eugene, and the former city probably will be selected.

An interesting program was held by the editors in the Convention hall, while the women members of the party were entertained with a motor ride through the valley by members of the Greater Medford club and the College Women's club. John E. Gratke, of the Astoria Budget, spoke on guaranteed advertising, and said a crisis confronts the newspapers of Oregon and the country in regard to the rise in the price of white paper. The price of paper, he said, had doubled in the last two years, while the rates of the newspapers had remained the same.

"If the price of cattle rises," said Mr. Gratke, "the packers raise their prices. The newspapers should do the same."

C. E. Ingalls, of the Corvallis Gazette-Times, speaking on the party label, took a hard slap at all of the so-called non-partisan press of Oregon, declaring those papers that claimed to be non-partisan were not to be trusted politically, for no paper could be effective and be sincerely non-partisan.

ROAD WORK STARTS SOON.

Work on the Fly creek cutoff near Coalea, this side of New Era, will probably begin before the end of next week. The county court Wednesday awarded the contract to W. B. Kidd, of Sellwood, and the court received word Thursday that he would be in Oregon City Saturday to sign papers. The road will greatly improve the Pacific highway south out of Oregon City.

6 CROPS IN STATE ARE EACH WORTH OVER A MILLION

WHEAT IS LEADER WITH 1916 HARVEST IN OREGON VALUED AT $13,097,230.

YIELD OF OATS IS 13,200,000 BUSHELS; PRICE $5,412,000

Percentage of Combined Condition of Crops, Based on 10-Year Average, is 94.3—Apple Estimate is 3,216,000 Boxes.

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 7.—Oregon farmers this year will reap a profit of $30,181,730 from nine principal products, according to estimates compiled today by O. P. Hoff, state labor commissioner. The crop of wheat, corn, oats, barley, potatoes and apples will each exceed $1,000,000 in value.

The percentage of the combined condition of all crops during July, based on a 10-year average, was 94.3.

The biggest item in Oregon's enormous harvest this year, as in the past, is the wheat crop, which, based on crop conditions August 1, will show a yield of 11,781,000 bushels of winter and 4,600,000 bushels of spring, or a total of 15,781,000 bushels.

Commissioner Hoff's estimates indicate that the state's winter wheat crop is 86 per cent of the average for 10 years, while the spring wheat crop is 86.2 per cent. The estimated value of the entire wheat crop of the state at the farm on August 1 was $3 cents a bushel, or a total of $13,097,230. The stock of wheat now held on Oregon farms is placed at $73,000 bushels.

The State Bureau of Labor statistics forecast an oats yield of 13,200,000 bushels, worth $5,412,000 to the Oregon farmer at 41 cents a bushel. The crop is 90.3 per cent of normal. With 50,500 acres planted to potatoes this year and the crop 92 per cent of normal, a yield of 6,250,000 bushels is forecasted. At 80 cents a bushel this crop will have a value of $5,000,000.

The state's apple crop will total 3,216,000 boxes of a value of $3,216,000.

OREGON RECRUITS ONE WAY TO THE BORDER

CAPTAIN SCHUMACHER LEAVES CAMP WITHYCOMBE WITH 161 MEN FOR THIRD OREGON.

CAMP WITHYCOMBE, Ore., Aug. 8.—Shortly before 9 o'clock tonight the detachment of recruits for Oregon troops, that has been forming at Camp Withycombe since June 30, left for the border on a special train.

There are 161 men in the detachment. They went under the command of Captain George Schumacher. Assisting Captain Schumacher as acting sergeants are Oren A. Mulkey, Hartland Watson, Eustace C. Grace and Charles Henrys.

Friends and relatives thronged the camp today bidding the boys goodbye. Men who were happy and gay last night were just a bit sober at the thought of what might lie before them.

A jollification party, preparatory to departure, was held at the Y. M. C. A. tent last night. There was some singing of the old-time war songs and they went with a martial swing.

GIRL WILL GET $2500 FOR LOSS OF ONE HAND

PROBATE PAPERS REVEAL SUM IN SETTLEMENT—ANOTHER CASE IN COURT.

