

"Sudden pain from over-strain"

Every Housewife or Mother is ever under that Nervous Strain which so often results in Headaches, Dizzy Sensations, Faintness, Depression and other Nervous Disorders.

Dr. Miles' NERVINE

is Highly Recommended in Such Cases.

IF FIRST BOTTLE FAILS TO BENEFIT, YOUR MONEY WILL BE REFUNDED.

BADLY RUN DOWN.
"I had become greatly run down and my nerves were in terrible condition. I had frequent headaches and became very weak and was unable to do anything. I bought a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine. I soon began to feel better, my nerves were quieted. I recovered my strength, and have since recommended Dr. Miles' Nervine to many of my friends who have used it with satisfactory results."
MRS. FRANCES WHITLOCK,
179 Broadway, Schenectady, N. Y.

T. S. R. I. E. of the W. M. Clackamas County, Oregon, according to the plans and specifications now on file in the office of the County Clerk of said County.

All proposals to be directed to the County Clerk of Clackamas County and marked "Oregon City and New Era Road" and must be accompanied by a certified check, payable to the treasurer of Clackamas County, in a sum equal to five per cent of the amount of said bid, which check shall be forfeited to the County upon failure of the successful bidder, for a period of five days after award is made, to enter into a written contract, and furnish a satisfactory bond for the execution of the work.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

By order of the County Court of Clackamas County this 30th day of March, 1916.

County Clerk.

Has Eight Children

Mrs. P. Rehkamp, 2404 Herman St., Covington, Ky., writes: "I have been using Foley's Honey and Tar for nearly two years and can find no better cough syrup. I have eight children and give it to all of them. They all were subjects to croup from babies on." It is a safe and reliable medicine for men and women as well as children. Don't let the cough that follows gripe hang on and weaken you. It is easier to get rid of a cough or cold than of its consequences.—Jones Drug Co.

patterns are printed on, leaving a dark base. For inlaid or straight-line linoleum, wood flour is used exclusively. Cork linoleum is always dark, and slightly more elastic than that produced from wood flour. The wearing qualities are about the same. Two methods of producing wood flour are practiced; one using millstones, the other steel burr rollers to pulverize the wood. The latter requires only one-fourth as much power to operate as the former and was developed on the Pacific Coast to handle sawdust as a raw material. The mills of Norway which produce much of the European wood flour are of the stone type.

Wood flour mills are scattered over the country from Maine to California wherever the proper combination of wood and water power is available, and the domestic wood flour competes with the Norwegian product which, before the European war, was delivered at Atlantic ports for $12.50 to $15.00 per ton.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Writer Thinks He Has Discovered Something about "High Cost"

Editor, Courier: Not having very much to do these past bright and pleasant days I have been wandering on the highways and byways, seeing what I could see. And one of the things that attracted my attention was the extremely large number of young men who were patronizing the barber shops and the bootblack stands. Also there were some young women perched on the chairs of the latter. The patrons of these two varieties of establishments did not seem to me to belong particularly to what might be called the "wealthy class"—they were for the most part just plain, ordinary folk.

Now I have no objection to a man patronizing a barber for a shave, or to his permitting a busy Greek to shine his shoes. However, when I was a young man myself we didn't do it. I practiced cutting myself with father's sharp razor as soon as I began to sprout fuzz on my upper lip, and as for my shoes—one of my Sunday drudgeries was to polish ("black") we used to call it not only my own shoes, but my father's shoes as well. My father was well-to-do, too, as things went those days, but he never thought of going to a barber shop for anything less than a haircut, nor did he ever think of having anybody but me black his shoes—unless he did it himself.

We hear a great deal about the "high cost of living" these days. And after my observations, I wonder how much this "high cost of living" is caused by the laziness of our young men, who would rather spend 15 cents for a shave and ten cents for a shine than perform those duties themselves.

Electric Service Brings Real Comfort

It is the little comforts and conveniences—the improved ways of doing the daily household tasks—which change houses into homes.

Electricity has a deft way of doing your housework which is both pleasing to you and most economical.

"But," you say, "my house is not wired. How can I use Electric Service?"

The answer is very simple. Many finished houses here in Oregon City have been completely wired for Electric Service—wired without the slightest damage to walls, ceilings or decorations—without confusion or dirt.

Believing that there are still many households in Oregon City which would be glad to take advantage of Electric Service, we have joined in a great, nation wide movement to wire more houses for Electric Service during "Wire Your Home" Month.

During "Wire Your Home" Month, March 15 to April 15, we will make special concessions which will make it decidedly to your advantage to have your home improved with Electric Service.

We have made arrangements to handle a large volume of business—but some delay will be unavoidable when the rush begins. So make your arrangements early. Write, phone or call today for full particulars and estimates.

KEEP THOUSANDS OF PATIENTS OUT OF THE NATION'S HOSPITALS

Western Drug Merchant Discusses National Health

MONRAD J. OLSEN
of Des Moines, Ia., said, in an interview today.

