First Tax Bills Out

All Property Owners To Have Coos Statements Not Later Than November 5th, Walker Says

Some Coos County taxpayers received their 1954-55 tax statements this week, and others were scheduled to receive theirs during the next week. According to Tax Deputy Arch Walker all statements will be in the mails before Nov. 5th.

A total of 30,000 tax statements were mailed, and Walker said that as fast as his office can process the rolls from the office of Assessor C. G. (Hode) Caughell, the bills were being mailed.

He asked that persons not receiving statements not write his office as they would get their before Nov. 5, and letters to his office would only hold up mailing work as each letter must be processed and answered. He stressed the fact that barring unforeseen events, all Coos citizens paying taxes would have their statements by Nov. 5.

Deadline for taking the three per cent deadline is not until Nov. 15th.

The tax roll from the office of the county assessor shows a total Coos County valuation of $46,727,937.00 less veterans and other exemptions of $143,890.00 making actual valuation of $46,584,047.00.

Sale Friday Night

Annual Fall Festival sale and farmers market of the McKinley grade school is set for this Friday evening at the McKinley Grange hall.

Among other things there will be a white elephant sale and a fish pond.

Six Openings Scheduled

Shoppers To Have Heyday In Six Stores That Are Opening After Remodeling, Moving, New Ownership

Mix in new owners of the former Schroeder Bros. Jewelry, three new locations, a modernizing job, and a new outlet store, and you have progress with a big capital letter. That's what Coquille buyers have in store for them this weekend when Lorenz Department Store, Thompson's Dutch Boy Paint Store, Canfield's Jewelry, Johnny's Superette and Sears, Roebuck welcome the public.

Lorenz has just completed major remodeling and addition of new windows, displays, and a modern 20th century front to its store.

Thompson's Dutch Boy Paint Store has moved into the bank building formerly occupied by the Superette and the Superette has moved into the old location of the Firestone Store in the Ellingsen building.

Canfield's Jewelry, a successor to Schroeder Bros. Jewelry, is in the same location, but putting out the welcoming mat for new friends.

Helen Holms is announcing her new location in the Grimes Building.

And Sears, Roebuck, who are opening their mail-order office in the C. W. Little Building on West 1st, is also inviting friends to stop in and see them.

All the stores have interesting sales messages in today's Sentinel.

Sanitarian Hired

Second sanitarian for Coos county will be Taylor Sandvigan, Mt. Vernon, Wn., who is due to start work the latter part of November.

He will assist C. Eugene Fields, veteran county sanitarian. The new health department official has been with the Skagit county health department.

Fire Defenses Checked Recently

R. P. Gorman and Dick Wagner, engineers for the Oregon Insurance Rating Bureau spent last week inspecting Coquille's fire defenses for possible re-classification of the city. This new classification would result in lower insurance rates.

The Rating Bureau is supported by Insurance Companies and work in cooperation with the State Fire Marshal's office.

They made a complete study of the Fire Department, water system, fire equipment, pressure hydrants, fire alarm, etc.

At the present time, the city has a 7 classification. According to Mike Huddleston, city engineer, it will take from two to six months for the Bureau's main office to compile the data and determine if Coquille is to be re-classified.

Girl Scouts' Carnival Opens Saturday With Fun And Games For Entire Family

A full evening of fun and entertainment will be enjoyed by Coquille residents at the Girl Scout Carnival scheduled for Saturday at the Community building. The event will get underway at 7 p.m.

There will be no admission charge but a small fee has been set for each game and concession. Featured will be fish ponds, dart throwing, fortune telling, weight guessing and many other concession booths and games. Prizes will be awarded for the games and there will also be balloons and popcorn for the youngsters.

The Girl Scouts have also tentatively scheduled a movie which will be shown during the evening.

Refreshments of cake, pie, coffee and pop will be on sale at the carnival.

Judy Perrott of Troop 12 is chairman of the prize collecting committee and Mrs. Harold Dey is head of the cake and coffee booth committee.