Miss Lela Crites, the daughter of James Crites, of Gladstone, will receive $2,500 from the Oregon City woolen mills in settlement of a damage claim against the plant, following the loss of one hand June 9, 1916, according to probate papers filed in the county court Friday. Mr. Crites was appointed guardian for his daughter, who is 17 years old. The girl's hand was caught in a machine in the plant and so badly cut that it was necessary to cut it off.

A petition for the appointment of a guardian for Joe Brosig, a minor, was filed in the probate department of the county court Friday by Antoina Brosig. Joe Brosig was injured while working in Washington, one leg being lost, and $1,380 is due him from the Washington industrial accident commission. Young Brosig is 20 years old.

MEN OF CLACKAMAS COUNTY

He signs so many checks that he is glad his name is short, for it does not require much time to write "O. D. Eby." There is no busier citizen in Oregon City than this one. He is an attorney, and takes good care of a lucrative practice, having the law business of the Willamette Valley Southern railway, of which he is vice-president. Mr. Eby, however, has a hundred and one side lines, chief of which is his work with the Commercial Club, of which he is president. He is chairman of the promotion department of the club, and that job carries with it the general supervision of the annual Booster Day celebration, which is no child's task. He is prominent in the affairs of the Automobile club and of the Soldiers' Relief association, and is a member of the school board. These are only a few of the public affairs in which he is actively interested. He is also a member of the Masons and the Elks. Mr. Eby is Democratic by inclination, and loves Woodrow Wilson like a brother. He is married and has two sons. Fourteen years ago he was a country school teacher at Molalla, and was deputy county clerk for a few months, and studied law in the office of Colonel Robert A. Miller.

SEVENTEEN OUT OF 22 APPLICANTS ARE GIVEN CITIZENSHIP

NONE OF PETITIONS IS DENIED, ALTHOUGH SEVERAL ARE CONTINUED BY COURT.

Seventeen out of 22 applicants for citizenship were given final papers Monday by Circuit Judge Campbell. Chief Naturalization Examiner John S. Smith conducted the examination in the absence of Henry Hazard, who is on his vacation. Mr. Hazard usually attends to naturalization business in the local court.

One applicant, Otto August Mueller, was allowed to change his name to August O. Miller. None of the cases was dismissed although several were continued.

The new citizens are: Peter Malzanti, James Brown Paterson, Louis Zorja, Mathias Justin, Arnt Evenson Lee, Casper Endris, August Carl Kanne, John Thomas Hindle, Ake Hultenberg, Fred Herman Hettman, Charl Thun, John Bohrer, George Randall, George Christ, Josef Paulin, Norbert Cevela, August O. Miller.

CONCRETE MILL GOES UP IN RECORD TIME

WALLS OF NEW HAWLEY PLANT HAVE RISEN TO LEVEL OF SECOND STORY ALREADY.

Rapid progress is being made on the first big addition to the mills of the Hawley Pulp & Paper company here, concrete men having already completed the main walls of the finishing room as high as the ceiling level; and pouring of the floors of the finishing and boiler rooms having been completed. All concrete work in the basement of the new structure, which is a block long, has been finished, and the foundations for the big paper machine are ready to take their load as soon as the machinery arrives.

Scaffolding for the second story walls is partly in place, and carpenters are rushing this work to completion, so as to be ready for the concrete crews when the lower section of the walls harden. Rapid progress is also being made on the new grinding mill being erected on the edge of the dam at the head of the basin. Here crews are being kept busy 24 hours a day, so that all ground floor work can be completed before high water.

FIRM AMERICAN POLICY IS URGED BY C. E. HUGHES

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE WOULD MAKE CITIZENSHIP WORTHY OF HAVING.

RIGHTS MUST BE RESPECTED, HE MAINTAINS IN FIRST SPEECH

Acts of Last Three Years Fills Americans With Deep Sense of Shame—Ruthless Turning Out of Competent Men Criticized.

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—Charles E. Hughes, in the first set speech of his trans-continental trip, tonight assailed the administration vigorously for its foreign policy, its Mexican policy, for appointing men whom he termed inexperienced to diplomatic posts, and for what he characterized as a "raid upon the civil service of the United States."

"He kept us out of war," Mr. Hughes said, referring to the president and a Democratic campaign slogan. "Yet, we seized Vera Cruz. That was war—very ignoble war—and it was called war over the bodies of those dead soldiers; it was called a war of service."

