Dr. and Mrs. George Hoeye left Saturday in their automobile for Salem, where they are to spend the week in their cottage at the State Fair grounds. This is the annual outing of Dr. Hoeye and his wife, Mrs. Hoeye having missed but one year since the state fair started many years ago. Dr. Hoeye managed to return from the East in time to take in the 1919 fair. He returned a few days ago from Iowa where he had gone to attend a family reunion held at his old home. There were 60 relatives attending. This is the first time Dr. Hoeye has visited his old home town in 40 years and he found many changes when going back to his old home town. While in Iowa he visited relatives at Waukegan and Adelle, as well as at Des Moines. While in the latter city he attended a special course at the Chiropractic school. Dr. Hoeye had not seen many of his relatives for 40 years, and brothers that were boys when he left are now men with families. He prefers the West to the East and was glad to be back in Oregon City, although he had a most delightful visit, making many motoring trips out from the cities in which he was visiting.

Major and Mrs. Frank Newton arrived in Oregon City Thursday morning from New York, and are visiting at the home of Major Newton's mother, Mrs. K. L. Newton, of Tenth and John Quincy Adams Streets. Major Newton is a former Oregon City young man, having spent his childhood days here, and where he was reared. He has seen much military service, being a veteran of the Spanish American War and also was in the regular service in 1901 and took an active part in the Boxer war in China. In 1917 he entered the service again to go to France. He has recently returned from overseas service, having been in France for almost two years. He was rapidly promoted to major after being in the service while in France. Major and Mrs. Newton are to remain here for about a week, the former to report at the Presidio, San Francisco, as he is still in the service, and after receiving his discharge will make his home in San Francisco, the former home city of Mrs. Newton.

The Enterprise has a souvenir of the recent war in France that Editor E. B. Brodie prizes very highly, for it came from a printing office at the rear of the Rheims cathedral. The office was blown to atoms by one of the big shells which scattered over the ground all kinds of type and machinery. Lieutenant Lloyd Harding, brother-in-law of Mr. Brodie, believing the editor of the Morning Enterprise would appreciate one of the big letters used in newspaper job work, picked the letter from the ruins and brought it to Oregon City. It is a letter "H" and shows the result of the shell that struck the building.

H. A. Berkman, who has been an accountant for the Electro Manufacturing Company, with headquarters at Portland, left Sunday evening for Chicago, Ill., where he will be manager of the Eastern branch office that is being opened. Mrs. Berkman and daughter, Barbara, are to remain in Oregon City and are to occupy the Toole residence at Thirteenth Street, where Mrs. Berkman has resumed her studio work. Mr. Berkman expects to join his family within a few months in this city as soon as the Eastern branch is thoroughly established. Mr. Berkman was formerly connected with the firm of Miller & Parker.

Mrs. Gust Leach, of Redland, was among the Oregon City visitors Friday. Mrs. Leach has been in Portland, where she has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Willet, the latter formerly Miss Annabelle Leach, of Redland, whose marriage to Mr. Willet took place in March, and was the culmination of a pretty romance, when the young man came West from New Jersey with his company while in the service, and where he met and won the young woman of Redland, who was a stenographer in Portland at that time. She was a former student of the Oregon City high school.

Levi Pierce left Sunday for Lebanon, where he has purchased a farm, and his family will join him at a later date. Miss Elizabeth Pierce, a daughter, will remain here until the first of October, when she leaves for Lebanon to join her parents. Miss Lena will enter the Behnke-Walker Business College, where she will take a course in shorthand and typewriting. Both young women have been among the popular and most obliging operators at the local exchange of the Pacific Telephone Company since taking up their residence here. They were former residents of Canby.

Mrs. Mary F. Fulton, of Chico, Butte county, Calif., who has been spending the past year in Oregon City as a guest of her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Hackett, will leave for her home early in October. Mrs. Hackett is contemplating accompanying her mother to California, where she is to visit her old home at Chico and visit her sons and other relatives. Mrs. Fulton is much impressed with Oregon City, and since being here has taken many delightful trips. Among the trips to be taken before returning will be to the Oregon State Fair and Clackamas County Fair.

Elmer I. Terrill, well known young newspaperman of Oregon City, formerly connected with the Morning Enterprise, will leave Monday for Salem to take a position on the Capital Journal. Mr. Terrill was on the staff of the Medford Mail Tribune and Medford Sun, papers jointly owned by George Putnam who several weeks ago bought the Capital Journal. He will assist in a general scheme of renovation with the Salem newspaper, outlined by Mr. Putnam. Mr. Terrill is in Salem on Monday.

