

CANBY AND SOUTHERN CLACKAMAS

SPECIAL PRIZES FOR POULTRY OFFERED

As the time for opening the big gates at the Clackamas county fair grounds at Canby is drawing near for the thirtieth annual fair to be held by the Clackamas County Fair association, the people of the county are becoming more interested with the coming event. From the present indications the 1919 fair will be the best ever held at the fair grounds. With a good racing program in charge of Ed Fortune, big exhibits in the pavilion and plenty of livestock and poultry, together with plenty of amusements for old and young, the fair will be replete with good features this year.

The superintendents are working over time in order to have their various departments well represented this year. As the crops have been unusually large and of excellent quality this year, Dave Long, who will have charge of the display in the big pavilion, is much encouraged in the way he is being supported by farmers and fruit growers of the county, who are liberal in their donations to make the exhibit the best ever this year. R. G. Scott, county agent, Deputy County Assessor William Cook and Judge Grant H. Dimick, president of the Clackamas County Fair association, are busily engaged in gathering exhibits. These will first be shipped to Salem for the Clackamas county booth of the state fair, for which the county is to enter for one of the big prizes. At the close of the state fair the products will be brought to the Clackamas county fair.

The basement of the court house and the Commercial club building opposite the court house are the headquarters for the displays, and here you will find mammoth squashes and pumpkins, corn, grain, grasses, vegetables and fruits in large quantities. Among those having donated towards the exhibit so far are Neil Christiansen of Mountain Road district, grain and grasses; C. M. Lake, of Boring, four varieties of squashes, pumpkins, citron, 14 varieties of potatoes, rhubarb of mammoth sizes, beans and corn; C. M. Loney, Barton, beans; A. W. Botkin, of Estacada, four varieties of apples; John Bietlas, of Hazelton, 100 feet high; W. W. Everhart, Molalla, timothy; Jerry Flais, Oswego, crimson clover; G. G. Kruse, Oswego, alfalfa, showing the height of the three crops, the first being five feet; second, three feet and the third, about one foot; Mr. Carlson, of Redland, sorghum and fruit.

Andrew Kocher, who has charge of the poultry department, is receiving encouraging letters from prospective exhibitors of poultry. The exhibits in this department will probably be the largest in the history of the fair. A large number of special prizes have been secured by Mr. Kocher. Among these are as follows: Silver cup for best pen of birds in show of any breed, Canby State Bank; silver cup for best cockerel in show, any breed, Leslie V. Gray, Jeweler; silver cup for best pullet in show, First National Bank; fifty baby chicks from best pen of Leghorns, show, Russell K. Butler, of Jennings Lodge; $7.50 for best Buff Leghorns, W. H. Lucke; $7.50 for best pen White Wyandottes, W. H. Bair; $5 for best pen Anconas, Jack Wurfel; $5 for best pen Black Minorcas, Routledge Seed & Floral Company of Portland; $5 for best pen Single Comb Brown Leghorns, Jones' Drug Store, Oregon City; $5 for best Silver Campine; $5 for best pen Buff Orpingtons, Hoge Brothers, Oregon City; $5 for best pen White Plymouth Rocks, Aurora State Bank; $5 for best Pencilled Runner ducks, Aurora State Bank; $4 for best Barred Rock pullet, Meier & Frank Company, Portland; $4 for best White Wyandotte pullet, Meier & Frank Company; $4 for best White Leghorn pullet, Meier & Frank Company; $4 for best Brown Leghorn pullet, J. J. Butzer, Portland; $4 for best Rhode Island Red pullet, J. J. Butzer; $4 for best Ancona pullet, J. J. Butzer; $3 for best Hamburg pullet, J. J. Butzer; $3 for best Polish hen, Routledge Seed & Floral Company; roll of chicken wire, valued at $7.50 for best breeding pen of Single Comb White Leghorns, Canby Hardware & Implement Company; five 50 pound sacks for best parti colored male in the American class; 50 pound sack for best male in the Mediterranean class, any color; 50 pound sack for the best male in the English class, any color; 50 pound sack for the best male in the Polish class, any color and 50 pound sack for best male in games, any color. The Golden Rod Milling Company; $3 for extinguisher for the best pair of Toulouse geese, The Farmers' Fire Relief Association; $5 for best bird in the show, any breed, Roberts Brothers, Portland; $2.50 for best pair of Bantams, any breed, Huntley Brothers' Drug Company, Oregon City; $2.50 for best Flemish giant hare, J. J. Sandness, Canby; $2.50 for best Rhode Island Red cockerel, C. L. Bates, of Canby; $2.50 for best Barred Plymouth Rock cockerel, Joe Gibson; $2 for best game cockerel, Routledge Seed & Floral Company; two yearly subscriptions to the Observer as follows: one year for best New Zealand Red rabbit, The Aurora Observer; one year for best Checkered Giant rabbit; one year for best Flemish Giant doe rabbit, Weekly Enterprise, Oregon City; three yearly subscriptions as follows: one year for best Bronze turkey; one year for best pair Pekin ducks; one year for best pair pigeons, any variety, The Clackamas County News, Canby; roll of chicken wire, valued at $7.50, for best breeding pen of Barred Plymouth Rocks, Hazelwood Company, Portland; roll of 4-foot Union lock poultry fence, valued at $7.50 for the best breeding pen of Single Comb Rhode Island Reds, Carlton & Rosenkrans Company, Canby.

