

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All druggists, 75c.—F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

THE FASHIONS

Perhaps the most fascinating thing about the fashions this spring, is their seeming simplicity. Although a trifle more frilly and fussy than for a season or two back, this dainty little lingerie frock from Jenny, and that summer dress of striped chiffon and taffeta, from the Maison Agnes, look, as the dainty mannequins show and spread out the voluminous skirts before you, as if it would be the easiest thing in the world to turn them out at home. Why, the skirt is merely a double flounce of embroidered batiste on a taffeta foundation, and the sleeveless taffeta bodice which could be made from that strip of blue, pink, or changeable taffeta left from the frock of other days. The full straight skirt on another frock is made from three straight lengths gathered at the top, the fulness evenly distributed, and finished at the bottom with a quilling of the same silk. The puff sleeves are quaint and pretty, very dainty and youthful.

Serge, Taffeta and Faille

These three materials are the leaders again this spring, with here and there a quaint rival; for instance, at a recent fashion show, there appeared a most attractive costume, a three-piece suit of Drexell's, deviating from the usual, whether this is to be taken as an indication that taffeta will again be modish this season, or not, is a question. It is rumored that materials are so scarce on the other side of the ocean this year, that many an old fabric is being brought out from its almost forgotten resting place and fashioned into as spring or summer costume. Etamine was a particularly satisfactory summer fabric, cool, durable and soft. It would not come at all amiss were it to be revived this year.

Serge is as popular as ever, although it is said that we may have our troubles in dyeing it later on. Attractive combinations of taffeta and serge, and faille and serge are seen in many of the new suits for Easter. An effective suit of Cheruit's is fashioned of mixed dark blue covert. At a distance it cannot be told from serge; and of course, for the sport suit, tweed is very popular. A particularly smart suit, made by Lanvin, is a light gray tweed trimmed with French blue roadcloth. There is very little of the leather, introduced earlier in the season, to be seen about the late coats and suits, whether for sport purposes or the regulation tailored wear. Beer clings to the notion in a novel cape coat suit. The coat is fashioned of a new waxed silk, which greatly resembles leather, especially at a distance; it is dark blue and is combined with a skirt of dark blue gabardine. Paquin shows a coat of covert for afternoon wear, trimmed with dark blue patent leather, but, except for motoring and such use, leather is not to be reckoned with to any extent. Now and then an odd leather motif is applied to a hand bag, or trims a sport hat effectively, but for most other purposes, satin has superseded it.

Taffeta and Wash Fabrics

A pretty notion in the new summer frocks is the touch of taffeta or other silk on the dress of batiste, voile, crepe, or organdy. These colored batiste flouncings, organdies, and silk-embroidered crepes and voiles, not intended for tubbing, are often made over foundation slips of taffeta, and have taffeta bodices, collars, cuffs and girdles. Bias bands of taffeta or satin trim the skirts, and black velvet ribbons lend a touch of "old-time-ness" to the dainty sheer cottons modish this season.

The taffeta bodices, such as illustrated here, may be worn with any lingerie dress, if made detachable; they add a finish, particularly pleasing, making the simple dress appropriate for any occasion.

The Slip-On Blouse

The new "long-line" blouses, some of them are called; Cheruit sends us an especially pretty one fashioned of handkerchief linen, made to slip on over the head, with a raw belt to gather it in loosely about the waist. Many of these slip-on blouses are made on kimono lines, low in the neck and wonderfully easy and graceful in every line. Taffeta, satin, crepe,orgette, chiffon, and the Chinese and Japanese silks, are being used for these models, as well as the novelty cottons and sheer linens. The summer girl will appreciate their charm and comfort. These, too, are so simple that they may be fashioned at home with no misgivings at all—and what possibilities for becoming effects and color combinations they do afford!

She Grows Nervous at Nightfall

More dreaded than an alarm of fire by night is the hoarse, brassy cough of croup to the nervous mother who fears this terror of childhood. Why worry, when a few timely doses of Foley's Honey and Tar will ward off croup and clear the throat of choking phlegm. It will give you confidence to face nightfall without fear of croup. Mrs. Ben Meyerink, Clymer, N. Y., says: "Our little girl would surely have had croup but for Foley's Honey and Tar stopped it at once."—Jones' Drug Co.

QUIZ FOR SEEKERS

Candidates for Legislature to be Asked What They Think of Booze

Fearing that the next legislature will try to tamper with the present prohibition law, members of the Anti-Saloon league have determined to ask each aspirant for office how he stands on the liquor question, and to let the voters at large know the replies. Eight questions will be asked each seeker after office, and the replies thereto will be made public before the primary election. In some cases, if the replies of candidates do not coincide with the views they have publicly expressed heretofore, mention of this fact will probably be made.

R. P. Hutton, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, points out that the hopgrowers of the state already have initiated a movement to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and he wants the candidates for Legislature to state their position on this subject. Enactment of such a law would be possible without submitting the proposal to the people, Mr. Hutton explains, and were it enacted the situation would be worse than under the licensed saloon, for the breweries could sell the breweries' product without license and without regulation.

TIPPED OFF, B'GOSH

Sheriff Has Trip to Oswego in Vain, in Spite of Hasty Response

Somebody tipped off again last week, and spoiled the work of Sheriff William J. Wilson, after he had made a record-breaking automobile trip to Oswego.

It happened this way. Friday—always an unlucky day—some score or so of gypsies encamped in the outskirts of Oswego, and started prowling about that community, as is their wont. Their prowling got some of the womenfolk nervous, and after this nervousness had reached a certain stage, somebody telephoned the sheriff.

iff that the gypsies were over-running the town, and were threatening to capture it.

The sheriff chartered an automobile, rounded up Judge Sievers, so he would have a court with him for hasty action if necessary, and with a load of deputies started off for Oswego at top speed.

And in the meantime the people who had telephoned for the sheriff went out among the gypsies at Oswego and told the nomads what they had done, and promising the unwelcome visitors that things would happen to them when the valiant officer arrived. And the gypsies, having had experience with other sheriffs, and not caring to experiment further, folded their tents like the Arabs, and swiftly and silently stole away.

When the sheriff, the judge and his deputies arrived in Oswego, the gypsies were in Multnomah county, and the excitement had subsided. "Tipped off again, by gosh," said Judge Sievers—and the bunch returned.
