Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine —Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

North Crandon, Wis.—"When I was 16 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. Mayme Asbach, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma.

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. McCasland, 509 Have St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman.

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. B. M. Osgood, 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

WAR STOPS SALMON

Local Shippers Authorize Sale of Fish at New York

Hopes of a profitable business were blasted for Lawrence Ruconich and Harry Greaves of Oregon City on Monday when they were notified by wire that the salmon they recently consigned to Rotterdam could go no farther than New York because of the war and that they were being held there.

The fish, heavily packed in ice and sawdust, were shipped from this city more than a week ago and were to have been taken to Rotterdam aboard a carrier of the American-Holland line sailing from New York. That company received the shipment in good order and on Monday wired to the local Southern Pacific agent telling him that orders from the belligerent powers forbade the delivery of the salmon at Rotterdam or any other port.

Mr. Ruconich immediately instructed the railroad agent to wire the shipping company to sell the fish at New York for whatever price he could get. The fish were to be a sample to a Rotterdam merchant, and if they were satisfactory when received it had been hoped that a regular trade could have been developed between Oregon City and the European market. Mr. Ruconich and Mr. Greaves are out the cost of the fish and approximately $50 which it cost them for prepaid freight charges. The sum returned from the sale of the fish will probably be much less than the charges that were paid for packing them for their long journey and voyage. There were three fish in the shipment and all were frozen in solid cakes of ice, besides being packed heavily with sawdust and strongly boxed.

INVESTORS WILL LOSE

Receiver for Defunct Company Gets Many Claims for Money

Thirty-thousand dollars is the value of claims sent to T. P. Randall, receiver for the defunct Northwestehn Association of Oregon City, by those who contracted with Jesse Hazell, president of the company, for the purchase of lands in this county.

Mr. Randall's time has been well taken up in writing to these innocent purchasers that they need have very little hope of ever recovering even a part of the money they spent in Hazell's scheme. Many of the purchasers have ceased effort to recover on their losses, but others are still expressing anxious tones in their letters to Mr. Randall.

The affairs of the Northwestern association are revealed in the books of the Hazell company, which Mr. Randall has in charge. There may be some small amount of money available, but in case there is it will not be sufficient to cover even a small fraction of the claims against the company. Jesse Hazell is spending a year in the Multnomah county jail on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Troubled at Night

Painful, annoying bladder weakness usually indicates kidney trouble and kidney trouble never should be neglected. Backache, rheumatism, sore, swollen or stiff muscles or joints—all these have been relieved by Foley Kidney Pills. They act promptly and efficiently and help to health. Henry Rudolph, Carmi, Ill., writes: "I was bothered with hurting in back and was troubled at night and had to get up several times. Since taking Foley Kidney Pills I sleep all night without getting up."—Jones Drug Co.

FORESAW HIS DOWNFALL.

Napoleon Had Planned to Secure a Home In This Country.

When Joseph Bonaparte left me, the impression on my mind was that had he not been Napoleon's brother he would have passed for a very remarkable man.

I had almost forgot to mention that the conversation having incidentally turned toward his chateau at Bordentown he mentioned as the principal reason for choosing that situation a conversation with Napoleon. I think immediately or not long after Napoleon's return from Russia. They were alone together, and his brother, laying a large map of the United States on a table, said:

"'Joseph, it is very probable that the time is not distant when you and I will be forced to seek an asylum in the United States. Come, let us look out the best spot.'

"After a careful examination they decided that the most desirable place was somewhere between the Delaware and Hudson in the state of New Jersey. Napoleon was destined to a slow and painful sacrifice, but Joseph found refuge in the United States and was governed in his selection of a home by the recollection of the prophetic interview with his brother."—From an Unpublished Manuscript of James K. Paulding in Harper's Magazine.

BANANAS AS FOOD.

The Best Way to Serve Them Is Baked When Full Ripe.

Children under three years of age do not chew their food thoroughly; they bolt it. For this reason they should not have bananas to eat uncooked. Bananas are nutritious, but they are an indigestible food unless they are well masticated. They are more easily digested when cooked than when eaten raw.

The most digestible form of cooked banana is the baked one. This is prepared first by washing the fruit, then cutting a small piece from each end of the bananas (as when preparing a sweet potato for baking). Place the bananas to be baked on a tin pie plate or similar dish in a hot oven. When they feel tender after pricking with a fork they are well baked. Dark brown or brown stained bananas (not the bright yellow ones) are best for eating, either raw or baked.

