

TRAINING LITTLE CHILDREN

Simple Devices for Keeping Children Happily Occupied and Mentally Active—They Also Help to Make Mother's Tasks Easier

Suggestion by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by the United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West Fortieth Street, New York.

(By Mrs. Katharine Church Solomon)

The routine duties of the wife and mother are the same in practically all homes. Food has to be purchased and prepared; the house has to be kept clean and in order; there is shopping to be done, also sewing, mending and washing—a big item in families with young children—and there are the children.

Very often the mother would seem to have little time or strength to spend other than in attention to the children's actual physical care and requirements, and yet by a little wise thinking and arranging she can start many plays and occupations which will not only give the children pleasure and teach them how to do things but result in a quieter, easier and more joyous task for herself.

One of the most helpful factors in the harmonious development of mother-and-child life is a right attitude of mind. It is, of course, most desirable that it be one of contentment and peace; but too often mothers, in addition to the work of house-keeping and bearing and rearing of children, are obliged to contend with problems of sickness and family disagreements. However, if she can meet such situations with intelligence, courage and self-control, she will create a home atmosphere which will be measureless in its influence.

A yard can be made an ideal playground at a moderate expense. Playing in sand appeals more than anything else to children of three and four years. It will engross and keep them occupied for hours at a time. Therefore, the first thing to put in the yard is a sand box. This can be done by nailing four boards together, and partly embedding them in the ground. Babies should not be allowed to play by themselves in the sand until they are old enough to know that they should not put it in their mouths. And none of the children should be permitted to throw sand, because of the danger to the eyes.

Discarded cooking utensils and a few tin spoons give the children an opportunity to imitate mother's fascinating operations in the kitchen. In warm weather they can have water to mix with the sand. This makes the play all the more real and engrossing.

Older children find many more things to do with sand. They pile it up and make hills out of it, dig holes and fill them with water, or make representations of the many things that children love to play and think about.

Pretty patterns can be made in damp sand by drawing with a stick, by pressing stones, pebbles or seeds, into it, or by using such objects as grooved shells or the rim of a cup.

Gardening is one of the most wholesome and healthful ways in which children can be employed. Each child may well have a space in the yard allotted to him for planting and tending a little garden of his very own.

All kinds of outdoor games can be played in the yard and the children can romp to their hearts' content. For the young children, games with a rubber ball or with bean bags are the best.

Older children enjoy having a swing, but it is likely to be dangerous for the little ones when they are running heedlessly about.

Almost all children have wooden blocks of one kind or another to play with and they scarcely need to be shown what to do with them. They love to make such things as houses, trains, trolley cars, buildings, bridges and furniture. Any materials that lend themselves to representation of this kind are a delight to children. Kindergarten tablets (round, square, oblong and triangular pieces of wood of the dimension of one inch) can be used for representing many things; also colored sticks and slats of different lengths, and seeds of different varieties. A catalog of kindergarten materials will be sent upon request by Milton Bradley Company, Springfield, Mass., or by E. Steiger & Co., 49 Murray street, New York.

In the same way, children enjoy representing objects in clay, and by drawing and painting. Clay work, however, is better left for school by mothers who have much to do, as work in this material requires considerable attention and direction.

stated. The issuing of the semi-monthly market reports by the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, has made it possible for the first time for the producer to get reliable information regarding the honey markets. This has been a chief factor in making it feasible to encourage beekeepers to increase their production. Of importance in this crisis in the bee industry has been the continuation of the crop reports of the Bureau of Crop Estimates.

The United States Fuel Administration permitted the chief factories of beekeeping supplies to operate on fuelless days, and supplied one factory with coal at a serious time, and the Post Office Department ruled that bees without combs may be shipped by parcels post. This ruling materially helps in the proper distribution of bees whenever there is a serious bee loss in any part of the country.

Organization among beekeepers for better marketing has resulted, through the assistance of the Bureau of Markets, in the formation of two large cooperative societies.

