MISS ALTA HOWELL IS BRIDE OF ALBERT ROAKE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Howell was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday night when their daughter, Miss Alta Howell, became the bride of J. Albert Roake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Roake, of this city. Rev. Herbert G. Crocker, pastor of the Congregational church, officiated, using the impressive ring service.

The bridal party entered the living room to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, with Miss Bernice Johnson at the piano, and took their places under a canopy of ferns, calla lilies and Oregon grape, from which a floral wedding bell was suspended. The bride was attended by Miss Mildred Tschirgi as bridesmaid, and they were preceded by little Margaret Swanson as ring-bearer, and the flower girls, Glenis Pearson and Mary Roake. The bride was given in marriage by her father, George H. Howell. Richard Howell attended the groom. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. John Crawford sang "Oh, Promise Me."

The bride was lovely in white satin, veiled with Georgette crepe. Her veil was caught with a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, frezias, and sweet peas. Miss Tschirgi wore white crepe de Chine and carried pink Killarney roses.

A wedding supper followed the ceremony, with Miss Geneva Young, Miss Agnes Harris, Miss Esther Harris and Miss Florence White assisting Mrs. Howell in serving. It was at this time that telegrams of congratulation were opened and read by the newly wedded young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Roake left for a brief honeymoon, after which they will be at home in the Roake cottage on Madison street. Mrs. Roake attended the Oregon City schools and later took a business course. She has been a stenographer at the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland until recently. She is very well known in this city and popular among her many friends. Mr. Roake has been connected with the Oregon City Foundry since his return from the Oregon Agricultural College.

The following guests were present at the wedding: Mrs. L. A. Pearson, Mrs. U. B. Swanson, Mrs. H. L. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Tschirgi, Mrs. Singleterry, Mrs. Alice Russell, Mrs. Lee Singleterry, Glenn Singleterry, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. O. Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie S. Harlow and daughter, Geraldine.

The Many Mysteries of Nature

BY L. W. BOWER, M. D.

You can take an onion seed and a pansy seed, and plant them side by side in the same spot of ground. In one case, you get an onion, with its peculiarly strong odor, and in the other you get a flower of rare beauty. You can plant a poppy seed and get opium (a dangerous, habit-forming drug), or you can plant a rhubarb seed and get something that helps constipation. No scientist, living or dead, can explain these mysteries of Nature. Behind the invisible life germ in each seed is hidden the deep secret that nobody understands. Everything growing out of the ground seems intended for some use in establishing natural conditions. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening drains, bearing-down pains, periodical irregularities, pelvic inflammations, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, blue cohosh root and Oregon grape root. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it.

Favorite Prescription should have the full confidence of every woman in America because it contains no alcohol and no narcotic. Dr. Pierce knew, when he first made this standard medicine, that whiskey and morphine are injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his remedies. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. Tablets.

GOOD SEED AND VARIETY FOR GOOD CEREAL CROPS

Good seed of the right varieties grown under conditions similar to those where it is to be used, and planted early on grounds suitably prepared, is essential to a good spring grain crop in western Oregon.

To determine the best varieties the Oregon experiment station has conducted experiments for several years, explains B. F. Sheehan, of the farm crops department. Varieties and rate of seeding found best are as follows:

WHEAT: Variety and rate of seeding—Red Fife, 8 pecks; Red Huston, 8 pecks; Marquis, 8 pecks; Defiance, 8 pecks.

OATS: Variety and rate of seeding—Three Grain, 10 pecks; Banner, 10 pecks; Victory, 10 pecks; Shadeland Challenge, 10 pecks; Shadeland Climax, 10 pecks; Swedish Select, 10 pecks.

BARLEY: Variety and rate of seeding—Hannchen, 8 pecks; Wisconsin No. 6, 8 pecks; Oderbrucker, 8 pecks.

The seed bed is prepared as early as possible in the spring, and the seed sown in February, March or early April. The earlier the better, since many low yields result from late seeding.

OREGON HENS WINNERS IN THREE BIG CONTESTS

Oregon Agricultural College hens won two first prizes and one second in the big national and international contests held in America last year. A pen of ten Oregons laid 2352 eggs at the Storrs, Conn., international egg laying contest, thereby winning first place and establishing a new world record of 2352 eggs a year per hen in a pen of ten.

A pen of five barred rocks took second place at the all-northwestern contest at Pullman by laying an average of 251.6 eggs each. This broke all previous performances for pens of five in American contests, but lacked three eggs—only three-fifths of an egg each—of tying for first place, which was taken by a pen of white leghorns laying 252.2 each. The average for all 135 competing pens was 171 eggs.

A pen of six barred rocks at the British Columbia contest took first with a record of 200 eggs in 11 months for each hen. The next highest laid 180 eggs.

In addition to the foregoing birds the poultry department had a pen of 10 barred rocks in the Storrs contest which averaged 172.8 eggs. The average of the 100 pens was 158.9. The College also entered a pen of white leghorns in the Pullman contest that averaged 224 eggs.

Ten thousand settings of eggs and more than 2000 pedigreed cockerels from these high-producing strains have been sent out to Oregon and other farmers, and their influence in grading up the home flocks has brought many a poultryman into contact with 200-egg flocks.

Mangum Terraces Saves Soil

Mangum terraces have been surveyed on 25 farms and the construction completed on 13 by the farm bureau of Cape Girardeau County, Mo., making use of a system started about 20 years ago. Mangum terraces are ditches running around a hill and built so that the water will not develop velocity great enough to carry the fine soil particles. The permissible fall is found to vary from 4 to 7 inches in 100 feet. The ditches are made shallow and the levees wide so as not to interfere with farming implements. The distance from the middle of the levee to the middle of the ditch is 6 or 8 feet and the bottom of the ditch is 12 inches below the top of the levee. The land is farmed as if there were no terraces in the field. The water flows down the side of the hill until deflected by a terrace, then around the side of the hill, and runs off without doing much damage.

He charges that she associates with other men, allows her parents to interfere with their home, and finally that she deserted him. When she left him, he claims, that she took their minor child with her, and has since refused to return to him.

Buying Together Saves $4,500
A farmers' supply association, organized by the farm bureau of Crawford county, Ohio, saved $4,500 to farmers on a business last year of $49,500. The association has a capital stock of $10,000, divided into 1,000 shares of $10 each, one share to a man.