Mrs. A. H. Knight is superintendent of the domestic science department, Mrs. Bertha Hurst superintendent of the floral display; Mrs. J. L. Waldron, of Oregon City, superintendent of the needlework; George DeBok, superintendent of horses; Dave Long, superintendent of pavilion; J. E. Calavan, of Oregon City, superintendent of the juvenile department; Andrew Kocher, Canby, superintendent of poultry department with Ben F. Keeney, Judge; W. W. Everhart, Molalla, superintendent of swine and cattle department. Improvements have been commenced in the interior and exterior of the building. The horse sheds are in need of repair, and these have already been looked after, and the work of improving these has been commenced. From the appearance of things at the present time it is probable there will be need for additional sheds for the livestock and poultry. A large number are to be brought from the state fair. The Moose band will furnish the music for the four days commencing October 1.

Cupboards Filled With Delicacies

The women of Canby have worked diligently through the summer preparing food for the winter's use. Jellies, jams and canned fruits and vegetables are stored in cupboards, and from the indications Canby housewives will be able to supply the needs of the household during the entire winter and spring with delicacies.

Among those making the necessary preparations is Mrs. J. Fuller, of the Cottage hotel, who has already 400 quarts of canned fruit, besides seven gallons of jam and jellies. No store-canned fruit goes on the table of the Cottage, all such being prepared by Mrs. Fuller herself.

First Potatoes Leave For South

The first fall shipment of potatoes from Canby were sent on their way to San Francisco this week. These were shipped by the W. H. Lucke commission house. Mr. Lucke says the potatoes are of much better quality than those of last year, and the yield will be larger than was anticipated earlier in the season.

The price being paid for the potatoes to the farmers ranges from $1.75 to $2.00. Many of the growers are commencing their digging. A large crew is engaged in the work on the farm of George Brown, of New Era, the well known potato king of Clackamas county.

CHILD STRAYS FROM HOME CAUSES ANXIETY

"Alice where art thou going. Where will we spend the day?" These words were recalled to Dr. J. Fuller Wednesday afternoon, as he swung on high gear as he "hit the dust" in Canby's streets trying to locate some anxious mother somewhere in this little city, but this was the least of the matter to the little girl who was taking, what she believed a "joy ride" with the big hearted doctor, as she sat beside him in the automobile munching on a piece of the Cottage hotel delicious cake she had been given by Mrs. Fuller when she appeared at the Cottage hotel door. The little girl was perfectly contented with her surroundings, all this time keeping her name and age, (as other girls do) mum from her driver.

Soon after the appearance of the little girl at the Cottage hotel the doctor started out to find to whom she belonged. He soon returned, with the child still seated at his side, and after using up all of his gas, he resorted to the "wires." About every mother and grandmother of Canby were telephoned to, and as names were counted in these homes, the reply would come back over the phone "they are all here, we haven't lost any child." Dr. Fuller was now commencing to believe that it was a case of kidnapper trying to put one over on him, or that an aeroplane that had just passed over the city had played the part of the stork and left the child for him. The perspiration was commencing to roll in big drops from the doctor's face as he continued the telephoning. The good operator, Mrs. Soper, gave her assistance and tried to assist the doctor in locating the child's parents. Just as the doctor had given up hopes of finding the child's parents, an anxious mother rushed up to the Cottage hotel and exclaimed "here is my baby girl!" The doctor gave a sigh of relief and exclaimed "The mother has come, and" and he sank to a nearby chair, wondering whether this was a terrible dream or a case of reality.