In respect to bee culture the most important work of the Bureau of Entomology was a series of field experiments on the behavior of European foulbrood in the hive during the time that it is being cleaned out by the bees. These experiments served to throw light upon the method to be used in preventive treatment. The result of this work, which marks a new phase in bee disease, and which promises to yield most helpful results, soon will be published.

EXPERIMENT STATION OF O. A. C. PROVES SUCCESS

That the Oregon Agricultural Experiment station through its many activities has been the means of increasing crop production in Oregon and enriching the producers of the state is indicated in the biennial report by the director, A. B. Cordley. The station by prompt action in experimental work, was able to render valuable war service.

"The experiment station is a research institution," explains Director Cordley. "Its constant endeavor is to learn by investigation—to test, produce new varieties, develop new methods, discover new facts and new principles which will be of value in increasing production, decreasing losses, lessening cost of production and increasing and conserving our greatest natural resource, soil fertility."

"The results of our experimental feeding have been of immense value during the war time emergency," continues the report. "In peace times the relative values and availability of various feeds do not change much from time to time and farmers have learned largely by experience which are the cheapest and most desirable but under war time conditions the prices and availability of certain feed stuffs changed so rapidly that farmers could not depend upon past experience to show the present relative values of the various feed stuffs. Our experiments enabled us to get specific data on such problems."

The experiment station rendered a valuable service in finding a substitute for pepsin in cheese making. Soon after the outbreak of the war restrictions placed upon commerce cut short the importation of rennet stock which had been necessary as a coagulant in the manufacture of cheese. Pepsin had been used experimentally only and then rather superficially as a substitute. Cheese makers began writing to the experiment station for information on the use of pepsin. The college was operating a cheese factory laboratory, and began immediately investigating the use of pepsin as a substitute for rennet. Within two weeks it was possible to publish a preliminary report indicating how pepsin could be satisfactorily used.

TWICE PROVEN

If you suffer backache, sleepless nights, tired, dull days and distressing urinary disorders, don't experiment. Read this twice-told testimony. It's Oregon City evidence—doubly proven.

Mrs. Thos. Blanchard, Sr., 1102 John Adams St., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney and bladder trouble that had annoyed me for years and have received fine relief. I have taken in all, less than two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills but they have shown their merit so that I can endorse them and advise their use to others."

The above statement was given on April 4, 1918 and on April 17, 1918, Mrs. Blanchard said: "I have certainly found Doan's Kidney Pills to be all that is claimed for them. Whenever I have occasion to take a kidney medicine I use Doan's for I know they are most reliable."

Regulation 10 provides that no alien enemy shall land in or enter the United States, except under such restrictions and at such places as the president may prescribe.

Regulation 12 provides that an alien enemy whom there may be reasonable cause to believe to be aiding or about to aid the enemy, or who may be at large to the danger of the public peace or safety, or who violates or attempts to violate, or of whom there is reasonable grounds to believe that he is about to violate, any regulation duly promulgated by the president, or any criminal law of the United States, or of the states and territories thereof, will be subject to summary arrest by the United States Marshal or his deputy, or such other officer as the president shall designate, and to confinement in such penitentiary, prison, jail, military camp, or other place of detention as may be directed by the president.

As noted above regulations 9, 10 and 12 continue in full force and effect, and all German and Austrian aliens are still subject to the regulations quoted.

By the same order all prohibited and restricted areas, such as the water-front and armory zones, are abolished and all passes and permits heretofore required for such zones are likewise abolished.

The power to arrest any German or Austrian alien enemy considered dangerous is, however, retained, and all paroled enemy aliens must strictly observe the terms of their parole until finally discharged.

All operators of waterfront facilities within the district and state of Oregon are hereby notified that all waterfront regulations are by this order abolished from and after December 25th, 1918.

EAST PARADISE

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ball left for Tillamook last week. They will reside at Bay City.

The following officers were elected at the phone meeting at Macksburg December 30th: President, G. W. Smith; vice president, H. Harms; secretary, E. J. Moore; board of trustees, Geo. E. Oglesby, chairman, John Heinze, Hag Kothenberg. The estimated expenses for Macksburg division for the year 1919 was $500.00. This does not include the switch fees at Canby.