After the fruit is baked it is placed on a platter and served as a meat. It is not, however, turned out of the skin. When ready to eat it split the skin and banana lengthwise of the fruit; season it with salt, pepper and a little butter.

In warm weather baked bananas may be used to take the place of meat at a meal.—Philadelphia Record.

"Pins and Needles."

After being for a long time in a constrained attitude a peculiar numbness and pricking are often felt in the arm, leg or foot. This is caused by some interruption to the circulation and can usually be removed by rubbing or exercise. The reason of the sensation, which is decidedly uncomfortable while it lasts, is that pressure for a certain length of time deadens the sensibility of a nerve. When this pressure is suddenly removed, as straightening out the leg after sitting with it doubled underneath the body, sensibility gradually returns to the nerve, and as each nerve fiber composing the trunk regains its normal condition of sensibility a pricking sensation is felt, and these successive prickings from the successive awakenings of the numerous fibers have not inaptly been called "pins and needles."

Why Wet Land Is Cold.

C. G. Hopkins, soil expert, says that five times as much heat is required to evaporate water from the surface of a soil as would be needed to raise the temperature of the same amount of water from the freezing to the boiling point, says Farm and Fireside. This explains why wet and poorly drained soils are cold.

Tile drainage removes the excess of water. Then the heat of the sun is able to make some headway in warming the soil. But if the soil is continually saturated with water the constant evaporation keeps the temperature down in spite of the sun's warmth.

When Your Eyes "Snap."

When you read in books and things that So-and-so's eyes "snapped" with excitement or anger you are not to suppose that his (or her) orbs made a snapping sound as they glanced about the room. We have it on no less an authority than the Journal of the American Medical Association that the eyes of man "can move accurately, noiselessly, with the greatest precision to any object in any part of the field of vision."

Overpledged.

"Lend me $10, old man. I pledge you my word of honor I'll pay it back next Saturday."

"Sorry, but I loaned you fifteen on that security a month ago. I'll have to ask you to put up something more tangible this time."—Pittsburgh Press.

In Motor Circles.

"Now, ma," cautioned pa, "don't force too much on your guests at dinner."

"What then?" sniffed ma.

"Make it a sociability run and not an endurance contest."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

For Rough Weather.

"I think I've got a winner in ladies' footgear."

"What is it?"

"I'm working on a scheme to put chiffon around the tops of overshoes."—Kansas City Journal.

DYE SHORTAGE FELT

Local Paper Manufacturers are Making Darker Papers

The fact that the paper upon which the news of the day is printed is less white than usual is because the paper manufacturers of the country are preparing judiciously for a shortage in analine dyes, and are therefore using only half the ordinary amount in bleaching news print.

This probable shortage was predicted this week by the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, which has found, as a result of careful experiments, that the American analine dye is inferior to the German product and that several hundred times more must be used to get the same effect as with the German product.

Supply of this dye from Germany has been impossible since the war started and the condition has been met by the manufacture of the dye in this country. Because of the inferiority of the home product the International Paper company has prepared a schedule which has for its object the gradual reduction of the use of analine dye until it is left out altogether in the manufacture of news print. Thus the reading public is to become used to the darker paper by slow degrees and by the time the dye has been discarded altogether the absence will not be so noticeable. The local paper mills, which supply most of the plants in the country, are to conform to the Intrnational company's schedule and are already gradually reducing the amount of analine used in the manufacture of their papers.

What dye is left on the market, bringing a very high price, is being used in the manufacture of the highest grades of paper, and is far too expensive for use in the manufacture of news print.

In spite of the absence of analine dyes the price of paper is constantly going skyward. The higher grades of paper especially stationery, are manufactured from rags, many of which were imported to the United States from Europe.

In this country so little attention has been paid to the conservation of rags that this supply is short and manufactures are having an interesting time finding enough materials to supply the demands for their products.

NET MEN ARE AT WORK

Sunday is Observed by Hundreds of Anxious Anglers

Because of the opening of the net fishing season on the following day, Sunday was a gala day for rod and line fishermen on the river close to Oregon City. The stream was dotted thickly with the boats of anglers and there were very few of the horde who were disappointed through the day's outing.