The little girl proved to be Alice, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olson, of east Canby, and residing about a half mile distance from the Cottage hotel. The child had made her escape from the home by means of a gate thoughtlessly left open, the little one started out to see the sights of the city of Canby. She succeeded in crossing the tracks safely, although there were several trains loading at the commission houses and also at the depot of the Southern Pacific at the time.

CANBY SCHOOLS OPEN LARGE ATTENDANCE

Never before in the history of Canby have the schools been more promising for a most successful and largely attended year than at the present time. There is an overflow of students, many coming from outside districts, and it will be necessary to add new desks to accommodate the large attendance.

There are a number of new teachers in the high school faculty. Mrs. H. B. Carlidge is principal of the high school, and the faculty of the high school is composed of Professor O. A. Schultz, a graduate of the Reed College, science; Miss Mary Eleanor Eyre, history and Latin; Miss Helen Westell, French and Mathematics. There are 31 in the Freshmen class this year. There are 175 enrolled in the high school, and 183 in the grammar grades. Howard Eccles, of Canby, is in charge of the grammar school, and in charge of the seventh and eighth grades; Miss Mary Miller, primary; Miss Edna Burns second; Miss Florence Davis, third and fourth; Mrs. S. J. Vaughan, fifth and sixth. Miss Marjorie Hein has charge of the Riverside school also in the Canby district.

There are a large number of the boys of Canby, who have been in the service and have returned to take up their studies and to complete their course in the high school. The large service flag hanging in the lobby bears 50 blue stars and five gold stars to mark the boys who have been in the service. The teachers as well as the students are proud of the big flag. The gymnasium is to be improved soon and will be equipped with the necessities required for such an institution.

CANBY PEACH GROWER HARVESTING LAST OF LATE CRAWFORD CROP

C. L. Urfer, one of the prominent fruitgrowers of Clackamas county, whose farm is located at Canby near the Willamette river, was among those to come to Oregon City Thursday Mr. Urfer brought two loads of Late Crawford to this city, this being the last of the crop unless the weather clears and prevents the peaches from falling.

service these will gladly be published. Good news will be given these and returned to the owner.
News of all kind will be appreciated by the Enterprise.

Stand Behind the Legion

The local post of the American Legion is to be heartily commended for its attitude toward the alien slacker when it insists that those who voluntarily renounce citizenship under the stars and stripes, rather than serve in the United States army have forfeited their rights to compete with American citizens in industrial life.

The United States entered the late war in support of a great principle, and those carrying on the work of the legion would not be faithful to the memories of the comrades who sleep under the green sod of a foreign soil were they to take another course.

America will still be the haven for the oppressed, but it should be made hades for those who, when the call came, hid behind the technicality of their birth and refuses a helping hand except at war time wages, and far removed from the sound of battle.

With peace reigning, the value of American citizenship should be asserted and no matter what country gave him, birth, he who seeks these shores desiring to live under the protection of the American flag must be willing to join with our sons and if necessary give of his life blood to perpetuate the red of its stripes.

rotting on the trees. Mr. Urfer is specializing in peaches, and among the varieties he has sold this year from his place are the Early Perfection, Posters, Muirs, Early Crawford and Late Crawford. He received $1.50 per bushel box for the fruit, and harvested about 1600 bushels. The pickers were still employed at the orchard Thursday afternoon, and rushing the work to completion.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR WALTER HEHN TO BE AT ELEVEN O'CLOCK

The funeral services of the late Walter Oswald Hehn, who was drowned in Clear Creek Monday evening when stricken by heart disease, will be held from the family home at Lower Highland this morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. E. A. Smith of Lents officiating. Interment will be in the Clarks cemetery, and the remains will be laid to rest in the family lot. The E. A. Brady undertaking establishment of this city will have charge of the funeral arrangements.

The young man, who was about 19 years of age, was the son of John Hehn of Lower Highland.

Texas Who Taught English Soldiers How Easy It Is to Use Artificial Arms

Quentin D. Corley
Quentin D. Corley of Dallas, Tex., is cheerful despite the fact that he is armless. He says that with modern artificial limbs a man can do almost anything. To demonstrate this he was sent to England to show war victims how to use artificial arms. This photograph was taken when he returned recently to America.