"If each person in this country would take an occasional laxative dose, our hospitals would lose thousands upon thousands of patients."

Mr. Olsen further stated that he was familiar with and had sold all the various laxatives, and that in his opinion, Rexall Oedettes is the most pleasant and sure remedy for constipation.

HUNTLEY BROS. CO.

Oregon City on the ground that it would cause the Oregon City consumers to pay more for their meat and only benefit the farmer to the extent of one-fourth of a cent per pound. I would like to ask if it would not be a benefit to the farmers when the Oregon City dealers refuse to handle his hogs at any price. There are plenty of farmers who know from experience that two wagon loads of hogs will glut the Oregon City market.

Mr. Streibig admits that the farmers get one-fourth per pound less than the market price for pork. Personally I believe that one to two cents would come more nearly being correct. But granting that the one-fourth cent per pound is right, is it not true that the farmer is entitled to the full market price? Mr. Streibig's excuse for paying less is that the Oregon City dealers furnish meat to the consumers at from three to four cents less per pound than Portland people pay. I believe that is the benefit to the consumer should come from the fact that Oregon City dealers do not have to face the high prices which burden the Portland dealers. If the mill employees cannot pay the market price for meat it is not the fault of the farmers. The employees should go to the mills for adequate wages.

It is surprising that any business man should advocate cinching the farmer for one-fourth of a cent per pound and asserting that if that was impossible the consumer would have to pay three to four cents more per pound. But it is gall of the same calibre as backed the dirty deal given the farmers on the occasion of that little two by four stock sale last spring.

I have never seen a farmer that had a good word for Oregon City. The reason is this narrow, shortsighted ed spirit of Oregon City's business men. Whenever anything is brought up to benefit the farmers Oregon City business men are right there to kill it.

However, if the Live Wires have developed life enough to work for a loading chute they should be commended and encouraged. Some time in the very remote future Oregon City may overtake the little towns up the valley.

LIGHTS FOR SURVEY

Oregon Distances to be Overcome by Use of Powerful Signal Lamps

E. G. Fischer, Chief of the Instrument Section of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, Department of Commerce, has just completed the design and construction of a signal lamp, which will be used during the coming summer in the mountainous regions of Idaho and Oregon on primary triangulation, where the distance between stations is frequently as much as 100 miles. This lamp has been tested by the Bureau of Standards, and is shown to be more than 150 times as powerful as the acetylene signal lamps, which have been used for a number of years by the Survey.

These acetylene lamps have been observed with the telescope over lines more than 120 miles in length. The new lamp is an electric one, with a specially designed filament, and the power is the ordinary dry cell. While no tests have been made on the field with the new lamp, it is expected that ordinary haze or smoke will seldom prevent observations.

CITY FOLK TOP LIST

Recruits from the large cities make the best sea soldiers, according to Sergeant Walter E. Carel, of the United States Marine Corps.

"I am perfectly willing to concede that love for country has a larger meaning in the rural community than in the large city—that the rural youth is a better physical specimen and is more patriotic than the city fellow, but the recruit from the large town is keener, wider awake, and will more readily adapt himself to conditions as he finds them. Therefore he makes the best Marine—especially in action."

Sergeant Carel has had years of experience in Marine Corps recruiting.

WOOD USED IN DYNAMITE

Waste from Sawmills Now Enters into Manufacture of Explosives

More than twenty thousand tons of wood flour, valued at $300,000, are used annually in the United States in two widely different industries, the manufacture of dynamite and the manufacture of linoleum. Wood flour is also used in making composition flooring, oatmeal paper, and in several other industries. It forms one of the means by which the huge waste product of our lumber mills is beginning to find some better means of disposal than the burner. Since a total of 36,000,000 cords of such waste is produced each year at sawmills in the United States, of which about one-half goes into the furnaces as fuel while the rest is burned as refuse to get rid of it, there is no lack of raw material for industries which can develop ways of turning this waste to account.

All wood flour-using industries require a white or very light cream-colored flour having good absorptive powers. The wood species that may be used are confined to the light, non-resinous conifers, and the white broadleaved woods like the poplar, Spruce, white pine and poplar are the species most used. Mill waste, free from bark, furnishes much of the raw material for making wood flour.

For use in dynamite, the trade demands are said to require a white wood flour, since the freshness of dynamite stock is indicated by a light color. Dynamite flour must also be very absorptive, so there will be no leakage of nitroglycerine from the finished product. Wheat flour will refuse and infusorial earth have also been used in dynamite making, but wood flour has practically replaced them in this country.

In the manufacture of linoleum, either wood or cork flour is used. The flour is mixed with a cementing material, spread out on burlap and rolled or pressed to a uniform thickness. The cement is the expensive constituent. Cork linoleum is the cheaper because less cement is necessary. The
