CANBY SCHOOLS CLOSE
AFTER BANNER YEAR
IN ALL DEPARTMENTS

CANBY, Or., June 2.—Canby schools have closed after one of the most successful years. Every teacher has done her part in carrying on the work to make the school year, not only a successful one but enjoyable as well. The pupils too have done their part to make the work pleasing for their teachers, and only words of regret the teachers will not be among the faculty for the fall term, but who will go elsewhere, while others will discontinue for the present.

With such an excellent faculty for this year was the means of attracting many students from outlying districts, who have thoroughly enjoyed their school work.

Canby can boast of having one of the best high schools and grade schools in the county, this having been proven by the excellent grades the pupils received during the year's work.

Owing to the scarcity of flowers near Memorial Day, it was decided by the instructors and the students to have no flowers presented on the stage this year.

FORUM OF THE PEOPLE

SCHUEBELT TALKS TAXES

Oregon City, Oregon, June 2, 1920. Editor Enterprise, Oregon City, Ore. Dear Sir:

Through your columns I wish to thank my friends for their support in the primary election. I stated in my campaign speeches that a principle of equal and just taxation was at stake. Some may have thought this was political bank such as some candidates use. The campaign is over and I want the people of Clackamas county to know that the inequality of taxation to which I called their attention, actually exists as stated. Since the beginning of this year one of these corporations has already paid fifty per cent dividends. Over three millions of actual value in water power is now being assessed by the State Tax Commission and included in operative property, that should be assessed by our assessor, and aside from this there are several millions of actual value escaping taxation if they were compelled to pay at the same rate as other property. I hope that the taxpayers of Clackamas county will take sufficient interest in their own business to see that an honest assessment is made, and if not that they will attend the Board of Equalization and demand a square deal. A special committee has been appointed by the Clackamas County Development League to investigate the tax question and it is entitled to your support.

Respectfully yours,

C. SCHUEBEL

ELK PRAIRIE NEWS

ELKS PRAIRIE, June 3.—Joseph Kolchinski has built a barn to winter his stock. The building is made, true pioneer style from the material from his own woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal have taken great pains to make their home and gardens very artistic with the little brook doing its part to add its beauty to the whole. Mr. Neal has been working on the road work near the Coal Creek school house.

Col Hollingsworth is busy hauling lumber from Swope's mill. In all he has three houses to build, his own and two for relatives who will soon be here.

Charles Tidd was a Scotts Mills visitor, making the trip over the Elk prairie trail.

William Kruger has brought a number of helpers to his homestead. Mr. Kruger visited a number of the Elk prairie people, then made a trip to Scotts Mills.

The homestead of Mr. and Mrs. Battles is being rapidly improved. Upon their other trips to this neighborhood, their work has been entirely preparatory toward a final settlement. Mr. and Mrs. Battles bought a good team upon their return to this place two months ago. A good cow was soon numbered among the livestock, soon to be followed by a flock of hens and chicks. Friday Mr. Battles drove to Silverton for a hundred baby-chicks which he ordered from that place.

He and Mr. Thornton, who is also a new comer, but who lives much nearer Molalla, have cooperated in their buying. Mr. Thornton located some fine hogs, which Mr. Battles bought and placed upon his homestead in due time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rossman are earnestly busy with preparatory work as one can easily verify by a visit to their homestead. While they are cozy in a temporary home, the wooded poles for their permanent home are seen strewn in their woods. A great deal of improvement has been accomplished upon their place by the use of powder, logs have been neatly bucked, split and piled for a burn. A cherry tree which was brought from their former home in Lents, is full of blossoms.

The Coal Creek school closed with appropriate exercises and a picnic dinner. This completes the second year of that school, the children are very happy over their rights to advanced grades next year, under Miss Kalllogg's teaching. The first year of that school was taught by Miss Dale of Scotts Mills, who made warm friends of her pupils as well as the grownups of the community.

Miss Zena Badger visited the Coal Creek school upon the closing day. While the Coal Creek school is supposed to serve the children of Elk prairie, it is three years since she stood upon the building site and this was her first view of the completed building, because of the great distance and difficult roads.

RANDS RESIGNS
HIS POSITION AS ROADMASTER

H. A. Rands, county road master of Clackamas county, handed the county court his resignation Wednesday morning and the commissioners have accepted, but a successor has not been named.

When members of the county court were interviewed Wednesday they declined to comment on the matter and although they said Mr. Rands informed them some time ago he intended to resign it is rumored that the final decision came as a result of friction between road master and commissioners. According to these reports the county court expected more of Mr. Rands than was possible for him to do.