John Dembach, recently returning from France where he has been in the service for about two years, left early in the week for New York, where he will enter Columbia University. Dembach is a graduate of Reed College, was elected to teach in the high school of Canby, but resigned the position to enter college in the East, where he went to take a special training in physical education. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dembach of Eleventh and Harrison Streets.

John Deininger, a well known farmer and insurance man of Clackamas county, whose farm is in the Redland section, was among those to transact business in Oregon City Wednesday. Mr. Deininger was on his way home from Canby, where he had been to purchase seed from one of the commission houses of that city for his fall planting. Mr. Deininger has a large farm, a large portion of which is under cultivation.

Thomas Burke arrived in Oregon City Wednesday from Chicago, and will visit here for a few days. Mr. Burke has been elected as secretary of the affiliated Chataqua of the United States, with offices in Chicago, and he will take up his residence there soon. Mrs. Burke, who was in California for some time with her husband, and returning some time ago, will leave with her husband for their new home.

A. D. Gribble, prominent dairyman of Clackamas county, whose farm is located near Canby, was among those to transact business here Friday. Mr. Gribble is contemplating entering some of his livestock, including Jersey cows and sheep in the coming county fair. He has exhibited at the county fair since it has been held in Canby, and always carries away blue ribbons on his stock.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bussinger, of Modesto, Calif., driving through to Walla Walla, Wash., stopped over a few days to visit Mrs. Bussinger's brother, Dr. H. W. Paine. They have no praise for the condition of the Oregon roads south and met tourists all through Southern Oregon, who advised them to turn and go the other way, but they agree that the Oregon scenery can't be beat.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Anderson from their son, Ed, a former resident of this city, now of Tumalo, Oregon, that he has purchased 20 acres more of land additional to the 160 acres of land purchased last summer. Anderson says he is making $4 now where he used to make $1 here, and is delighted with the life of the stockman, which he is now engaged in.

Miss Mary Mattley, who left here about a week ago to take up her duties as an instructor in the Roseburg schools, writes to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mattley, of this city, that she is highly pleased with her new work. Among the studies she is instructor of are mathematics and physiology. Miss Mattley graduated from the University of Oregon in June.

Mrs. B. H. Stewart, of Linn's Old Mill, who has been caring for her three children suffering from smallpox, has also contracted the disease, but it is a very light form, and the patient is now able to leave her room. It will be 21 days before the family is out of quarantine, although all cases have been unusually light. Dr. C. A. Stuart is the attending physician.

A hunting party composed of Marvin Eby, Merlin Fox, Roland Eby and Louie Kierchen, who have been enjoying an outing in the wilds of Clackamas county, many miles beyond Molalla, have returned to Oregon City, but failed to get any big game. Instead of getting game they caught many fish, and brought home some of the fish to show just what they caught.

W. A. Alcorn of Brightwood, one of the most popular mountain resorts in the Mount Hood section, was among the Oregon City visitors Thursday. Mr. Alcorn owns much valuable property at Brightwood, and is looking forward to the time when the highway will pass through that section, saying it will add value to all property in that section.

L. Blau who is in the poultry business at Parkplace, specializing in the White Leghorn breed, having 450 birds, is also in the fruit business as well, and his apple trees have never been so heavily laden with fruit as this year. His apples are largely of the King and Spitzenburg varieties, and he is selling them from the trees.

An application for a widow's pension was filed with the County Clerk Miller Monday by Mrs. Carrie Stratton, of Gladstone, who states in her application that she is the sole support of a daughter 29 years old who is absolutely incompetent and demands constant attention.

George DeBok, who is at the Oregon State fair, and who is among the prominent stockmen of the county, is exhibiting some of his stock, and has won first prize on a calf he is showing Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hughes are also at the fair with their Guernseys.

Charles Holman, of Portland, a former resident of Clackamas county and owner of a farm at Meadowbrook, was among the Oregon City visitors Wednesday. Mr. Holman came here on business.

Miss Glyde Schuebel, who taught her first school at Clairmont last fall and closing in June, will leave this week for Eugene, where she will take a course at the University of Oregon.

Riley Meeks, of Canby, was in Oregon City Monday. Mr. Meeks is arranging to sell his livestock at his farm and have a large sale in general, this to be held within a few days.

L. A. Daugherty, one of Clackamas county's most prosperous farmers, whose farm is located at Molalla, was among those to transact business in this city Monday.