"Talk about policy. What is the president's policy—does any one know? Has the executive ever had a policy for more than six months on the Mexican question? I reiterate, who knows today what the policy of the administration will be three months hence? My friends, the trouble is that this administration has written such a record that, no matter what it says, you do not know whether it will stick to it."

"We have had an exhibition during the past three years which, I confess, fills me with a deep sense of shame."

"When I say that I am an American citizen," the nominee said, "I ought to say the proudest thing that any man can say in this world. But you can't have that prize if American citizenry is a cheap thing, if it is not worthy of protection this wide world over."

The nominee cited the Republican platform declaration that 30,000 government positions had been taken from the operation of the civil service law during the present administration and declared that that sort of thing has got to stop.

STATE SENATOR FROM THREE COUNTIES QUILTS

GEORGE M. M'BRIDE RESIGNS TO RUN FOR MULTNOMAH COUNTY JUDGE.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 3.—George M. McBride, who was nominated last night as an independent candidate for county judge of Multnomah county, today forwarded to Governor Withycombe his resignation as state senator for Clackamas, Columbia and Multnomah counties.

The nomination of Senator McBride as an independent candidate for county judge came as a result of dissatisfaction in Republican ranks over the nomination of George Tazewell. McBride will oppose Tazewell at the general election in November.

Senator McBride's nomination was made at a mass meeting of voters at the Central library last night. His name was placed before the meeting by Jesse Stearns, who declared that the "widespread dissatisfaction over the nomination of Tazewell, because of his public record, made the nomination of an independent candidate a necessity."

FISHING PACT MAY SOON PASS CONGRESS

SENATOR LANE SHOWS SIGNS OF WITHDRAWING OPPOSITION TO MEASURE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Senator Lane, who has been stoutly opposing the bill heretofore passed by the house ratifying the compact between the states of Oregon and Washington, under which they propose to exercise joint jurisdiction over fisheries in the Columbia and Willamette rivers, is showing signs of relenting.

If he does this the bill will pass the senate whenever called up, as Senator Lane alone has prevented its passage on several occasions. The failure of the opposing fishermen to file initiative petitions in both Oregon and Washington robbed Senator Lane of his chief ground of opposition.

NEW MILWAUKIE HAD SURFACE ROAD THROWN OPEN

WORK IS ALREADY UNDER WAY ON EIGHTY-SECOND STREET IMPROVEMENT.

The new Milwaukee-Sellwood road, improved by the county with a five-inch coat of asphaltic concrete, is now open.

The road is one of the principal avenues leading south out of Portland. The hard surface is 18 feet wide and is of the same class of improvement as Main street. County Judge Anderson believes that the road will not cost over 80 cents a yard, far lower than the cost of the Parkplace improvement.

Work has already been started on the Eighty-second street road, leading south out of Portland. This road will be improved for a distance of about two miles. The road for a part of the distance has been brought to subgrade, and the county will begin to put down the asphaltic concrete within a few days.

The best road leading south out of Portland to Oregon City on the east side is through Milwaukie to Clackamas and then to Oregon City. The island road is closed and the Eighty-second street road is more or less torn up.

MYSTERY OF MAN WHO DROPPED OUT OF SIGHT SOLVED

BODY PICKED UP IN MENEFEE MILL POND IDENTIFIED THAT OF WILLIAM PORTER.

REMAINS ARE HELD HERE UNTIL MAN'S RELATIVES ARE NOTIFIED

Identity is Established Through Laundry Marks on Scrap of Shirt—Shingle Weaver Disappeared on March 21.

The mystery attached to the disappearance of William Porter, known better as Mickey Porter, was cleared up Thursday when a body found in the mill pond of the Menefee plant at Milwaukie was identified as that of the missing man.

Porter disappeared March 14, 1916. In spite of the efforts of the officials of both Clackamas and Multnomah counties no trace of him was found. At first it was suspected that he had met with foul play—one theory being that he was hit on the head, robbed and then his body thrown into the river. He was a shingle weaver by trade.

Employes of the Menefee plant first noticed the body floating on the pond. It was pulled ashore and Coroner Hempstead was called. Due to the many months it had been in the water it was badly decomposed, but the coroner decided to hold it for a time in an effort to identify it.