Mr. Rands has had charge of the county road work since the first of the year and has had charge of from 10 to 15 engineers.

A successor will be chosen as soon as possible as it is stated that the road forces are demoralized on account of not having a head, which is considered critical at this time, as much work is under way.

Rands expects to enter private practice as a hydraulic engineer.

PLEASURE CARS MAY BE REFUSED GAS
DURING SHORTAGE

PORTLAND, June 2.—Immediate curtailment of the use of gasoline for pleasure trips was urged at a meeting of the executive committee of the Dealers' Motor Car association of Oregon at the Benson hotel at noon today.

The meeting was called by M. O. Wilkins, president, and J. A. Crittenden, secretary of the association. Representatives of the Standard, Associated, Union and Shell Oil companies were in attendance to advise the auto dealers as to the best means of handling the emergency.

According to a statement issued today by officials of the oil companies, there is an actual shortage of production of gasoline in the California oil fields, but this shortage will be eliminated within a few weeks and no actual hardship need result from the temporary scarcity if drivers will cut down their pleasure trips about 50 per cent.

Pasadena Capitalists

Detectives have McKay under surveillance, it was said, while Walsh's whereabouts were unknown.

Sheriff Discovers Deserted Still

What at one time was probably the largest moonshine outfit ever in operation in the state was unearthed Tuesday near Oswego by Sheriff Wilson and revenue officers.

This was a deserted house in a lonely neighborhood near the Tualatin river. From indications the operators of the still had left the place nearly a month ago. The stoves, pressure tanks, barrels and hundreds of bottles were left but the still was taken away by the owner.

A long tunnel leading from the house to a field was found. This was completely filled with used mash and it is evident that moonshine in large quantities had been made there.

The place was formerly occupied by a Russian family.

SOUTH END
HIGHWAY
DISCUSSED

Commissioners Benson, Booth and Kiddle of the state highway commission were in Oregon City Wednesday morning with the county court regarding the new suspension bridge and the south end road out of the city and put the proposition squarely up to the court.

The commission is ready and willing to go ahead with the new bridge providing the south end road question is settled, they paying two-thirds of the cost of the suspension bridge. The cost of the bridge will be $375,000, of which Clackamas county will pay $125,000.

The commission and the county court made an investigation of the two routes out of the city on the south, that on the river basin and that over the hill. The commission said they had no suggestions to offer but would be satisfied with either road providing the plans were presented to them after being made.

It was clearly brought out Wednesday that the basin road would cost a great deal less than the road over the hill and the Southern Pacific railroad company would pay part of the expenses. If the road goes this way it will be necessary for an overhead crossing at the S. P. tracks at the south end of the road, and this would take off practically 500 feet of the road. The railroad company would pay 40 per cent of this cost and the highway commission and the county the 60 per cent. The total cost of the overhead is estimated at $30,000. With this crossing the county would have to pay for about 1000 feet of the road up to the city limits and from this point to Third street the P. R. L. & P. would have to prepare the street as their franchise provides for that.

If this road is selected it is probable that the car tracks will be moved farther out toward the river and the road widened. At present the road is very narrow, there being places where two cars cannot pass.

The road over the hill would cost the county and city more on account of the grading to be done. If this road is selected the hill will be graded down and the corner near the mill changed. The overhead crossing here would have to be paid for by the city and the railroad company as this is in the city limits. This would cost the city $27,000 and the railroad company $15,000. On the rest of the road the expenses would be about $53,000, of which the county would pay $33,000 and the city $20,000.

The manner in which the proposition is at present puts the whole thing up to the county court and they will probably hold a meeting very soon to settle the matter.

President Griffith, Vice-president Fuller, of the P. R. L. & P. and A. J. Leithwaite were in the city Wednesday and expressed themselves as ready and willing to cooperate with the county and city in the road matter.

AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS
MUST HAVE STATE
LICENSE BY JULY 1

SALEM, June 2.—Another check will be placed upon drivers of motor vehicles in Oregon in the interest of "safety first" beginning July 1 next, when the operator's license law enacted by the special legislative session of last January, becomes effective.

Automobile and truck owners will be supplied with blanks in ample time to make application and permit of the issuance of the licenses before that date, according to Secretary of State Koser, who declares that no one will be slighted in the distribution of the blanks. And not only will there be blanks for owners of motor cars but for the members of his or her family and any friend who may have occasion at any time to manipulate the steering wheel and the levers and clutches of a motor vehicle.

The licensing law includes every person who at any time may "operate" an automobile or a truck in this state.