A marriage license was issued by County Clerk Fred Miller to Miss Anna Genevieve Kelly and Charles H. Delman, both of Clackamas, Oregon.

E. R. Leek, well known resident of Clackamas county, whose farm is located at Redland, was among the Oregon City visitors Saturday.

E. J. Swank, a well known farmer of Estacada, was among those to transact business here Monday.

W. L. McCabe, of Marmot, was among those to transact business in Oregon City Tuesday.

Alfred Schneider, of Estacada, was among those to transact business in this city Tuesday.

George Christ, of Redland, was among those to transact business in this city Tuesday.

Robert Kruger, of Clackamas, was among those to transact business in this city Tuesday.

J. C. Scarfe, of Walluga, was here Wednesday afternoon, where he transacted business.

L. P. Duffy, a well known farmer of Hoff, was among the Oregon City visitors Monday.

J. E. Vick, of Liberal, was here on Tuesday, where he transacted business.

Sidney Smith, of Estacada, was among the Oregon City visitors Monday.

Mrs. Catherine Pfeifer, of Milwaukee, was an Oregon City visitor Wednesday.

L. F. Sherman, of Milwaukee, was among the Oregon City visitors Tuesday.

George Holman, of Hoff, was among those to transact business here Tuesday.

L. F. Burghard, of Molalla, was among the Oregon City visitors Tuesday.

George Blatz, of Estacada, was among the Oregon City visitors Tuesday.

Timothy Casey of Boring was among the Oregon City visitors Wednesday.

WORK—WORK—WORK
Remember, able-bodied boys over 15 years old, and under 60, the Crown Willamette Pulp Mills at Oregon City and West Linn will need men in October and November for the winter season. Just keep them in mind when arranging your winter work schedule. They have a fine hotel just for employees, at low rates.—Adv.

HOUSEWORK TEDIUM LOSES CHARM TO WIFE; HUBBY ASKS DECREE

Gilbert Morris is the plaintiff in a divorce suit filed in the office of County Clerk Miller Tuesday afternoon. The defendant is Caroline Morris, whom he married April 9, 1917.

Morris, in his complaint, says the defendant has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment and personal indignities toward him and has made life unbearable for several months. He says he entered the service on July 5, 1918, enlisting in the United States marine service and that he returned on March 15, 1919, and that while in the service it became necessary for the defendant to engage in work which she did, and upon his return from the service, says Mrs. Morris declined to keep house and cook or do any ordinary housework; and says that she stated if it was necessary for her to keep house again she would not live with him. On August 23, 1919, she left for Tacoma, where she went to make her home.

COURT GIVES CHILD TO SISTER SPENDING PROBE OF COMPLAINT

Anna Rose Stanzer filed a petition September 18 in the office of County Clerk Miller setting forth that Estella Tanzer is a dependent child and that she is residing in a home which is unfit for such a child by reason of neglect and cruelty on the part of the father, S. Tanzer, and the stepmother of the child.

The girl has been turned over to Anna and May Tanzer, sisters of Estella, until Mrs. Minda Church, juvenile officer, can investigate and locate a permanent home for her, at which time a permanent order of the court will be made.

Tanzer's wife, mother of Estella, died several years ago, and he married again on August 28, 1917. He is a native of Austria, and was naturalized an American citizen Nov. 5, 1917.

BOOTLEG WHISKEY IS CAUSE OF ARREST AND FINE OF MULINO PAIR

Sydney Irish and E. Wilkinson, who were arrested at Mulino last Saturday evening on a charge of being intoxicated, were tried before Justice of the Peace, Livy Stipp Friday afternoon and fined $25 each.

The two young men were brought to Oregon City by Deputy Sheriffs Hughes and Hubbard after their arrest by Constable Ed. Fortune.

BEAVER CREEK COUPLE SURPRISE FRIENDS IN RUNAWAY MARRIAGE

Miss Gertrude Rohlander, one of the most popular young women of Beaver Creek, and Mr. John Watts, also of Beaver Creek, surprised their many friends at Beaver Creek and Oregon City Wednesday afternoon, when they went to Portland, where they were united in marriage by Rev. Griffith, pastor of the Welsh church, at the Reverend's home. The bride, who is a most attractive young woman, was attired in a dainty white gown, and carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bride's maid, Miss Johanna Walters, formerly of Beaver Creek, now of Portland, was prettily attired in pink, and carried pink carnations.

