

Ex-Coquille Grid Star Takes Limelight As SOCE Trips OCE 26-13 In Game

Keith Johnson, Red Raider halfback, contributed two dazzling runs giving his team victory over Oregon College of Education 26-13 at the Myrtle Bowl Shrine game at Coos Bay Saturday night.

SOCE started scoring with a 40-yard run by Johnson to pay territory after dodging through a strong defensive line. The conversion was good and the score stood 7-0 for SOCE when the second quarter began.

Two touchdowns in rapid succession typified the tough and driving line and aerial work of both teams. Pinton chalked up the first tally for the OCE squad and added a conversion point after teammates had recovered a SOCE fumble.

Receiving on the kickoff that followed Pinton's score, Ron Maurer of SOCE took the ball on the 12 yard line and dashed 88 yards to score only after outstanding blocking on the part of his teammates. The extra point was kicked and SOCE was leading at the half 14-7.

SOCE tacked on another score early in the fourth quarter when

Touch Ball Starts Intramural Program

High school men's intramural sports started Monday with a touch football contest scheduled to be played between the different classes.

Captains for the teams are as follows: Lathan Westrope, seniors; Clint Martindale and Harold Russell, juniors; George Clayton and Larry Dorland, sophomores; and Tommy Creager, Gene Simpson, and Howard Waggoner, freshmen.

Officers for the intramural players include Bob Sweeney, president; Doug Kistner, secretary; Johnny Clayton, treasurer; and managers Buck Moore, Fritz Peterson, and Frank Schneider.

A double elimination tournament for touch ball will place the four teams on a point basis, with a myrtlewood plaque going to the winning class. The outstanding intramural player voted by the participants will receive a rotating trophy established by the Sentinel.

Other intramurals to be played as the season progresses are volleyball, basketball, shooting, badminton, table tennis, softball, track and field events, golf and rifle shooting.

Gridder Is Top CHS Thespian

Jim Hollenbeck, Coquille high school senior gridder and popular member of dramatics groups, was elected president of the Coquille Troupe of Thespians last week according to Win Kelley, director.

Elected to serve with Hollenbeck are Joyce Mitchell, vice president; Sally Jeffrey, secretary; Colleen Brinkley, treasurer; and Marcia Mauney, historian.

OSC Student Work Shown At Exhibit

Drawings and sketches done by art classes at Oregon State college will be on exhibit October 6th through the 15th between 1 and 4 p.m. at the art center in the courthouse.

The Coquille Valley Art Association is sponsoring the exhibit, and members of the association are on duty at the exhibit to act as guides. The exhibition was arranged through the office of OSC art department director Gordon Gilkey, who is also president of the Oregon Art Alliance.

TRIO HUNT IN EASTERN ORE.
Thurman Hickam, Dennis Waggoner and Ray Wilson were deer hunting in eastern Oregon this past weekend, but returned without any venison.

HUNTS NEAR SILVER LAKE
Bill Buell stopped en route to the Silver Lake area west of Lakeview and took his son Stanley and Ralph Syphie hunting with him. The party brought back no deer, and reported that many hunters were in the area. Buell left Coquille Saturday night and returned Monday.

No Two Gallon Hunting Parties Needed In Woods

Two gallon hunting parties, annually doing untold damage to West Coast tree farms, will get a cool reception this year, according to E. T. Stammer, chairman of Industrial Forestry Association.

The forest leader said the destruction caused by hunter's fires, loss from theft, and the wanton damage to all kinds of property by a vandal fringe of men—more celebrants than hunters—has reached the proportion of a public scandal in Oregon, Washington and California.

Stam called upon organized sportsman groups, such as Wildlife, Federations, Pogo clubs and Isaac Walton Leagues to join hands with tree farmers in an effort to "clean out this bully-boy element from the ranks of gentlemen hunters."

He said the worst fear this year by tree farmers is the potential loss from hunters' abandoned campfires and carelessly thrown cigarettes.

Loss from stealing is a sore point with tree farmers who have extended all sorts of courtesies to hunters to help them get their game. Last year many power saws were stolen, and some hunters think it sporting to steal gasoline, oil, tires, small tools, water pipe and even food from logger's cabins.

Another black mark on the hunter's record is the reckless shooting of windows from lookout towers, cabins and equipment, puncturing of oil drums and water tanks, damage to signs and power insulators, and destruction of spark plugs on tractors and engines. Favorite sport of some of these vandals, Stam points out, is to shoot off gates where trespassing is inadvisable due to serious fire conditions, actual logging operations, or impassable condition of roads.

Roseburg Edges Red Devils 27-26 In Non-Conference See-Saw Game

Roseburg's Indians relaxed Friday night when the closing gun fired on a 27-26 score which had see-sawed back and forth during the pigskin clash with Coquille on the Indian home field.

Successive yardage gains by Moltu preceded the first score made after four and one-half minutes of play by DeMain, after which the Indians made a series of first downs that put them on the one yard line. A touchdown by Dancho tied up the score 6-6 after nine minutes had passed.

Roseburg started the second quarter with a series of reverse plays, but an Indian fumble recovered by Miller of Coquille put the Red Devils back on the offensive. A Dungey to Moore pass met with success and the scoreboard read 12-6 for Coquille after the conversion failed.

A series of pass plays by the Indians brought them to the nine yard line where a fourth down attempt to score failed and the Red Devils took over. A recovered fumble gave the ball to the Roseburg squad, who drove to the two yard line, when Desbain went over for the Indians. The Indian conversion by Ollar was good, bringing to score to 13-12 for Roseburg.

After the half, a run by DeMain to pay dirt and a successful kick by Hollenbeck put the Red Devils in the lead once more at 13 to 19. The Red Devils drove deep into the

Myrtle Point 11 To Host Coquille Red Devils Friday

Red Devil coach Spike Leslie is working his squad carefully at practice sessions this week to avoid further injuries to squad members who will tangle with the Myrtle Point Bobcats at the latter's home field Friday night.

Several bad bruises were suffered by Red Devil varsity members in their close fight with Roseburg last week. Efforts of the manager's crew plus light workouts are expected to bring a full strength turnout for the Myrtle Point game.

Quarterback Doug Kistner is currently on the sick list with a near case of pneumonia, and the nimble signals caller may be out of uniform for the rest of the season.

Defensive drills are on schedule for this week, as defensive plays were weak at the Roseburg game, according to Leslie.

Myrtle Point has an enrollment of close to 300 students, and were beaten by the Red Devils 31-0 last year. The Bobcats have dropped games this year to the larger schools of Roseburg, Marshfield and Reedsport.

For the past four years, Coquille firemen have had a corn feed with their families each year. This year the event was held in Patterson's grove September 18th. Over 75 people were present.

A "dunk" tank used to be a fund raiser for the firemen at 4th of July celebrations. Operation of the tank was simple . . . throw a baseball, hit the trigger, and someone got dunked.
