STRAY BULLET ENTERS THROAT

Mother, Mrs. Viola Douglass, Tried
Lately to Get Son Released as
He Was Needed on Farm

Word comes to this city of the death of Carl DeWitt Douglass, son of Mrs. Viola Douglass, of Barton, near Oregon City. He was accidentally shot and instantly killed shortly after 8:00 o'clock Monday morning at Fort Stevens. Douglass, who is stationed with Company 1, Coast Artillery, while relieving the guard on duty, and as the soldier on guard started to unload his gun, he discharged it. The bullet, striking the cement walk, glanced and hit Douglass in the throat, killing him instantly. Carl De Witt Douglass was called to the colors by the local board here on October 22, 1918, and was sent to Fort Stevens shortly afterward. He is the son of a widow, Mrs. Viola Douglass, who lives alone on a farm at Barton.

About three days ago, Mrs. Douglass had a conference with Chief Clerk Harrington of the local board, in reference to securing the immediate release of her son from the service, claiming that she needed him to operate the farm at Barton. Recommendations were sent to Fort Stevens stating this, and it was expected that the service in a few days. The news of the accident came as a shock to the mother, and to the many friends of the young hero in this county.

Besides his mother, deceased is survived by three brothers, one of whom, Walter Douglass, is road supervisor of the Barton district. The body will be brought to this city for burial. The young man was 26 years of age at the time of his death, and had only been in the service about three months. Funeral arrangements have not been made as yet.

BAN PLACED ON THE DANCE IN CITY AND COUNTY

Mayor Holman Monday issued a proclamation ordering the suspension of all dances in this city until such time as the present epidemic of influenza in this city moderates. County Health Officer Dr. Strickland also issued orders at the same time prohibiting all dances in this county. Portland orchestras have been holding dances in this city during the past few weeks, and the officials point out that Portland couples accompanying these orchestras spread the disease here, bringing the epidemic from Portland, where the disease is raging.

FOUR QUARTS OF BOOZE
CAUSES ARREST OF WILLS

Jack Wills, of Portland, was arrested by Sheriff Wilson Saturday afternoon, having in his possession four quarts of whiskey, which he had brought all the way from California. He got off the train at Canemah, and was intending to take the street car to Portland when he was nabbed by the sheriff. Wills claimed that he was bringing the liquor home for his own use, and that he was not contemplating selling any of it. When brought before Justice Sievers, he was fined $10 and costs.

C. L. BROWN IS CAUGHT
BY SHERIFF AND DEPUTY

C. L. Brown, who escaped from Sheriff Wilson when that official went to serve a warrant on both Brown and Lawrence Forsythe, charged with breaking into a garage of L. J. Uptegrove, was apprehended Tuesday by Sheriff Wilson and Deputy Meades in Portland. He was brought to this city, where, in default of $250 bail, was placed in the county jail to await a hearing. Forsythe, arrested at the time of Brown's escape, is now out on $100 bail, to await the convening of the grand jury.

CANBY DISTRICT TO HEAR DAIRY TALKSEXPERTS GIVE FREE LECTURES
THIS WEEK; RECOMMENDED
BY COUNTY AGENT

The dairyman in the southern part of the county will have the benefit of a series of lectures on dairying on Friday and Saturday of this week. Professors Fitts and Brandt, of O. A. C., will talk on the important phases of this industry, beginning at 10 o'clock tomorrow (Friday).

The subjects for the first day are "The Place of Dairying in Agriculture"; "The Future of the Industry"; "Building Up the Dairy Herd," and "Calf Raising."

It is expected that a large attendance will be present. R. G. Scott, in an interview with a COUNTRY reporter, said that it was a fine opportunity for the people of the Canby district to take advantage of the advice of these experts, as the contemplated lectures would mean many helpful hints on dairying. The lectures are free to all who desire to attend, and especially for those farmers who have a herd or a few cows.

COLORED MAN HAS ANOTHER
ARRESTED HERE WITH WIFE

Sheriff Wilson Monday morning arrested two colored people on a warrant issued from Portland, and both were lodged in the city jail here awaiting further enlightenment on the case. The colored young woman, who gave her name as Miss Susie Perry, was accompanied by a colored gentleman by the name of P. H. Edwards, and both were arrested on complaint of a Mr. Perry, who claims that Miss Susie Perry is his lawful wedded wife, and that she ran away with Edwards some time ago.