Cooked Food Sale To Feature Goodies

A real collection of choice cooked foods will be on sale Saturday October 30th from 9:30 in the morning at McClary's it was announced today by the sponsoring group, the Coquille Women's club.

Mrs. George Bolster and Mrs. Lonnie Clark are co-chairmen of the affair.

VISIT IN COQUILLE

Mr. and Mrs. John H. White of Prosser, Wn., spent the past few days visiting in Coquille with Mr. and Mrs. John G. Smith. The Whites also brought Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Georgia Q. White, and cousin, Mrs. Mae Elvecoat back to Coquille from Prosser.

Big Game Set Friday Evening At Myrtle Point

Biggest football game of the year—the annual Coquille-Myrtle Point grid classic—is set for Friday night, October 29th at 8 p.m. on the Myrtle Point field.

Leading the division of the league, the Coquille Red Devils showed plenty of power when they swamped Myrtle Creek by a 25-0 score last Friday at Myrtle Creek.

But advance dope on the Myrtle Point Bobcats points to a close game plus the always unpredictable outcome when Coquille and Myrtle Point tangle.

Claver Heading Boy Scout Drive Underway In City

Lloyd Claver was heading the annual Coquille Valley Boy Scout finance drive which started Tuesday morning with a kickoff breakfast in Coquille.

Finance chairman of the drive is Fred Brumbaugh.

Drives in Powers have been completed with Bandon and Myrtle Point starting their finance drives this weekend.

Al Armstrong of Bandon heads that drive; and Chet Weed of Myrtle Point will head the Myrtle Point drive.

Quota for the entire Coquille Valley District is $4,500.

Kiwanis Club Names Campbell

Donald Campbell, pastor of the Pioneer Methodist church, was elected president of the Kiwanis club of Coquille this week.

Other officers are John J. Pickett, vice-president; Ted Roberts, treasurer; and directors, Dr. R. M. Falk, Carol Payton, Jack Greenlund, Don Shore, Walt Schroeder, and Joe Yost.

Teen-Age Hayride Set For Saturday

A real treat is in store for Coquille teenagers Saturday night when the City Recreation director Joe Marchand leads up the youngsters for a real old-fashioned hayride.

The hay journey starts at 8 p.m. from Community building and returns at 9 o'clock for the start of a Halloween teenage dance.

Marchand reports that everyone has been busy working on the Halloween decorating motif for the party and it will "really be a lot of fun."

City Tax Base Ballot Tuesday

City voters in Coquille will be given an extra city ballot on Tuesday, November 2nd, at the general elections asking them to vote yes or no on the question of establishing a new city tax base.

The issue is: "Shall the City of Coquille increase its tax base from $29,012.56 to $50,000?"

If passed, it would allow the city to budget up to $50,000 without resorting to an election authorizing them to exceed the six per cent limitation set by law and previous budgets.

Little interest either for or against has been expressed in the issue.

Several cities and county groups have similar measures before their voters this November however, and it is a recommended procedure by city advisors.

Court Authorizes Transfer Of Funds

Coos County's court has authorized Georgianna Vaughan, county clerk to transfer $195,000 from the general fund to the Road Fund Special Levy as provided for under the 1954-55 budget.

Through this transfer, work can be started on county roads while the weather permits.

Cordon - Neuberger Race Top On Ballot Tuesday With Salmon Closure Bill Running Close 2nd

Voters who go out to the polls Tuesday from 8 to 8 in the 71 precincts of Coos county will be well aware of the race between Sen. Guy Cordon, Republican U. S. Senator, and State Senator Richard L. Neuberger, Democrat, who is attempting to take the seat now held by the Roseburg attorney. It will get No. 1 billing on the ballot, and across the nation.

In Coos county it appears that Democrat Richard Neuberger may have the slight edge, but a heavy turnout of Republican voters could change this and give the election to Cordon, political forecasters predicted this week.

Incumbent Harris Ellsworth is not seriously challenged for his Fourth District Congressional seat by Attorney Charles Porter of Eugene. Ellsworth is seen as an easy winner.