From all parts of the valley, especially from Portland, large numbers of anglers appeared here to cast their spoons and spinners into the water in a last hope of landing the season's prize. So many fishermen caught the limit that the day has been declared one of the best for many seasons. Conditions were ideal for sportsmen and their success was remarkable.

On Monday at noon the net fishermen took control of the stream below the bridge at this city, and from the first landed but small catches of salmon. Through an enactment at the last session of the legislature the line fishermen have control of that part of the stream between the falls and the bridge and they are making good use of that space reserved to them for their sport.

Monday evening the river below the bridge was a beautiful sight, dotted with the dancing lights of launches and row boats. Nearly two hundred boats were out on Monday evening.

HAWLEY CONTRACT LET

Paper Manufacturers Will Have Important Additions Made

A contract for the erection of a generating plant and pulp mill was let this week by the Hawley Pulp & Paper company to Grace & Rasmussen company, Portland contractors.

Excavation for the building of the company's extension to its present plant are about finished and work will be started on the erection of the structures which, with equipment, will cost the company approximately $750,000. Concrete mixers have been sent here by contractors and will be employed immediately in the erection of two retaining walls, one along Third street and running west from the Southern Pacific company's tracks and the other from Third street to the first warehouse of the paper company. The contractors have received several carloads of equipment and are ready for work.

The pulp mill which is included in the contract just let to Grace & Rasmussen will be located close to the falls near station A and will be of concrete construction.

One of the features of the new plant will be a paper machine costing $128,000. This is said to be the only electrically driven mechanism of its kind in this part of the country.

SCHOOL FAIR AT HOOD

Interesting School Work Brought to Attention of Patrons

A school fair was held at Hood View school, District 100, last Friday, an occasion long to be remembered by parents and school.

Much credit is due the teacher, Miss Nora Hansen for the splendid work she has done in the school this year. Miss Hansen had been preparing the children in their work the past few weeks. The needlework, such as darning and mending, along with tatting, sewing and embroidery, would have been a credit to any grammar school in the county. The manual training done by the boys showed considerable talent.

A cake contest entered into by some of the boys and girls showed such splendid results that the judges found it difficult to decide which was best.

A delicious dinner was served at noon by the ladies of the district.

Several good points for and against military preparedness were brought out and discussed by local speakers.

Regatta for Rose Festival

The first annual Rose Festival regatta will be staged on the Willamette river the afternoon of June 9, closing day of the Rose Festival.

Fast hydroplane boats from Seattle, Tacoma and Portland will compete for first honors. In addition will be races in which runabouts and cruisers will try for prizes. The event will open with the biggest power boat parade ever seen in the Northwest.

The Oregon Yacht club and the Portland Motor boat club are cooperating with the festival management to make the regatta one of the most successful of the kind ever held. More than $1,000 will be distributed to the winners in the various races.

The events will all be staged in a course to follow directly under the bridges and this will give thousands of visitors an opportunity to view the spectacular and thrilling features. The bridges will be closed to river traffic the afternoon of June 9, from 1 to 3 p. m.

She Told Her Neighbor

"I told a neighbor whose very young child had croup, about Foley's Honey and Tar," writes Mrs. Rehkamp, 2404 Herman St., Covington, Ky. "She thought that the child would surely die, it was so bad. When she gave it a couple of doses of Foley's Honey and Tar she was so pleased with the changes she did not know what to say." This old reliable cough syrup immediately helps coughs colds, croup and whooping cough. Just as good for old as young folks.—Jones' Drug Co.

Highway to be Dedicated

Oregon's great scenic roadway, the Columbia river highway, will receive its national dedication the afternoon of June 7, opening day of the tenth annual Rose Festival. The President of the United States, his cabinet, representatives of foreign governments at Washington, crowned heads of Europe, governors of all states and senators and representatives have been invited to be present.

The event is to take place at Multnomah Falls. Since there will be hundreds of automobiles on the highway June 7, arrangements have been made to have the Oregon National Guard police the roadway.

Governor at Beaver Creek

Governor Withycombe will be a guest and speaker at the meeting of the Beaver Creek local of the Farmer's Union to be held on Saturday evening, May 20. A very interesting program has been arranged for the meeting, and provides for a social entertainment.