George Johnson, foreman of the mill that it was the body of the missing Porter. Only the undershirt and a part of the outer shirt remained, but on the collar of the scrap of the outer shirt was found a laundry mark which identified the body as that of the missing man. The body was brought to Oregon City and is now being held at the Holman funeral parlors until relatives have had a chance to arrange for a funeral.

A brother-in-law of Porter, Robert Reid, lives at Carlisle, Wash., and his parents reside at Arlington, in that state. Porter was 32 years old and had lived in Milwaukie for some time and was well known in that town.

The theory that Porter committed suicide is favored by Clackamas county authorities.

GUARDIAN IS SOUGHT.

A petition for the appointment of a guardian for Josephine Johnson, an insane person, was filed in the probate department of the county court Saturday by Anna Shaw, her sister. The estate consists of $400 worth of property, and the petition asks for the appointment of William Hammond, of this city, as guardian.

LOCAL INDUSTRY READY TO FIGHT TRAFFIC TIE-UP

BOTH CROWN WILLAMETTE AND HAWLEY COMPANIES SEE EMBARRASSMENT AHEAD.

WEST LINN PLANTS FORTUNATE IN HAVING WATER SHIPMENT ROUTES

Hawley Mills Send Greater Part of Products by Rail, So Would Experience Most Trouble—No Shutdown is Near.

"The west is ideally situated to withstand strike conditions," according to an official of the Crown Willamette Paper company; and according to Willard P. Hawley, Jr., assistant to his father, president of the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, it isn't so at all. This difference of opinion over what would happen to Oregon City's paper industry if a general railroad strike was called, appears to be caused largely by the different fields that the two great paper mills here serve.

The product of the Crown Willamette mills is shipped to consumers almost entirely by boat—95 per cent of the output, officials of the mill say, is carried by water freights. The product of the Hawley mills, on the other hand, goes chiefly to inland points—to southern California and the east—so paralysis of rail traffic would seriously embarrass one mill and hardly be felt by the other.

Hawley People Ready.

Anticipating a possible strike on the railroads, with a resultant tie-up of traffic, officials of the Hawley company, according to Willard P. Hawley, Jr., have already made preliminary plans for operation under strike conditions. The mills would be kept running as long as possible, and paper would be stored in the concern's various warehouses. Such shipments as could be made by boat would be handled. Should the strike be prolonged, so that the warehouses were all filled, it would be necessary to shut down the mills, admitted Mr. Hawley.

Officials of the Crown Willamette company, on the other hand, say that the only embarrassment a railroad strike would cause their plant would be to make it difficult to get "clothing" for the paper machines. The special grades of felt and wire, and the jackets used on the big rolls, are not manufactured in the west, and would have to be brought from the east by boat—either by the Panama canal route or around the Horn. This might cause a brief delay in operation. Products of the mills, however, would be shipped by water.

Water Freight to Aid.

"In case of a railroad strike," said one of the Crown Willamette officials, "the stevedores might stiffen up a little in their demands; but I think the shipping situation could still be met. And as 95 per cent of our product is shipped by water, there would be no need to close down our mills, provided we could get 'clothing' for the paper machines. Some of our customers in inland points, such as Salt Lake City, might feel a pinch if the paper in their warehouses ran out; but in the main our business would not be affected. The west is ideally situated to withstand strike conditions, at least as far as the paper business is concerned."

Outside of the paper business, merchants and others in Oregon City are not anticipating much trouble should a general railroad strike be called. The northwest is favored with water transportation routes, and in case of a rail strike the river traffic would quickly be doubled to handle freight. Most of the supplies that the northwest uses are "home product" to a large degree; meats, grains and vegetables are abundant, and many manufacturing plants furnish other needed materials. And the products that are not manufactured somewhere in the northwest or on the Pacific slope would in time find their way here by ocean carriers operating via Panama or around the Horn.

HARD SURFACE WORK PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Work on the improvement of the Eighty-second street road, leading from Portland into Clackamas county is progressing satisfactorily, according to County Commissioner Adam Knight who returned to Oregon City Tuesday afternoon after a trip of inspection.

Two miles of the Eighty-second street road are being improved with a five-inch coat of asphaltic concrete laid by county employes using county paving machinery. A thousand feet of the base has been laid but none of the top surface has yet been put down. This stretch of road will probably be the last hard surface laid by the county this summer.