In the gubernatorial contest Gov. Paul Patterson has a big edge over former Portland mayor Joe Carson and Coos county appears to be going along with the rest of the state for Patterson.

It's another toss-up between Allen and Nilsen, Democrat for the post of labor commissioner with both men having strong backing, but Allen having an edge.

In the contest for state legislator, former District Attorney James Norman appears headed for the Salem seat over Democrat R. F. (Dick) Chapman of Coos Bay, though here too, any last minute swing of voters could change the forecast.

Sure of elections are F. C. True, veteran county commissioner who is unopposed; Brewer Mills, county coroner, unopposed; and Charles M. Strawn, North Bend police chief and a Democrat who has had Republican support.

Taking major interest in the county will be the Five Year county road tax which would levy a $450,000 ad valorem tax for five years in order to improve county roads. The measure has the support of the Coos Pomona Grange, the Coos Bay Chamber of Commerce, and many other groups interested in better county roads.

Eight state measures are on the ballot which would (1) allow legislators to set their own salaries. (2) Subdivide counties for electing state legislators. (3) Allow the construction of a mental hospital near Portland. (4) Allow amending of the state constitution by increasing from 8 per cent to 10 per cent the number of voters signatures needed on a petition. (5) Amending state constitution by limiting to 6 miles the maximum levy of a state property tax, unless authorized by voters, and elimination of the 6 per cent limitation as far as it applies to the state. (6) To establish daylight saving time on a state-wide basis. (7) The controversial closure to commercial fishing of coastal rivers. (8) Repealing the milk control law.

On the official judiciary ticket, non-partisan, Judge Dal M. King of Coos county is up for re-election to the office he holds as well as is Judge Frank B. Reid of Lane county. They are to fill two positions.

The supreme court justices, Judge James T. Brand of Coos county, and Judge William C. Perry of Umatilla county, are also on the ballot to fill two positions.

State Superintendent Rex Putnam is unopposed for the post of state school chief.

Precinct 61 Has New Polling Place

County Clerk Georgianna Vaughan has announced that the polling place for Precinct 61 has been changed from the Junior High school to Faith Lutheran church. This change was necessary because of lack of available space at the school.

All residents in that precinct voting in the November general election are requested to use the church entrance that faces North Central Blvd.

Open House Slated At Disposal Plant

Coquille residents will have an opportunity to see the new Sewage Disposal Plant in operation at the Open House scheduled for Sunday afternoon. The event will be held from 1 to 5 o'clock.

Guided tours will be conducted during the afternoon and the operation of the plant explained.

Present for the opening will be City Engineer Mike Huddleston, Plant Operator John Gearhart, Contractor Everett L. Wiggins, representatives from the contracting firm of Cornell, Howland, Hayes and Merryfield of Corvallis and members of the Coquille city council.

1st National Has Land For Building

Manager Sig Peterson of the 1st National Bank confirmed this week the fact the 1st National Bank of Oregon, Coquille Branch, has secured land on 3rd and Adams for the erection of a new modern bank building.

No plans for the present building have been made. No definite date of construction has been set though it is possibly next spring.

Starr Services Slated Saturday

James W. Starr, long time resident of Coos county, died Tuesday at a Lebanon hospital. He had been unconscious for two days. Burial will be in Lebanon following services at 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Born in Yonella, Mr. Starr was 78 years old last April. For more than thirty years, he and his wife, Louisa, and sons, LeRoy and Delbert, lived in Coos county. A longshoreman in North Bend, a farmer in Myrtle Point, a mill worker and worker in the cannery in Coquille, James Starr lived a useful life. He was loved by his friends and neighbors for his good nature and kindness.

Besides the widow and two sons, four grandchildren survive.

All are residents of Lebanon, where Mr. and Mrs. Starr had moved a few months ago from their home in Coquille.

HERE'S COQUILLE—Not today, not yesterday, but at the turn of the century these pictures were taken of Coquille as it looked around the time that the Battleship Oregon was steaming to Manila. Teddy Roosevelt was on his way to become president, and no one knew that Coquille was going to become the thriving, prosperous headquarters for the lumber industry that it now is.