We all are hoping for a big rain, as this cold snap is doing some injury to fall-sown grain.

Our road boss is having gravel hauled and put on the road known as Oglesby Boulevard.

No cases of "flu" in our vicinity at present.

Miss Emma Goetz is working for Mrs. Syster near Canby.

There will be some loss of spuds here from the cold snap.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oglesby were calling on relatives at Hubbard one day last week.

Frank Oglesby will work on the road for a few days.

RECONSTRUCTION MEETING OPENS WITH MANY PRESENT

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Oregon Reconstruction convention in Portland today (Thursday), when delegates from every part of the state, representing every industry, city and county will gather for a three day session to work out a definite program for the handling of the state's industrial readjustment.

That the return of nearly 40,000 men, who have saved in the military services of the nation, into the industrial life, means a tremendous readjustment is recognized on every hand. In addition, the state of Oregon must prepare to employ thousands of men who for more than a year have served in war and other industries of the state, which through the conclusion of hostilities may soon be thrown out of employment.

Oregon is the first state in the Union to begin its preparation for the important future, and officials of the government at Washington, recognizing in Oregon's convention, a session of tremendous importance, have detailed representatives of the Departments of Labor, Agriculture and Interior to cooperate with Oregon's citizens in obtaining its plans for the reconstruction period.

Word has been received by Mayor George L. Baker of Portland, in charge of the details for the meeting, from virtually every city and county throughout the state, assuring him that representatives had been selected who would attend the meeting and take part in the important discussions. Industrial leaders, men affiliated with every industrial pursuit of the state, men recognized as leaders in both organized and unorganized labor, and members of the state legislature, will cooperate to make Oregon's Reconstruction Convention the success that it must be.

FIRST MEETING OF W. C. T. U. HELD IN NEW REST ROOMS

The first meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in the new rest room in the Liberty temple Monday afternoon at 2:30, and the general public was invited to attend and inspect the new quarters. A fine program was given. Since the Liberty temple has been turned over to the W. C. T. U. here, for the purpose of providing a rest room for out-of-town people, it has proven very popular, and last Saturday many from the country, who were compelled to wait for trains, or had time on their hands for an hour or two, took advantage of the hospitality of the association at the temple. Up-to-date reading matter has been provided for the rooms, and an organ has been installed. The local ladies are enthusiastic over the work of keeping up the rest parlors.

BOY FINDS BURGLAR IN HOME AT GLADSTONE

Charlie Tracy, a young lad of Gladstone, discovered a masked and armed burglar at the home of Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Gladstone, Tuesday night, when the family were away from the house. The boy, who was passing, saw the front door was open and no lights on, and decided to investigate. As he was looking around in the lower rooms, a man came down the stairs, and asked the boy what he wanted. The boy saw the gun in the man's hand and fled from the house. He reported his discovery the next day, and upon investigation a saddle was found missing. Nothing else was taken, and no clue was found of the robber.

A Doctor's Gift to the World

A Remedy to Overcome Catarrh and Catarrhal Conditions was Dr. Hartman's Legacy to the World of Suffering.

The Doctor early recognized the insidious nature of catarrh and consecrated his life to checking the ravages of the worst of all health destroyers.

PERUNA

The Greatest of All Catarrh Remedies

Catarrh first attacks the mucous linings in the nose, throat, lungs, stomach, bowels or any other part of the body. Unchecked it finally breaks down the tissues and chronic ailments develop which, if not fatal, are always difficult to cure.

Guard your health with Peruna. Don't wait until too late. Peruna is excellent for coughs, colds, effects of the grip and all catarrhal inflammation and congestion of the mucous linings. Many startling recoveries have been recorded.

TOOK IT FOR CHRONIC BRONCHITIS.
"I was troubled for four or five years. A few doses of Peruna would always bring relief. In the Spring of 1914, I began taking Peruna in earnest and used twelve bottles and have not had an attack in two years. I feel better and can do more work than in ten years. Peruna also cured me of chronic Bronchitis and I recommend it as a splendid remedy."