When arrested Monday morning, Edward claims that he and Miss Perry were in California, when the woman received word from the district attorney's office in Portland that she was wanted as a witness. He claims that the Portland authorities sent her a ticket to come back, and that he accompanied her. When they arrived at Salem, Edwards claims that a colored man by the name of Perry got on the train and accosted him for being in company with his wife. Trouble started and both Edwards and Miss Perry got off here, the other man going to Portland and swearing out a warrant for their arrest. Edwards claims that the woman told him that she was single, and that the reason she was wanted in Portland was that she knew something of the recent holdup at that place of a pool hall some time ago by several negroes.

They were later taken to Portland and turned over to the officers there.

NOTHING DONE, AS YET,
ON CANEMAH JITNEY LINE

Representatives of the Portland Railway Light & Power company, and prominent citizens of Canemah, held a meeting in the court house Wednesday for the purpose of discussing the removal of the street car tracks between this city and Canemah. The question was brought to the attention of the company and Canemah citizens by the State Highway commission, who claimed that if the highway came through this stretch of road with hard surface, the present tracks made the road so narrow and dangerous that it would not be advisable for traffic. After discussing the matter, nothing was done, but the sentiment of the Canemah citizens was to the effect that they were willing to have a jitney service substituted in place of the street car, providing that the railway company would take up all tracks and not leave a track in the street for switching purposes. Representatives of the company announced that the company's policy in the matter would be to fail to all, and that they had no intention of playing anything but fair in the matter. Mayor Holman and several councilmen of this city also attended the meeting.

LETTER RECEIVED FROM JONES, THOUGHT DEAD

Although the name of Griffith Jones, of Clackamas county, appeared on the casualty list from France Tuesday, friends of the young man think that this is a mistake, for letters have been received from him recently telling of his well being. An uncle, William Jones, of Beaver Creek, has a letter from the boy dated November 11, the day of the signing of the armistice, and several other friends have received letters of more recent date that lead them to believe that a mistake has been made in the casualty report. In a letter dated December 15, he states that he has come through the big battle without a scratch, and is in the best of health.

Car Schedule Broken
Regular street car service between this city and Portland was off the schedule Friday up until noon, due to trouble in the P. R. L. & P. company's plant here. An effort was made during the morning by the company to get back on the old schedule, but it was noon before cars were running as usual.

COMMERCIAL CLUB
ELECTS OFFICERSM. D. LATOURETTE, PRESIDENT
AGAIN; SULLIVAN AND EBY
RETIRE FROM BOARD

CLUB TO MOVE THIS MONTH

Will Go Back to Former Quarters on Fourth Floor of Masonic Building;
Much Work Planned

At the annual meeting of the Commercial club members held Wednesday night in the Commercial club parlors, it was decided by a vote of 25 to 5 to move the club rooms to the fourth floor of the Masonic building and vacate the present quarters. This will be done in the course of a month, and at the meeting it appeared to be the unanimous opinion of those present that the Masonic building will be the best quarters for the next five years. The Commercial club rooms were at one time in the Masonic building, but at the expiration of the lease about five years ago, the members decided to move into the present quarters in the Weinhard building.

At the meeting, M. D. Latourette, Raymond P. Caulfield and Arthur Rugg were elected to the board of governors of the club by a unanimous vote. O. D. Eby and T. W. Sullivan, retiring and refusing to again become candidates for reelection.

M. D. Latourette was again elected as president of the club, this being his second term, and Jos. E. Hedges was elected vice-president. Raymond P. Caulfield was elected treasurer, and E. E. Brodie, secretary, to succeed himself. It was voted to affiliate the club with the newly organized Oregon State Chamber of Commerce upon motion of L. Adams.

M. D. Latourette, president of the club, gave an address in which he called the club's attention to the fact that the coming year will be most active for the organization of all years, as the soldiers coming home and the question of work for them will take up much of the activities of the club in solving this vital question.