Following the marriage ceremony the young couple left on their wedding trip, their honeymoon to be spent at one of the beaches. Upon their return they will occupy their new home at Beaver Creek.

The bride has been a resident of Beaver Creek since childhood, and is held in the highest esteem by all, her charming disposition having won her many friends.

The bridegroom is one of the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Watts, of Beaver Creek, who answered the call of Uncle Sam when the United States became involved in the world war. Although born in Wales and having been a resident of the United States for but a few years, he was among the first to leave for the service. He was with the medical department, hospital corps. He has a host of friends in Beaver Creek.

Mr. Wilcox, of Portland, was the best man.

Among those attending the marriage were Mr. and Mrs. Harrie Morehouse, Mrs. Havell, of Beaver Creek, Mr. Wilcox, of Portland, and Miss Walters, also of Portland.

MOTORTING TRIP TO ROUND UP ENJOYED SPITE OF POOR ROADS

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Babcock and daughter, Alta, who have been on a motoring trip to Walla Walla, Wash., and Pendleton, Oregon, returned to Oregon City Tuesday evening, after a most delightful trip. They made the trip to Walla Walla by way of Pendleton, but found the roads in many places in poor condition. After visiting in the latter city, where they attended the Round Up, they proceeded to Walla Walla, where they visited at the farm home of Mr. Babcock's brother-in-law, L. Heidenrich, who is one of the prominent fruitgrowers of Walla Walla, and is also engaged in growing prunes and apples. From his 16 acres of prunes this year Mr. Heidenrich's crop will amount to $6,000. His apples will bring almost a like sum. The price paid for prunes when ready for packing was from $106 to $110 per ton. The fruit yield of the Walla Walla district was unusually large this year, and the growers are jubilant.

Mr. and Mrs. Babcock suggest that any one taking the trip to Walla Walla go by way of Goldendale, Wash., as this road is very good except for about seven miles, where it is in fair condition. While making the trip homeward no trouble was experienced.

TRAFFIC VIOLATOR FOUND NOT GUILTY IN JUSTICE COURT

The trial of W. F. Jubb of Mount Pleasant, who was arrested several days ago on two warrants sworn out by Speed Officer Meeds charging him with operating a motor vehicle on the highway while loaded in excess of its maximum capacity and also obstructing the highway, was held before Justice of the Peace Livy Stipp Tuesday afternoon and resulted in the dismissal of the first complaint on demurrer and a verdict of not guilty returned on the second complaint after a short hearing before a jury.

The demurrer upon which the first complaint was dismissed was based on a technicality discovered in the wording of the complaint. The complaint stated that the defendant had overloaded a "motor vehicle" on the highway and the law as worded governs "motor trucks." Attorney for the defense maintained that the term "motor vehicle" was too broad and the court sustained his allegation.

The second indictment charged that he had obstructed the highway by unloading cordwood in the highway right-of-way but the evidence showed that Mr. Jubb's truck had become stuck in loose construction material and he was forced to unload to extricate the truck. It was further shown that he unloaded about four o'clock p. m., and returned early the following morning and took the cordwood away. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty after a very short period of consultation.

EARLY SETTLER OF CLACKAMAS COUNTY PASSES

Judge John William Meldrum, prominent and well favored former Oregon pioneer, a resident of Meldrum Station, which receives its name from him, died at the family home Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, after an illness of several months. Mr. Meldrum, who had been failing for some time, but his death came suddenly, due to heart trouble.

John W. Meldrum was born near

John W. Meldrum

Burlington, Iowa, December 17, 1839, and crossed the plains with his parents, the late John and Susan Meldrum, at the age of five years, passing through Oregon City and proceeding to the state of Washington, where the father took up a donation land claim near Ilwaco. Later Mr. Meldrum returned to Oregon City, and since that time has resided in Clackamas county. In 1865 he engaged in teaching school, taking up his duties as an instructor in Clackamas county.

CLACKAMAS COUNTY EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR CLAIMED WINNER

R. G. Scott, county agent, who has been at Salem, where he has been attending the State Fair, has returned to Oregon City. Mr. Scott was much impressed with the exhibit Clackamas county has at the fair which is under the direction of William Cook and Miss Marie Anthony, the latter a home demonstrator of Clackamas county.

Clackamas county's juvenile department is being directed by Miss Snedeker and J. E. Calavan, the latter county school superintendent. This department is one of the main attractions of the building, and has won first prizes for decorative scheme.