GEORGE CHENOWETH ACQUITTED BY JURY OF MURDER CHARGE

MARSHFIELD Ore., Sept. 17.—George Chenoweth, formerly a county commissioner and member of the legislature, who last spring shot and killed George Sydnor at a dance at Langlois, today was acquitted by a jury in the district court at Gold Beach after a deliberation of an hour and a half.

The case lasted ten days. The defense pleaded temporary insanity, said to have been brought about by shell shock sustained when Chenoweth was gassed and wounded in France.

Sydnor was shot twice after he is said to have refused to marry Chenoweth's daughter. Sydnor is said to have been the father of the child, born while Chenoweth was with the Canadians in France.

The trial, because of the prominence of the principals, has drawn large crowds, all of the hotels of the town have been filled and many even pitched tents on vacant lots and camped through the time of the hearing.

PRESIDENT NAMES CONFERENCE MEMBERS FOR OCTOBER MEET

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—President Wilson made public here tonight the names of 22 men who will represent the general public in the national conference which is to begin in Washington on October 6 to consider plans for a new relationship between employer and employee. Twenty-two representatives to sit in the conference will be selected later by organized labor, the leading agricultural associations, investment bankers and manufacturers.

On the president's list of those who will represent the public are: Bernard M. Baruch of New York, former chairman of the war industries board; Robert S. Brookings of St. Louis, former chairman of the price-fixing committee of that organization; John D. Rockefeller, Jr.; Judge Elbert H. Gary of New York; Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard; Charles Edward Russell of New York and John Spargo of Vermont. The last two are socialist leaders.

"You can get the best 50c meal in Clackamas County every day including Sunday at West Linn C. W. Inn, across the bridge from Oregon City, 6:30 to 8 A. M., and from 12:00 to 1:00, and 5:30 to 6:30 P. M. Haircut 35c, shave 20c, shower bath 25c same place."

CONFERENCE MEETING CALLED TO DISCUSS SUSPENSION BRIDGE

As the result of the special conference meeting held Tuesday evening by representatives of the County Court of Clackamas county and of the city councils of Oregon City and West Linn, a special committee, composed of J. T. Tobin of Oregon City, L. L. Porter of West Linn and E. J. Williams of Willamette was appointed to confer with the State Highway commission on the proposed construction of a new suspension bridge across the Willamette river in this city to replace the present wooden structure.

A week ago the State Highway commission made a proposition to the Clackamas county court and to the municipalities of West Linn and Oregon City that it would furnish in the sum of $100,000 for the construction of the proposed bridge, providing that Clackamas county would raise the sum of $148,000, it being stated that the bridge would cost approximately $248,000 to construct.

At the meeting held Tuesday evening the various angles of the question were discussed and the possibilities of the raising of the necessary funds gone into. The attitude of the representatives from West Linn and Oregon City showed conclusively that the building of the new bridge met with favor, but that the possibilities of raising funds would be an obstacle because of the fact that, on the part of Oregon City at least, no funds are at present available by bonding or otherwise without the calling of a special election to authorize such a move.

The sentiment of the meeting Tuesday evening was apparently to the effect that the new bridge, while it would serve the needs of Oregon City and West Linn more efficiently than does the present structure, the proposed structure, being a link in the Pacific highway, is more important to the state than it is to the county, and that the bulk of traffic over the bridge would be of the nature that would bring no revenue to either the county or Oregon City and West Linn. For that reason the belief was freely expressed at the meeting that as it was to the greater interest to the state to build the proposed bridge to further complete the Pacific highway it devolved upon the State Highway commission to provide funds for its erection.

PETITION PRESENTED TO STATE SECRETARY WOULD BAN CIGARETS

SALEM, Or., Sept. 17.—An initiative petition to make unlawful the sale, use or possession of cigarettes in Oregon after January 1, 1921, was filed today with the secretary of state by D. E. Frost of Portland.

The bill makes it the duty of the mayor of any city or town as well as of the regular police officers to make inquiry of any person caught using cigarettes as to where and under what circumstances he procured them, and upon failure to give the information to report to the district attorney.

For first violation of the proposed law a fine of not more than $100 is provided, for the second violation not more than $200 or less than $25 or by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed 30 days or both fine and imprisonment and for subsequent violations the measure requires imprisonment for 30 days in addition to fines.

PRESBYTERIANS CALL REV. EDGARD TO FILL LOCAL PULPIT