Mr. Latourette said that the club should be proud of the fact that Oregon City has been first in all Liberty Loan drives and other war activities during the past three years, and that the Commercial club had much to do with the success of the war work in this county. He pointed out that the local paper mills and the woolen mills in this city should be encouraged by the organization to enlarge their plants, and the saw mills of the county should also have the support of the club in getting out the millions of feet of lumber for building purposes during the next three years. Although the past two years have been devoted to war work and the conserving of funds, both by the club and the publicity department, Mr. Latourette claimed that the coming year will find the club more active in the development of the county and attracting new business interests and farmers to Clackamas county and Oregon City.

Mr. Latourette recommended a paid fire department for the city, and claimed that in this respect, Oregon City is far behind in the matter of fire protection. Many other matters were touched upon by Mr. Latourette, and at the conclusion of his address, he was given a warm ovation.

DAUGHTERS AND GRANDSON
LOSE IN WINGFIELD CASE

The will of Emily E. Wingfield, deceased, which was contested in the circuit court here by Anna Daugherty and Sarah J. Lawson, daughters, and Arthur Carter, grandson of deceased, the suit was won by the defendants, W. A. Dimick, administrator, Mary Boyles and Maude E. Marts. W. A. Dimick was appointed administrator of the will and when it was probated the will left Arthur Carter, grandson, $1; Mary Boyles, daughter, $150; Anna A. Daugherty, daughter, $150; Sarah J. Lawson, daughter, $200; and the balance of the estate to Maude Marts, daughter of deceased. The estate amounted to $5,200. The plaintiffs contested the will on the grounds that deceased, Emily E. Wingfield, was incompetent at the time of making the will, pointing out that deceased was 71 years of age at the time, and asking that the will be set aside. Many prominent citizens of the Molalla district testified at the trial as to the competency of the deceased at the time of her death.

ROOTS REAPPOINTED
COUNTY ROADMASTERHAS MADE EXCELLENT RECORD.
WILL RUSH ROAD WORK
THIS SUMMER

T. A. Roots

T. A. Roots, for the past four years roadmaster of Clackamas county, was again appointed by the county court last Thursday for another term, which will make four years of active service as supervisor of roads. Mr. Roots is considered one of the best authorities on road building in the state, having made a study of this work for many years. He was instrumental, along with two or three other members of the county court, in getting the Portland-Salem road built on the east side of the Willamette river.

The New Era cut and fill was constructed under his supervision, and today is one of the best laid stretches of hard surface in the state. Due to the good work of Roadmaster Roots, only five miles will remain unpaved by the end of the coming summer through Clackamas county, and a direct line of hard surface between Aurora and Portland will be had.

Mr. Roots promises that the stretch of road between this city and the Multnomah county line on the west side of the river will be completed soon, and the grades made in preparation for the highway commission to lay the hard surface. With the tax vote in at the last budget meeting for the purpose of keeping the county paving plant in operation this coming summer, Mr. Roots promises Clackamas county the best roads in the state.

BOLSHEVIK RULE
FULL OF DANGERSRADICALS WOULD MOLD ALL THINGS TO SUIT THEIR NARROW BELIEFS

CLASS LEGISLATION IS BAD

Leaders of "Workingmen's and Soldiers' Council" in Portland Appeal
Foreign Extremists

Class legislation is always dangerous legislation. Among the strongest smelling pieces of rottenness in bygone legislation has been lawmaking of this sort. "Privileged classes" have striven to hog everything from steel to sole-leather, and more than once they have pretty nearly succeeded.

And now comes the Bolsheviki. A writer in the Saturday Evening Post says that the Bolsheviki are the individuals who have turned over the rotten mess of politics, and who fondly imagine that they have created a new world because they have brought to the surface a new smell. Under our present class system every man has a vote, and the majority can rule. The Bolsheviki rob every man of arms, liberty, the ballot, and any say whatever in public affairs unless he is a toiler with the hands. In Russia they are even shutting out all the toilers who do not agree with them. Now comes Trotsky, who imprisons Lenin because the latter wishes to give the Mensheviks (a little less radical group) a share in affairs. Everything from haircut to latest style of thinking and religion must be poured into the Bolsheviki cast, and if it falls by a hair's breadth in conformity it goes to the discard. Our present class rule can be remedied any time the majority get together to rectify it. Bolsheviki class rule has absolutely no redress, for it means the disenfranchisement of all dissenters. We might as well calmly face the facts.