Mr. Scott says Clackamas county has one of the best displays in the big pavilion, and hundreds of people stop at the booth each day and make inquiries as to where the various products are grown. Among exhibits attracting much attention here are the teasles grown by George Gregory, of Molalla. These are artistically arranged in a case, and placed on a table made by the Busch Furniture Company, and at each side are great rolls of paper manufactured by the Crown Willamette Paper Company and the Hawley Pulp and Paper Company. Draped over this exhibit is a handsome blanket manufactured by the Oregon City manufacturing company. There are great pumpkins and squashes that have been entered for the largest in their classes, and there are potatoes that should get a prize, while other articles such as rutabagas, almost too large to carry, and cabbages that are pronounced the finest in the building are leading in the exhibits. Fruit, both canned and fresh, and jellies, much of which has been sent by the people of Hazella, are certain to be among the prizewinners at the fair, and add beauty to the booth, which fills a big space in the building.

With William Cook, of Hazella, Dave Long, also of that section, and Miss Marie Anthony, in charge, Clackamas county can boast of having one of the finest booths in the big building, and all visitors are pronouncing it so. Mr. Long says the only thing lacking for a complete exhibit are pamphlets telling of the inducements which Clackamas county offers to prospective settlers, for it would help the county to distribute something of this nature. All visitors expect at least a pamphlet from the booths representing the counties.

DR. KENDALL OF LOWER HIGHLAND PASSES AT AGE OF EIGHTY YEARS

Dr. John Milton Kendall, of Lower Highland, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. B. Washburn, of that place, Sunday, after a brief illness. Dr. Kendall was born in Pennsylvania and was 80 years of age. He was a Civil War veteran, having been a surgeon during the entire war. He came to Clackamas county two years ago where he has since made his home.

Dr. Kendall is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Washburn, his wife having died one and one-half years ago.

The funeral services will be held at Lower Highland, either Wednesday or Thursday, the exact date not yet being decided upon. Interment will be in the Lower Highland cemetery, the body to be laid to rest beside that of his wife.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF PARKPLACE DIES OF HEART FAILURE

Mrs. Helene Bolle, wife of Alexander Bolle, who has resided in Clackamas county for the past 35 years, making her home on the banks of the Clackamas river about a mile east of Parkplace, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Ryers of Prescott street, Portland, Thursday morning, while visiting at the Ryers home. Mrs. Bolle had been ill for several weeks, but her condition was not thought serious. Her death was due to heart trouble.

Mrs. Bolle, who is the wife of Alexander Bolle, was a native of Alsace Lorraine, France, and came to the United States about 42 years ago. She was united in marriage to Mr. Bolle after arriving in America, and for the past 25 years has resided at her home on the Clackamas river.

Mrs. Bolle is survived by her husband, Alexander Bolle, and the following children: Mrs. Mary Byers, of Portland; August, Alexander, Jr., Henry, John, Edward and Fred, all of whom reside in Clackamas county, except Henry, whose home is in Washington.

FORMER RESIDENT OF OREGON CITY DEAD IN VANCOUVER, WASH.

Mrs. Adelaide Hodgkin, wife of Frank Hodgkin, who died at the family residence in Vancouver, Wash. Friday evening, was a former resident of Clackamas county. She was the daughter of the late Colonel Berryman and Martha Jennings, early Oregon pioneers, crossed the plains in 1849.

Mrs. Hodgkin was a former well known and successful teacher of Clackamas county until her marriage to Mr. Hodgkin. For a number of years she has been a resident of Vancouver, and was prominent socially in that city.

Mrs. Hodgkin is survived by her husband, Frank Hodgkin, of Vancouver; the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. May Abernethy, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Ella Spooner, of Vancouver, Wash.; Mrs. Lillian Clarkson, of Vancouver, who have been at the sister's bedside; Charles Jennings, of San Diego, Calif.; William Jennings, of Seattle, and John Jennings, of Jennings Lodge. She has two nieces, Misses Vera and Nellie Canfield, residing in this city, also a nephew, Percy Canfield, also of Oregon City.

KATHRYN GRADY IN CRITICAL CONDITION FOLLOWING RELAPSE

Miss Kathryn Grady, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Grady residing at 501 Mt. Hood street in Mountain View, was reported Wednesday evening to be suffering from a serious relapse, following a sudden attack of pneumonia contracted several days ago.

Dr. Eaton, who is in constant attendance at the bedside of the young lady, reported at a late hour Wednesday night that her condition is critical in the extreme.