Last week nearly a thousand men and women met in Portland and organized a "Workingmen's and Soldiers' Council." There were few names in the published list of the leadership of the group that did not sound like quotations from the map of central Europe, and it is a dime to a trower's button that not one of them could pass the simplest sort of an examination as to how the United States is governed. What ought to be done is to ship the whole mess over to Russia, build a wall around that country, and leave the entire world's Bolsheviki force to serve out a spell in a purgatory of their own making. They would be very likely to have more sense when they got out.

SURFUS NARROWLY
ESCAPES DROWNINGFORCED TO HIT WOODPILE OR RIVER; CHOOSES FORMER IN RUNAWAY CARNIGHT OFFICER SURFUS HAD A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING IN THE WILLAMETTE RIVER LATE SATURDAY
NIGHT IN A RUNAWAY AUTOMOBILE. WHILE HE WAS ON WASHINGTON STREET ON HIS WAY DOWN TOWN, HE NOTICED AN AUTO
ON THE ROAD WITHOUT A TAIL LIGHT. STEPPING
INTO THE STREET, SURFUS ORDERED
THE DRIVER TO STOP, BUT INSTEAD OF STOPPING, THE DRIVER "STEPPED ON THE GAS" AND ESCAPED. LATER, AS THE
OFFICER WAS MAKING HIS ROUNDS DOWN
TOWN, HE RAN INTO THE DRIVER WALKING
ON MAIN STREET, AND ACCOSTED HIM,
ASKING WHERE THE CAR WAS.

The driver, who gave his name as Gilbert Strum, replied that the car was in a nearby street, so placing the young man under arrest, Surfus compelled Strum to accompany him to the car and drive the machine into the courthouse yard. Strum was driving the car and, as they neared the courthouse alley, which is paved, Surfus directed him to turn in, which Strum did, but just as the turn was made into the alley Strum quickly opened the door of the machine on the driver's side, turned on the gas, and jumped, escaping. Officer Surfus, realizing that the car was headed for the river, which is at the end of the alley, seized the steering gear, and ran the car into a wood pile back of the courthouse, crashing into the wood at a high rate of speed. The car was somewhat wrecked. It was found out later that the machine, which was a Buick, was stolen from Dr. R. A. Phelps, of Portland.

Strum, who stole the car, said at the time of his arrest, that his father was in the wholesale business in Portland. He was dressed in a uniform of the army. He made his escape, and has not been located as yet.

BRIDGE PLANS UNDER WAY

Live Wires to Aid in Armenian Relief;
Committee to Raise Clackamas
County's Quota

At the meeting of the Live Wires in the Commercial club parlors Tuesday noon, a communication was read from the state highway engineer, Herbert Nunn, addressed to the Live Wires in regard to the new contemplated hard surface between West Linn and the Multnomah county line, and also regarding the new bridge to be built over the Willamette river at this city. In the letter, Mr. Nunn claims that the Highway commission will endeavor to appropriate funds for the hard surface at the earliest possible moment, and that the grading in preparation for the hard surface should be rushed with all speed by the county court of this county. Mr. Nunn also informed the Wires that plans are now being prepared for the new bridge across the Willamette river at this point to take the place of the old suspension bridge now in use, and that three kinds of bridges could be chosen from—suspension, steel, or arch. He recommends that no kind of suspension bridge should be built, as it would not stand up under the traffic after the highway between this city and Portland was completed, and also for the short length of the bridge, making it impractical. He estimates the cost of the bridge at between $240,000 and $260,000. This amount is more than the estimate by the county court here, and therefore a bigger appropriation by this county toward the bridge fund will have to be made.

Dr. Jenkins, rector of St. Davis church, Portland, was a guest of the Wires at the luncheon, and came for the purpose of interesting the members in raising the quota for Clackamas county for the relief of sufferers in the far East. Dr. Jenkins gave an excellent talk, pointing out the necessity of getting this money to the Armenians and other suffering people immediately. He pointed out that over 400,000 children were starving at the present time over the devastated countries in the far East. Clackamas county's quota will be

The jury returned a verdict of guilty, as charged in the complaint, and Judge Sievers sentenced Murphy to a fine of $— and costs.
